Father says: PAZO for PILES

There's good reason why PAZO ointment has been used by so many millions of suffering men and women. First, PAZO ointment soothes inflamed areas, relieves pain and itching. Second, PAZO ointment lubricates hardened, dried-up piles and prevents cracks and sores. Third, PAZO ointment tends to soften and shrink piles. Fourth, it's easy to use. PAZO ointment's perfecting size fits most applications simple, thorough. Your doctor can tell you about it. Write: Your doctor.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Laboratory tests demonstrate that rubber can be made to stretch 500% without breaking.

A rubber plate of about half an inch of the substance we now know as rubber is used in the manufacture of London air shoes in 1,770. It was discovered in 1792 that it could absorb perspiration.

The first articles of rubber to be manufactured were clothing and shoes.

American seamen are now equipped with rubber boots. They are made of a material which is 100% rubber. This new material has a white, flexible, and is used in the manufacture of shoes to attract rain. Weighted shoes keep the water off in the water.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Forces Continue Drive in Tunisia; Pressure for Tough Labor Legislation Halted by Continuation of Coal Parley; Soggy Terrain Hampers Red Offensive

EDITORIAL NOTE: When opinions are expressed in three columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union. When in two columns, they are those of this newspaper. When in one column, they are those of Western Newspaper Union.

A British lorry gun as it was pulled toward the front in Tunisia by a British army lorry. Note how the road in line with German tank turret. In foreground is a Nazi tank turret. This official British photo was made after the Allies repulsed the Germans between Thala and the Kasserine Pass.

TUNISIA: 'Fox' Seeks Cover

When Marshal Rommel threw back the British eighth army in the narrow coastal corridor Tunisia, it looked like the great struggle of the Marech line might resolve into a bloody battle of attrition. But then Gen. Bernard Montgomery sent a strong armored column around the southern anchor of the Marech line and it succeeded in swinging back and trapping the Axis forces from the rear.

This faced with heavy pressure from his front and rear, Rommel pulled out his army from the Marech line. As the British took over Gabes and El Hamma, Rommel was withdrawing northward toward the marshes and salt flats strung out along the coastal plain. Here Rommel is expected to concentrate his army of 80,000 men in the few possible tanks.

Threatening Rommel's flank for almost 100 miles up the coastal plain to the north, were two American columns. One was poised at Matruh and the other at Sidi Barrani. Both overlook roads leading to the main path of Rommel's retreat. Should either of these forces break through the Allies would create a pincer in the south off Levee base in the north.

BASE: For Offensive?

When Herbert Morrison, British home security minister, announced that the entire east and south coast of Great Britain to a depth of ten miles was to become a "restricted area," military experts began speculating over their predictions regarding the Allied invasion of Europe. In fact, the official British announcement declared that there was a possibility that this area might be used as a base for offensive operations.

Meanwhile, London sources were busy issuing bits of information leading to the belief that the Allies would begin the invasion of the continent with air and sea power for this action, these reports were contradicted and practically every mile of coastline was said to be the first objective of the United Nations' drive.

BERLIN: Blocks Busted

One thousand tons of bombs were showered on Berlin by 400 British bombers in the 60th anniversary of the war on the German capital. Twenty-one ships failed to return. The raid on Berlin followed an equally heavy attack on the Nazi submarine base of St. Nazaire. Here, 1,000 tons of bombs also were reported dropped on docks, hangars and warehouses. One quarter of the city was aflame and seven huge fires raged. Continuing to pound Germany's vital industrial valley of the Ruhr, RAF bombers pounded the iron, steel and coal center of Bochum, which sits 100 miles east of the great Krupp steel works of Essen. Bombs also were dropped on the engine manufacturing center of Duisburg.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

SMALL FAMILIES: Out of the 35 million families in the U. S. in 1940, 85 per cent had two children or less. The birth rate of 1942 also fell below the World War II standard despite the recent record level. TAXES: Nearly 40 million income tax returns had been filed, the treasury reported, and income tax payments for March approximated $4,500,000,000.

RUSSIA: New General

All eyes are turned now on General Spring Russia. Following the 2,000-mile Russian front are not expected to be severe because of the relatively mild winter. The degree of bogging down depends upon the intensity of the spring rains.

Soggy terrain has been hampering the Red push on Smolensk. One column from the north is reported to have knifed through defensive positions below Bely. Two other columns moving in from the east have encountered stiff resistance. Rains have turned the swampy country into almost impassable quagmires.

Following the Nazi's successful counterattack in the Khar'kov and Belgorod areas along the southern front, fighting in this sector has abated. Russian troops are said to hold some positions on the western bank of the Dnieper river, gained during their recent winter offensive.

LABOR: Tough Legislation

Discussion of the negotiations between the Appalachian soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers union for a 30-day period stalled temporarily the passage of some of the toughest labor legislation to be given consideration in congress in recent years. Had the agreement not been reached it had been freely predicted around Capitol Hill that stern steps to curtail union activities would have been taken in both house and senate. One such measure which had been reported ready for a quick vote was the Hobbs anti-striking bill. Also the senate judiciary committee gave a unanimous indorsement to a measure intended to empower the President to seize and operate any mine or factory whenever a labor dispute halted production. This was the War Relocation Act first introduced in November, 1941.

This measure had once been allowed to die because the White House had asked the pressure be taken off.

SKIP-YEAR TAX: First Defeat

In an action reflecting on both Democratic and Republican leadership the house of representatives rejected the Ruml skip-year tax plan and the administration's collection-at-the-source plans. Excited representatives directed the ways and means committee to draw up a new bill that would put the income taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis. Representative Martin, Republican leader, had expressed confidence that Republicans would get across the Ruml bill to skip 1942 taxes and let them apply on 1943 income taxes. Representative McCormack, Democratic leader, failed to keep majority members in line for the administration's collection-at-the-source bills. He was in charge while Speaker Cramden was absent. The chamber's defeat of the Ruml plan tossed the controversy back into the lap of the committee. Leaders predict there will be no effort to revive it until increased tax rates are considered later in the year.

BUMS RUSHED: On a recent night, only 629 vagrants applied for shelter in British institutions. This was the lowest figure in 160 years. 16,911 were housed during the peak of the depression of 1932. Only employment in essential industries is now considered grounds for draft deferment. Dependency is no longer regarded as a factor.

CONGRESSMAN: And Garden Seeds

Out of the nation's capital came this message to the country's ambitious 1943 Victory Gardeners. Don't ask your congressman, whoever he is, for garden seeds. He'll be glad to tell you all the information booklets obtainable (from the department of agriculture) but he hasn't been giving away seeds since 1923.

The practice of giving away seeds was stopped at that time because the packets were cluttering up the Capitol and encouraging great armies of rats to invade the offices of the lawmakers.

Requests are still coming in, say the congressmen, and cannot be filled for no seeds are available. The fact that such requests have been addressed to congressmen indicates the widespread interest in the Victory Garden program.

FARM LABOR: New Plans

Shortly after he had been summoned to Washington as the nation's new food administrator, Chester C. Davis conferred with President Roosevelt, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard and farm leaders to discuss means of handling the mounting crisis in farm labor. Later, President Roosevelt declared that while Davis was not yet to make known his plans, it was rather definite that he strongly persuasive program to get draft-age men in nonessential pursuits to shift to war jobs, including agriculture.

First objective would now be to get former experienced workers back into dairying. It is here that the farm labor situation is most critical. Employment offices throughout the country are now listing names of dairy farmers needing help and county war boards are urging men between 35-45 with dairy or farm experience to seek re-employment in these places.

Conscientious objectors may be released from camps to take farm jobs; men now classified 4F now on a "no work" basis.

Since the war has broken down the foundation upon which our well-being is built. Our need for a more efficient and speedier distribution. That is the problem facing not only the economists and statisticians of the world, but the entire world. It is a problem which can be solved when applied to a more efficient and speedier distribution. It is a problem which can be solved when applied to a more efficient and speedier distribution.

Rural America Seen as Bulwark Against Post-War Depression; 'Nervous Gentlemen' Admit Possibilities of Speculative Wave.

By BAUKHAGE, News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, D. C. Washington, D. C. If you see a cheerful glow along the horizon of rural America, these evenings, you'll know that it is not a prairie fire or the neighbor's barn, but the happy light of burning mortgages.

The farmers of America have had their legions. They aren't throwing their money around. They are paying their debts. They are becoming the solid citizens of the nation. They are building a bulwark against a post-war depression that can save the nation financially.

Right now, the financial health of rural America is better than it has been in many a long decade. But certain nervous gentlemen are beginning to worry. Will the farmer keep to the straight and narrow or will he be tempted to put down an option on distant hills which will be getting to turn an alluring green?

Listen to what one of those cautious gentlemen in Washington, Frank Wilson, has to say. Why, you may ask, does the department of commerce, whose job it is to look after the welfare of the citizen, worry about the farmer? Well, when the farmer goes broke, the city man suffers as well. But, a word from Mr. Wilson:

"While the level of farm values throughout most parts of the Middle West has increased to 15 per cent in the last year, and the transfer of farm properties has been greatly accelerated, there is, as yet, no evidence of a recurrence of the destructive speculation in farm lands which followed the First World War."

So far so good. But here is Mr. Wilson's postscript: "Farm lending authorities throughout the country are reporting that conditions are in the making for what a speculative wave might result unless price control measures are taken. But, a word from Mr. Wilson:

AMERICANS DO NOT LIKE TO BE PUSHED AROUND. WAY BACK 150 years and more ago, England's German king, King Richard I, asked the American people what to do and when to do it, without telling them why and without saying "please."

Since then the American people have tried to tell the American people what to do and when to do it, without telling them why and without saying "please."

LOCAL OFFICIALS RECENTLY LISTENED to the head of a state rationing organization attempt to explain what rationing is all about and how it is done. After a brief statement as to the necessity of rationing, he offered to answer any questions members of the audience might have. The questions poured in on the speaker. The normal inquiries, the kind for which any head of a household, anxious to get on with his day's work, would like an answer. The speaker could not answer one in a dozen of the questions. He had either not read the voluminous and often contradictory instructions, or had not interpreted them. A member of the audience who was anxious to rescue and did a satisfactory job of imparting detailed information which fully satisfied those who asked the questions.

THE WORLD DEMAND for food will continue so long as America will provide it on lease-lend terms.

SOME YEARS AGO I witnessed a farce prize fight—two would-be gladiators in a ring pounding typewriters. At the end of the fight, they rushed to the center and read what they were going to do. I am reminded of that at times when I read the news about the Allies who are going to do to the common enemy. More punches and less talk would bring a knockout fast.

THE PERSONNEL section of the Japanese ministry of commerce has prepared a set of "laws of etiquette" which is to be distributed to Japanese businessmen throughout the island of Manchuria. The "laws" cover such details as "posture, attitude, salute, honorific address and address to subordinates."

By removing unnecessary frills from scores of American cars, from halpsins to industrial power trucks, WPB last year saved 600,000 tons of steel, 17,000 tons of copper, 180,000 tons of aluminum, 100,000 tons of lead, 450,000 tons of paper, 227,000 tons of pulp, 35,000 tons of solider, 600,000 pounds of tin, and enough man hours to build 23 Liberty ships.

MENTAL AILMENTS

There are ailments in which the patient recovers more rapidly in a hospital than in the home and others in which the home surroundings are best suited for rapid recovery. The majority of mental ailments in some cases that there is something about the changing of the hospital life from home life that betters contentment and relieves anxiety. In other cases the "naturalness" of the home life reduces the intensity of fear, anxiety or misgivings about outcome of ailments.

Dr. Barton writes on mental ailments: "What about slight mental ailments? At first thought it would seem that a patient suffering with mental depression, obsessions, anxiety, should recover more rapidly amid home surroundings. On second thought, however, the very nature of the home life with its dead daily routine, quiet or noisy, the overanxiety of the family about the patient or the other hand the feeling that there is nothing wrong with him (or her) and that kindness may be a mistake, interferes with recovery.

Trying to prevent neighbors knowing or guessing that the patient is a "mental" case also puts a strain on family and patient. Doctors D. M. Hamilton and J. H. Wall in the American Journal of Psychiatry report the results in the treatment of 100 patients in hospital instead of the home. Treatment was given at the Westchester division of the family about the patient or the other hand the feeling that there is nothing wrong with him (or her) and that kindness may be a mistake, interferes with recovery.

As with the majority of this type of mental ailments most of these patients were above the average in intelligence; the majority had graduated from college and some were engaged in professions. The outstanding symptoms in the order in which they occurred were: depression, anxiety, obsessions and compulsions, hypochondria (persisting in believing the patient or the other hand the feeling that there is nothing wrong with him (or her) and that kindness may be a mistake, interferes with recovery.

The hospital treatment consisted mainly of interviews with the patient and supervision of his daily activities to fit his needs and abilities. The average length of hospital stay was 8 1/2 months. In a study, four to 14 years after this hospital treatment, showed 46 percent of the patients had improved, 17 improved, making a total of 68 of the 100 who had benefited from the treatment. There were not insane patients, patients who were not properly balanced.

What is called angina pectoris—a viselike gripping pain in the chest—may be the symptom of real or organic heart disease, but the patient should know what angina pectoris is and how to avoid a "sudden death."

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Prof. John A. Oille, of Toronto, points out some of the outstanding characteristics of angina. For instance, angina lasts from one to 30 minutes, averaging three minutes, but it is continuous and is not a little stab lasting only a second, which comes and goes for about 15 minutes. Pains lasting for hours or days are too long for angina.

Pains that have been coming daily for months or years are coming too often for coronary thrombosis (coronary occlusion) and are likely due to arteritis in joints of pain and angina is a sharp stab of pain and is never a shoot, a stab or a prick. Angina is always the same kind of pain, the same pain, the same pain, never a sharp stab followed by a dull ache.

In heart disease, such as coronary thrombosis, the pain comes on when the patient is at rest or during sleep, whereas in angina the pain comes on only when the patient is excited. "One must find out exactly what the patient is doing at the instant the pain occurs; frequently patients will be able to get a pain under the breast, but after eating, when in reality the pain comes on only in 'going' after eating. Angina comes during exertion, not afterwards."

QUESTION BOX
Q—Is cancer contagious?
A—Fortunately cancer is not contagious. There are three types of cancer. What are the symptoms and what is the treatment for a fallen stomach?
A—Your best plan would be to have a barium meal and X-ray examination. This will trace the food pathway in the stomach and small intestine, etc., but give other valuable information. A supporting belt helps most cases.

Time to Check and Recondition Tractor

Points for Checkup Routine Are Listed

If you want to save yourself some embarrassing moments in the field this spring—and make your tractor last longer, too—W. C. Krueger, extension agricultural engineer at Rutgers university, suggests you thoroughly check and recondition the tractor now.

"It doesn't make any difference whether a tractor has been in storage all winter or whether it has been in occasional use—it still needs a general reconditioning," Krueger says. And he lists some of the points of the check-up routine as follows:

"The battery equipped, make sure it is fully recharged and that all connections are tight and that the battery is firmly supported and braced.

"Take out spark plugs, clean and re-gap and—keep with appreciably worn terminals.

"Oil magnets, wipe out distribu-

What's your breakfast? A squirt of orange juice and a sip of coffee or fruit, cereal, eggs, toast and coffee? No need to tell you which one you can start a man-sized day's work on, is there? A breakfast first meal of the day with the same respect you do the other two, and you find yourself refreshed and more than ready to do your job—and do it well.

Greet the Day With a Well-Balanced Breakfast

(See Recipes Below)

Good Morning!
Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Breakfast
"Baked Apple Ready-to-Eat Cereal Cream and Sugar Old-Fashioned Popovers With Jam Beverage Recipes Given
If possible, have eggs for breakfast with bacon, if you can manage it, but remember that a nice hot bowl of oatmeal will give a goodly quantity of health. Then, of course, you can vary the menu with pancakes, french toast and waffles when the mood strikes you. Baked pears or apples are a good fruit for breakfast variation. Try applying this way:
"Baked Apple With Orange Marmalade Filling.
Select apples that are suitable for baking—Core, and fill cavities with orange marmalade. Prick skins with fork and place in a baking pan with a little water. Cover with lid and bake in a slow oven until tender. Remove lid just long enough to brown.
Creamed Chipped Beef Omelet. (Serves 8)
1 cup chopped beef
1 1/2 cups white sauce
6 eggs
6 tablespoons soft milk
Fold chipped beef into white sauce. Beat eggs until fluffy, then add milk, salt and pepper. Mix with fork or butter. Pour mixture into a heavy skillet. When set, loosen sides and bottom, cover with heated creamed beef, carefully fold over with spatula, and slide onto hot platter. Serve at once.
For variety, there are many types of perfect cakes:
Sour Milk Griddle Cakes.
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup butter
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
Sift flour and salt into a bowl. Beat eggs and milk together and stir gradually into the flour to make a smooth batter, then beat thoroughly with egg beater; put in hot greased muffin tin two-thirds full of mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) half hour, then in moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 minutes until brown. Note: No leavening agent is used in popovers, and their rising action is dependent upon thorough beating.

Lynn Says: Keep food essentials in mind when making your meals. Buy point-rated food to best advantage. When you spend any of your coupons for rationed food, make sure you are getting anything that you could buy fresh.
In buying meats buy those of which you get the most for your points. Extend whatever cuts of meat you can with cereals, stuffings, food extenders and vegetables to make them go further.

Start today to save your points and put it in a bank so that you will have enough for the canning you are going to do this summer. Do not use sugar substitutes if you possibly can avoid it. Start planning your victory garden, so that you will be ready to put up as much of your share in fruits and vegetables.

Buy quality foods to get the most value for your points. This applies to canned and processed foods, meat, cheese and butter.

CHATTERER TELLS SAMMY JAY ABOUT SHADOW THE WEASEL

CHATTERER the Red Squirrel, was hurrying through the Green Forest. He didn't know just where he was going. He had but one thought in his mind: "Get out away from Shadow the Weasel as he could. It made him have cold sweats all over."

"Seems to me you are in a great hurry," said a voice from a pine tree he was passing.

Chatterer knew that voice without looking to see who was speaking. Everybody in the Green Forest knew that voice. It was the voice of Sammy Jay.

"I—I am," he said.

"What's that?" Sammy asked sharply. "I always know you to be a coward, but this is the first time I have ever known you to admit it. Why are you running away from?"

"Shadow the Weasel," replied Chatterer, still in a very low voice, as if he were afraid of being overheard. "Shadow the Weasel is back in the Green Forest, and I have just known that voice."

"Ho!" cried Sammy. "This is important. I thought Shadow was in the Old Pasture. If he has come back to the Green Forest folks ought to know. Where is he now?" Chatterer stopped and told Sammy all about his narrow escape and how he had left Shadow the Weasel in a hollow of a chestnut tree with Redtail the Hawk waiting for him to come out. Sammy's eyes sparkled as Chatterer told how he had pulled the tail of old Redtail.

"And he doesn't know now who did it," he thinks it was Shadow," concluded Chatterer with a weak little grin.

"Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Sammy. "I wish I had been there to see it!"

Then he suddenly grew grave. "Other folks certainly ought to know that Shadow is back in the Green Forest," said he, "so that they can be on their guard. Then if they caught it, it is their fault."

"I think I'll go spread the news," you see, for all his mean ways Sammy Jay does have some good in him, especially over fire.

"I wish you would go first of all to tell your cousin, Happy Jack, that Shadow is back in the Green Forest," said Chatterer, speaking in a hesitating way.

Sammy Jay leaned over and looked at Chatterer sharply. "I thought you and Happy Jack were not friends," said he. "You always seem to be quarreling."

Chatterer looked a little confused, but he is very quick with his tongue, is Chatterer. "That's just it," he replied. "That's why I don't talk. If anything should happen to Happy Jack I wouldn't have him to quarrel with, and it is such fun to see him get mad!"

Now, of course, the real reason why Chatterer wanted Happy Jack warned was because down inside he was ashamed of that dreadful thought that had come to him of leading Shadow the Weasel to Happy Jack's house, so that he himself might escape. It had been a dreadful thought, a cowardly thought, and lastly, Happy Jack had been so sure that he should have ever had such a thought. He thought now that if he could do something for Happy Jack he would feel better about it.

Sammy Jay promised to go straight to Happy Jack and warn him that Shadow the Weasel was back in the Green Forest, and if he started, screaming the news as he flew, so that all the little people would know about it.

Chatterer listened a few minutes and then started on.

"Where shall I go?" he muttered. "Where shall I go?—I don't—deserted in the Green Forest, for now Shadow will never rest until he catches me."

The 2nd War Loan Starts April 12

13 billion dollars must be raised!

THE GOVERNMENT of the United States is asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars in the next few weeks. We can do it. And we must do it. Every American must realize the truth:

In this, our toughest war, we've made a good start. We've trained a lot of men—made a lot of ships.

But it's only a start. No man or woman among us would contend for a single instant that we're doing enough now to win this war!

We've Got to Build More!

We broke all records building 8 million tons of shipping last year. But grim-faced Army and Navy men will tell you that the 18 MILLION tons we're building this year still won't be enough!

We've Got to Fight More!

From now till this war is won, America must be on the offensive. In ever-increasing numbers, your sons, brothers, husbands must go into actual battle. Our losses have already begun to mount—and they will not grow less.

And We've Got to Buy More War Bonds!

Sure we're all buying War Bonds now. But we've got to help pay for our increased fighting and building . . . We've got to match, as best we can, the sacrifice of those Americans who are toiling and sweating on a dozen battle-fronts—with the bloodiest yet to come. The blunt fact is this: to keep our war machine going, we've got to dig up 13 billion extra dollars this month. 13 billion dollars over and above our regular War Bond buying!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are contributing their time and effort to this Drive. But don't wait for him. Make up your mind now that before this drive is over, you're going to march right down to your nearest bank, Post Office, or place where they sell War Bonds, and do your duty. And don't ever forget this: in doing your duty, you're doing yourself one of the biggest favors of your life!

For United States War Bonds are the greatest investment in the world—bar none. They're investments tailored to fit your particular situation. And they give you the chance of a lifetime to order and get the kind of world you want to live in after this war. Every cent you put in War Bonds now will help to guarantee plenty of peacetime jobs making peace-living for every one of us.

For your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!

There Are 7 Different Types of U. S. Government Securities— Choose The Ones Best Suited For You:

United States War Savings Bonds—Series E: The perfect investment for individual and family savings. Gives you back $4 for every $3 when the Bond matures. Designed especially for the smaller investor. Dated 1st day of month in which payment is received. Interest: 2.9% a year if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1000. Redemption: any time 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969: Readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral, these Bonds are ideal investments for trust funds, estates and individuals. A special feature provides that they may be redeemed at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated April 15, 1943; due June 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000, $100,000—also $1,000,000 if registered. Redemption: Not callable till June 15, 1964; thereafter at par and accrued interest on any interest date at 4 months' notice. Subject to Federal taxes only. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other Securities: Series "C" Tax Notes; 7½% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1950-1952; United States Savings Bonds Series "F"; United States Savings Bonds Series "G."

Well Known Business Man Endorses Retonga

MR. W. S. LANGHAM

Indigestion So Bad He Was Afraid To Eat Solid Food. Felt Achy From Toxic Clogging. Mr. Langham States, Tells of Happy Relief Through Retonga.

Mr. W. S. Langham, well known retired business man, residing at 300 So. 10th St., Nashville, Tenn., declares:

"For about ten years I haven't known what it was to enjoy a meal. I was afraid to eat solid food. Still, I suffered, with bloating, the pressure so strong it seemed it would cut off my breath. I felt undernourished and weak with hardly strength or energy to walk to the corner store and back. I lost weight until I was down to 115 pounds. My bowels were so sluggish I had to take strong laxative medicines most every night. It just seemed nothing would give me any relief and I felt doomed to suffer on and on.

"So many people were recommending Retonga I decided to try it. That was a happy, fortunate day for me. I am relieved of indigestion and resultant gas, bloating and stubborn constipation. I feel stronger and have gained back several pounds of my lost weight. I wish every man and woman suffering as I did could try Retonga."

Retonga is a purely herbal stomachic medicine combined with Vitamin B-1 for the relief of distress as described by Mr. Langham when due to insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach, constipation, and Vitamin B-1 deficiency. Thousands praise it. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Margard's Rexall Drug Store, Mt. Vernon Ky.—Adv.

He's traded his "hot stick" for a rifle

Jim was a lineam and a good one. But Uncle Sam needed men of his calibre in the Army, so now he's in North Africa.

Jim is only one of 100 employees of this company who are serving in the armed forces. Their departure leaves a gap in our ranks that is hard to fill. Men who have spent years learning the know-how of the electric business aren't easy to replace in times like these.

Already the pinch of the manpower shortage is making itself felt in certain phases of our operations. Despite the fact that we are constantly training new men, we are being forced to operate short-handed in some localities. Wartime restrictions on the use of automotive equipment and shortages of materials, repair parts and supplies are also complicating the problem of rendering first-class service, but like other concerns in all lines of business, we're doing the best we can with what we have.

While things may not be quite the same with so many of our men away — and more going all the time — we intend to safeguard the adequacy of your electric supply and see that you get the best service possible under the prevailing conditions. You can help by keeping your electrical equipment in good condition, by learning to replace your own fuses and by avoiding rips pulls and requests for special trips except in cases of genuine emergency.

Your cooperation will help conserve manpower, materials and rubber and will enable us to serve you better.
