.. A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation!

Get up and cheer, constipation sufferers! If you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet — here's news of a gentler, pleasanter way to win welcome relief!

You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestine to contraction or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. But ELLGLOB'S ALL — a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works practically on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. Eat it often and drink plenty of water. All-Break is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

One Task at a Time — I go to what I am about as if there was nothing else in the world for the time being. That's the secret of all hard-working men. — Charles Kingsley.

PENETRO

Many users say "First use is a revelation." It's a base of old fashioned mutton suet, Gramin's Fat, and a special Penetro. Generous jar 25¢, double supply 50¢.

COLDS, BRUISES, SHUFFLES, ACNES

On the Seven Seas

For 45 years General Electric has developed and built electric equipment for naval vessels. Here are a few of the ways in which electricity serves our navy.

1. Just one battleship may have electric generators to produce as much as 150,000 kilowatts. This power would supply the needs of a city of 375,000.

2. Searchlights produce millions of candlepower of light to aid in detecting enemy ships and planes, and to guide Navy gunners to their targets.

3. More than 20 different operations are performed in bringing a naval gun to bear on its target. Electricity helps to coordinate these operations.

4. When a battleship goes into action, electricity helps direct the ship, operate the guns, and give the orders. It is building equipment to do these jobs.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

TEAMWORK FOR VICTORY

YOU know how sometimes a team of five men, or nine men, or eleven men, gets inspired - how everything clicks and it can beat any team in the world?

Well, the same thing has happened to a team of more than 700 separate railroads, large and small.

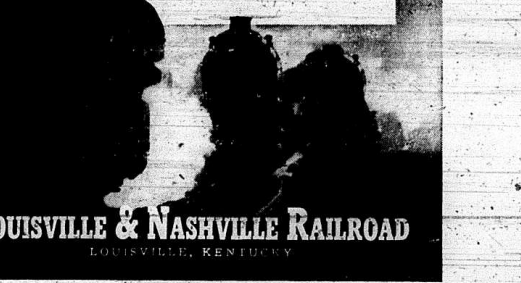

For twenty years these railroads have been training for any transportation job that might come along - laying heavier rail, speeding up trains, getting more work out of every freight car. They've been recharging a new playa which make the most of teamwork - not only teamwork among railroads, but also teamwork among railroads and the shippers and travelers who use them. And now, when the test has come, this railroad team is playing the kind of ball that coaches dream about.

Since long before Pearl Harbor, the railroads have taken on one "impossible" assignment after another as shortages of ships and rubber have placed abnormal loads upon them. And they are keeping all this added traffic moving with the smooth efficiency of an experienced and thoroughly trained team.

Railroads and shippers alike have a right to be proud of the job they have done. It's a great example of unity - of what American industry can accomplish by teamwork for victory.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1942

FIRST GAME OF YEAR IS LOST TO BEREA

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils played their first game of the season, Nov. 10, with the Berea High School, losing by a margin of two points. The score being 18 to 16 in favor of Berea. The struggle was a rough one from the beginning, in fact most of the first quarter, the teams were wrestling for possession of the ball over at one end of the court. The game was a close one as score indicates. Our local team was behind most of the time but led by two points with four minutes to go. Some head scratches were the deciding factors. The following boys are now carrying the ball for Mt. Vernon: Earl Baker, Glen Cunniff, O. B. Smith, Joe Henderson, Bobby W. By, Robert Younce, Bud Soward, R. L. Payne, Bill Crawford, Willard Langewort, and one over school.

TRAPPING SEASON OPENS NOV. 24

The open season for trapping skunk, muskrat, mink, raccoon, and opossum will begin in Kentucky on November 24 and will continue through January 9, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced today. The trapping season for the red fox is set. For the entire month of December while the grey fox is untrapped. It is pointed out that every trap set shall be visited every 24 hours after setting, and an animal found therein killed instantly. No trap shall be set on any land without the written permission from the owner of the land. And that there is a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50 as the penalty for, any violation of this trapping law.

There is no open season for beaver in Kentucky. The state trapping license costs $1 while the non-resident state trapping license costs $10.50. The state buyers or dealers license sells for $2 while the nonresident fur buyers or dealers license sells for $2.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT DAY WAS WELL ATTENDED

The Rockcastle county 4-H Achievement program, held at the courthouse here last Saturday, was well attended and the very interesting program and displays of farm products bespoke the progress which this county is making throughout the county. Of special interest was the hog-calling contest, won by Chester Kirk of Old Chestnut Ridge. Officers elected for 1943 are: President, Lee Roy McClure, Old Chestnut Ridge club; Vice Pres., Billy Gentry, Quail club; Secretary, Lucile Mason, Mt. Vernon Club; Asst. Sec., Mollie Brown, Broadhead club.

BRODHEAD-BOND SALE

High school put on a War-Bond sale on Armistice night and the sale of bonds amounted to $7,000.00, maturity value. The highlights of this sale were a two month old pig, sold for $600.00 and a pound of coffee brought $350.00 and was donated from the school. The pie supper grossed $229.63, demonstrating that the Brodhead bond sale is patriotic to the extent of their ability.

OPENING DATE OF HUNTING SEASON REMAINS SAME

The opening date of the hunting season for the Bob White Quail and the Rabbit remain the same as last year. Many sportsmen had petitioned the Game and Fish and Game Commissioner Keen Johnson to have the opening moved from November 24 up to November 19 in order to allow a few days of untraveled travel in hunting before the rationing of gasoline goes in effect on November 22. This petition was studied carefully and it was found that there is no way of changing the open or closed seasons of hunting and fishing in Kentucky except by an act of the Legislature. The opening date in regular certification can be changed by the Governor does not have the power to do so. The opening date does the Division and for that reason rabbit and quail hunting will have to wait until after the gas rationing goes into effect.

THANKS TO THE VOTERS

We wish to thank the voters for their loyal support during the recent school board campaign. We wish to render service to the best of our ability.

THANKS TO VOTERS

I desire to thank the voters who so fully supported me in my race for member of the school board in Division No. 3. I hold no malice for those who were against me. They will never know any different from me. I will work hard for the betterment of Rockcastle County schools and will do my best to make a school of the school board for one who voted for me will be proud of.

HEMP SEED CLEANERS ADJUSTED

The Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station announced today that the Commodity Credit Corporation had adjusted contracts with Kentucky hemp seed cleaners for the cleaning of hemp seed. Growers in Rockcastle county can have seed cleaned at any one of the following cleaners: A. T. Sanders and Co., Lancaster; Central Wholesale Co., Danville; Baughman Milling Co., Stanton; or Somerset Hatchery, Somerset. All growers should obtain the necessary forms for the cleaning of the seed from their county AAA office. It will be necessary for all growers to obtain a mercantile stamp to the operator of the cleaning mill or to the county committee in order that certification can be given. The grower had complied with the Mercantile Act. In planning the movement of seed, farmers were urged to use all available sacks on the farm for the seed. In the case where additional sacks are needed, they can be loaned from the county AAA office who are assisting the Commodity Credit Corporation in the loaning of the sacks to the growers.

STATE BRIEFS

The deaths of a Chicago couple whose bodies were found in a tourist cabin near Cave City, Ky., Oct. 29, were reported as caused by carbon monoxide gas poisoning at a coronary jury Tuesday, Coroner J. M. Dearing announced. He led to the grand jury last week at their examining trial before Judge J. N. Menefee, at Stanford John Pike, charged with stealing a pony belonging to Ed Gooch, colored, killing and selling the hide, and his father, George Pike, for aiding and abetting, were indicted by the Grand Jury. Governor Johnson has proclaimed December 13th as Jane Todd Crawford Day, in honor of the woman upon whom Dr. Ephraim McDowell performed the first ovariectomy operation in Danville. Archie Frye Jr., associate editor of the "Daily News" for the past five years, has been named managing editor of that newspaper by Mrs. Cecil T. Williams, widow of Kentucky's highest state commissioner, and newspaper publisher who died recently. Assistant Attorney General Guy H. Herdman Tuesday declared that Bowling Green City Council candidates whose names were written in by voters in the recent election were legally chosen to office.

MILEAGE RATIONING TO START DECEMBER 1

The mileage rationing program scheduled to go into effect November 22 on a nation-wide basis has been delayed in the West and Midwest, including Kentucky, until December 1. The delay gives the motorist a bonus of slightly more than four gallons of gasoline as it was announced that no coupons would be taken from "A" books for the week of November 22 because of the delay. The announcement followed quickly one by George H. Goodman, O.P.A. director for Kentucky, that registration for the "A" books had been delayed from November 12-14 to November 25-27. Registration will be held in schools throughout Kentucky. In Jefferson County only the elementary schools and the parochial schools in the city will be used. Postponement was made necessary because of hitches in the distribution of 320,000,000 coupon books and forms. Twenty tons of coupons and books for the Western states were reported held up in an Oakland, Calif., airport, having been denied cargo space by the over shipments of other goods.

AXIS DEFEAT PROMISED

President Roosevelt promised "inevitable, final defeat" for the Germans and their "appropriate assistance for the Allies." He said: "Day speaks and notes that 'great events' were taking place in Europe and Africa." At Arlington National Cemetery ceremonies honoring the nativity ceremonies honoring the nativity, the national past was was America's 23-year-old first hero-her hero, Gen. John J. Pershing. Mr. Roosevelt added an informal tribute at the end of his prepared speech in honor of the retired warrior.

FEATURES IN THIS ISSUE

All women are especially requested to read the feature story headed "Women Purchasers Can Aid U. S. Farmers." The next fiction story will be found in the Signal. Every week we publish a chapter of a story, with a synopsis of preceding installments, so the reader may be able to enjoy the story in any week. Baukhage, in the Washington Digest, says that the government hasn't been able to get to anybody but the men, except the soldiers, and so the Man Power problem is still far from being solved. The weekly News Analysis offers a concise and lucid review of current events, both local and foreign and including the War. Read it when you can. Dr. Lundquist starts the Sunday School Lesson with the sentence: "Home for what you make it!" and goes on to tell us how to make it. Whether you are a soldier or not. Dr. Barton in the good health column says that much good will come of this war, due to physical examinations that are given to recruits and through these tests great savings in health and life are occurring.

Bombard Germany With Bombs or Leaflets? ... Drys Gaining In Their Crusade

WASHINGTON—Early in the war back in the fall of 1939—British planes were busy dropping leaflets over Germany.

Now the advocates of propaganda are at it again. Recently an American woman who had spent much of her childhood in Germany, and here spoke German without a Yankee accent, broadcast over shortwave to the women of Germany.

What to Do?

That question is now being considered by high officials of both the U. S. and the British governments. There is no thought here by the writer of trying to pass on its merits.

It is not a question of whether this particular broadcast is ideal. It is a question of whether it is a good thing to have bombs as well as leaflets.

There are two sides to it. But a lot of us wish that we had more planes out in the Solomons, and up in the Aleutians, and down near Germany that the problem of dropping leaflets is considered!

War Aids Dry's

Wets Don't Have Right

Looking at the situation coldly there is no doubt that the Drys are making gains.

It may be remembered that it was they who entered the war as the pushover for the Drys came. In fact there was a lot of talk, afterwards, about the resentment of our own overseas forces who had been put over without their having a voice in it.

The Wets argue, rightly or wrongly, that seven out of every ten men are vigorously wet in the military service.

Many of the convictions of the Wets in this situation seem based on faulty premises. For instance, they are fond of saying that surely with a war raging, and manpower short, this country is not going to employ a huge force of men.

Women Purchasers Can Aid U. S. Farmers

Fitting Family's Diet With Farm Production Helps U. S. War Effort

America's 6,000,000 farmers today are feeding a mere 132,000,000 citizens of the United States. They are also responsible for filling huge gaps in the food supplies of most of the free world—the unarmored and civilian.

This is a large order. They will need all the help they can get from the consumer at home if they are to continue to fill steadily growing lend-lease orders from the United Nations.

If you're a man, you'll probably say, "Hey! What about me?" Well, Mister, you're practically nobody when it comes to deciding what you'll eat and what you'll wear.

This is where the housewife comes in. She is the greatest contribution to winning the war. She can see to it that the diet of her family fits in with the production and the shortages created by the war.

As the buyers for some 34 million households, women, to a great extent, women have a tremendous responsibility to the families they feed and clothe.

During 1942 the farmer has marked the highest production level in history.

CONSUMER'S CREED

I will buy what is plentiful. I will not buy what is scarce. I will buy what is produced locally.

I will buy what the government tells me to buy through the Victory Food Program.

I will not hoard or waste food.

At the same time, annual income, payments nationally have increased some 20 billions of dollars.

That crop goals met and passed, and an income increase of over 17 per cent, don't mean that the housewife can go out and buy whatever she wants.

Since Pearl Harbor, the consumer has had undergone radical changes. The "rationing" has become common words.

What Crop Reserves Do

Probably Mrs. Average Housewife wouldn't be able to tell you what an Ever-Normal granary is.

"Crop Insurance" has a formidable sound, but it is a simple procedure that pays big dividends to the consumer as well as to the producer who meets the premiums.

When the housewife buys fresh produce from day to day, she isn't likely to think much about the fact that the vegetables arrived on season schedule, that they were in plentiful quantities and that the price was "right."

Then she would learn that by taking the "long view" for both farmer and consumer, safety, the over-all agricultural program results in uniform distribution of farm commodities, an even flow of goods into

Just took it for granted. Curtailment of shipping, due to the war, cut off important sources of raw materials. At the same time, industrial uses of sugar have increased.

Conservation on the farm may seem a far cry from top quality lettuce or potatoes or green beans. It may seem even farther from tender butter, fresh milk, or butter.

Research activities of the department and soil-conserving practices mean larger yields and better quality.

Wholesomeness Guaranteed.

Regulatory laws administered by the United States department of agriculture directly affect homes and consumer income and buying power.

Consumers are protected against mis-branding, substitutions and swindling by the Pure Food and Drug Act.

Fresh vegetables head the market list of this housewife. Her family is well-nourished because America's farmers are doing their part for wartime health and efficiency.

The Victory Specials, announced from week to week, are a part of this plan. They are products which are plentiful, often preserving waste and loss to the farmer, and allowing the buyer to take advantage of diet variations at a better price.

Whether or not the consumer's needs are met really depends upon the accuracy with which production has been scheduled to obtain an adequate and steady supply of food at prices fair alike to producers and consumers.

Something known as "acreage allotment" is now being used to increase production of certain crops for the war, a part of the plan to convert surplus production to war production.

The farmer is converting his fields to war production just as surely as the manufacturer turns his machines from automobiles to airplanes.

Production without adjustment would result in excessive waste at any time. In wartime it is criminal.

Editor Mt. Vernon Signal:
In order to clear up a probable misunderstanding caused by certain statements made during the recent school board campaign regarding the status of the Mt. Vernon High School, I desire that you publish this copy a letter to Mr. W. F. Baker as follows:
Signed: W. R. Champton.

Mr. W. F. Baker,
Mt. Vernon, Kentucky
Dear Mr. Baker:
Under date November 4, you wrote The Superintendent of Public Instruction stating that you had noticed in the Courier-Journal a few years ago that the Mount Vernon High School had been dropped from the list of accredited high schools. "The Mount Vernon High School along with a number of other high schools in the State was dropped from the list of Southern Association high schools. It was dropped, as were the others, because the school could not meet the minimum salary required for teachers, $1,000 a year. The dropping of the school was absolutely no reflection on the work of the school or its management. It is simply a case where the Southern Association required a minimum salary paid high school teachers and Mount Vernon could not meet the requirement."
"The Mount Vernon High School is fully accredited Class A by the Colleges and University of the State of Kentucky. It is fully accredited Class A by the State Department of Education. I consider it one of our best high schools. Considering the money available, I think the school has done remarkably well."
Very truly yours,
Mark Godman
Director of Supervision"

Tidbits Of Kentucky Folklore

By Gordon Wilson, Ph. D.
It is hard to convince children in orange or rapia cream—now self-sufficient the old-time neighborhood could be. Even the delicacies have found their way into remote places. Baker's bread is no longer a novelty; ice cream can be bought at remote country stores. I doubt whether many pairs of cottonade or jeans pants have been made in the state within the last year. And just imagine having to depend on the home for the manufacture of carpets, blankets, soap, and many another staple article!
When Gilbertsville Dam is completed and the great Kentucky lake covers hundreds of acres in Kentucky and Tennessee, one of the landmarks to disappear beneath the waters will be Brandon Mill, built in the eighteenth century. Just after the Purchase became a real part of the state of Kentucky. That old mill in its palmy days, a little before my time, did just about everything that a water mill could do: it sawed lumber, it ground corn into meal or grits, it ginned cotton. It made flour, brown sugar, and paper, seemed a myth to us who had always had around us stocks of food or potential food and clothing. It is hard to believe that children to see how sugar and coffee symbolized what we had to purchase from the store to finish out our supplies.

SERVICE STARS

sheep's wool. We sheared the sheep in the spring after the chilly nights were over washed the wool and spread it out on all the roofs to dry, and then spent many tedious days drying out the burs and trash. In many a sack it was taken to the "rolling mill" where the shearer came to, putting in, after the typical roll was deducted, in many a bag of luffy rolls, ready for Mother to spin into yarn. And then followed what I have elsewhere described, the making of yarn stockings and blankets and such things. The country store was a place of barter, where we took our surplus supplies and traded them for sugar and coffee and such other things as could not conveniently be raised or made on the farm. It was possible to get along with very little contact with the store, however, particularly if sorghum molasses took the place of sugar, and coffee was not used. Many a farm home that I knew had its tanning vats, with odorous leathers in various stages of development, for later use as hamstrings and shoe laces and leather things of all sorts and of mending. I have eaten a good many quarts of tomato preserves made by cooking small pearshaped tomatoes in sorghum molasses. Famine, such as about in the weekly newspaper, seemed a myth to us who had always had around us stocks of food or potential food and clothing. It is hard to believe that children to see how sugar and coffee symbolized what we had to purchase from the store to finish out our supplies.

Retonca Wins Gratitude Of Another Well-Known Citizen For Bringing Him Prompt Relief. Tells Of His Case

MR. A. DARWIN HEATH

Happy and grateful praise of Retonca continues to pour in from well known men and women throughout this section. Mr. A. Darwin Heath, 1520 S. ... for forty years, a well known resident of Owensboro, declares:
"I didn't care whether meal time came or not, for what I ate all seemed to turn to gas that sometimes bloated me up until I could hardly get my breakfast. I took poisons from constipation seemed to keep my muscles achy and painful. My nerves were on edge. I never seemed to get much restful sleep, and at night I felt so fagged out it was all I could do to get home from work."
"Nothing ever relieved me like Retonca. My appetite is fine and nothing I eat bothers me. I sleep restfully, I feel free of pains, and I don't have to take harsh laxatives now. I have regained lots of my strength, and I feel fine. Retonca certainly lived up to every good word I hear about it."
Retonca is a gastric tonic medicine compounded entirely from the extracts of nature's own roots, herbs and barks and combined with liberal amounts of Vitamin B-1. Accept no substitute. Retonca may be obtained at Brodhead Pharmacy, Brodhead, Mt. Vernon, Ky. —Adv.

THEY'VE PASSED THEIR 'PHYSICAL'-TOO

America's feathered and four-legged armies are very much on their toes these days. Yeast vitamins used in fortifying animal feeds have done wonders in recent years to better the quality and propagation of livestock and poultry. Did you know that the Home of Budweiser is America's biggest single source of these vitamins?

Year after year, we have striven with research and resources to better the methods and facilities for brewing Budweiser. To do this, a laboratory specializing in fermentation and nutrition was necessary. Discoveries made in the laboratory and in the plant have led to the development of products contributing to human necessity and progress. Some of these products would appear to have only a remote relationship to brewing, yet, they are the result of scientific research into many allied fields.

Extensive research in making the world's leading beer has led to other products

- VITAMINS, B COMPLEX—for manufacturers of pharmaceutical and food products. Our plant is one of the world's largest sources.
- VITAMIN D—Anheuser-Busch produces enough of the basic material for Vitamin D to supply the entire American market.
- BAKER'S YEAST—We are one of America's biggest suppliers of standard and enriched yeasts and malt syrup used to make bread.
- CORN SYRUP—many millions of pounds annually for America's candy industry.
- SYRUPS—for food, table and confectionery uses, and special syrups for medicinal purposes.
- STARCH—for food, textile, paper and other industries—millions of pounds annually.
- REFRIGERATING EQUIPMENT—for retailers of frozen foods and ice cream the country over. This division is now working all-out on gliding and fuselage assemblies for our Armed Forces.
- DIESEL ENGINES—Adolphus Busch, founder of Anheuser-Busch, acquired the first rights to manufacture this revolutionary engine in America and thus started our great Diesel industry on its way.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING

(No. 1 of a Series)

Keep Equipment Clean

You're paying for light you're not getting when dust and dirt accumulate on lighting equipment. "Before and after" tests show that simply by cleaning bulbs, shades and reflector bowls you can increase light output as much as 30% to 50%. Lamp shades should be dusted, brushed or dry cleaned. Wipe bulbs off frequently with a damp cloth. Reflector bowls, enclosing globes and other lighting glassware may be removed and washed in warm, soapy water. Always dry all lighting equipment thoroughly and do not allow moisture to get into sockets or connections.

If you need new lamps see our stock of I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps. Especially designed for safe seeing, they provide an abundance of both direct and indirect light without glare. Ask for a free trial. See what a difference good light makes!
