

GHOST PLANE

By ARTHUR STRINGER

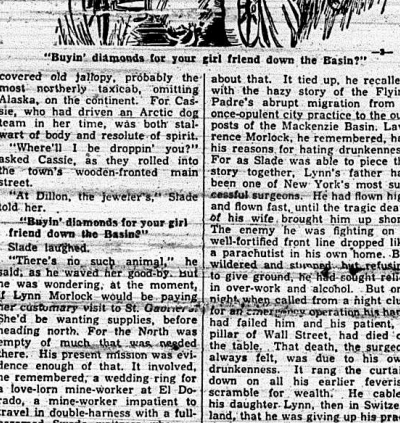

W.M.U. SERVICE

THIS STORY SO FAR: Just when it looked as though the "scientist" named Kruger, who offers to pay well to be flown to the Alaskan, river and Canada's barren North Country, where he would lead the hapless natives and the trampster swan. This good news helps to soften the blow when Kruger has to tell his partner, and also the "congress" service with the army air corps has been turned down. Slade explains that he signed up because he thought they would lose the business. Kruger says he has bought a new Lockheed and will be there in a few days. He says he will be there in a few days. He says he will be there in a few days.

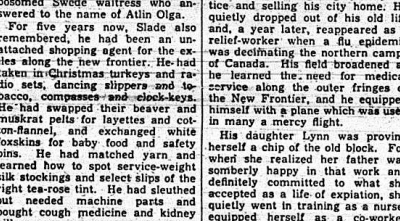

CHAPTER II

"What was this man Kruger after in the Himalayas?" Slade asked. "The Great Tibetan Sheep," Karnell, he explained, was his shikari on both occasions. But Karnell doesn't count. He's a hired hand. Entirely, it is supply the brawn. It's our man of science who supplies the brains in that outfit. "Wasn't your nature-lover shooting wide of the mark when he went looking for sheep in winter? It's in spring and summer sheep come down anywhere. Every hunter knows that."

"Cruger's chair-shift was one of impudence. "Don't worry about your passengers. Your business, Lindy, is flying. And if you feel that drummy. I'm cringing at the sight of you all the rest of them, you'll think along another line when you've seen him. He's a scoundrel. And before summer's over you'll be sure, he'll be calling for supplies. "Should he go in there to starve?" questioned Slade.

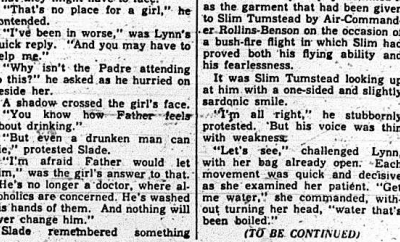

"He won't starve," retorted the other. "He's well heeled, his passport in order, and the Royal Mounted have okayed his excursion. He's carrying a lot of equipment." Kruger's glance went to the window. "They'll be bringing over their stuff from the terminal any time now."

"Themself?" Kruger nodded. "It's too precious, apparently, for our port boys to handle. Before sundown they'll be stowing it aboard your ship, and when they're done, a better stand by and check up on their kit."

"Cruger shrugged. "Well, let's say it's to make sure he doesn't give you an over-load." Slade retorted with his flyer's code. "I'll be back from McMurray in two hours," he proclaimed. "And I'll check and double-check on that swat-sticker."

SAMMY JAY PROTESTS

WHERE Sammy Jay reached the place deep in the Green Forest where Paddy the Beaver was hard at work building a dam so as to make a pond, just for his own use, he didn't like to see the little four-footed people. You see, of course he had no reason to hide. He just felt perfectly safe. Paddy had just cut a big tree and it fell with a crash as Sammy came hurrying up. Sammy was so surprised that for a minute he couldn't find his tongue. He had not supposed that anybody but Farmer Brown or Farmer Brown's Boy could cut down so large a tree as that, and it quite took his breath away. But he got it again in a minute.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By MARION L. LUNDQUIST, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Hemisphere Union.

Lesson for October 11

Lesson Subjects—Mark 2:14-17; John 6:9-13. Golden Text—Matthew 22:37. Golden Text—What things were said to me, those I counted loss for Christ—Philippians 3:8.

Loyalty is undoubtedly one of the finest traits of mankind. Because of its strength, its fidelity to duty, etc., shrewd men have learned to place a premium on loyalty, making it a most desirable and ignoble end. Unworthy causes, having thus gained the interest of man by fair means and foul, have remained blind, yet even in the carrying out of crime there is some kind of a code of ethics, and loyalty among the ranks. All this does not change the fact that there is a high and holy impulse in man to stand true to the right; and in the Christian, to be found ever loyal to the Christ, whose are and whom we serve. Faith in Christ for our leader and who is rightly followed by loyalty to Him. It manifests itself in three ways.

1. Following Christ (Mark 2:14-17)

Without obedience there is no use talking about loyalty. When Jesus said: "Follow me," Matthew (Levi) arose and followed Him. He was called (v. 17), a man of the despised calling of tax-gatherer (v. 14), but he responded for the call of Christ this morning," said Paddy, just as if he hadn't known all the time.

Meaning yourself, I suppose," said Paddy, "I never did see an honest Jay, and I don't suppose I ever will."

Notice that following Christ carries with it the privilege and obligation (if it is both) of making Him our leader. Matthew 22:37. Notice that following Christ carries with it the privilege and obligation (if it is both) of making Him our leader. Matthew 22:37.

The World in Your Pocket
Carrying the world in your pocket is no task with this balloon globe designed to keep you abreast of world events. The rubber balloon can be inflated by three or four lungfuls to a diameter of eight inches. The neck is then twisted and passed through a cardboard disk which is supported by a base. The globe's scale is approximately one inch for 500 miles. To put the world back into your pocket, just pull its neck out of the slot in the base and let the air escape.

Church Notes

MT. VERNON BAPTIST CHURCH
W. C. Younce, Pastor.

Our Revival Services began Monday night. We were well pleased with the attendance. Brother Rule spoke on the question "What does it mean to know Jesus?" Tuesday morning he used as his subject "An Aggressive Faith," declaring that "holding one's own is not enough. We must attack." These were indeed challenging messages. We hope that those who have not been attending our services 10:00 A. M. will make a special effort to do so. Brother Rule is indeed a spirit-filled man.

Sunday Services
Sunday - 9:45 A. M. Lesson: "What loyalty to Christ means." Following: Hymns; Loyalty tested; Christ above all; Loyalty expresses itself; Daring to be different - these are high-roads to the kingdom.

Morning Worship - 11:00 o'clock
Brother Rule requests that every person attending this service bring along a string exactly 12" in length, any size or color, but 12" long.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in the community.

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

By Presidential proclamation, the week of October 2 to 11 has been set aside all over the Nation for people to examine their property, both inside and outside, to determine what should be done to protect it from damage or destruction by careless matches.

Every farmer, merchant, and tenant should look to his flues and trash lying around the place and see what should be done to protect his home or place of business from destruction by fire. This is important, if you are to keep trust which the President has given us.

Also, Kentucky's timberland and woodlands will be in a dangerous situation this fall, and conditions may even be so serious as to be critical. The loss of manpower used in fighting forest fire, and the lack of transportation in many areas increases the likelihood of large fires.

Manager Meekins, emphasize that the enemy's first attack on continental United States was on a west coast National Forest. The attack occurred on the forest rather than on a city because the Japs thought they could do the most damage by striking at the important timberland.

The War Wind, backing the fire prevention program, wants everyone to be especially vigilant this year. It urges that matches and cigarettes be discarded, and that no matches be used unless they are needed for a fire.

AMERICAN AT WAR

By Flossie Harper
What are you doing for National Defense? Do you make good use of your dollars and cents? Have you bought a bond or a stamp? Or tried to help in any way?

Our country's in need, oh, can't you see that you can help to keep us free? You can help us to win the war. "I love you one part-day to-day!"

To lick those Japs we've gotta fight. We've gotta work both day and night. We'll whip those "rats" and save our land. And wave Old Glory right over Japan!

Please do your bit without delay. Don't put it off till another day. Or say "I'll" then wait and wait. For to-morrow, you know, may be too late!

Homemakers Meet Here

Madison County of Southern Kentucky held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. W. R. Champlin, Monday evening, September 28. The members present were: Mr. R. F. Spence, Mrs. Hatcher, Mrs. F. F. Krueger, Mr. N. M. Smock, Mr. A. V. Lee, Mr. Buster Green, Mr. Kenneth Stearns, Mr. W. P. Champion, Miss Florence Barnes, and Mr. Russell, pastor of the Mt. Vernon Christian Church. Mrs. Frits Krueger, Mrs. N. M. Smock, and Miss Stearns were also present.

A delicious supper was served in the living room of the Champion home. Miss Florence Barnes was elected secretary of the Council. Plans for Achievement Day were discussed, and it was decided to hold the exercises at the court house and on Main Street, instead of the high school building.

The next meeting will be held at the Wildlife Theater. Florence Barnes, Sec. The Signal offers its thanks to the Stamford Interior Journal and the Berce Citizen for helping out in setting our type last week. We were unable to use our own machine because of electrical trouble and the paper came out a very beautiful sheet.

County Agent's Notes

Thirty-one hemp seed growers met on Monday, Oct. 27, at the home of Mrs. J. L. McKerrick. The growers learned the stages of how to cut and shock. Threshing was also discussed with emphasis placed on the importance of securing sheet and screen at once.

In the afternoon the threshers met in the County Agent's Office and made plans for crushing and cleaning the seed for market. It was decided that the growers would be grouped and the threshers would take care of the growers most convenient to them in transporting their machines.

The following threshers and fanners will have agreed to take care of the seed for the growers: J. L. McKerrick, Jess Fish, Mr. J. A. Brown, Willalla said he would set his threshing machine to work on Monday, Oct. 27, and move it around. It is hoped that M. G. Cobb, Climax, will operate his fanning mill for the growers in that section.

Where threshers operate the seed growers' work is to be green and should be considered according to ripeness. Where threshers operate the seed growers' work is to be green and should be considered according to ripeness.

STATE BRIEFS

Richmond's time-worn bandstand in the courthouse yard Monday appeared domed for the nation's wartime effort. The bandstand was secured for all available metal and can be converted into defense use.

"We accept this honor with deep humility," Dr. Raymond A. Kehl, president of the University of Louisville, said Monday in a speech at the dedication of the statue of the late Louis D. Brandeis, former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, were buried here.

George O. H. and Jimmy, Young sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Spooner, Jr., have the distinction of being the first Lincoln County growers peanuts this year. They put out a small crop of a new variety and harvested there over three gallons of fine peanuts.

The Army has ordered from a Louisville firm a large number of incendiary bombs of an entirely new type. 4-H Club Has Meeting

Council held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. W. R. Champlin, Monday evening, September 28. The members present were: Mr. R. F. Spence, Mrs. Hatcher, Mrs. F. F. Krueger, Mr. N. M. Smock, Mr. A. V. Lee, Mr. Buster Green, Mr. Kenneth Stearns, Mr. W. P. Champion, Miss Florence Barnes, and Mr. Russell, pastor of the Mt. Vernon Christian Church.

A delicious supper was served in the living room of the Champion home. Miss Florence Barnes was elected secretary of the Council. Plans for Achievement Day were discussed, and it was decided to hold the exercises at the court house and on Main Street, instead of the high school building.

The next meeting will be held at the Wildlife Theater. Florence Barnes, Sec. County Agent's Notes

Thirty-one hemp seed growers met on Monday, Oct. 27, at the home of Mrs. J. L. McKerrick. The growers learned the stages of how to cut and shock. Threshing was also discussed with emphasis placed on the importance of securing sheet and screen at once.

In the afternoon the threshers met in the County Agent's Office and made plans for crushing and cleaning the seed for market. It was decided that the growers would be grouped and the threshers would take care of the growers most convenient to them in transporting their machines.

The following threshers and fanners will have agreed to take care of the seed for the growers: J. L. McKerrick, Jess Fish, Mr. J. A. Brown, Willalla said he would set his threshing machine to work on Monday, Oct. 27, and move it around. It is hoped that M. G. Cobb, Climax, will operate his fanning mill for the growers in that section.

Where threshers operate the seed growers' work is to be green and should be considered according to ripeness. Where threshers operate the seed growers' work is to be green and should be considered according to ripeness.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Aid for Small Business Urged by WPB; Allied Land-Air Offensive Relieves Jap Pressure on Critical New Guinea Front; FDR Envisions Higher War Production

Western Union's news analysis and not necessarily its news items. EDITOR'S NOTE: This news analysis is published weekly. Released by Western Union, Inc.

British raids on the German lines in Libya have yielded considerable success in damage to enemy communications and supplies as well as prisoners captured for questioning. Above photo shows some of the 57 German prisoners taken on a recent foray.

SMALL BUSINESS: To Get Lifeline

With the national inevitable progress toward total war economy many a small business man faced the prospect of becoming a postwar casualty unless a lifeline were thrown to him.

Help appeared likely, however, when War Production Chief Donald H. Nelson urged on Congress the immediate creation of a war liabilities administration charged with the job of seeing to it that the little business man survived.

Four essentials for saving little business were recommended by Nelson in testimony before the special Senate committee studying wartime problems of little business.

ROOSEVELT: High Goals Ahead

Expressing the opinion that war production was proceeding at an extremely satisfactory rate and that the rest of the nation was far ahead of Washington in war spirit, President Roosevelt returned to the White House after an unprecedented close inspection of war activities from coast to coast.

PACIFIC AREA: Yanks Infiltrate

In the New Guinea area of the Southwest Pacific, Allied command troops gave the Japs a taste of their own medicine by taking the offensive—sifting through jungles and over mountains to reach the original base in the Owen Stanley range, well beyond Ioribaiva, the high water mark of the Japanese advance on Buna.

MISCELLANY:

LONDON: Plans for a London recitation center for the United States armed forces on the lines of the New York Stage Door Canteen were announced here by Harvey D. Gibson, American Red Cross commissioner in Britain.

WASHINGTON: Unofficial complaints of war appropriations since Pearl Harbor indicated that the total would reach approximately 140 billion dollars before January 1, 1943.

WASHINGTON: Aeronautical complications of war appropriations since Pearl Harbor indicated that the total would reach approximately 140 billion dollars before January 1, 1943.

RUSSIA:

Race With Winter

As autumn brought blustery cold days presaging the advent of a Russian winter, the historic struggle for possession of the Volga area continued with the German army and its new infantry forces, tank divisions and air units and the hard-pressed Red stubbornly contesting every foot of territory.

In the ebb and flow of contiguous battle, one Russian counterattack threatened the Nazis' right flank while another against the Germans' left flank had pressed slowly down between the Don and Volga rivers. Meanwhile guns of the Volga front rang the Nazi invaders.

Despite local Russian successes, the gravity of the situation remained. The Germans retained mastery of the air. Their tank and mechanized forces were superior to those of the Red defenders. The German high command was spending food and lives recklessly.

SECOND FRONT: Churchill Enigmatic

Somber was the report Prime Minister Winston Churchill gave on the Dieppe Commando raid when he revealed that Allied losses were very nearly half of the troops involved.

The prime minister said that British tanks were held up by the "allotment unexpected strength" of defenses blocks placed at the ends of Dieppe's streets by the Nazi defenders.

These statements together with a later admonition to Parliament about the undesirability of public statements or speculations regarding the opening of a second front had the experts puzzled.

Was Churchill emphasizing the Dieppe losses to the Nazi enemies? Was he hush-hushing the second front for the same purpose, or to quiet home demands?

The between-the-lines implication of his statements, according to seasoned observers was this: "Let's keep Hitler guessing. Of course we have definite plans, but I don't expose our hand."

ISOLATIONISTS: Urged to Recant

Pearl Harbor isolationists were urged by Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter to contribute to "the spiritual unity which the perils of the hour demands" by publicly repudiating their former views.

At the inauguration of Dr. Harry Noble Wright as president of the American League for Peace and Democracy, Justice Frankfurter urged isolationists to recant.

JUSTICE FRANKFURTER: ... a candid recantation.

Justice Frankfurter, chief justice of the College of the City of New York, Justice Frankfurter said: "Nothing would so make for a strengthening of the morale of the sources of the nation than a candid recantation of their foreshortened views by all their isolationists."

Justice Frankfurter cited as a distinguished example, the case of the Very Reverend Robert L. Gannon, president of Fordham university, who publicly admitted that he had been "completely wrong" in his pre-war opinions.

LABOR: Gets Blunt Advice

American labor leaders were bluntly told by Rear Admiral Ben Moreell that the people could live without labor unions and "they will damn well live without them, if all of us don't get in there and pitch."

Speaking before the building and construction trades department of the American Federation of Labor in Toronto, the chief of the navy's bureau of yards and docks said he was not implying that labor has any exclusive responsibility for the country's failure to produce the amount of war implements, but that half working people had the biggest stake in the war.

U. S. BIRTH RATE:

J. C. Capt, director of the census bureau, revealed that the population of the continental United States, including members of the armed forces abroad, was about 133,985,000 last January 1, as compared with an estimated 122,838,000 on January 1, 1941. This represented a gain of 2,296,000 over the 1940 census figure.

Births in 1941 accounted for a population increase almost 50 per cent above the average annual gain, Mr. Capt. reported.

Washington Digest 'Little Nations' Skeptical Of Future Peace Terms

Oppressed Countries Fear That Hatred or Indifference to Them Will Dominate Proposals When War Ends.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. Like voices crying in the wilderness the little nations of the world are supplicating America. They have been searching our oratorical declamations for the most favorable United Nations to see just how much we have, actually, promised to the little people. And they are not sure at the present writing that it is very much.

Sooner or later the United States must face the position of the English, as to what we can offer behind glory and honor and gratitude and sympathy for the men and women who have already felt the yoke of war.

I had that thought come to me the other night. It was nearly three o'clock in the morning. The slim, earnest gentleman opposite me with the slightly foreign accent had lost track of time and it seemed as if the ancient clock on the bookcase was discreetly muttering to him, "I was in no hurry for a long time."

"You must," he said, "be completely autonomous, the more the better, the big ones and the little ones, and the little ones who are fighting or those that are still battling or they don't do it for fear."

Most of them have already felt the boot of the conqueror. And they fear that the great machine will roll over them again, that the peace will be a bittered and that when the peace comes the big nations will make the peace.

The next day I read the statement of the Finnish legation that "Finland wants to stop fighting as soon as the threat to her existence has been removed, but she guarantees to obtain for her lasting security."

At about the same time, there was made public in London the proposal for signing the "Declaration of the government of the Netherlands-empire which would advance the Netherlands empire, the East and West Indies and other possessions.

I had already heard a Hollander say a pair of gunners' wings. Goly is going to have a tour of duty instructing for a while. When he doesn't know, he'll be glad to say, to go anywhere in this "wonderful world," he ordered, "but" (and there was a serious look in his brown eyes in spite of the smile when he said it) "I'm a small town boy and I like it."

"Like being back home," said Sergt. Robert L. Goly when he signed the photograph by returning to the type case he gave up for a machine gun.

WPA Nursery Schools Six million dollars, earmarked by Congress in the 1942 WPA appropriation act for extension of WPA nursery schools, will make possible the release of more than 50,000 women from vital war work, according to Mrs. Florence Kerr, WPA assistant commissioner.

In peacetime, WPA nursery schools will be limited to children of low-income families who could not afford to pay even a small amount for child care, but in response to the more urgent demand, emphasis for some months has been placed on service to children in war production areas. Mrs. Kerr explained, "Without nursery school service, it would be impossible to utilize the labor of many women who are performing tasks essential to the war effort. For those who are making good wages pay for this service in the WPA nursery schools to their children on a sliding scale commensurate with their ability."

The current program, initiated in 1933 to care for about 55,000 children in 1,250 nursery schools, Mrs. Kerr said, approximately 300 locations in defense areas, where large numbers of women are working in industry, already are being benefited. Mrs. Kerr estimates that some 1,200 additional nursery schools will have been established for children of working mothers by the end of '42.

Gasoline rationing is credited with the reopening of Howlett Hill, Syracuse, N. Y., church for the first time in 20 years—except for intermittent use for religious services. The minister explained that the clergy, cut off from gasoline "while many of the persons in the outlying districts who are attending our church may not be able to do so because of the rationing."

When the French lost their impatience they lost the war. They were willing to sit behind the Maginot line. When the Japs lost their patience they lost the battle of Midway. It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways.

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By Gordon Wilson, Ph. D.

Many an old-timer who reads this column will remember how excited he was when his first writing appeared in print; the print of the most democratic institution in America, the small-town county paper. I should like to submit a page or two to the weekly county paper. To my surprise, the serawl was accepted, as were dozens of others that followed it. It was the custom then to write with a non-deliberate move, was Eugene, a name I had picked up in some contributions to the professional magazine that one of my rural teachers received monthly. Under that name I told who visited whom, just when and where church services were held, who spoke as a candidate, who held a picnic or a graveyard-cleaning or house-raising or quilting or log-rolling. Sometimes I launched into "read 'em and weep" you would call it, brief paragraphs or fables in the style of what I had read in the school readers. Sometimes these parables or fables were pretty thick veiled and got on some of the favorite corns in the community; the shoe fit a bit too well and caused the usual trouble. One was so pointed that Father came near ending my literary career; for Father, patently attacked one of the neighbors for her alleged mistreatment of her aged father-in-law. My story, not of the literary, was the setting down of a neighborhood gossip that I knew nothing about then, and know less now; but it was pointed enough to cause comment, probably the first real attention that words of mine had ever had. The readers on the far side of the county probably thought I was romancing, but the neighbors' knock better. As I recall it now, this unfortunate incident just about ended my journalistic career, for shortly afterwards I went away to school and was too busy with books to write any more. Occasionally I refer to my first love by telling the happenings among the students.

How Much Will His Eyes Change?

"Little Bright Eyes" will be "Big Bright Eyes" before he outgrows many more pairs of shoes. And while most babies are born with good eyes, figures show that by school age, one out of five has defective vision... and the number grows to two out of five at college age.

You don't want your child to be handicapped in his studies by poor vision, so provide enough light and the right kind of light for safe seeing throughout your home.

Place a reading lamp with bulbs totaling at least 100 watts beside every chair where eyes are used for close visual tasks. Have enough light elsewhere in each room to give contrasts of light and shadow. See that all light sources are well-shaded and free from glare.

Good light costs only a few cents a day more than poor light. Enjoy better light tonight!

TWO EASY WAYS TO ENJOY BETTER LIGHT

It costs little to modernize the lighting in your home. New equipment like that shown here is low-priced, good-looking and scientifically designed to give better light for better sight. Come in and see the new lamps and adaptor units today!

Round-Up YOUR SCRAP this week

... so you can get in the SCRAP next week!

$5,000⁰⁰ in PRIZES

offered in Kentucky's Big State-Wide

SCRAP COLLECTION DRIVE

STARTING MONDAY, OCTOBER 12TH

in every COUNTY and CORNER and HOME in this State!

Donald M. Nelson says "There is enough iron and steel farms alone, if used with other materials, to make twice as many battleships as there are in the world today, or enough 2,000-lb. bombs to drop three per minute from big bombers incessantly for more than three years." . . . The scrap is HERE, hidden, covered-up, forgotten. But it is vital to victory—and MUST be uncovered, dug up, rounded up, NOW! Comb your home, your farm, your business, this week, for every pound, and have it READY next Monday to turn in. You'll get credit for it in the big $5,000 contest. Kentucky will get in the scrap war. Be ready when the collection call comes!

SCRAP COLLECTION CONTEST RULES

ELIGIBILITY
Every person residing within a Kentucky county is eligible to contribute to the county's total collection. Persons and their families engaged in the business of buying and selling scrap iron or collecting it on a commission are NOT eligible to compete as individuals or firms. They may, however, help to increase the county's total by initiating scrap collection, the contest credit to go to the original owner who turned it in. All the organizations, competing as such for one of the prizes, are eligible to collect scrap metal to be entered in the name of that organization. The same material, however, may NOT be credited to both the organization and the individual. Every individual living in the state and not engaged in the business of collecting scrap metal, is eligible to compete for the prize to an individual. Every state Junior Organization (in units) such as 4-H Clubs, Boy Scouts, F.A.A. Clubs, Girl Scouts or Camp

PROCEDURE
The County Salvage Committee in each county in the state will be in charge of collection of all scrap metal entered in the contest. All scrap metal turned in, must be credited to the one turning it in by means of an official receipt indicating the pounds received at delivery point. Credit in the contest will be given ONLY on the basis of these receipts. Be sure to get and hold your receipts. Credit in the Scrap Metal Contest will be granted only on scrap turned in from Oct. 12 to Oct. 31 inclusive.
