Young Farmer Has Chance to Start Knowledge and Training Essential for Success

More than the usual number of places are available for young men to get started in farming in 1948 according to Prof. C. A. Stratton of Cornell University. Many farmers are ready to turn their farms over to promising young men on a probationary basis.

Farming in the years ahead, according to Stratton, will provide a good living for the young man who is well trained, properly financed and located on good lands. Education and experience will be even more important for farming in the future than it has been in the past.

Starting farming in a period of inflated prices requires caution. Unusually high prices for livestock and machinery, and high land values make it important to start without heavy indebtedness. Working as a

MARKETING LIGHTER HOGS STRETCHES FEED SUPPLY

By marketing lighter hogs at just one pound lighter weight, hog men over the country could conserve about seven million bushels of grain, says Wisconsin College of Agriculture. Marketing hogs at lighter weights is one of the best ways to stretch the feed supply. Hogs marketed before they weigh 200-240 pounds rarely require less feed than a pound of gain than hogs fed to heavier weight.

Pasture Makes Cheap Dairy and Stock Feed

Pasture is the cheapest and best source of feed for animals. It can get, declares the Middle West Soil Improvement committee. Not only will it save scarce feed grains, but also it will cut production costs and step up the milk and meat output. However, the soil must be fed to get a good start. Legumes are heavy "eaters" of phosphorus and potash, requiring plenty of plant food. Liming based on soil tests, use of manure and the return of crop after-moths to the soil are other essentials.

Posthole Digger

This posthole digger was built by Clyde Hall, Bradford, Ill. He says it will dig a hole about 30 inches deep in 10 to 15 minutes. It was built of cast iron and steel. It has a hopper for soil and a conveyor to carry it to the surface. It is powered by a gas engine.

BILL TO RAISE GASOLINE TAX BECOMES LAW

Governor Earle C. Clements Friday, Feb. 9, signed a bill to raise the gasoline tax from 5 to 7 cents in Kentucky, effective April 1. The new revenue, estimated at $8,000,000 a year, will be spent on rural highways.

The Governor signed the bill after the Senate passed it 11 to 5, and just 90 hours after he first recommended its passage to a joint session Monday night. The House passed it Wednesday, 61 to 14.

Opposition was led by Senator Paul Stapleton, F. O. I. Tories, and Senator Sylvester J. Wagner, Covington. They argued the new tax would give Cincinnati gasoline dealers a margin of 4 to 4 cents a gallon over dealers in North Kentucky. This, they declared, would put out of business from 50 to 15 per cent of filling stations in Urban North Kentucky.

The bill was supported in speeches by several senators. The stressed the need for rural roads while the increase may hurt a few oil stations in Ohio River towns, the money is desperately needed to build rural Kentucky out of the mud.

The new tax will bring to around $13,000,000 a year the money for existing roads on rural highways. Until 1946, only $2,000,000 a year was spent for this purpose.

STATE BRIEFS

The State Highway Department disclosed Tuesday that the ferry over Cumberland Falls State Park had been broken from its mooring by a log pack and had crashed over the falls.

A new plan for the State to recover 20 miners bodies entombed by a Bell County coal cave-in was advanced Tuesday before a Kentucky Senate Committee.

The House Tuesday refused to require poorer School Districts to levy maximum tax rates before being eligible for full equalization aid from the State. The bill introduced by Representative Clyde S. Howard, Elizabethtown Democrat, was defeated 48 to 29. After the vote, Howard indicated he might try to revive the measure, possibly next week. The consent of 51 House members would be required for reconsideration.

The Knox County grand jury directed an emphatic language directed to start an immediate investigation of the Bowling Green earlier in the week at the nearby Wilton Coal Company. The grand jury, mine superintendent, said about 300 men came to the mine office yesterday and forced him and 40 employees to sign union cards. Several of the men were armed, he said.

Rural electric co-operatives are expected to force a showdown between public and private power interests in the House Wednesday. Up for passage when the House convenes at 10:45 a.m. is the bill to remove R.E.A. co-operatives from the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission.

The Glasgow burley market held its final sale of the 1947 crop Tuesday. The Glasgow Green announced it would have its last auction next Thursday.

The House Wednesday voted 70 to 23 to remove rural electric co-operatives from the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission. The bill now goes to the Senate. The vote was regarded as a clear victory for the public branch of private utility interests. Some also it as a further indication that the Administration's control of the House may be slipping.

Construction is expected to start soon on the new branch line of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad in Perry County, authorized Wednesday by the Public Service Commission. The line would extend south-east from Jim Hill along Leatherwood Creek and Blair River to the town of Perry. Officials estimated the span would take a year to build. A maximum of 2,000,000 tons of coal are expected to be tapped by 1950.

Establishment of a Kentucky State Police Department with a budget of almost $900,000 each of the next two fiscal years was proposed in the budget of the Gov. by Representative James P. Hendrix, Hopkinsville Democrat. Full police powers would be conferred on the State Police starting July 1, the present State Highway Patrol would be limited to enforcing and motor-vehicle laws.

BILL WOULD GIVE VETS $500 OVERSEAS BONUS

Veterans of World War II who served overseas would get a $500 bonus under terms of a bill presented to the Legislature today by two Floyd County Democrats, Representatives Henry C. Hitt, Blue River, and John Milton Stumbo, McDowell. Veterans who served in the United States or in the Pacific would get $300. The measure directs the bonus money to be paid in installments to apply to the State for their bonuses before January 1, 1947. It has no suggestion as to the method of raising the bonus money. High school seniors in every Kentucky county will have an opportunity to win a $2,800 four-year, all-expenses scholarship to the University of Kentucky next year.

The Alumni Association has announced the establishment of the academic award, largest offered by the state. The award will be contributed to a Loyalty Fund campaign. Nominations are now being accepted and it is expected that the award will be awarded before the opening of the 1948 Fall semester.

Candidates may become eligible for the award only through the nomination of a bona-fide member of the U.K. Alumni Association or of an established alumni club according to the Campus Alumni Office. Nominations may come from outside of the state if they meet the out-of-state criteria. The award will be made on the basis of high scholastic ability, character, personality, extracurricular activities and need. Alumni officials explained.

The recipient must maintain a University academic average of B or higher in all of all 'B' letter grades, or better. If the student falls below this average, the scholarship will be withdrawn.

The Loyalty Fund, directed by a committee headed by John R. Bullock, Cincinnati attorney at large, has raised nearly $4,000 since initiation of a giving program last November. In addition to the present scholarship fund, others that may be established in the future, the funds will be used to finance other alumni-sponsored charitable projects.

SMALL TOWNS, U.S.A.

Improved System of Agriculture, Social Reforms Are Major Needs

By EARLE HITCH
Released by WNU Features.

"The small community must be regarded as a cross-section of our common life, with economic and cultural resources which will satisfy all the major needs and cravings of most men."

That thesis, expressed by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, one of the leading U. S. authorities on the values of small community development plan instituted at Tupelo, Miss.

The plan, now in its second year of operation and hailed as a model in revitalizing rural communities, has revealed the development of the resources in the area a surrounding Tupelo on a wide scale.

The region embracing up resources of the five counties which had been surveyed. This organization became the Rural Development Farming.

Most of the agricultural production comes from small family-owned farms on which cotton has been the main source of income. But cotton has been hard on the land. Also it has no use and does not grow well. So the small farmers around Tupelo are being introduced to an improved system of agriculture.

The land is suited to intensive cultivation, and a general program to build up the land is proceeding. What is being done at Tupelo is worth the notice of small farm communities everywhere.

"The best thing about the Tupelo plan is that it is practical. The difficulties as well as the needs have been taken into consideration, and the goals have been set accordingly. The plan does not expect to accomplish everything in a day. It is based on a recovery policy. It is doing less, highly desirable things at the same time. It is achieving more immediately than it is being done elsewhere."

Interest in the farmers' problems has been shown by businessmen and the Daily Journal, Tupelo's forward-looking newspaper. For years have recognized the importance of making farming pay a good return. Thirty years ago, when the boll weevil did heavy damage in the cotton patches, the Daily Journal was promoting dairying. For years the Daily Journal has been campaigning for better agriculture. The farmers have been urged to look after their soils, and to consider growing things beside cotton.

Secular Friends of Past. This campaign has had the personal interest and a great deal of the time of the Daily Journal energetic publisher, George McLean. Two years ago, when McLean returned from war service with the navy, he remembered the troubled times on the farms after World War I and during the depression. He was aware that cotton might bump up against a declining market. He knew too that machinery was not far away, and that the small farmers would be a disadvantage if they were not equipped with the new machinery. McLean determined to make a careful study of the whole farm outlook as it affected the Tupelo region.

He employed, at the expense of his newspaper, a professional farm management organization to make after school hours to the job. Several of those working on the house say that they hope to continue in the building trades after their graduation.

Lancaster, who also teaches an architectural drawing class, drew up plans for the home. Aside from a bricklayer, who built the foundation, and a plasterer, who will do the smooth work in finishing the house, the project will be non-professional.
