Red Communiques Admit Grave Peril As New Flank Attacks Harass Nazis; CIO President Proposes Peace Plan; Cargo Planes Get Qualified Approval

EDITOR'S NOTE: Where opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

While Moscow's official radio was telling the Germans in their own language that the United States and Russia had come to their agreement on the creation of the second front in 1942, Soviet troops were busy with flank attacks on the Nazi forces front...

One of Uncle Sam's newest weapons for the armored forces, the M4 tank, is shown on special demonstration at Fort Knox, Ky. Here the 28-ton armor plows through a line of obstacles. It has a 75-mm. cannon in a revolving turret and a completely welded hull.

RUSSIA: Flank Tactics

While Moscow's official radio was telling the Germans in their own language that the United States and Russia had come to their agreement on the creation of the second front in 1942, Soviet troops were busy with flank attacks on the Nazi forces front...

If Germans in the homeland had been listening to the Russian radio, they would have known that the second front, they heard too that their country would be confronted with 15,000, 20,000 tanks, 100,000 guns, and 50,000 airplanes. But this was brave talk for even the official Russian communiques admit the gravity of their nation's peril...

Soviet officials had other troubles, they were reports out of Moscow that the so-called Russian retreat would stand a chance of being turned into a rout—a result that would be disastrous for the cause of the United Nations...

Meanwhile, through England and the United States the cry was getting louder for military officials to establish the much-discussed second front. From widely diversified groups and sections came the urgent demand for a considerable agitation for this move for many people feared the United Nations would suffer a most severe blow should Russia fall last year the mountainous mean side of the Ural mountains...

ALUANIANS: 10,000 Japs

Breaking an official silence, a navy spokesman officially estimated that the Japanese have succeeded in putting "76,000 more than 10,000" Japs into the Aleutian island area and at the same time announced there was no evidence that the Pribilof Island to the north had been occupied by the Nipponese...

PETROLIO SAYS 'NO'

"I cannot grant your request to cancel the notice that the AFM members will not play for transportation," said Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, who rescinded his ban against the making of new records for AFM members employed for commercial purposes by union members.

AIR MONSTERS: Things to Come

Reading like a tale from the pen of Jules Verne, the story of two super-gigantic cargo planes was unfolded in Washington by aviation engineers. Senate committees heard the stories.

The second plane was a revolutionary type of amphibian flying cargo plane, which would be lifted and propelled by a combination of engines, helium gas and air tunnels. The engineers are Dr. W. W. Christman and Eric Langlands of the Aerodynamics Research corporation.

A single wing combination cargo-fighter-carrier, the plane would have a flying deck of approximately 200 feet long. It would carry enough helium gas to lift 38 tons and with its engines could lift 70 tons. Four tunnels would run through the wings. Engineers say these tunnels would create a semi-vacuum, whose suction would supply pumping power while the propellers gave it thrusting power. Its speed would be about 200 miles an hour.

LADIES: Of the Navy

"Waves" is not a new U. S. navy men but the future sailors will have to think before using it. For this is the name being given to the Navy's woman's auxiliary, counter-part of the W.A.C.'s.

Now officially organized, Waves plan to enlist 10,000. First call was for 1,000 women, preferably bachelor girls, to volunteer as officer candidates.

Miss Mildred McAfee, 42, president of Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., is being chosen head of the feminine navy unit and will hold the rank of lieutenant commander.

While there appeared to be a preference for single girls, married women are not prohibited from volunteering. Unmarried women will have to agree not to marry while in training—a one-year period.

Waves will be assigned to desk or administrative jobs to release men for active sea duty.

Rationing Student

John Leibel, gas station attendant in Washington, is slated studying rationing rules. When Price Administrator Leon Henderson ran out of gas, Leibel refused to fill a can for him. Henderson later proved that such an act would not be a violation of the regulations, but his proof came too late. He already had been forced to take a taxi.

History's Biggest Tax Bill Can't Meet War Demands

Required Savings, Smaller Tax Exemptions Seen as Partial Solution to Inflation Threat.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

"Why don't you commentators keep trying to wake the people up to the war and try to wake Washington?" That's a question which repeats itself in my listening mail day after day. So I try to, I know the people don't need waking up. And who am I to decide whether Washington is asleep or just breathing deeply?

Let me say, first of all, that I know that a large part of "Washington" is awake and burning the midnight oil. And remember that more than 2,000 business men drafted into service as well as the government officials the MAJORITY of whom are men who have worked through both Republican and Democratic regimes.

But let me go on from there and talk about some of the slumbers who you nor I nor Big Ben nor an air-raid alarm could wake up if they had gone to bed after six cups of coffee and the radio on.

One of the many brakes on inflation is taxation. Taxation, of course, is an ancient process. Another method, not so ancient, is compulsory savings.

Henderson favored compulsory savings. So did a lot of others. He said, "The difficulty is that the government has no money. Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Morgenthau shuddered. That was totalitarian. Regulate prices (what you put in his mouth)."

Well, Henderson in one of his tactless moments a year and a half ago, said, "I don't care what Mr. Morgenthau's opinion on compulsory savings (not for the record). He said, 'I think it is perfectly well to have me put a gastap in every grocery store but he thinks it's Hitlerism to force people to save or buy bonds.'"

Those weren't his exact words but those were his sentiments. I quote them, not because Mr. Henderson is a great man, but because he talks with a punch. I might also add that there appeared a year ago an article from the pen of Reserve Secretary Morgenthau in which he expounded the thesis that money must be taken out of the easy spender's pockets or inflation would result.

One-Third of the Way Today we have a tax bill which stands, seven months after Pearl Harbor, as incapable of meeting the exigencies of war as Manila or Singapore were.

It is true that expenses have shot up more rapidly than was expected (though the blame for this has not been foreseen). And now we are lucky if we can pay one-third of our way. I mean Bell, undersecretary of the treasury, said that $2 billion dollars of the national expenditure would be handled with borrowing.

FATS: The Office of Price Administration has announced that four cents a pound on waste kitchen fats now being sold by housewives to retail meat markets in the national salvage campaign.

GASLESS: Pleasure driving is practically a thing of the past in Britain. As of August 1, gasoline is available only to business and professional automobiles.

DEATH: Maj. Gen. Julius von Vanselow, German commander who was killed in action on the Russian front, was announced on a Nazi broadcast.

Problem of Women Workers in War Plants... Idle Plants Rented For Storage by United States Government... Bell Syndicate—WFO Features.

WASHINGTON—Women in industry face a theme worrying many thinkers and planners for that hoped for period "after the war." Women are already playing a much greater part in the war effort than most people realize.

The question which is being raised by the war is whether planners is how to get the women back in the home when peace comes, especially those who are more efficient than men. It is really a social question. They reason this way—every woman who is a wage earner will take on a home when the war ends.

While most of the after-the-war planners are worrying about this as an economic question, it is pointed out by a minority that it is really a social question. They reason this way—every woman who is a wage earner will take on a home when the war ends.

Government Might Have Had To Erect Own Warehouses

Storage facilities have become one of the biggest bottlenecks of the war effort. In the last war lack of proper storage facilities finally resulted in the government having to erect its own. The same has happened then was that every article for the army in France, or for our military units, had to be transported to the ports. There the immense amount of goods piled up, choking the ports.

Plans were made long before this country entered the war to avoid a repetition of this. The construction companies worked out the plans, and these were given the blessing of the War Relocation Authority. The government has interfered much less with an intelligent working out of a priority system on the railroads than one would expect if any bureaucratic control to do.

But all of this intelligence and planning on the part of the railroads and the War Relocation Authority supplies are being produced more rapidly than they can be delivered on board ship. Hence warehouse facilities are being created as they have never been before, not even in the last war.

Recently the government attempted to solve the problem of getting rid of surplus goods by renting idle plants. The fees seem to have been excessive. In most instances the owners of the idle plants had been asked about giving up hope of utilizing them for the duration anyhow. So they are pleased to be getting rid of them, perhaps by taxes.

But the warehouse owners, whose regularly in the business and who expect to remain in it after the war, they would be pleased. They knew they would have a surplus of some sort, because the warehouse space simply had to be provided, as a military necessity.

BRIEFS... by Baukhage

"Education for Free Men" is the general theme chosen for the 1942 American Education week.

A bombardier can expect to spend about 38 seconds over an enemy target. During that brief time he must see the plane and make all the adjustments which actuate the famous American bomb-sight—all at a speed of 200 miles an hour.

A gross of 5 million books donated in five months is the record made by the Victory-Book campaign.

Education is one of the five largest "business firms" in Indiana, according to a recent issue of a publication titled "Business Firms of Indiana's Public School System." The schools directly affect nearly one-third of the population daily.

Cheese Trays Help You Through Sugar-Rationing Period!

Take It Easy on Sugar

No sweets with sugar rationed? Why, of course. With honey, corn and maple syrup, molasses, and prepared pudding mixtures, you can learn how to prepare delightful sugar-savings desserts, cakes and cookies that will not only take you gracefully through the sugar-rationing period but will also remain favorites with you long after these times are past.

Honey blends with raisins and spices in this delicious melt-in-your-mouth pie.

Honey Raisin Crumb Pie.
1 egg yolk
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup crumb mixture
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup nut meal
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter

Blend hot water with honey and add egg yolk. Mix flour, crumbs and spices. Rub in butter. Place a layer of raisins on unbaked pie shell, cover raisins with layer of nut meats, and pour over honey-sugar mixture. Top with crust of crumb mixture. Bake at 400 degrees until crust browns at edges, reduces to 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until firm.

Magic Chocolate Pie.
2 square unsweetened chocolate
1/4 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Baked pie shell (8-inch) or cookie pie crust

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add water and salt. Stir thoroughly blended. When cool, add vanilla. Pour into baked pie shell, or cookie crust.

Get your full quota of milk into the diet by serving it in this dessert combination with rennet powder. No sugar required!

Marshmallow Maple Rennet-Custard.
1 package maple rennet powder
1 pint milk, not scalded
5 marshmallows, diced
Dissolve marshmallows in 1 cup hot milk. Then add 1 cup cold milk and stir constantly. Test a drop of the inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM (110 degrees), hot, proceed according to directions on package. Chill, then serve.

Butterscotch Ice-Box Cake.
(Serves 4 to 8)
1 recipe butterscotch cornstarch pudding
3/4 cup cream, whipped
Lady Fingers or cake strips

Lynn Says:
Household Tips: Are you wondering how those potato pans are going to last for the duration? Since the production for these has been sharply curtailed, you will want hints on keeping them in "cooking" condition:

Aluminum: Leaving food in aluminum longer than necessary, cooking the utensil before washing and alkalis such as soda spell short wear for this metal. If you want to clean aluminum without endangering its wearing period, use very fine scouring powder or steel wool for discolorations. On cooking acid foods like tomatoes, rhubarb and apples—avoid the trick.

Iron: Wash in hot, sudsy water. If this doesn't clean it, use hot soda and water. If rusted, use scouring powder or steel wool. Always dry completely, and wrap in paper for storage.

Tin: This metal does not burn shiny indefinitely. Remove burnt foods by boiling in soda and water for five minutes, never longer. Rinse and dry thoroughly.

THIS WEEK'S MENU

- Lemon Smothered Chops
- Roast Chicken
- Buttered Noodles
- Vegetable Salad
- Butter Date-Nut Bread
- Diced Fresh Fruit
- Apple Sauce Cake
- Beverage

Prepare butterscotch pudding as directed on package. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Line bottom and sides of mold or loaf pan with waxed paper. Arrange layer of lady fingers on bottom and sides of mold. Turn 1/2 of pudding into mold; cover with layer of lady fingers. Turn remainder spilling into mold and place another layer of lady fingers on top. Chill in refrigerator.

Bermuda Appetizers.
Chop Bermuda onion finely, marinate and drain. Sprinkle on cracker and cover with slice of sliced Bermuda cheese. Thin slices of ripe, pumpkin or whole wheat bread which have been buttered may be used instead.

You can do all sorts of things with cheese as a last course and it is in place of fruit. Camembert has an affinity for apples, peaches, pears, and crackers served with a bowl full of summer's insecticides.

Cream shortening. Add sugar syrup, beating in well. Add well beaten eggs and beat until well blended; add molasses. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with apple sauce to first mixture. Add raisins. Bake in greased square baking pan in moderate oven at 350 degrees about 1 hour. Frost with:

- 1 egg white
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/4 cup chopped seed raisins
- 1/4 cup chopped pecan meats

Beat egg white until stiff. Add syrup, beating constantly. Sprinkle with raisins and nuts. Spread between layers and on top of cake. Sprinkle with remaining raisins and nuts.

"Lemon Smothered Chops.
(Serves 4 to 6)
3 pounds pork or lamb chops, cut thick
Put in a large covered skillet or chicken fryer. Cover top of meat closely with:
2 unpeeled lemons, sliced
1 large sweet onion, cut in rings
1 green pepper, cut in rings
1 teaspoon salt

Four over all:
8 cups tomato juice
Do with 1/2 fakes of fat cut from meat or butter. Cover top of top of stove 1 1/2 hours or until done. Lift out hot lemon, onion and pepper slices to place. The meat cooked this way acquires a chicken texture and color, while the delicious, oniony sauce accompanies it.

TO YOUR VITAMINS

You are reading about vitamins every day, about their importance in the diet, and their importance to general health, yet if you were to be asked to describe a vitamin you might find it difficult to do so.

Everywhere you are seeing newspaper and magazine articles about the value of the vitamins in certain diseases. Thus, vitamin A is used in eye disease, E in rheumatism, B in arthritis, lack of appetite, C in scurvy, D in rickets, and E in certain gland deficiencies.

Dr. Barton of biochemistry, California Institute of Technology, says: "The fact is that the discovery of vitamins and of the role they play in human health is the most important advance so far made in this century. It has taught us what the essentials are in food. It has given us new insights into the chemistry of the body. But what is most important, it has given us the means of greatly raising the standard of health and well-being of all of us."

Everywhere you are seeing newspaper and magazine articles about the value of the vitamins in certain diseases. Thus, vitamin A is used in eye disease, E in rheumatism, B in arthritis, lack of appetite, C in scurvy, D in rickets, and E in certain gland deficiencies.

How can we be sure of getting enough vitamins for our daily diet? Diet experts have worked out tables of the everyday requirements of each vitamin for children and adults but if, in addition to our regular diet of bread, potatoes and meat, we make sure every day of average servings of dairy products—milk, butter, cheese—green vegetables—lettuce, spinach, cabbage, beet and carrot tops—we will get all the vitamins we need.

Purpose of Liver And Gall Bladder
What may be hard to understand is why fat foods must be avoided in liver and gall bladder disturbances; yet it is known that fat food helps to empty the gall bladder promptly, thus preventing gall bladder symptoms such as pain and gas formation.

While it is true that fat foods—butter, cream, bacon—help empty the gall bladder, it requires but a small amount of these fat foods to do this and eating more fat foods than the liver can handle properly brings about the sluggishness of liver and gall bladder with the usual symptoms arising from this sluggishness—pain in upper right side of abdomen, gas pressure, bloating and sometimes nausea and vomiting.

When man has created his body was, and still is covered with huge masses of muscle. These muscles were not meant to simply carry him about and rest on his food. These huge muscles were meant to work, to help man hunt for food, carry burdens, fight or run as necessity arose. To keep these huge muscles healthy, man was meant to use them every day. And to keep these muscles healthy, man was meant to eat all kinds of food including fat foods.

What we find, however, is that man eats plenty of food but because modern life makes it unnecessary to work or to hunt, the circulation of the blood in the liver is "not stimulated" to action as much as it should be and so enough fat is "not manufactured" to take care of the fats and sugars eaten.

An active liver manufacturing bile in large quantities gives a buoyant feeling, whereas a sluggish liver makes one discouraged or even a "quitter."

As man was meant to use his muscles, take deep breaths and bend his body, simple daily exercises—walking, bending, deep breathing—will stimulate the flow of bile in liver and keep gall bladder emptying regularly.

"KEEP 'EM RINGING"

THE Liberty Bell is ringing again—throughout this militant land.
But it's not just one bell that rings today.
Tens of thousands of them are clanging "right of way" for the U.S.A. as the troop trains roll, as freight trains bring together at the war plants every sort of raw material, and as they speed tanks, guns, planes and munitions from assembly lines to our fighting fronts.
For the bells of America's locomotives—locomotives moving a million tons of freight a mile for every minute of the day and night—are Liberty Bells of 1942.
To do their part in keeping this "War of Movement" rolling, the railroads have enlarged their plant and increased the efficiency of their operations.
Today railroad equipment and railroad men are delivering the great transportation job in history.
The size of that job is constantly increasing as ships stop withdrift from home shores, and as rubber-tired traffic hauls more and more to the rails. To handle a growing job, railroads have bought and built more cars and locomotives, and would like to get still more. Other national needs for critical materials, however, have made it impossible for them to get as much new equipment as they would like. But you can count on it—the railroads will make the best use of what they have and want first- class equipment. You can count on it that they'll keep up their all-out effort toward the great objective to keep America working, to keep America fighting, to keep America free.

On Guard... ROUND THE CLOCK to safeguard your family food supply.

SUMMERTIME is vacation time, but not for your electric refrigerator. During the winter months it loafed along, using a minimum of current, but now it must work longer and harder to keep foods fresh and wholesome and to supply extra quantities of ice cubes and frozen desserts. Naturally, your refrigerator is using a little more electricity these sizzling hot days, but the added cost is small compared to the food savings it makes possible. Electric pennies save food dollars.

Electric Refrigerator Economy Hints

1. Defrost regularly — at least once a week.
2. Do not crowd shelves — circulation is vital to efficient operation.
3. Do not open door often or hold it open longer than necessary.
4. Do not store hot foods in refrigerator — let them cool first.
5. Cover all liquids before storing them in refrigerator.
6. Avoid quick freezing as much as possible.

Knowledge of Plant Foods Is Aid in Rebuilding Soil

CHEMICAL terms such as nitrogen, phosphorus and potash seem a bit difficult to understand, don't they?

But as a matter of fact, they are no harder to grasp than many other new terms which we of this generation who live on or near farms have had to learn. And once we learn what job each of the three major plant foods performs, then we shall be able to more successfully treat growing crops for plant food hunger signs and rebuild soil fertility.

What are these jobs?

Nitrogen encourages growth, builds protein and develops the fleshy portion of roots and fruits. Phosphorus hastens the ripening of seed and favors early maturity. Potash is the fertilizer enabling the crop to make better use of its other plant foods. It likewise develops resistance to disease and improves quality.

Eats Anything Now; Thanks To Retonga

Suffered So Much Distress She Was Almost Afraid To Drink a Glass of Water States Mrs. Hockenbury, States of Her Case.

MRS. DINAH HOCKENBURY

"I made my garden this spring and have done all my housework and have felt good—and I give Retonga all the credit for it," declares Mrs. Dinah Hockenbury, well-known resident of Route 2, Leitchfield, Ky. "I am so grateful to Retonga I feel that I can never praise it enough."

Discussing her case, Mrs. Hockenbury happily continues: "I suffered so much distress from nervous indigestion that I was almost afraid to even drink a glass of water. Nearly everything I swallowed seemed to turn sour as vinegar and generate so much gas that often I could hardly breathe. I had to take such harsh upsetting laxatives that they left me weak and tremble. I suffered badly from headaches, spots came before my eyes, and my nerves seemed always at the breaking point.

"Retonga relieved all this distress so promptly and pleasantly I hardly knew what was taking place. Soon I was eating anything I wanted, gaining strength and feeling fine. Even the sluggish elimination was relieved. All this was a year ago, and I have felt splendid ever since. I know from experience that Retonga is grand."

Retonga is a purely herbal stomachic medicine combined with Vitamin B-1 for digestion, nerves, and strength. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Maggard Drug Store, Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Character Tests Tell Whether You're Criminal

After 20 unpublished years of research, California scientists soon announce a revolutionary character test which will accurately tell whether you are a potential murderer, a future traitor or just a happily married breadwinner simply by measuring your bones, eyes and ears.

Not only will these new tests tell what career you should choose, they will also predict how many automobile accidents you will have, how good a driver you are, how honest you are and what kind of a husband or wife you should have.

A former big game hunter, osteoniatra, Edward V. Jones, is the originator of the latest method of "X-raying" the human character by taking approximately 60 measurements of a person's physical features.

Jones and his associates spent 30 years studying 10,000 persons, testing their new method on 41 types in walks of life. They found there were certain "standards" for vocational guidance and to aid large companies in selecting suitable employees.

It was soon enlarged to help social workers and other authorities—as well as the average man—in determining whether a proposed marriage.

So successful were the tests that Southern California police forces enlisted Jones and his associates to identify criminals. They found the new method had an uncanny knack of pointing out the guilty or innocence of suspects.

2 Bones Weekly Enough For Canine, Says Expert

It is the accepted opinion that bones are good for a dog, but with definite limitations. Too many bones are actually bad for a dog. It is not advisable giving a dog a "stand" of cooked bones. Cooked bones break into sharp splinters.

A dog can digest bones because of the large amount of hydrochloric acid in his stomach. However, if too many bones are given the animal is unable to digest them. Some pass into the intestines and puncture the walls or remain there, causing the dog serious illness.

The correct amount of bone received from bones is rather small. One or two bones, at the most, a week should be sufficient for your pet. The benefit derived may be described as that of a toothbrush. They do help keep the teeth and gums in good shape and afford exercise to the dog's jaws. In spite of these benefits, I do not recommend feeding bones regularly. If you are going to give your dog a bone, choose a large, uncooked knuckle bone, and under no circumstances give him porky, pork, rabbit or cooked bones of any sort.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The power of the greatest Navy in the world, our own 15,000-ton fleet, rests in large measure on its backbone—the Battleships of the Line. They displace approximately 35,000 tons and cost up to $70,000,000. We have something like a score of these huge ships in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Eight huge battleships are under construction and more are contemplated to finance these modern colossi of the sea it is necessary for every American everywhere to buy more War Bonds. We can do it and if everybody does his share, investment of least ten percent of your income every pay day to help your country go over the top. Quota.
