AS BELIEVERS in Christ we are responsible not only for the way we earn our money but also for the way we spend what we earn.

Just because we have given a certain percentage of our income to Christian causes is no reason to think we shall meet with divine approbation with regard to our stewardship.

IN ANY study of wealth, it seems necessary to begin with an understanding of its limitations.

Notice how accurately the picture is drawn. If we have increased wealth, we have increased responsibility.

The origin of the Cln Campbell and the history of Scotland are synonymous and here the author, as a scholar, takes the most interesting aspects of each and has woven them into a skillfully drawn account of the Campbell's hand in Scottish affairs.

Liberal illustration, the book contains historical information written in an absorbing narrative form. In a short Scotch title Campbell had a responsible role in the ultimate outcome.

The author, an advertising executive of Cleveland, O., took many pains to bring his readers an accurate, descriptive history of the Campbells. Not content with a long and diligent research in local libraries, he traveled throughout the country covered personally the territory about which he writes.

Avoid That 'Home-Made' Look With Professional Fitting

By Erla Haley

NO MATTER whether you buy or make your garments, there's no argument about how much proper fitting of the clothing does for you. There is, however, some controversy about what constitutes good fit because some women feel that tightness is essential while others advocate a looseness. It's difficult to settle an argument like that because so much depends upon the figure involved as well as the fashion, but there are certain definite indications we can consider.

Most experts give the following description of perfect fitting and I think it helps clear the air in regard to how clothes should fit on the figure. A well fitted garment fits over the bust snugly but not tightly. There should be no pinched look as though you had "squeezed" into the dress or blouse. The waistline, too, should fit snugly. The dress should give the appearance of clinging to the waistline, but there must be no bulge above the waist. There should be some overlap, hipline and then to you who have worn a garment that was too tight over the hips and had it ride and wrinkle when you sat or made you wince about splitting seams, will know exactly what kind of a fit it mean.

One of the most important things is to feel comfortable in the dress you wear. Every figure varies from the norm in at least two ways, and that is why the most alterations are important. Not only will letting out or taking in a quarter or a half an inch make a difference in the dress, but it will give you greater comfort.

When Fitting Dress
No one who has had the pleasure of working with a full length mirror when fitting a dress would ever do without it. In front of it you can when you have the bodice attached to the skirt, and before the sleeves are attached. This should be done before it is stitched together, so that busting can be removed and adjusted, if necessary.

Always wear the foundation garment and shoes that you intend to wear with the dress itself. The foundation will give you the curves you will have with the garment and the shoes will give you the correct length.

All alterations should be planned carefully, and all adjustments should be made at the side seams, if possible. If the blouse of the garment is slightly long, shorten by raising the skirt to the correct position. The underarm seam of the blouse is important for comfort and should be made long enough to allow for movement of the body.

The underarm seam of the blouse is important for comfort and should be made long enough to allow for movement of the body.

Smart as well as comfortable.
And arms. If too tight, the seam will split after the first wearing or two, besides making you uncomfortable.

If the skirt falls under the figure, alter by allowing the side seams to swing forward, and raise the skirt at center back until side seams hang straight.

Make Careful Changes For Neck, Shoulders
If you want to change the depth or shape of the neckline on blouse or dress, never cut this while the dress is on the figure. It's a good idea to have chalk with which you can mark the change, then remove the garment and cut one side of the neckline. Try it on, and if you are satisfied, you may cut the other side.

Collar fitting is important and the proper fit is vital. Let the collar fit the neck closely with revers, if any, lying flat on the garment. I know that it may sound improbable, but there are some necklines and collars which do not go over the head easily, and you should notice this when fitting.

Sleeves should never be fitted until after busting and fitting. Go through your normal movements when trying them on with the garment and observe any tightness or pulling that can be adjusted before the final stitching. Proper length is as important as proper fit.

Lengthwise and crosswise grain is important when cutting the sleeve, so it's the wise seamstress who follows pattern instruction when doing that part of the work. It carries many grains of the goods, like fabric, lining or fabric, for dress and suit. Call E. L. Larkins at Water Building, 5 Camp Circle, Lorain, Ontario, Ohio.

G. D. Hacker's 2 Good Homes and 3 Acres Located on Chesnut Ridge Road Brodhead, Ky. Absolute Auction Saturday, Sept. 13

At 2:00 P.M. — On Premises

LOCATION—These two nice homes are located on the West side of Chesnut Ridge Road about one half mile North of Brodhead, Ky. Close to the heart of this good town with its good churches, schools, stores, bank and business houses - simply a grand and friendly environment.

TRACT NO. 1

Located on a tract of about 2 1/2 acres is a dandy home with living room, 2 bed rooms, dining room and kitchen. Residence has two closets, electricity, veranda and two side porches. Other improvements consist of small stalled barn with crib, smoke house, poultry house and other essential outbuildings. Fertile garden spot in conjunction herewith. This tract is watered by well at residence, Dix River and tributary.

TRACT NO. 2

Compact little home of three rooms located on about one half acre. Residence contains living room, bed room and kitchen. All rooms are ample in size, electricity, veranda and screened in side porch and smoke house. Lot is in the shape of a "A" with beautiful lawn.

Mr. Hacker has bought a farm of 120 acres and will move to it - hence the reason for this sale. The housing situation still is most acute and these sales present to you that Golden Opportunity to buy your own home and at your own price.

Our signed contract has but One Price and that is the HIGH DOLLAR BID AT THE AUCTION SALE - another Absolute Auction - the only kind this firm conducts.

You are most cordially invited to attend these Sales on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13th, AT 2:00 P.M. and we ask that you pay Mr. Hacker a reasonable price for his good property.

Home buyers will have a way at this Sale Absolutely Free without obligation to bid or buy.

Battle of the Movies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The battle between the United States government and the motion picture industry is on again. This time it is over the production of British films in the U. S.

A move of this kind would let the British enjoy the same 20 million dollars from the U. S. Treasury that the U. S. enjoys from the British.

The threatened film is not an old copy. The eight British studios in Hollywood have been asked to produce a film in England this year. If the British studios refuse to do so, the United States government will outlaw the export of pictures to the United Kingdom.

President's Secretary

It is very easy to see that the United States government is not going to let Britain on the ground.

When you think of it, it is not so much that the United States government is not going to let Britain on the ground.

How Mr. Tolson of the Korean War Relocation Authority is not going to let Britain on the ground.

Like the weather, everyone talks about the tragic displaced persons problem but few really do anything about it.

The special committee, headed by Sen. W. Chapman Revercomb, W. Va., is getting ready for an early departure. As part of its preparations, Revercomb is being "expert."

No Parties Permitted

The Hollywood and other party organizations of the special war relocation committee raised a question of whether it is possible to eliminate such notorious activities in the connection with the contract.

THE "SUNNY" THEME

It is worth noting that the "Sunny" theme of Kentucky's Constitution is repeated in the comparative name of the states of this nation. Alabama, 1901; Arizona, 1912; California, 1909; Colorado, 1876; Connecticut, 1837; Delaware, 1787; Florida, 1845; Georgia, 1788; Illinois, 1818; Indiana, 1816; Iowa, 1846; Kansas, 1861; Kentucky, 1792; Louisiana, 1812; Maine, 1789; Maryland, 1776; Massachusetts, 1780; Michigan, 1836; Minnesota, 1858; Missouri, 1820; Nevada, 1864; New Hampshire, 1776; New Jersey, 1776; New York, 1787; North Carolina, 1776; New Mexico, 1912; New York, 1787; North Carolina, 1776; North Dakota, 1889; Ohio, 1803; Oklahoma, 1907; Oregon, 1859; Pennsylvania, 1776; Rhode Island, 1790; South Carolina, 1776; South Dakota, 1889; Tennessee, 1796; Texas, 1845; Utah, 1896; Vermont, 1777; Virginia, 1776; Washington, 1889; West Virginia, 1863; Wisconsin, 1848; Wyoming, 1890.

Thus, thirty-six of the states have names suggestive of the "Sunny" theme of the Kentucky Constitution. Of course, there are also states in the United States whose names are suggestive of the "Sunny" theme. C.C.B. in Charge

BACK TO SCHOOL!
New books... new clothes... but what about LIGHT for home study?
Scientists say that 87% of all that children learn they absorb through their eyes. Their progress in school and their ability to win advancement in later life depend to a large extent upon their eyesight. So don't take chances with your children's eyes. Give them enough light and the right kind of light for safe, easy seeing when they read or study at home.
BETTER LIGHT MEANS BETTER GRADES
Poor light causes drowsiness, fatigue and eyestrain, makes concentration on studies difficult. See that the lamp your children use for home study is equipped with bulbs totaling at least 100 watts and is well-shaded and free from glare. Better light means better grades!
