Thank You

AMERICANS are learning that war reaches deep into the lives of all. There are dislocations of accustomed practices—from town homes to much less consequential disruptions. Meat and shox, soup and gasoline are on a share basis, neighbor with neighbor, state with state.

The sharing of gasoline, for example, has thrown a nation on wheels "out of gear." Daily going and coming have been revolutionized for millions. Yet with a minimum of confusion and complaint. For our part, we pay our respects to the motorists of the South for the spirit and aptitude with which they have met these wholly strange methods and procedures.

Thank you, Southern car- and truck-drivers. You have shared your gasoline without grumbling. You have quietly adapted yourselves to the coupon, to the tire inspection requirements and to the sometimes annoying details of regulation. The oil industry is carrying a heavy burden in the performance of its distribution and marketing obligations to the Government and to you.

Thank you for your help.

Why allow fungi to gnaw at the deeper layers of tender skin tissues? At the first sign of "Athlete's Foot" (Tinea of the feet) apply the same wonderful salve many doctors recommend—Fungi-Rex. ## COMMUNITY CANNERY TO OPEN HERE

The school and Community Cannery will soon be open for use by the people of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County. It is being sponsored by the War Production Training Program and conducted through the Mt. Vernon Independent School District and the Vocational Agricultural and Home Economics Department.

The Cannery is being set up in the W.P.A. building located near the Mt. Vernon School. The Cannery makes it possible for the people to can large quantities of food in a saving of time and labor. Each person does his own canning and is charged only for the cost of operation and for tin cans, if used. The tin cans will be furnished at the Cannery one quart No. 3 cans at 3c per can and one pint No. 2 cans at 2c per can and 2c for operation of the Cannery. This makes a total of 4c for No. 2 tin cans and 5c for No. 3 cans. Glass jars may be used by paying operation of 2c.

A supervisor will be on duty each day to direct the canning at the plant. All people who can should use the Cannery to preserve their surplus food, as this is one of the steps in the War Production Program. A similar project is being sponsored in practically every county in Kentucky.

DR. R. G. WEBB TO MAKE RACE FOR ROCKCASTLE COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

In 1915 and again in 1931 I ran for Representative and was defeated both times by a small majority and just about knocked all the wind out of me and my aspirations to represent the good people of Rockcastle and Laurel, so I had made up my mind after my last defeat that I was through—No more would I ask anyone outside of my town to vote for me, and just three weeks ago I had no idea of entering this race. On June 8th something told me that it was my time and it kept telling me over and over again. I said nothing but kept thinking, then investigated as to time limit on registering; found it OK and filed with the clerk on June 17 as a candidate for Representative, Republican Primary, August 7, 1943.

Nobody asked me to run and I am not running for anybody or anything. We still live in a free country and we intend to keep it that way even if the cost is high in money, tears and blood.

This poem on The Old Fashioned Doctor tells it all.

Can't you recall the picture,
As he came into the room,
With his merry eyes atwinkle
Driving out the pain and gloom?
Can't you feel his loving fingers
On your pulse to find your ills,
And his cheering words of comfort,
Better far than all his pills.

Little cared he for man's plaits,
And he scorned the quest of gold,
For he gave himself up freely
As the master did of old.
When the angel's trumpet sounded
Through the righteous ones to hear,
There will be a seat of honor
For those doctors, never fear.

And there'll be a heavenly welcome
"Round the white and shining throne
When the great Physician greets them
And shall claim them for his own.
So I say in reverent spirit
As I said in other days,
May God bless those country doctors
For their quaint, old-fashioned ways.

My dear friends wouldn't you trust his fingers on the old skin of state?
He is going to need men of vision and experience during the post-war period; men that answer the call without the thought of gold.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Mediterranean Victories Prepare Way For New Allied Campaign Against Axis; Essential Production to Be Increased By Simplification of Consumer Items

EDITOR'S NOTE: These opinions are expressed in these columns; they are those of Western Newspaper Union news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Under the watchful eyes of U. S. guards, Axis prisoners march in internment camp in Camp Atterbury, Ind. Since fighting in North Africa, many of these camps have sprung up throughout the country, the average concentration holding 2,000 prisoners and 500 American troops. Prisoners of war are treated under rules of an international convention.

MEDITERRANEAN:

Eyes Turn to Sicily

With Allied shipping reported massed in the Sicilian straits, Italy awaited invasion. Preparations for the expected blow at the "underbelly of Europe," Allied airman ranged over the Italian islands of Sardinia and Sicily, the Axis remaining bastions in the Mediterranean following the fall of Pantelleria, Lampedusa, Lampione and Lisos.

Airfields at Catania and Gerbini in Sicily were attacked. At Catania, enemy fighters rose in force to challenge the Allied assault. Although Allied headquarters remained silent on their military movements in the Mediterranean, the Nazis reported that their airmen were engaging in running fights with large convoys of North Africa. The Axis also stated that the Allies massed invasion barges at Bizerte.

Meanwhile, the Allies kept the Axis guessing about their next move. Strong aerial formations attacked Axis shipping in the Aegean sea, where the Nazis have fortified the islands leading to the Grecian mainland.

SIMPLIFY GOODS:

From Cradle to Grave

In an effort to increase production of necessary essentials, the government has ordered the simplification of more than 1,000 manufactured items. Elimination of flimsy and variety of sizes is expected to result in enough conservation of material to add to production. The simplification order will affect Americans from the cradle-to-the-grave. Metal will be restricted in baby cribs, and length, width and depth of coffins will be limited. Cast iron kitchen utensils will be confined to 12 items, and 40 styles of enamelware have been eliminated. Wood furniture will be reduced to 24 basic patterns. Whereas 1,150 types of tools formerly were made, only 327 now will be permitted. Production of electric bulbs will be cut from 3,500 types to 1,700. Feminine apparel will be simplified along with children's sportswear and rayon dresses.

AIR OFFENSIVE:

Cities in Flames

Bremen's big Atlas shipyards were rocked by a dozen bomb hits as American airmen continued their joint attacks with the RAF over German industrial centers. "Reinforced" by U. S. raid on the submarine base of Kiel were unobserved, as warnings of Nazi fighter planes arose to the defense. While the Americans hammered the Atlas works, strong British units, bolstered by huge four-engined bombers, ripped Dusseldorf and Bochum in the Ruhr. Blockbusters caused heavy damage to both cities, with the latter adding to the havoc. Mass evacuations were reported, and the German radio asked people in other districts to make room for the refugees. Size of the raiding fleets can be gleaned from the Nazi claim of having shot down 46 bombers, 19 of which were supposed to be four-engined machines. German aerial activity meanwhile was limited to "short, sharp" raids over a London suburb, where bombs were dropped.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

SOFTWOOD: Softwood lumber will be made available for essential farm repairs. About half a billion board feet will be released, by the War Production Board.

TOBACCO: Possibility of a shortage of tobacco, caused by unrestricted growing for export, was voiced when government officials conferred with leaders of the industry recently.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS:

World Cooperation

American participation in the establishment and maintenance of post-war "peace" was unanimously recommended by the house foreign affairs committee. In a simple, 35-word resolution which it recommended to the house and senate for approval, the committee declared: "Congress hereby express itself as favoring the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and to maintain a just and lasting peace, and as favoring law order and lasting peace. Since this section touched on the highly controversial subject of an international police force, it was eliminated.

FOOD CZAR:

Wanted by Congress

Shortly after a bipartisan group of congressmen conferred with President Roosevelt and suggested that he appoint a single czar to handle the food situation, the War Food Administration prepared issuance of a report dealing with unfavorable crop and meat prospects. Led by Senator Walter George, the five senators and four representatives urged that a single authority be delegated to co-ordinate production, distribution, preservation, rationing and pricing agricultural commodities. It was reported the President suggested an appropriation from 1% of 2 billion dollars for subsidies to be used in "rolling back" the prices of food. "Many legislators oppose the subsidies," contending the money used only will have to be repaid in taxes.

DRAFT:

Fathers Due for Call

"Fathers will be placed in uniform at least by the last quarter of this year." With this statement the War Manpower Commission, headed by Paul V. McNutt, announced the Selective Service Board's new draft policy in informing employers to prepare for replacement of married men with children in industry after October 1. In a pressing 5,500 employers who have filed replacement lists, with state draft directors, the WMC said that after July 1 the employers also should inform the father of any married man who is drafted. Speaking before a house appropriations subcommittee, Draft Director in 1938, the 100,000 men will be in uniform by December 31. During the first six months of 1944, 100,000 men will be inducted monthly, Hershey declared.

SHIPPING:

Shipping Losses

Shipping losses have mounted here in June than in May, which the smallest losses since Pearl Harbor were sustained, says the OWI. An army of about 2 1/2 million men will be maintained for some time after that, according to statements to a house subcommittee.

ARMY:

Army of 2 1/2 million men will be maintained for some time after that, according to statements to a house subcommittee.

RUSSIA:

Action in the Center

Official announcements pertaining to the Russian front continued to be as confusing as the fighting. While the Reds claimed to have thrown back German counterattacks in the Orel region in the center of the line, the Nazis reported the continuation of the strong Russian offensive in the Caucasus. In neither sector, however, did either side claim any major advance. In relation to renewed Russian activity in the center, the Nazis said the Reds were massing huge forces there, apparently to meet the initial attacks of a week ago when big holes were punched in the German line.

Bolstered by the addition of American planes arriving under leftless, Russian airman continued sweeping attacks over the German rear. Military installations add transport were bombed.

OIL:

'Situation Worse'

"We are rapidly passing from an exporting to an importing nation in oil." With these words Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes forecast an increasing shortage of crude oil. Such a shortage, Ickes said, would not develop because of lack of natural resources but rather because of a scarcity of labor, transportation and other factors. While stating that imports of oil would have to be increased from Venezuela, the Caribbean and Mexico, he declared that California will not be production planned to cut the end of the year to take care of the Pacific war theater and her own needs.

ICKES:

blasted the Office of Price Administration for its handling of the gasoline rationing, declaring the OPA was too lenient in its allotments. He said home owners could expect fuel oil rationing next winter.

CORN:

Plan Call on Loans

Aiming at loosening the tight situation in corn for processors and feeders, it was reported Commodity Credit Administration is to call on loans on 57 million bushels of 1942 corn. Under the proposal, farmers would be allowed 30 days to liquidate their loans. The call would not interfere with the agency's previous move to restrict the imports of bushels of corn in the 1938-41 crops, effective July 1. Decision to call the 1942 loans was reported reached after the War Food Administration had rejected by Chester Davis, turned down proposals for requisitioning the corn. The WFA said requisitioning only would increase the price of corn to the government with the problem of shelling, grading and hauling the corn off the premises.

MEAT PRICES:

Down 10%

Answering to President Roosevelt's "hold-the-line" order, retail prices of meat have been "rolled back" 10 per cent, a move that will save housewives an average of three cents per pound. The roll-back will be accomplished by government payment of subsidies to meat slaughterers to cover their costs of livestock.

Although the roll-back will reduce meat prices, consumers will be compelled to eat even less meat. The War Food Administration announced that federally inspected slaughterhouses had been ordered to reserve 45 per cent of their steer and heifer production for the military.

Fat price ceilings on meat have been drawn by the OPA for four classes of stores, starting with the retail independent doing less than $50,000 of business a year, and ending with the large operator with an annual volume over $250,000.

NAZI SPY:

Intrigue in Hawaii

In November, 1941, Bernard Julius Otto Kuehn offered his services as a spy to the Japanese vice-consul in Honolulu. In a confession to the FBI, he said he volunteered to supply the enemy with information about the national defense of the U. S. Shortly after, Kuehn worked out a system of signals for the intelligence of American fleet positions to the Japs. According to testimony, the signals were developed through a window light in the dormer of Kuehn's home near Pearl Harbor. Mrs. Kuehn played a prominent part in the intrigue, according to the FBI. In 1938, she had introduced a beauty parlor designed to attract "navy business," and in 1940 Mrs. Kuehn visited in Japan with geographical literature describing American and British islands in the Pacific. Kuehn, first sentenced to death, was later committed to 20 years at hard labor.

SUPREME COURT:

Bans Compulsory Salute

Reversing a previous decision by 6 to 3 vote, the U. S. Supreme court ruled that the nation's public schools cannot require pupils to salute the flag. Said the majority: "Compulsory unification of opinion achieves only the unanimity of the graveyard." No official . . . can prescribe what shall be uttered in public places, religious, nationalism or other matters of opinion.

Washington Digest History Will Write Details Of Lewis-Roosevelt Feud

Story Begins During 'Roaring Thirties' as the Forgotten Man Is Remembered by New Deal and CIO.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C. Today there came to my desk a mimeographed sheet from the Office of War Information. It was headed "The Nazi Slave Labor Society." As I read that title, my mind shot back to a very few days before this writing, one of the days when your editor was tense over the coming strike from one end of Constitution avenue to the other, and on both sides of the Potomac. I say "Constitution" because just over "Pennsylvania" avenue you and I have come to feel is the main "street" of Washington, because that is where struck deep into a lot of offices and bureaus beside the White House at one end of this historic thoroughfare and the Capitol at the other.

Naturally, Harold Ickes, in his offices looking down the mall from that strange modernistic pile that is the new interior building, was concerned. He was, at that moment, responsible head of the soft coal mining industry and the industrial relations department. Naturally the members of the War Labor Board seemed the two's existence was threatened.

Two Worries

Over across the Potomac in that palace of a manufacturer architect, the Pentagon building, where the army is housed, officers paced the floor of their pentagonal offices. They had two worries. One will hold there a coal shortage that will hold up production of important war supplies. The other will have to cut and push people around with bayonets?

I haven't mentioned what was going on at the Capitol or in the White House. Plenty. Every one of the administration, every friend of the administration who was angry with the workers who were getting 10 per cent prosecution of the war—and they weren't necessarily different people, but people with different, but they were angry. Lewis and some of them were threatening the President (Ed. Note: bring them in (on a silver charger) for breakfast.

Inside the White House, there were meetings which, because of the presence and absence of certain individuals, I would like to report in greater detail but I can't—that will have to be left to history. If I write these lines, I cannot predict the aftermath of the action which began late one afternoon on June 3 when, contrary to reports in the press, the War Labor Board issued from the White House ordering the men back to the mines by June 7. But between these two dates was the war history of "Franklinstein" and the creature which he created, as dramatic, if not as tragic, as the story of the gentle Mrs. Shelly, written early in the 19th century.

Self-Destroyer

A copy of that book ("Frankenstein") is on my table as I write. The first page are the lines spoken by the monster when he was first had created, hoping to raise the standard of humanity but which, instead, has destroyed his own human weaknesses and turned against his creator. The "being," just before it destroys itself, speaks to its creator: ". . . thou didst seek my extinction that I might not cause greater wretchedness; and if, yet, in some mode unknown to me, thou hadst ceased to think and feel, thou wouldst not desire against me a vengeance greater than that which thou hast inflicted upon me. My agony was still superior to thine. . . really ought to read the book—it's far superior to the movie version).

But why do I bandy with this name? Because I do believe that all of us build, materially or physically, creatures which come before us. Lewis and Roosevelt were the two men who, together, might move mountains (of coal and coalition) were forced to fight to get each other out of public backed the government and, as usual, decided the issue. Oh yes! That "Nazi Slave Labor Society"—it can't happen here!

Uncle Phil Says: IT IS easy to cure trouble by thinking cheerful thoughts, if it isn't your trouble. One can always make money in a city where the population is dense. Another nice thing about a radio is that people don't turn and stare at you when the preacher denounces your pet falling. A gasbag is often punctured by a pointed remark. Serve Perfect Little Cakes for Garden Party (See Recipe Below)

Keep Cool!

Foods that don't cook the cook and feed a lot of K.P. after the party is over are two golden rules for the summer get-togethers. If you are baking anything, try baking in cool morning hours, and if dish to be served, there's a warm up and second make it something that doesn't require more than 15 minutes of cooking.

If you're table decorations and settings are cool appearing and the food carries this out further, then you will have done a lot toward making your guests comfortable. Refreshments may be simple, in fact, they should be, for then guests and hostess alike can enjoy themselves.

Here's a lovely salad that's the last word in coolness and smoothness, thereby filling the order for perfect summer refreshment:

*Lynn Says:

*Salad-Poiniers: Have all salad ingredients as cold as possible. Chill salad bowl and salad plates to assure absolute coolness to salads.

To skin tomatoes: Hold tomato on fork over flame and turn slowly for about 1 minute. Slip off skin.

To flute cucumber: Peel, lengthwise, and run prongs of fork through lengthwise, then slice cucumber thin.

To sieve egg yolks or whites: This is pretty for garnishing. Separate yolks or whites from hard-cooked eggs, place in a small sieve, and rub through with wooden spoon on salads to be garnished.

To decorate lettuce: Dip edges in paprika.

Farmers Advised to Check Hog Cholera

Six Common-Sense Precautions Listed

The swine raiser's old enemy, hog cholera, in on the march again—and according to all indications it is likely to be one of the greatest threats to our 1943 war goals in pork production.

Last season nearly 5,000 cholera outbreaks were reported to government authorities, and there were probably that many more which were never officially reported. These widespread outbreaks have undoubtedly left the virus of cholera in thousands of rural areas, ready to renew its attack when it comes in contact with susceptible swine. No one can say exactly what the annual cholera loss is at this time, but it is reliably estimated to be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. That much pork, in itself, would be a large asset toward meeting our increased production goals this season, according to the American Foundation for Animal Health.

So, the first advice to farmers who are co-operating in the nation's stepped-up hog program is: "Watch out for cholera!"

Here are a few common-sense precautions which every farmer should take to protect his drove against this No. 1 swine pest:

1. Have the entire spring pig crop immunized against cholera by the local veterinarian, around weaning time. If this is done while pigs are small, it will be less likely to contract virus, conserving available supplies needed to take care of this year's larger pig crop.
2. Isolate newly purchased swine for at least two weeks before allowing them to mingle with the home drove.
3. Do not let trucks or wagons drive through your hog lots or pastures. They might carry the virus of cholera on their tires.
4. Keep out of your neighbor's hog lot, and keep him out of yours.

5. Raise spring pigs on fresh, clean pasture, away from germ-contaminated old hog lots.

6. If any pigs show signs of sickness, have the trough cleaned immediately, so protective steps can be taken in time.

Experts insist that one of the principal problems in dealing with hog cholera is its similarity to various other swine diseases. Typical cholera symptoms include fever, partial or complete prostration, lack of appetite and listlessness.

Agriculture in Industry

By FLORENCE C. WEED

Broom Corn

Vacuum cleaners, carpet sweepers and push brooms made from tropical fibers have decreased the market for the ordinary broom made from the broomcorn plant. At the same time, lower prices do not invite people into buying more brooms.

Broomcorn is unique among agriculture products in that the brush is the only part of the plant that is used. The stalks stand in the field and are plowed under the next spring. Some is used for feed but is not much liked by animals.

The plant will grow in most states but commercial production is confined to small sections in Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Texas and Illinois. It is a highly speculative crop because it is top costly to harvest. Any bumper crop will cause violent price fluctuations. During the last ten years, prices have ranged from 83¢ a ton in 1932 to $194 for a short crop in 1934. About $70 per ton is the average price to the farmer.

Scientists are trying to improve the varieties by cross breeding with other sorghums. They hope to produce a variety with more palatable seeds which livestock will eat.

It would also be advantageous to develop a new kind that will not turn red as this lowers the commercial value of the high milk production. On the other hand, it is well known that size, within the breed, is one of the important factors in economical production, and it is dependent both on inheritance and environment.

The way the call is fed after birth is just as important as having proper-sized calves.

Large Cows Give More

Large cows may breed have the advantage over small ones in milk production. However, it should be remembered that size alone does not necessarily indicate high milk production efficiency. On the other hand, it is well known that size, within the breed, is one of the important factors in economical production, and it is dependent both on inheritance and environment.

Penitents Still Wearing 'Tickle Shirts' in Britain

One of Britain's oldest and strangest industries, hair-shirt-making, is surviving the war. In remote convents, nuns are still engaged, in making the shirts for people who wish to do their penance with realism. Monks and very pious people wear the shirts, which are uncomfortable and painful.

The full-size shirts worn in olden days have nearly disappeared, and today a scapula, or a belt in which is woven horse-hair, and in some cases human hair, is worn instead.

This form of penance dates back to the saint, but only in rare instances today do laymen adopt it. The shirts are worn only a few hours a week, and not long enough to harm the skin.

When you hear a Marine called a "Leatherneck," it has nothing to do with the epidemics of his neck. Years ago the Marine uniform was equipped with a high stiff leather collar. From that time on, "Leatherneck" has been the word for a Marine. The word for his favorite cigarette is "Camel"—the favorite cigarette also of men in the Army, Navy and Coast Guard. Based on actual sales records from service men's stores. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to @Gras Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. The Union Church

Sometimes I recall things that seem too good to be true. I am certain that many of those who read this column wonder whether I was taught to be truthful when I was growing up at Fidelity. Today these same people are likely to have reason to doubt again for I shall chronicle an institution that was unique, an institution that was a tribute to the wisdom of ages.

On the hill in Fidelity all my childhood stood the union church. If it had ever had a name, I should call it. It had been built long before my time, when the timbers were mortised in old-fashioned ways. Probably no other building that I knew was so strongly constructed. It was a two-story structure, the upstairs being used formerly as the school room and later by the Woodmen of the World. In the charter, or whatever you might call it, the church was to be open to members of any faith at any time. No charge was ever made for its use.

There were held the funerals of people from everywhere and of all religions alike. On the south tower over the building was a clear, round bell, still in use at the local high school, which many years after my departure occupied the site of the church. Somehow funerals in my town do not seem real for I miss the tolling of that ancient bell. By degrees the lode bell came to be used for many purposes. Sometimes a winter subscription school was held there. After the building was abandoned, I feel the community would not have missed when it was necessary to tear it down, because it had become unusable.

Since I have been, very long Fidelity, I have often wondered at the thought of view that such an institution has gathered. I am ashamed that I do not know the originator of the idea, though my father was one of the trustees. I do know that the plan of the original founders was carried out perfectly. Any wandering teacher, of whatever sect, had complete use of the structure, without interruption by bad boys. Thus here came to us samples of all the new legends of theology. This was not from this open forum, a view of humanity that some more highly favored neighborhoods have never known. When a congregation had no church building, the old union church was used over and over. When a neighborhood Sunday School, meeting in the afternoon so as not to interfere with the regular services of the church, the three faithful members in our section, was organized, it was housed, fringed fittingly, in the old union church. I am sure that the members of that I frankly do not recall having ever been to one anywhere all my years at Fidelity, and only two exceptions in the upward flight, in the years since I left.

Some of you may think there was a bit of sacrifice in using the building for everything else. Candidates spoke there, traveling magicians showed off there, the school, before the high school was built, held its exhibitions and plays there. No community house that I have known has had more and more varied uses. So, for the bell rung, it might be announcing anything from a sleight of hand performance to a first-class funeral.

It makes me wonder, also, whether this neighborhood recognition of diversity, and honest diversity, in that Fidelity was and is a place of great tolerance in religious matters. Of course, in heated protracted meetings we got pretty loyal to our own particular brand of faith, but after the meeting was over, we were just Plain Christians, neighbors, citizens, hard-working, humble. I like to think that the shadow of that plain union church has fallen across the lives of all of us who knew and loved it.

Distress From Nervousness, Indigestion, And Weak, Rundown Feeling Promptly Relieved. Tells About Her Case.

MRS. R. L. HORTON

"I suffered so much distress from nervousness, indigestion, and sluggish elimination, I had little peace for the last two or three years. I had no appetite and a few hours after eating so much gas formed in my stomach that I often had a terrible feeling of pressure against my chest, bad headaches and sluggish elimination added to my suffering, and I felt nervous and rundown."

"I got more actual relief through Retonga than anything else combined. I have a splendid appetite, and anything I want, I sleep splendidly and that stubborn constipation is relieved. My friends tell me how much better I look and I feel like a different person. Retonga is simply grand."

Thousands praise Retonga. Retonga is a purely herbal gastric tonic combined with liberal quantities of Vitamin B1 and is intended to relieve such distress when due to loss of appetite, insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach, constipation, and Vitamin B1 deficiency. The Interests of Capital and Labor are merged in Free Enterprise

It takes huge sums of money to finance America's railroads and other great industrial enterprises... money from the capital and savings of millions... from profits of business...

It takes large numbers of skilled and unskilled employees to operate the industries thus created.

But more important still—the financing and operation of industrial enterprises require ambitious men, spurred to great accomplishment by high reward for superior effort and merit. That indeed nurtures the American Spirit—the Spirit of Free Enterprise, which in one short year caused America's production to surpass the Dictators' ten-year start.

THE AMERICAN WAY
Under the Spirit of Free Enterprise... the savings of free men combine with the voluntary labor of able free men to build great industrial enterprises... capital hopes for a just return for the risk it takes... labor bargains individually or collectively for the conditions of, and pay for, its employment...

the laborer of today may be the manager or owner of tomorrow... efficient methods and machinery constantly increase production and variety of output at lower costs, thus more nearly satisfying the ever-growing wants of men...

THE HITLER WAY
Under the Spirit of Tyranny...

from the daily earnings or savings of people whatever it needed is taken by forced taxes or confiscation to promote government, or enterprise owned or directed by government, and to compel labor to work under the soldiers' lash entirely without freedom of choice or agreement... protest by the people to government for injustices is not permitted. Secret police exercise the power of punishment or death without question.

A BIG family like Greyhound's has many jobs to do... all important to the whole. The care of the cleanliness, sanitation of our stations—the comfort and assistance of our patrons falls to our Maids, our Porters, and our Redcaps. Smiling, industrious—you've seen them often enough to know how really important they are to Greyhound... and how useful to our passengers. They have shown courtesy and diligence in the face of a job that seems never finished. Greyhound appreciates, and thanks them... commends their efforts to the vast bus traveling public whom they serve in many ways—and well.
