Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the body and mind strong and free of toxic impurities. When the kidneys are weak, it is constantly producing waste matter in the blood. This waste matter in the blood if not kept in its course, would be likely to find its way to Nature intended. There is retention of waste matter in the blood, which is the cause of many ailments, such as backache, periodic headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, tired, nervous, all ways out.

Frequently, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Don't's Pills, First, have been found to be the most effective medicine to purify and cleanse the country over. Just as Don's Pills at all drug stores.

DR. HUME URGES SPECIAL SESSION

A special session of the Legislature to relieve the "crisis" in regard to teachers' salaries was urged Monday in a statement by Dr. O. F. Hume, Richmond, Republican national committeeman from Kentucky and member of the Kentucky State Senate.

He said he had talked with the great majority of Republican members of the House and Senate and is convinced that every member will unhesitatingly join in a legislative program to relieve this situation.

Dr. Hume cited the "pitiful pay" received by Kentucky teachers, the loss of many teachers and the "crisis now facing the youth of our state as one of the most critical periods of our history, maintaining our high standards of morals."

Gov. Henry Heisterkamp, in his opinion, Dr. Hume charged the Governor knows "that no legislation can be acted upon except that included in the bill."

He added "there is no reason what ever why the State cannot utilize some of its surplus to aid education in such a crisis. It seems to me that the Equalization Fund should be raised to the legal limit first. Then whatever money the Legislature decides to spend on schools should be distributed on the per capita basis. However, this is only my plan. I am ready to join in any other plan that will give us relief." Dr. Hume stated.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U-Boat Warfare Takes 'Turn for Worse'; New Wedge Driven Into Rommel's Lines As Allies Continue Furious Air Attack; Morgenthau Outlines Stabilized Currency

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Map shows Allied progress in the campaign to oust Axis forces from North Africa. Hard on the heels of Marshal Rommel, 'The Fox,' was the British Eighth army, under Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery. After a week's pause, during which Montgomery broke up a group and supplies, the Eighth army stormed Rommel's improvised defenses at the Wadi el Akarit. Chief coastal passes, where the Americans fought hot engagements, are near El Guettar, Maknassy and Fondouk.

TUNISIA:

Fight to Meet

Action in Tunisia continued with Lieut. Gen. George Patton's Second American Army corps fighting for a junction with British forces at Bab el Bhar. Thousands of mines blocked the American advance. Sappers kept busy clearing the fields and other American tanks rumbled into action. In their bid to prevent an American and British junction, the Axis tanks thrust at the American armored columns. Americans brought up artillery to heavily shell Axis troop and motor concentrations.

Shortly but surely the Axis advanced along the Gafsa road. Advancing them at Gabes were the British, who brought up their heavy armor to shell German armor. The entrenched Afrika Korps along a narrow line in the El Akarit gulf, 15 miles north of the coast.

At Akarit, the Axis expected to put up another short, stiff fight before falling back toward the sea. His strategy calls for a series of delaying actions while the Axis completes coastal defenses in Italy.

In northern Tunisia, Nazi troops fell back toward the coastal bastion of Bizerte under the pressure of British troops. Native Arabian Ghoumies, armed with knives, were helping the British with guerrilla activity.

Fighting Before Talk

Gen. Charles DeGaulle's scheduled meeting with Gen. Henri Giraud in North Africa for the purpose of consolidating all anti-Axis French in the war has been postponed by request of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

General Eisenhower felt that a political discussion in the midst of critical fighting in Tunisia could only have disturbing effects. Prime Minister Churchill is supposed to have persuaded DeGaulle to wait. Anthony Eden's report of American reaction to the complicated North African problem.

U-BOAT WARFARE:

Turn for the Worse

Indications that the battle of the Atlantic has taken a turn for the worse were made evident when Secretary of the Navy Knox announced that Allied ship losses were considerably worse during the past month. Although the secretary gave no estimate of the total number of U-boats the Nazis have used in their spring offensive, he said that "just as we expected and as I said it would be, there are more German subs out there."

The subs are concentrating in the mid-Atlantic, along the shipping routes from the United States to England and the Mediterranean. It is predicted that the submarine campaign will become worse as the month gets better. Naval experts estimate the Axis will have 700 submarines operating in packs along supply routes this spring.

To counter the U-boat offensive the United States is rushing construction of a fleet of destroyer-escort vessels, smaller than destroyers.

PROMISE:

More Farm Tools

Following a review of the legislative situation by the House Agricultural leaders, President Roosevelt has indicated that, in view of the program we are undertaking, he will give more attention to farm problems. Speaker Rayburn, following the conference, said the "President is going to give his personal attention to the question of having more iron and steel allotted to the manufacture of farm machinery."

BANKHEAD BILL: And Parity

After President Roosevelt had vetoed the Bankhead farm bill (because he believed "the interests of supporters of the measure attempted to override this action by a two-thirds vote in Congress"), the House of Representatives took no action in this connection was the senate floor where a day-long lively debate resulted in farm bill members realizing that they could not muster sufficient support to bring this to pass.

The senators then became content to force the bill back to the agricultural committee from whence it could be resuscitated whenever the farm bill felt that it was handy to defeat the President's action.

White House opposition to the measure on the grounds of inflation presented itself because it would prohibit deductions of benefit payments. In parity in setting farm price ceilings.

FLYING FORTRESSES: New Offensive

The American air offensive in Europe has gotten under way. Fleets of powerful Flying Fortresses have pounded the Renault motor works near Paris, destroying the main buildings and auxiliary plants.

Coming right back, Flying Fortresses flew over Antwerp, bombing the Erla airplane works. These works have been reported as the main factory for the Nazi Luftwaffe. Buildings were shattered and large fires started.

Swinging at Europe's underbelly, 100 Flying Fortresses dumped their bombs on Naples, splintering 24 ships in the harbor. The attack followed up the attack with another heavy raid. Wharves and the industrial area were left flaming.

Eight bombers hit the oil refineries. The main buildings and auxiliary plants were lost in the operations.

RUBBER: Self-Sufficiency

Self-sufficiency in rubber production for the United States was predicted by William M. Jeffers, rubber director, who expressed belief that the nation will develop a synthetic rubber industry that will free the country from dependency on outside sources in the future.

"There is one very definite forecast I want to make—we'll never again be caught by war," Jeffers said. He added that he envisioned a postwar rubber economy independent of any sources outside the United States. He said he viewed the synthetic rubber industry as the "insurance" against possible shortcomings of synthetic rubber plants in this country.

LOADED-DICE: In Axis Favor?

In the opinion of Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff, the odds "dice are loaded heavily" in favor of the Axis in any military or naval contest. Leahy said that the "dice are loaded heavily" in favor of the Axis in any military or naval contest.

"When President Eise Penarant advanced at Gafsa, seventy miles to the southeast, German attacks against Red lines on the western front, and his cabinet held a conference with United States Vice President Wallace to discuss a war de-ference, and Italy was the only South American country at odds with Germany. Italy, Bolivia, had broken off diplomatic relations with the Axis a year ago.

MONEY: Stabilized Currency

Secretary Morgenthau called it "tentative" and John Q. Public thought it looked complicated but everybody realized that it was mighty important—"it" being a comprehensive plan to stabilize postwar world currencies and fix their values in terms of gold.

Actually involved in the program were these major points for working out a system to maintain the monetary solidarity of all the nations of the world at the end of the war: 1. Creation of an international stabilization fund (five billion dollars). This would be set up by the United Nations and associates.

2. Value of currency in each country would be "fixed" in terms of gold. 3. An agreement between all nations to the effect that none would devalue their currencies without consulting the others.

BURMA: New Air Blows

Strengthened British and American air forces continued to demonstrate their superiority in Burma, raining bombs on Japanese supply lines with emphasis on the important airway from Rangoon to Mandalay.

The RAF dropped 1,000 pound bombs on the Rangoon railway station. Photographs showed a gas station of an oil refinery, area from which were visible for 60 miles. A power house, oil tanks and a distillation building were hit. American fighters scored hits at Mandalay.

NETHERLANDS: Invasion Spadework?

Reports that "scores of British bombers" have been landed on the Netherlands coast and are preparing the way for an Allied invasion have made their way to Dutch circles in London. The reports added that the wave of optimism, accompanied by new outbreaks of sabotage and anti-Allied attacks was sweeping Holland. The British were said to have been landing parties of two and three bound for the interior.

Washington Digest

Army Clarifies Policies Regarding Farm Labor

Military Units May Be Employed on Crops During 'Emergency Situations'; Individual Furloughs Not Contemplated.

By BAUKHAGE, News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

"Home on a furlough," "I wonder how many of my readers remember that very popular print of two (or maybe more) generations ago. Well, never mind if you don't (though I would appreciate a letter from any who do); "home on a furlough" is going to mean something quite different now.

I remember the original picture only vaguely. I didn't know what the word "furlough" meant. But I know "home" and "furlough" and blond boy in the middle of an admiring farm family, telling his adventures.

Today, the farm boy with a conscience and the farm family with a farm, are looking forward to the "furlough" that will bring the boy home to work, not the telling of his tales of adventure.

It isn't going to be quite that way. The President, when farm boys were riding the administration's hardest last month, went into considerable detail as to what was to be done. The farm industry's question. Since then some concrete steps have been taken but not the "furlough" in the sense of the "home" and "furlough" and blond boy.

The army does not contemplate furloughing individual soldiers to work on farms; the war department announced in a statement clarifying policies and procedures by which soldiers may be used to alleviate the farm labor shortage.

"World War I experience demonstrated that city folks are dumb in a lot of ways," But so are farmers. It's true you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink. Also, a lot of horses have got a sense to drink if you've got sense to lead them to the water.

Pasturing Cows for First Time in Spring

Sudden Change in Diet May Lower Milk Output

Although nutritious, green grass is one of the best dairy feeds, milk production may drop when cows are first turned out to pasture unless special care is taken to prevent it, says Dr. B. Stevens, professor of dairy cattle breeding, University of Illinois college of agriculture.

It is best not to turn cows to pasture for the first day until after they have been well fed in the barn and then to limit the number of hours at pasture for the first two or three days. A sudden change from the feeding of hay, silage and grain mixture to pasture feeding only may cause a sudden drop in milk flow and digestive disturbances.

Fresh, green grass is so palatable in early spring that cows will fill up on it if given the opportunity, because of the high water content of the grass, they fail to receive enough nutrients from grass alone to maintain high milk production.

A grain mixture should be fed to higher-producing cows throughout the pasture season, Stevens points out. Holsteins, Swiss and Ayrshires need about one pound of grain mixture for each three pounds of milk produced over a 24-hour period. Jerseys and Guernseys need about one pound of grain mixture for each 2.5 pounds of milk a day, and about 20 pounds daily.

If cows do not care for grain mixture when pastures are luxuriant, it may prove advantageous to take them from pasture and feed 20 pounds before feeding time so that they will consume the mixture more readily. This is because of the high salt in the grain mixture is also helpful. As soon as pasture grasses begin to ripen or become scanty in amount, the amount of feeding may need to be increased.

If they don't, God help us and the army at meal time.

The Weather—A Dead Topic

As you know, mention of the weather on the radio these days is tantamount to heresy. The newspaper can describe a snafu commensurate with the radio commentator cannot. There is a good reason for this. It's the way of the world these days. A news cast, and if enough facts concerning the weather were revealed by stations in enough widely separated localities, even the most meteorologist—and the Germans are no amateurs—could make a pretty good guess as to what the weather would be in a week by putting two and two together.

But being unable to describe the manifestations of nature that I see in the sky, I'm going to the morning is a terrible handicap to me. Recently I've gotten around the difficulty by taking out last week's weather and then going on the air, reading what I was going to say to the censorship officials and then trying to work that morning they restrict me. The other day however, I forgot to call up the Censorship office but the Blue Network forgot to call up the censor. "Censorship says you have to cut out all references to weather from now on." They say that there was nothing cut out of what you have said or what you have written today but so many comments have come in from other stations that they were violating the regulations, and so many other stations have been using your comments as a basis for an excuse for violating the rule, that we will have to ask you to stop discussing the subject entirely.

"It was pretty hard the past week not to mention the swiftly changing scene which nature provided Washingtonians—one day, not so long ago, the sun was hot and bright and comfortable and in the park, the dark patches were beginning to be studied with interested buds and the sunlight was on the sun and the sun was not burning forth. On that same day I remarked—"Well, we must be getting a bit warmer."

"Twenty-four hours later the fine snow began to fall and late that afternoon and the following morning, the sun and the sun was not burning forth. On that same day I remarked—"Well, we must be getting a bit warmer."

BRIEFS... by Baukhage

Governor Ellis Aron of Georgia has vetoed the War Relocation Authority's plan to send 145 Japanese-Americans, planning an extensive garden on the grounds of the executive building in Atlanta. He says to provide to house cows, once used to provide additional yield. The governor indicated that his wife had known for a long time that the boys were "bumpers" and predicted a bumper crop of vegetables.

Cotton fabrics for women's work clothing have been cut from 14 types to five. Government purchase orders, specifying that canners pack fruits, vegetables and juices in 16-ounce, 10-ounce cans, instead of smaller ones, may save as much as 47 tons of rubber and 8,600,000 man-hours of canner labor in 1943.

Agricultural insecticides and fungicides have been used for the first time this year for all farm and urban victory gardens. The churning of sour cream is easier than the churning of sweet cream. You can sour, or ripen cream, by dipping it to a temperature of about 70 degrees the day before churning.

TO YOUR Good Health

by DR. JAMES W. BARTON

GOITER

Perhaps you or one of your family has been found to have the severe type of goiter or Grave's disease...

Dr. Barton

Why should there be three methods of treatment for the same ailment? One reason is that for the average individual surgery is indicated...

There are two reasons. First, some patients naturally object to surgical operations...

It is not many years ago that patients with Grave's disease traveled hundreds of miles to have a noted surgeon operate for their gland...

Thus the Lahey Clinic, Boston, in Annals of Surgery, reports 1910 thyroid operations with a mortality rate less than one in every 100 operations...

Dr. Lahey does not advise operation on cases that can be treated by diet and medicine even though operation would bring about a cure...

Treatment of Stomach Ulcers

Ulcer of the stomach (gastric ulcer) is due to the same causes as duodenal ulcer which is ulcer of the first part of small intestine...

It so happens, however, that while stomach ulcer is called peptic ulcer and is treated in about the same manner by diet, medicine and surgery...

In the Post Medical Journal Dr. Royce Manning, London, England, states that as far as symptoms are concerned the stomach ulcer cannot be distinguished from an early stomach cancer...

The medical treatment of stomach ulcer in hospital is best rest, test meal examinations, tests for hidden blood in stools, complete examination of the lumen of the stomach by gastroscope...

- Serve with white sauce to which hard-cooked eggs have been added.

- As the days become warmer we will gradually begin adding salads to our menu for our main dishes, to help save on pointage.

- Here is a splendid suggestion, using all rationed foods:

- *Deviled Egg, Macaroni (Serves 8)
1 package (12 to 16-ounce) macaroni
2 1/2 cups cooked, fresh peas

- French dressing
Radish roses
Salad greens—optional
Deviled eggs

- 10 to 12 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons salad dressing
2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar

- 1/4 teaspoon mustard
2 teaspoons worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon celery salt

- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
Cut a half-inch slice from round end of egg. Cut a saw tooth edge around white, if desired. Remove yolk carefully. Press yolks and bits of leftover whites through sieve, add remaining ingredients and beat until light and fluffy. Refill shells, using pastry tube for decorating top, if desired.

- Boil macaroni in salted water according to directions on package. Drain, rinse, then drain thoroughly. Marinate with a little french dressing, then chill.

- Cook peas in drain, and save stock for soup. Marinate peas in french dressing.

- To make salad, heap macaroni in center of dish. Alternate deviled eggs and radish roses around edge, pressing them into macaroni. Fill with some of peas between eggs and macaroni.

- Marmalade Bavarian. (Serves 6)
1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups hot water

- 1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup orange marmalade

- Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add salt. Chill until cold and syrupy. Fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny, but not stiff. Fold in marmalade.

BEDTIME STORY

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

CHATTERER LEAVES THE GREEN FOREST

CHATTERER the Red Squirrel was in a peck of trouble. Yes, sir, he was in a peck of trouble. There wasn't a nut about it. "Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" he said. "If only I had kept my tongue still! If only I had kept my tongue still! If only I had kept my tongue still!"

Presently he came to the edge of the Green Forest. He sat down to rest in the top of a tree where he could look off over the Green Meadows. Far, far away he could see his Purple Hills, behind which lay Round, red Mr. Sun goes to bed every night. He could see the old stone wall, that separates Farmer

Drummer and Mrs. Drummer were. "It's all that was in the past and thinking about it, wasn't going to help him now. He has got to do something right away. Perhaps he might find a place to live in the old stone wall, and there might be some just might, be enough grains of corn scattered there to make a supply of corn for him to live on until he worked very hard and fast. Anyway, he would have a look. So he tried to climb down from the tree and out along the old stone wall. His spirits began to rise as he whisked along in the air, every hole and jumping from stone to stone. It seemed as if, he might find a snug home somewhere here. Then he remembered to be smart enough to make his heart sink again. He remembered having seen Shadow the fox once exploring that very wall. Just as likely as not he would do it again, for it was so very near the Green Forest. No, the old stone wall wouldn't do. Just then along came Peter Rabbit. Peter saw right away that something was wrong with Chatterer and he wanted to know what it was. Chatterer told him. He felt that he had just got to tell some one. Peter looked thoughtful. He scratched his long left ear with his long right hind foot.

"You know, there is another old stone wall up there by the Old Orchard," said he.

Could He? Said Mr. Henpeck, who had just overheard his wife scolding the maid: "You and I seem to be in the same unfortunate position, Mary."

"Not likely!" replied the maid. "I'm giving her a week's notice tomorrow."

Seizing Opportunity Man at Door—Do you believe in free peeps? Houswife—Why, certainly I do. Man—Fine. Let me use your telephone.

His Prerogative The conversation had turned on the ways of wives. "Well," said Brown, "when my wife and I have an argument I always have the last word."

"Oh," exclaimed someone, "You do!" Brown nodded. "Yes, I apologize."

Should Know Them There was a scream of broken as the bus pulled to a sudden stop, to avoid a flustered-looking pedestrian who was in the middle of the roadway. Crimmon, with strain and rage, the driver leaned out of his cab. It was plain he was controlling himself with a great effort as he asked politely, "May I ask what are your plans, sir?"

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

America...you've got to get tougher!

AMERICA — Let's be frank about it . . . so far, many of us back home have been fighting this war from an easy chair.

Many of us have bought War Bonds out of extra cash, out of money we didn't miss too much. We haven't been really tough with ourselves.

But this war is a hard, down-to-reality war. And many of our boys are dying in it.

We've got to buy MORE

So your government asks you to buy Bonds and more Bonds — to get really tough with yourself. We're asking you to give up the frills and "extras" for the rest of this war.

We know how human it is not to make sacrifices until the crisis drives us to it. In England they felt the same way until the bombs started falling. Now they can't do enough.

Bombs are such persuasive things. But just as persuasive ought to be the spirit of our brothers, sons, husbands — who are ready to give all. Think now . . . what are your dollars, compared to their lives?

If you could see

Look at it this way — suppose you had a magic carpet that could take you to Africa and New Guinea. Suppose you could hear the groan of American boys wounded, and American boys dying . . . Say now, how many Bonds would you buy?

That kind of war

THEY . . . are dying. And they will keep on dying until we drown the enemy in an overwhelming torrent of bombs, bullets, guns, tanks, planes, ships, and shells.

That's why we're asking you, in this one month of April alone, to lend Uncle Sam 13 billions of dollars — by buying War Bonds. 13 billions of extra dollars — over and above any buying that you'd be doing anyway!

A lot of money

Of course, 13 billion dollars is a lot of money. It'll take sweat and tears to raise it. It'll mean going without now. But also—it will mean savings now—to buy later. It'll mean giving up everything you can't square with your conscience, so that we, us, our children, can have a better, more decent place to live in when this war is won.

The drive is on

So during this month of April, if someone calls on you to ask you to buy War Bonds in this 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE, will you buy to the limit—and then buy more?

Better yet, will you go to your Bank, Postoffice, or wherever you're used to buying your Bonds — and buy NOW? Will you lend extra money this month? Money that can hasten the day of Victory? Money that can help to save American lives—perhaps your son's or your brother's or your husband's—by helping to shorten this war?

Money buys money

Remember, what you're really buying with your money is still more money. For after all, these Bonds are money! Money plus! Every dollar you put into War Bonds will bring you a dollar plus interest.

So the more Bonds you buy the better for you, Americans — Get Tough — with yourselves — for your country.
