Household Hints

Syrup from canned fruits can be used on cereals and for sauces.

When cotton sheets begin to wear out in the center, rather than sew the outside hems together, make two parallel slips of the two good ends.

To protect posts against termites, soak them (the posts, of course) in fuel oil before putting into the ground.

Put sugar in the cup before adding tea or coffee and you can use a smaller amount for the same degree of sweetness. The hot beverage immediately dissolves the sugar and the crystals are left in the cup for the housewife to wash down the drain.

When the soldier talks about "the skipper," he means his captain, the head of his company. And that's just what the title "captain" means. It comes from the Latin word "caput" meaning "head." Another leader high in the Army men's favor since '18 is Camel Cigarettes. (Based on actual sales records from Post-Exchanges and Retailers.) It's the gift they prefer from the home folks. If you have a relative or friend in the service, send him a carton of Camels. Your dealer is featuring Camel cartons to send to service men.—Adv.

Facts and Stories

et order was immediately issued by their commanding officer. This order was to the effect that every allied man living within a certain radius should be shot or hanged or captured. (Sounds like Hitler justice) Being warned by a deserter, Thompson, who came back in a body, but felt certain that they were being trailed by scouts.

Mr. McClary then says, "I hid them a painful affair, never expecting to see any of them again, nor have I, with the exception of Uncle George Thompson, who came back in a few days and told me that all the others had been shot and killed at Cumberland Ford, near Pineville, upon the second day after I saw them."

Within a month of the slaying of these fifteen men, Mr. McClary tells us that a party of six unfortunate Confederate soldiers fell into the hands of a body of Federal sympathizers under the leadership of Captain Harvey King's brother, a private for a crime in which none of them had a personal part, these six were hanged from limbs.

"I saw the old Lincoln Tavern stand, two miles north of Livingston" (Justice again), concludes with the lament.

Our correspondent thought he had no personal knowledge of this hanging, but that it was currently reported as such. The old Lincoln Tavern stand shown the tree many times since that time, but he had no doubt but what the story was true.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S.-British War Strategy Meeting
Forecasts Opening of Second Front;
Job Freeze Ends Pirating Practice;
Mexico and Brazil Fight Axis Subs

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.
Revised by Western Newspaper Union.

For outstanding service to the nation, two of the navy's current heroes were honored by Secretary Frank Knox (center). Lieut. John D. Bulkeley (right) received the Navy Cross, in addition to the Army Distinguished Service Cross he held previously. Lieut. Comm. Richard E. Hawes was awarded a gold star to accompany Navy Cross he had already received.

The foundation principles of the master agreements already existing between the U. S. and Britain, include "national and international measures to expand production, employment and the exchange and consumption of goods," and elimination of all forms of "discriminatory treatment" in international commerce, to reduce tariffs and other trade barriers "generally to affording the economic objectives of the Atlantic Charter."

U. S. AIR MISSION:
Bad News for Reich

United States against Nazi Germany will be delivered from the air, it was forecast when Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the U. S. army air forces and Rear Adm. John H. Towers, chief of naval operations, arrived in London to "consult with British officials on details of Anglo-American military co-operation."

Air raids of a magnitude and destructiveness such as the world has never before seen will eventually be the sequel to plans perfected at the conferences, observers declared. In creating a "second front" against Germany, American planes and fliers, operating with the British to bomb German factories, defenses and communications will be under their own command.

The "softening up" process forecast by joint American and British air forces over the Reich would, it was believed, be a prelude to invasion by United Nations' land forces of the continent of Europe later on. This was confirmed by a statement of Lieut. Gen. Somerville that "America is ready to supply men and material on a large scale to a European front."

The American air mission in Britain was regarded as a logical corollary to Gen. George Marshall's London conference on strategy recently. The U. S. army chief of staff talks with Prime Minister Churchill and British chiefs of staff were known to have covered every zone including Russia.

600 MILLION:
Fund for Housing

The appropriation of an additional $600,000,000 to provide living quarters for 1,600,000 war workers who will migrate to munitions production centers was asked by President Roosevelt in a message to congress. Congress had previously appropriated $1,020,000,000 for war housing to provide shelter for workers produced essential munitions.

Mr. Roosevelt said in his message that while workers are being obtained locally as far as possible and new sources of labor supply are being called on, it will be necessary for at least 500,000 to be sent to centers of war activity during the coming year. Existing structures are being counted on to absorb a large percentage of the workers, he said, but many workers will have to be cared for through new public construction, "largely temporary in nature and designed to serve the lower-income brackets of war workers."

LYBIAN FRONT:
Active Again

Although the weather timetable said it was too late in the season, active warfare flared again in the Libyan desert when Gen. Erwin Rommel's armored units opened an offensive against British forces south of Tobruk.

In the opening stages of what was regarded as Rommel's long-awaited general attack, the British held the line and repulsed and inflicted heavy losses on the Nazis in a series of fierce tank battles.

British tank units were strongly supported by squadrons of Royal Air Force planes, according to communications from Middle East headquarters. The German army was reported operating with strong air forces.

Observers speculated about what Gen. General Rommel had up his sleeve. A master of "feinting" tactics, the Nazi leader was believed by some experts to be making a thrust to the westward and southern flank in order to screen a general advance eastward along the coast toward Egypt.

LEND-LEASE:
More for Russ

The basis for closer economic cooperation between the United States, Soviet Russia and Great Britain both during and after the war was laid in a proposal for a master-lend-lease agreement presented by the state department to the Russian government.

President Roosevelt described the proposal as similar to other master lease agreements already signed by Great Britain.

In effect, the acceptance of the agreement by Russia would make the Soviet a party to attaining the economic principles of the Atlantic Charter sponsored by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The foundation principles of the master agreements already existing between the U. S. and Britain, include "national and international measures to expand production, employment and the exchange and consumption of goods," and elimination of all forms of "discriminatory treatment" in international commerce, to reduce tariffs and other trade barriers "generally to affording the economic objectives of the Atlantic Charter."

The significance of this latest move is that a victorious America, Britain and Russia, working close economic collaboration, would compose an economic bloc that would dominate the entire world.

DE GAULLE:
Warrior Only

Hopes of Gen. Charles de Gaulle that the United Nations would recognize him as the political leader of France as well as the military spokesman around which Free Frenchmen have rallied, were dimmed by reactions from both Washington and London.

In a statement to the world, De Gaulle had demanded that the "United Nations" should recognize him as the political leader of France as well as the military spokesman around which Free Frenchmen have rallied, were dimmed by reactions from both Washington and London.

GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE
Demands "partnership" in treatment of his organization as a full-fledged government and war partner instead of an agency for recruiting French fighters.

The Free French leader says the American negotiations for demilitarizing the French Caribbean as an example of the inadequacies of his representation in the United Nations.

Official Washington made it clear that while the United States is continuing to give the De Gaulles every aid possible, it pretends to wait for an eventually liberated France to designate its own political leader.

TOJO BOASTS:
China Performs

Boasting that Japan would stay in the war "until the influence of Britain and America and the dreams of world domination were wiped out," Premier Hideki Tojo reaffirmed his country's determination to "contribute to the utmost to the share of the partner of Germany and Italy."

Describing Australia as the "organ in the Pacific, helplessly expecting Japan's attack," the Japanese premier tried again the war of nerve technique by warning the Commonwealth must consider its attitude toward Japan.

While Tojo was making brave talk, disquieting news for his people came in Chinese reports that the Japanese army of 100,000 which had launched the offensive in Chekian province had been decimated. Of casualties totaling 10,000, the Japanese lost 1,500 in killed through the explosion of land mines near the key city of Kinwah.

RUSS-NAZIS:
Tanks Take Toll

As drier ground and warmer weather permitted greater movement of the German tanks, the Russian-Nazi forces was stepped up. While German sources made claims of strategic flanking attacks, Red army communications report advances along the 150-mile Kharkov front.

Mechanized units were poured into the conflict. One report told of phalanxes of 52-ton Russian tanks lumbering through German lines.

In addition, successes reported at Kharkov, the Russians claimed advances near Barvenkova.

RAIL TRAVEL:
"Rubberneck" Sightseeing

With "rubberneck" sightseeing buses already banned and drastic curtailment of airline service in effect, the next step would be elimination in the near future of all "non-essential" railroad passenger service, federal transportation officials declared.

Ersatz Rubber Problem
Still National Headache

Total Supply May Dwindle in Year's Time to 50 Per Cent of Needs for Essential Military Operation.

By BAUKHAGE

The plant looks much like our dandelion but is much larger and it is from the large roots that the rubber is made. The weeds will be planted and carefully watched in order to keep them from spreading and becoming a curse instead of a blessing.

Meanwhile the military men are pessimistic. They want the rubber in the country will amount to just about half, or perhaps even less, than the needs for essential military operations and transportation, exclusive of civilian use.

A Philosopher
Faces Death
One Frenchman with the soul of a philosopher and the pen of a poet died last week of a fever in the spring of 1940 and found the meaning of life. He was Antoine de Saint-Exupery, and between the covers of his best-selling book, "Flight to Arras" (Reynal & Hitchcock, Inc.) he has put down as significant an obituary notice of a few hours in a man's life as can be found.

It was in the last days of May 1940, "a time of full retreat, of full disaster," that Saint-Exupery found himself flying with a sense of fulfillment, he saw airplane crew after crew "being offered up as a sacrifice . . . by the dusky glassfuls of water into a forest fire in the hope of putting it out." He stood in the midst of a world that was cracking up, storm clouds around him, that "death, in such a tumult, had ceased to count."

Then came his turn to be "offered up." With a machine gun and gunner he was ordered to fly . . . at 30,000 feet and a reconnaissance flight at 2,000 feet above the German lines. He was shot down. A considerable area around Arras. He took off, weighed down with the sense of the futility of it all and his inability to do anything but wait to die in such an empty gesture.

At six miles above the earth, when consciousness would drift gently toward oblivion, he saw the land below, where controls froze and stray German fighter planes spat contemptuously at him as he looked down in dejection. Saint-Exupery struggled fruitlessly with the philosophical meaning of his own existence.

Then swooping down to within 2,000 feet of the German anti-aircraft guns around Arras, he suddenly became aware of the meaning of it. Surrounded by an "ack-ack" fire that "drowned" him in a crop of tractorbeams as golden as stalks of wheat, he was flying at the "center of a thicket of land strokes . . . threatened by a vast and dizzying flutter of machine gun bullets. He felt himself bound to the earth in an "crucating web of golden wire." And in that moment, encircled by flame and eyes, he was aware of the meaning of it. He was suddenly released from himself. He was stripped of the fear for his physical body. Suddenly he knew that "I may not die . . . there is no death when they meet death . . . when the body sinks to death, the essence of man is revealed."

And when Saint-Exupery thus found himself he found, too, that he was a part of that larger concept—Man. That his ties were not alone with his friends and his village and even his country, but beyond his country with all other countries. He became aware that "He who is different from me does not impoverish me—the greatest theoretical possibility and therefore is looked upon with the greatest doubt by the men of the world. The man who makes promises collapse, is about to be tested—it is the humble dandelion. Not the one that runs your front yard, but an imported Russian variety."

The rubber experts of the Bureau of Plant Industry are going to give us a scare that soldiers can't get. They have received a shipment of seeds by air from the Soviets, where it is claimed that these dandelion seeds are 40 pounds of rubber per acre on an annual basis.

A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation!

Get up and cheer, constipation—surely! If you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet—here's a new "wonder" treatment to win welcome relief!
You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works principally on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. But it also and drink plenty of water. All-Bran made by Kellogg, is based in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

Bossy Meets War Production Challenge As Dairy Industry Supplies Vital Foods

Industry Observes Sixth Annual June Campaign

CHICAGO—Just dairy month brings a picture of 26,000,000 cows on nearly 5,000,000 farms in the United States, each performing an important function in winning the war. Quietly at work in the barns and on the pastures from Maine to California and from the Canadian border to the Gulf, these 26,000,000 animals are daily producing a third of a billion pounds of milk.

That means an average production of 168,893 tons of milk every day in the year. If placed in ten gallon cans, 3,921,569 cans would be required to hold the average day's milk production in the United States. This is enough milk to fill 6,986 big 24-ton tank cars. If these were all put together in one big milk train, we would have each morning a train of 25-ton milk tank cars 87 miles long.

The flow of this life-giving stream of food rated by nutritionists as the No. 1 protective food is of vital importance to our nation at all times, but especially so this year. The Allied nations and the soldiers of the United States must have milk and its products. Factory and military workers have never had more than ever for milk and milk products. Office workers, housewives, school children and all other classes of the American population need to realize, as never before, their need for greater quantities of these foods in order to keep America strong by making Americans stronger.

Dairy Program.

Today the National Dairy Council program, which the industry has sponsored for 23 years, is gaining new recognition and new support. A national nutrition program is extending and materially strengthening the realization of the fact that good nutrition is necessary to optimum health, vigor and vitality. This national nutrition program has been in operation for more than a year.

Just how these 26 million cows and those responsible for the product meeting this challenge and this opportunity.

We need not wait for that answer. Those "bossies" and their masters are meeting the challenge. Starting with an average production of 304 billion pounds of milk during the years 1935 to 1938; there was 111 billion pounds of milk produced in 1940; 115 billion 500 million pounds of milk in 1941, and the production for 1942 is estimated at not less than 120 billion pounds of milk to be produced in the United States. In other words, for each and every day of the year, including Sundays and holidays, there is being produced more than 44,000,000 pounds of milk over that of five years ago. That is the equivalent of a fully loaded milk train of 50,000 open top tank cars, 7 1/2 miles long over and above their normal production.

Terrific Handling Problem.

Stated in terms of ten gallon milk cans, if these were filled and placed side by side, we would find that we had every month a line of filled milk cans 1,500 miles long over and above the amount of milk that was produced in this country in the same month during the preceding five-year period. Producing such a volume

15 MILLION more CANS OF MILK produced every month

As its contribution to feeding the democracies, the dairy industry of the United States has increased its production from 1935 to 1939 by nearly 15,000,000 ten-gallon cans of milk—enough cans to make a row from Los Angeles to New York.

upt in the manufacture of dry milk solids are Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Idaho and Vermont, in the order named. The increase in the manufacture of dry milk solids has forced severe changes in both farm management practices and in the operation of butter factories. Farmers have had to adjust their operations to new methods of feeding. Creameries have been obliged to put in new equipment, to train new personnel and to re-amp their operating and merchandising plans. This is in addition to another difficult problem which the butter making industry must face every year and that is the varying seasonal production. During the year 1940 to 1941 butter manufacture varied by months from a low of 115 million 700 thousand pounds in November to a high of 205 million 300 thousand pounds in June.

North Central States.

Most of these changes have been brought about in the North Central states where butter production is the heaviest—Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin—rank first, second and third in the order named as the "big three" in the dairy industry in the United States. After that come Michigan, Nebraska, Missouri, Ohio, Kansas, Indiana, California, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Washington.

These 10 states produce about 85 per cent of all the butter made in the United States.

Cheese is another important dairy product, the manufacture of which has been materially affected by current conditions. Largely as the result of the war and the demand for American cheese abroad, production of this product has been stepped up enormously. The government request in March, 1941, for 230 million pounds of cheese amounted to an urging, on its part, for almost 50 per cent increase in production. The industry met that challenge and more. Nearly 300 million pounds of cheese had been provided for "export" purposes from March 15, 1941, to April 1, 1942. This production is now running about 169 per cent as much as a year ago.

Cheese is a product consisting of practically all the ingredients of fluid milk, and as such, it is one of the first on the protective list of foods. Its value for importance are gaining recognition rapidly. In the production of cheese, Wisconsin produces more than half of all the cheese in the United States. Following Wisconsin are New York, Illinois, Indiana, Oregon, Ohio, Michigan and Minnesota in the order of their importance.

Evaporated Milk Industry.

War conditions have had an equally important bearing on the evaporated milk industry. To fill the demand for a concentrated milk product for the United Nations, the government asked for a step-up in production sufficient to supply 29 million additional cases of evaporated milk. This called for an increase of more than 50 per cent in manufacture. It called for changes in farm management plans, for adjustments in evaporating plant operations, for the training of personnel and for shifts of merchandising methods fully equal to those the cheese industry met. Here, too, the goal was equaled and more. In approximately 20 million cases of evaporated milk has been furnished for "loan-lend" operations. In the industry, too, Wisconsin leads with almost 30 per cent of all the evaporated milk production in the United States. Ohio, California, New York, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Washington and Pennsylvania follow in the order named.

During June, hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of publicity in newspapers and trade publications, in radio, in drug stores, in advertising programs, public relations, and advertising material at point-of-sale, soda fountains, as well as education programs, combined to make the leadership of the National Dairy Council with the efforts of nutritional authorities to make of this the most gigantic effort of bringing to the people the realization of the need of better health and the place of milk and its products in achieving that goal.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FRIDAY: THE DAY OF SUFFERING (II)

LESSON TEXT—Luke 23:33-46; Mark 15: 23-34.

GOLDEN TEXT—But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.—Isaiah 53:5.

Dark and distressing days have often come upon the earth, but the darkest day of all history was that day when cruel men with wicked hearts and ungodly hands upon the Son of God and crucified Him. But yet, by the grace of God, it was a day of bright hope for the faithful sons of God. For on that day, our redemption was wrought out. The veil was rent and the new and living way into the holy presence of God was opened for every man, woman and child.

The cross is popular as an ornament on a church or on a golden chain, but it is far more than that. It speaks of the black hour of the Saviour's cry, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" and it also tells us of the One who came in sin for us that we might know the righteousness of God (II Cor. 5:21).

Three thoughts emerge from our lesson.

I. Crucifixion—Bringing Life (Luke 23:33-34).

"They who crucified him"—four words summing up the history of a believable thing that took place on Calvary. He died; but in that death life and immortality came through to light (II Tim. 1:10).

As believers in Christ, we are interested in all that took place at the crucifixion, for we know that as we contemplate Him on the cross we can say with Luther, "For me, for me!" And yet it was not for us alone that He died—it was for all mankind. So we turn to our unconverted friends and direct them to the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world (John 1:29). He was crucified that they might live eternally. He who had only a plea for the forgiveness of His persecutors (v. 34) tenderly offers His forgiveness to men today.

II. Rejection—Bringing Acceptance (Luke 23:34b-43).

Those who appear around the cross afford an interesting and striking picture of humanity. There were the indifferent ones, those not interested in the work to be done, crucified, but only eager to share in the division of His garments.

There stood the people "beholding"—apprehending, unable to believe that the miracle-working Christ was about to die. Verily, they were as sheep without a shepherd.

There we see those who scoffed. They knew His claim to be the Son of God and hated Him for it. Now at last they had their chance to rail at His pretensions and to mock Him. Ignorant and yet equally derisive, we see the mocking soldiers.

Even one of the thieves by His side (v. 39), who had been crucified, turned to Him and calling Him "King," said, "Remember me when thou shalt come in thy kingdom." He was quick and fully honored (v. 42).

The picture is thus complete. The Rejected One is "the way" to acceptance for all who believe (John 14:6). He said, "I am the door; by me any man who will enter in, he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

III. Darkness—Bringing Light (Luke 23:44, 45; Mark 15:33, 34).

Physical darkness fell over the scene at the cross, as though all nature would go into mourning, or sought to shield the suffering Saviour from the curious and hateful eyes of men. Then, too, it was God's sign that this was not the death of an ordinary man, even as it spoke of the judgment of those who laid violent, sinful hands on His Son.

Deeper yet was the spiritual darkness into which Jesus went, as bearing the horrible load of the sins of the world He was made sin for us (II Cor. 5:21). The Father turned away from Him. We cannot fathom the full meaning of that hour, and we dare not attempt to explain it. We can only accept it and thank God that because He was made sin for us we may by faith be made the righteousness of God in Him.

Out of the darkness of that hour shone forth the one light which nothing in time or eternity can dim.

Route to Happiness

The truest and happiest of earthly joys, proven over and over again by the happy acts of all peoples, is that which accepts and observes most nearly St. Paul's great postulate, "We have never seen continuing joy, but we seek one in no way interfered with by the intensest enjoyment of the things of this world." We have but to see that we do God's will in everything.

PREPAREDNESS AMERICAN RED CROSS

TO THOUSANDS of Americans seeking news of their families and friends in war-torn countries, 25 words on an official Red Cross form have meant all the difference between hope and despair.

Ever since the outbreak of the war, the American Red Cross has been for many people the only medium through which they could get news of their relatives in Poland, Holland, Belgium and the other occupied nations. Even when the news was slow to come, it has been the worst possible, it has at least meant merciful release from torturing anxiety and uncertainty.

For a while it was possible in a few cases to maintain contact by letter over long roundabout routes. Since America's entry into the war, all remaining avenues of communication have been closed. Today, under the rules of the United States Office of Censorship, personal messages to residents of enemy or enemy occupied countries can be forwarded ONLY through the Red Cross injury service here and the International Red Cross committee in Geneva, Switzerland.

Regulations governing the sending of such messages from the United States are that the communication, which should be filled in at a local Red Cross chapter, must not be more than 36 words and should be in English. If it is written in a foreign language, an English translation must be attached.

The United States Office of Censorship rules that no mention may be made of politics or military subjects, defense materials, shipping or business conditions, business matters or geographic names.

But even the strict regulations cannot rob the brief message on the International Red Cross form of its human warmth and drama. The original message, made out in some local Red Cross chapter here, goes on its long and slow journey across ocean and continents. Space is provided on it for a reply message to be returned to the original sender. It needs little imagination to picture the joy and comfort that brief messages from those loved ones brings to those cut off from every other chance of contact.

Ice Cream Consumption More Than Doubled

Long regarded as the "all American" dessert, ice cream is rapidly coming to be recognized not only as an economical food, but since it also contains all of the ingredients of milk, as one of the best protective foods. Within the past eight years, consumption has risen from about 4 1/2 quarts per person per year to over 10 1/2 quarts per person per year in 1941. That figure is rising rapidly. Ice cream takes the output of nearly one million cows. In the manufacture of ice cream, Pennsylvania leads the nation closely followed by New York. These two states produce more than one-fourth of all the ice cream in the United States. Illinois, Ohio, California, Michigan, Massachusetts, Texas, Wisconsin, Indiana, Missouri, Minnesota, New Jersey, Iowa and Maryland follow in the order of this productive importance.

CONSERVE FOR VICTORY

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE CARE OF YOUR Electric Washer

Your electric washer is a friend in need these busy wartime days. It not only saves you time and energy; it helps you conserve clothes and linens and reduces your laundering costs. Here are some timely hints that will make your washer last longer and give you better service:

Drain washer immediately after washing. Rinse tub thoroughly. Remove agitator or suction cups and rinse.

Remove any soap suds or lint that may have remained in agitator or suction cups with soft cloth or sponge.

Rolls and frame of wringer should be wiped dry. Release pressure on rolls when not in use. Saves the spring and the rubber.

Wipe connecting cord dry, coil and hang up carefully. Do not allow to kink and crack rubber insulation.

Leave cover off tub until all dampness has evaporated, to prevent rustiness.

Follow manufacturer's instructions concerning oil-ing and lubricating requirements. Consult dealer from whom you bought washer if in doubt.

If washer is stored outdoors, bring inside and let stand an hour before using in very cold weather. This gives grease a chance to soften and may prevent a burned-out motor.

Do not overload washer with too many pieces and do not use too much water. Follow manufacturer's directions.

Remove large buttons, buckles, etc., before running clothes through wringer. Otherwise you may break same or chew up wringer rolls.

Put a cover over your washer when not in use, if stored where dust can accumulate.

92 YEARS OF PROGRESS. A Historical Tour of the Louisville & Nashville R.R. Depression Days. The L. & N. weathered the dark days of the Depression better than most American railroads. It completed its $3,000,000 bridge across the Ohio River at Henderson, Ky., on December 31, 1932, and helped construct the gigantic Cincinnati Union Terminal which was completed on March 31, 1933. The daily-except-Sunday broadcast of the Pan-American over Station WSM was inaugurated on August 15, 1932, and has been heard by millions of listeners. It is now on its 402nd day. Today—all over America—the ring of steel wheels on steel rails is battling forth an inspiring hue of courageous endeavor. The Louisville & Nashville is proud to do its part in the war effort.
