SO FAR the United States has taken only a mild interest in the coming Olympic games to be held this summer in London. It has been taken for granted that the U. S. will mop up, again as usual, even more so this time, with our athletes well-fed and most other competitors reportedly underfed.

So if we win, well, why not? The United States team should win in a romp. It shouldn't be even close. It should be no contest. That's the early setup. No credit if you win—pretty awful if you lose.

At the Berlin games in 1936, we had several talks with trainers and coaches and star athletes from other nations. Here was their verdict:

"The United States is a nation of acrobatic athletes. You can't win from 400 meters and on beyond this distance. You have no runners with any stamina—runners who can travel a mile and longer.

"You are marvelous acrobats—like circus performers. You can sprint and pole vault with ease. These are all acrobatics. They make no demand on stamina or courage."

"I still takes an athlete to run and jump. The stayer is that we have won too seldom at testing distances. We have no runners from the mile to the marathon, a part bolero for cover-up. There's lots of mix-match possibilities in this charming outfit."

The U. S. has never been much interested in stamina—which is even more important than speed. Speed gives out quickly. Stamina marks—

When you sit all the angles, the United States hasn't done nearly as well as our ballroom experts have figured out the case. Without our stars, this country would have been something of a joke.

In place of mopping up in London, we still can be something of a joke—despite the winning edge we have in food, the main basis of condition. We have every advantage this way. It will be interesting to see what we can do with it.

Star "Miss Big Show" One world series weakness is that too many stars had no chance to show at the big show.

Nipponen LaJole, one of the greatest, never was seen in this class. And he was something to see, the most graceful ballplayer that ever lived. As for the game's greatest natural hitter, Walter Johnson came to his first world series when he was on his way over the mystic hill. The earlier Walter Johnson would have joined Mathewson with three shut-outs.

Bob Feller has never had a world series appearance, and Feller also is just about over the top. Feller came to Cleveland 12 years ago and he has been pouring that fast ball down for a long time. The navy also took three or four of his best years. The navy caught him at his peak and held him a long time.

Also after returning to baseball, Feller has given a good part of his time to outside interests, which hasn't helped his baseball. But he still would be a shining spot in post-season championship. Feller is one of the all-time greats. He won't have to bother about his spot at Cooperstown.

Rube Waddell, a world series natural, had his lone chance in 1905 when he suffered an injured shoulder in a train scuffle. So the Mathewson - Waddell dual never came off. That would have been up in the super class, the motion picture colored stuff.

Still many stars have made the world series grade—Mathewson, Alexander, Cobb, Ruth, Collins, Jackson, Hooper, Grove, Wagner, Brown, Kling, Plank, Coombs, Bender, Johnson, Wood, Fox, Fritsch, Larry Dean, Cochran, Dickey, too many more to mention.

Special To Rockcastle Voters

Corbin, Ky.

Special to the voters: James S. Golden, Republican candidate in the Nineth District addressed an audience of more than 1600 at the Edward's Gymnasium here Sunday.

Golden, who spoke in Republican leaders termed the largest political rally in this city in recent years. The meeting was attended by Republican political leaders from several counties, including former Lieutenant Governor Kenneth H. Tuggle.

Golden's address was in Mr. Golden's behalf. Whitley County Attorney Charles Upson introduced the former incumbent Governor.

One of the highlights in the enthusiastic Republican meeting was at a point in Mr. Golden's address when he said "I want this assembly to know that if elected to Congress I shall fairly and equally represent all the people of our county one particular group. I believe in the spirit of co-operation and fair play between business and labor and the farmers. I think they are all necessary to each other. If this meeting approves this spirit of campaign and this people's pride in what local Republican leaders termed the largest political rally in this city in recent years. DEATHS

SARGENT Mrs. Nora May Sargent, 80 years, 7 months and 4 days died at her home in Brodhead Thursday, July 1st, after a long illness of cancer.

She was the daughter of Wm. and Mollie Gilpin. She was united in marriage to Ezra D. (Hutch) Sargent. To this union were born seven children.

Mrs. Sargent was a true wife and mother, a large friend and neighbor, and will be missed by all who knew her.

She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Mable Delate of Piqua, O., six sons, Stanley Sargent, Dayton, O.; Shirley, Charlotte, N. C.; Emmitt, Piqua, O.; Luther, Raleigh, N. C.; Ira, San Bernardino, Cal.; and 10 grandchildren to mourn her passing.

Her remains were taken to Piqua, O., for funeral services and interments.

FISCAL COURT

The members of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court met here in regular session last Tuesday and besides the regular routine did the following business:

They made an order to take up $3,000 of the outstanding funding bonds. They also approved the county budget for this year. The 20 per cent raise the State Tax Commission put on Rockcastle will stand, and will be added to our taxes this year. The 5 per cent farm raise has been taken off.

ORLANDO TENT MEETING

A tent meeting is now in progress in Orlando, located on the school ground. Rev. Andrew Johnson, D. D. of Wilmore, Ky., is doing its preaching.

Mr. John G. McNew is leading the singing. The revival will continue over next week. It is interdenominational and all people are welcome.

Letters To Editor

Cincinnati, Ohio To Local Newspaper: As a tourist I had occasion to spend the week-end in your city. I selected it for its scenic beauty and progressive appearance.

Now, with all due respect to its citizens and officials, there seems to be a lack of duty on someone's part, because of your terrible mosquito plague.

I have never been so "mosquito-bitten" in all my life as I was during my stay in your "fair" city. Why don't you put on a campaign to rid yourselves of these awful pests?

I might as well also state that it was also the only town in my whole travels where I was solicited to spend the night with certain of your tourist "homes".

Aged Man Killed, On Highway Sunday

Perry White, 80, who lived at Boone, this county, was struck by an automobile on U.S. Highway near Conway, Sunday morning about 10 o'clock. Mr. White later died at the Berea Hospital.

The car which struck Mr. White was being driven by W. W. Auslander of Detroit, Mich. Witnesses said the accident was unavoidable.

TOURISTS COMPLAIN OF GAMBLING AT ZOOS

Col. Guthrie Crowe, director of State Police, Wednesday ordered his district lieutenants to investigate free roadside zoos that have been opening throughout the state for the past few months.

The action came, Col. Crowe reported, after several complaints and state tourists complained they had been gypped out of money. One man reported the loss of $500.

The complainants were advised by Attorney General A. E. Funk to return and go before the local grand jury. None had, he said.

These free roadside zoos are a recent addition to Kentucky and have become rather numerous, mostly because Kentucky law covers species of animals native to Kentucky for exhibition purposes and does not cover species from other sections of the nation.

Earl Wallace, director of Fish and Game, said the primary purpose of the zoos seems to be a front for gambling and that it seems to be on a nationwide scale. He said he believed the next session of the legislature will pass a law broad enough to regulate the exhibition of all wild life in Kentucky.

Sheriff D. G. Clark said this morning there had been no complaints or warrants issued for the several that have been in operation in this county.

The state highway patrol has already ordered them to leave.

CORONER REFUSES TO BLAME IN POISON DEATH

Madison County Coroner Max E. Blue reported to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics that he did not know whether the poisoning of Curtis Daniel Harmon was accidental, suicide, or homicidal. Registrar J. F. Blackerby said Wednesday.

PLEASE MOBILIZE FOR CONGRESS

One of the candidates for Congress, Mr. Golden, in his speech on the streets of Mt. Vernon made the following statements in substance: That he was a very devout Christian; that he was attorney for the United Mine Workers and a great friend of labor and the common man; and that he is and has been a great Republican worker.

NOW LET'S LOOK AT THESE CLAIMS

He told us that he was a devout Christian but almost everyone believes that he is sponsored and backed by the liquor and slot machine interests and the interests of Bell County who intend to try to buy this election.

He says that he is the attorney for the miners, and represents their Union, and that he is for the poor man, but he didn't tell you fathers and mothers that he was their attorney when John L. Lewis called a strike that stopped the output of war material that was held up due to the strike while they lay in trenches waiting for the material that was held up due to the strike.

He says that he is a great Republican. We do not dispute that he is a registered Republican. We do know that the County of Bell has voted the Democratic ticket for the past several years in the General election. He is either weak in the Republican faith or else has little influence with the voters in his county.

We all know and love Pleaz Mobley in this County. We know that he will serve all the people when elected. Pleaz Mobley is going to win because the PEOPLE are tired of Committee picked candidates from Bell and Knox Counties.

Vote for Pleaz Mobley on August 7th. (Pol. Adv.)

BEAUTY FESTIVAL AT RUSSELL CO. FAIR AUG. 6

One of the outstanding events at the Russell County Fair this year will be the Beauty Festival which is to be held on the third afternoon and evening of the fair, August 6. Already fifteen or more towns and counties have expressed their desire for an entry in a big event. The officials of the Fair Association are expending thousands of dollars for special lighting system and extra seating facilities for this occasion.

Any girl who has been selected as the winner of a local Beauty Contest by some civic organization, and who is a resident of the county and slot machine interests and the interests of Bell County who intend to try to buy this election.

He says that he is the attorney for the miners, and represents their Union, and that he is for the poor man, but he didn't tell you fathers and mothers that he was their attorney when John L. Wear 80th Congress Comes to End Of Trail in Welter of Legislation; Truman Ends Political Road Show

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The opinions expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer. Neither the Signal nor the WNU are responsible for them.)

CONGRESS: Adjourned

Emaciated and fatigued, the 80th Congress nevertheless managed to legislate forth a batch of important legislation with the relentlessness of a doughnut machine...

In the waning hours before adjournment the dog-tired senators and representatives hurried through farm legislation and a peacetime draft, together with bills having to do with housing, displaced persons, atomic energy, communication, wages of federal employees and foreign aid appropriations.

Republican leaders made it apparent although Congress had adjourned its session by way was being left open for it to reconvene later this year.

Despite this, however, the 80th Congress had run its formal course. And that it was a vital, exciting course and one that had produced some momentous legislation no one would gainsay.

Some of the high points of Congress record:

FOREIGN AID—Congress issued bills for the support of Greece and Turkey and the one of them on a ski-lift at Sun Valley...

NATIONAL DEFENSE—Aware of the implications of the rearmament foreign policy the U. S. had begun to follow, Congress adopted a peacetime draft, demanded a "70-group" air force, appropriated funds to modernize the army and navy...

H. J. PRICES—Congress ignored President Truman's repeated and insistent demands for authority to control prices and wages...

LABOR—The Taft-Hartley law was enacted over President Truman's veto in the face of a union executive's protest...

DRAFTFEES: Back Again With the peacetime draft a reality in the U. S. again for the first time since 1941 many thousands of young men (19 through 25) are face to face with the prospect of wearing GI clothing for 21 months...

PALESTINE: Mediation Although the situation in Palestine—the truce between Arabs and Jews—has been overshadowed in the U. S. by the Franco-American convention, Count Folke Bernadotte's negotiations were continuing...

MAGNOT: Try Again? France's Magnot line, that supposedly impenetrable, concrete-and-steel system of static defenses that failed to stop the Nazis in 1940...

RANK HAS ITS PRIVILEGES NOW THAT THE DRAFT and the big army are on the way back, the Doollittle report and the caste system have been broken...

TARGETS: Fleet Test Battleships New York and Nevada, survivors of the Bikini atom bomb test, are to be used as targets...

Bongo Bongo Evidence of a recurrence of cannibalism in French Equatorial Africa has prompted the State Department administration to launch a vigorous effort to wipe out that evil among the natives.

The government is imposing hard labor penalties on offenders, with that punishment as a threat to break the hold of wild doctors who get their supplies of medicine by robbing annual human-sacrifice rituals.

MEAT: Too Popular

With the exception of vegetarians and some carrot juice addicts, nearly everyone likes meat. And in the U. S. everyone eats a lot of it. That is why all the Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sprats in America are deeply incensed whenever the meat supply falls off from the normally prodigious amounts available to the consumer.

A condition of that general description currently prevails in the U. S. and, according to R. J. Egerton of the American Meat Institute, it will take at least a year following good crops in 1948 to bring about any substantial increase in the amounts of beefsteaks, pork chops and bacon on the table.

Biggest trouble, Egerton said, is that the ratio of the eaters to the edibles has grown too top heavy since the war.

Wartime drain of flocks and herds and last year's short crop are responsible for the currently declining animal population.

But there is no comparable decline in demand in sight. The meat industry forecasts a continuing need for meat for the next five years. Incomes are near an all-time high, the real income (actual purchasing power) of the average consumer is one-fourth greater than in 1929, population has increased 15 million in the past decade; people are convinced of the nutritive value of meat.

SHIPMENTS: Restricted

Widespread agitation by politicians, newspapers and just plain people over shipment of critical U. S. goods to Russia had paid off in what economists might term an unfavorable balance of trade with the Soviets.

Whether that imbalance will turn out to be strategically unfavorable to the U. S. if the controversy with Russia continues to expand is a question that the next few years probably will answer.

In its simplest form the situation is a paradox. It is an axiom in international relations that unrestricted trade among nations is one of the best guarantors of peace. Yet the restrictions on export trade to Russia last April were imposed to restrict trade among nations in one of the best guarantors of peace.

Significant is the fact that U. S. imports from Russia were higher than any in the past year, although this year except March, indicating that there has been no immediate effort by Moscow to retaliate for the U. S. embargo.

One oddity, perhaps also significant, was Russia's shipment of $1,312,232 worth of manganese and chrome, both basic items in the manufacture of war materials.

Job Done

Noting that only four or five Democrats were on the subcommittee on banking and currency committee were present, G. O. P. Congressman Clarence Kilburn of Malone, N. Y., quickly moved to resign...

Representative Boggs of Louisiana and Mike Monroney of Oklahoma jumped into action, rounded up Democratic colleagues and all were on hand to help resign...

Special officers in the Pentagon, for instance, don't realize that G.I.s are gripped over the $60,000 underground officers' club which has been broken up...

WASHINGTON—Back in the partially-deserted capital after one before another political convention, it's the heat that drives those who are not top driven otherwise out to the mountains and beaches, I took a short ride with a friendly official who, like most of the press and radio, has to stick out a good share of the summer in the city.

"It hadn't been for you," I remarked to my companion sitting beside me in what he alluded to as the taxpayers' limousine. "I might not have been in Washington this summer. I might have been loafing at a mountain lake-side or elsewhere."

"Don't you recall," I asked, "that you were a newspaperman yourself once and, correct as you speak, met an interesting people? I was one of them. That meeting killed what I thought then was to be a brilliant career in the diplomatic service."

The story begins right across the street from the office I now occupy on 18th street, in a fine old brick house which I saw first in 1914. It is blocked now by the fronting, probably because the traffic officials thought no automobile could safely make the turn which a "spanking pal" negotiated so easily three decades ago.

A sign on the lamp-post in front of the house said "no parking at any time." A brass plate over one of the windows, still barred with the gracefully-curving ironwork of another century, said "Former Home of Secretary of State Lansing."

In 1914 it was some two hours after the sun had broken through the clouds that I began "putting off"—putting things off is a great art and one that has reached a high point of popularity in Washington, where practice is! If I hadn't put off then, I might have become a diplomat. As it was, all I got was deadlines the rest of my life.

It happened this way. I had just returned from an extended period in Europe where I had been going through the motions of a diplomat. In the process I acquired the ambition to become a member of the foreign service of the state department. I planned to rise, by easy stages, on pure merit, of course, to the position of ambassador to the Court of St. James. Beyond that, I was not sure.

I did have four out of five necessary qualifications which I knew were hard to come by. I had a good education, I had a good record of O'Ray and elsewhere assured a successful diplomatic career. The four which I possessed were: 1. I was a native-born American. 2. I was a member of the diplomatic service. 3. I was a member of the diplomatic service. 4. I was a member of the diplomatic service.

The fifth, I was confident I could soon acquire easily since I had an excellent letter to the father-in-law of the secretary of state, who had been a secretary of state himself and an important pillar of Washington society. I was sure that such auspices I could acquire that time when a gentleman warmly what Sam Blythe once called the most diplomatic whippersnapper in the state, John Watson Foster.

I saw that the man was a tall, thin, well-talented fellow who had just enough of a continental cut to make a proper impression, as well as the bow-tie and the white shirt and tie. He was, in fact, a very nice man. I was sure that such auspices I could acquire that time when a gentleman warmly what Sam Blythe once called the most diplomatic whippersnapper in the state, John Watson Foster.

I recall that afternoon very well. I rang the bell to that door—well, it was a different door of course—when I saw there now with brass handles worn shiny by ambitious Columbians—but at least the door which that afternoon was to be my right there in the same front door. It opened, I handed the silk hat and ebony stick to the servant and with a few moments I was being warmly what Sam Blythe once called the most diplomatic whippersnapper in the state, John Watson Foster.

Rock Pile for Jailbirds Ruins Spokane's Reputation

SPOKANE—Spokane's slogan as "the friendly city" doesn't hold any more with regular inhabitants of the city jail...

Underground Hot Spot Warms City in Oregon

Home Owners Pipe Water Into Houses for Heating

KLAMATH FALLS, ORE.—This bustling southern Oregon city of 25,000 is built on a hot spot—where these parts is considered fortunate.

Hot ground water beneath the streets has been tapped to heat some 400 homes, a swimming pool, two hospitals, a high school, a newspaper office and several apartment houses and business buildings.

Hot ground water beneath the streets has been tapped to heat some 400 homes, a swimming pool, two hospitals, a high school, a newspaper office and several apartment houses and business buildings.

To do that the well must probe an uncertain subterranean stream that boils diagonally across beneath the city. Outside town, ranchers tap its warmth to keep henhouses comfortable and to warm their drinking water for their livestock.

The state highway department even proposes to de-ice a slippery approach to the airport by using the piping in the pavement.

Really hot water (150 to 225 degrees Fahrenheit) is found at depths varying from 200 to 700 feet. Installing the pipes in a 300-foot well costs about $1,000, but this is the only cost until the pipes have to be replaced in six or eight years because of corrosion.

Because of the corrosion, the natural hot water is no longer pumped directly through heating systems. Instead, a coil of U-shaped pipe is sunk into the well and through this the water flows into a reservoir of city water, which, after being warmed, is pumped through ordinary radiators or other heating units.

Chungking, 26, Lives Without Sinking Any Food

CHUNGKING.—Chungking's citizenry and medical men are baffled by a girl who can live without food. The unique characteristics of Miss Yan, Mei, daughter of Mr. Meant, family living on the fringes of Chih Luun (Nine Dragons) field, are an elaborate Chungking legend by the American during the war, because too well known to be kept any longer in the family. Crowds of local folk flocked to visit the girl, and Miss Yan, whose story is that she is well, happy and active after going nine years without taking a meal.

Local newspapers are full of the story. Pictures were taken. The Yang case attracted so much attention that Chungking's mayor, Gen. Yen, decided to investigate. He had Yan Mei brought in to see him. She stuck so firmly to her story that he and his commissioner of health, Dr. Ding, were determined on a scientific study.

Miss Yan now is established in a private room at a hospital. Her diet while she is being watched day and night by two special nurses in addition to being attended by two relatives.

"We have had her for four days and she hasn't eaten anything yet," Dr. Li reported. "She seems okay, really around and acts like a normal person. She has had a few swallows of water, that's all."

Searchers Find Missing Boy Struck on Wire Fence

MONROE, WIS.—A 2-year-old Green county boy was found unharmed after he was struck by some 250 volunteers from four counties in two states.

The boy, Donald Friedrichs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Friedrichs, was found in a field south of his home by Deputy Sheriff Tony Yeager of Dane county. His clothes were caught on a barbed wire fence. Doctors in the searching party said he apparently had not suffered from exposure. Donald was dressed in overalls, a coat, cap and rubber boots.

Deputy sheriffs from Green, Rock and Dane counties, police from Freeport, Ill., and Broadhead, Wis., the Monroe fire department, and a member of the national guard took part in the all-night hunt.

Private fire were prepared to look for the search. Bloodhounds from La Crosse arrived after the boy had been found.

The searching party was headed by Sheriff Evans C. Chambers of Green county. The boy's parents said he had wandered away from the house with his collie pup. The dog returned alone soon afterward.

Rooms Get That New Look With Crisp, Bright Curtains

By Erta Haley

TAKE A GOOD LOOK at your kitchen curtains. Are they wash-worn? Have they lost their crisp newness? If so, you won't take long to add the new look to the room with fresh, new pair of ruffled curtains.

Since curtains are sheer and need to be washed so frequently, it's sometimes difficult to keep them looking sparkling white still having them retain the starch ruffled look we all like. It's a good idea to replace them periodically so that rooms can retain their delightful appearance.

There are many types of window treatment possible and, if you want to experiment, you may find that you may be delightfully surprised to see what you can do with the window.

As in all window treatments it's best to consider what you have on the outside in the way of scenery before making the curtains. A prettier garden or outdoor scene may be hidden from view. However, if you have an alley facing the window or a dark house, make the window treatment interesting enough to shut away the outside.

Color is important whether the curtains are used in kitchen, bedroom or dining room. Choose a bright red tabacans on white curtains with red matching ruffles would be more effective than white.

If the room is colorful enough in itself, you may want to use just white to help blend in the colors.

Called Terry cloth in baby pink, a hooded bath cloth that's ready for anything under the sun, is made with Terry leveling. Double there on the little girl's skirt account a waisted-waist swim suit. A wired hair supporter the strapless bodice.

Terry material is laid down. The rug itself will hold the material nicely in line.

Tear the curtain fabric whenever possible rather than cutting it because it will be straighter. If you cannot tear the fabric, draw out thread and cut along the line made by this so that the curtain will be straight.

Remove all selvages. Many people like to use the selvage as a finished edge, but selvage does shrink and when it gives the curtain a poor appearance after washing.

Turn side hem first before sewing. If you want to have hanging them, press in place they can be sewed nicely.

If the curtains have a well ruffled hem only the wall edge. Allow a shrinkage tuck at the top of the fabric which hangs behind the heading so that it does not show. Most curtain materials shrink a certain extent and it's better to have this extra tuck so the curtains do not look skimpy after laundering.

It's a good idea to iron the curtains on the floor before hanging them as they won't have any wrinkles. Most curtain materials shrink a blanket may be placed on the floor, or you may use a small ironing board that can be moved from place to place.

How to Make Noose Ruffles

When your curtain fabric is cut across the grain you will need from one and three-quarters to two yards of fabric for each yard of curtain. For plus ruffles you need only one and one-half yards.

Ruffles are customarily three to five inches wide, and in many cases the material for the ruffle can be torn instead of cut as it was done for the curtain.

Be Smart!

They're pretty as can be and always fresh, besides making lots of hat sense, these fabric hats with brims that tie on. A lovely example is the model shown. If he's wearing a plus, all dressed up in a (brim of crisp organza) (permanently finished, trimmed with lace and gathered into a band) hat ends in a pretty little bow. You'll be meeting over so many insignificant variants of this same basic idea.

Terry Cloth Coat

Called Terry cloth in baby pink, a hooded bath cloth that's ready for anything under the sun, is made with Terry leveling. Double there on the little girl's skirt account a waisted-waist swim suit. A wired hair supporter the strapless bodice.

Terry material is laid down. The rug itself will hold the material nicely in line.

Tear the curtain fabric whenever possible rather than cutting it because it will be straighter. If you cannot tear the fabric, draw out thread and cut along the line made by this so that the curtain will be straight.

Remove all selvages. Many people like to use the selvage as a finished edge, but selvage does shrink and when it gives the curtain a poor appearance after washing.

Turn side hem first before sewing. If you want to have hanging them, press in place they can be sewed nicely.

If the curtains have a well ruffled hem only the wall edge. Allow a shrinkage tuck at the top of the fabric which hangs behind the heading so that it does not show. Most curtain materials shrink a certain extent and it's better to have this extra tuck so the curtains do not look skimpy after laundering.

It's a good idea to iron the curtains on the floor before hanging them as they won't have any wrinkles. Most curtain materials shrink a blanket may be placed on the floor, or you may use a small ironing board that can be moved from place to place.

How to Make Noose Ruffles

When your curtain fabric is cut across the grain you will need from one and three-quarters to two yards of fabric for each yard of curtain. For plus ruffles you need only one and one-half yards.

Ruffles are customarily three to five inches wide, and in many cases the material for the ruffle can be torn instead of cut as it was done for the curtain.

MAKING HIS first technician in "Rope," James Stewart plays a role unlike the sky, beautiful young men audiences have come to expect from him. He is suave, sophisticated, a university professor whose slightly graying hair resembles Stewart's own. The Alfred Hitchcock thriller was done in black and white and color with a technique new to picture.

Young mothers who want to earn money might take a tip from Mary Lansing, based regularly as "Julia Collins" on CBS' "The Guiding Light." Mary is a specialist on baby walks—learned by listening to her own children.

An impressive car is usually a young actor's first purchase when he starts a picture. In "Rope" it was a 1941 Samuel Goldwyn took her west for "The Little Foxes." She bought an expensive coupe. Since then she has risen to stardom, won an Academy Award and established herself as one of the screen's best actresses. Now she's in "Rope" as "Julia Collins" on CBS' "The Guiding Light." Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Add all-tomato sauce. Chill until the mixture is of the consistency of uncooked egg whites. Stir in chives or onion juice. Turn into a loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold on greens and garnish with shrimp that have been marinated in French dressing.

IF THE WEATHER is on the warm and you don't want to spend much time cooking, select a simpler meal. For example, have sliced tongue or other cold meat served with macaroni and cheese and complete the meal with sliced garden tomatoes and cucumbers and buttered chilton pie made in the morning.

Macaroni and Cheese (Serves 4) 1/4 pound macaroni 1/2 cup milk 1/4 cup butter 1/4 cup flour 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup onion, minced 1 cup grated American cheese Cook macaroni in boiling water until tender. Drain. Make sauce by melting butter, adding flour which is blended with mustard and salt. Add milk and onion and cook until thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted. Combine sauce and macaroni and place in a greased casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (400 degree) oven until browned.

Buttered Chilton Pie 1 baked 8-inch pie shell 1/4 teaspoon plain gelatin 1 cup cold water 2 eggs, separated 3 cup brown sugar 1/2 cup butter 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup granulated sugar

Toss many of your garden greens together if you want a lovely wooden bowl salad. This can go lettuce, cucumbers, spinach, cauliflower, radishes, green onions, celery and shredded carrots. Use a tangy French dressing.

Have a Porch Meal! Family Loves Them in Summer Weather

IT'S A TREAT to eat outdoors! Mom gets out of a hot kitchen, and the whole family can enjoy a meal even at the end of the day if they eat it in a cool breeze out on the porch, under the old tree or in the garden.

This is real outdoor eating and it can be almost picnic style. Plan it to be casual and everyone will have fun. Carry out all food, plates and utensils on a tray and save trips to the kitchen and then back again.

A bowl of flowers from the garden will make the occasion seem festive indeed.

Almost any kind of a meal will be easy to serve as long as you can fit it on a tray so everyone can help himself. Even a roast will work out well served in this way. Place your creamed, an egg or broiled potatoes in the center of a large platter. Slice the roast in the kitchen and place it around the potatoes.

IF THE DAY is a sweltering one and calls for a cooler supper, try a really cool supper! A loaf of broiled potatoes in a marinated shrimp makes a good main dish.

Add cucumbers to this for eating and for garnish. Ice cream or lemon sherbet served with crisp lettuce makes a complete meal.

Tomato Aspic with Shrimp (Serves 8) 2 tablespoons plain gelatin 1/2 cup cold water 1/4 cups hot water 3-ounce can all-tomato sauce 2 teaspoons chopped chives or 1 teaspoon lemon juice 1 (5-ounce) can shrimp

Build It From A Pattern

New Method Simplifies Building Modern Version of Old Fashioned Lawn Swing

Pattern Simplifies Building The Lawn Swing is easy to build. No special tools or skills are required. The Full Size pattern of material provided also the information on how to cut the material out and assemble the swing. All materials specified are stock size and are now readily available at most lumber yards.

Trace, Saw and Assemble It's as easy as that. The pattern provides a full size, printed paper outline of each component part of the swing. Trace each piece on the lumber specified, and assemble wherever two pieces are joined, their exact location is shown on the pattern. All bolts and screw holes are also shown. You'll have fun building this swing and lots more fun using it.

Sweet Alyssum Sweet alyssum is an important garden accessory. Its real purpose is to accompany edge borders and paths and to point up other garden flowers and shrubs. There are several varieties of sweet alyssum, ranging in height from four to 12 inches. Height is an important point to consider in making the selection, since shading is necessary for continuous bloom. Plants that are too low for shearing—those that grow to a height of only four or five inches—will be ready to bloom.

The only qualified man able to represent this great district, now running for Congress is James S. Golden.
I want my kindfolk, friends and the friends of former Congressman J. H. Robinson to support Mr. Golden.
Before retiring from this race I was in all 17 counties and talked with thousands of people of all walks of life. I can truly say that Mr. Golden will be nominated by a very large majority.
In the six counties where Mr. Golden is known best all classes of people are solidly behind him. Golden and throughout the district I have found that he is the choice of the people.

Clyde Spence, Middlesboro, head of the United Construction Workers, pledged the 3000 UCW for Mr. Golden and said "They will give full support to Golden's candidacy."

Ed Weaver Louisville Secretary of the Kentucky Federation of Labor said in his address, "Labor has gone a long way toward great progress. We have a truly great friend in our next Congressman, James S. Golden, because he is sympathetic to the sincere purpose of all the people. He urged the Union delegation to 'Go full force' in electing Golden."

"Must Work For Peace"
In an interview, Republican Congressional Candidate Golden said, "The Atomic War with modern weapons will wipe out humanity if war should come again." It is the duty of all men to work for peace, he said. "To secure world peace we must have the greatest navy and air force in the world—then the dictators and Communist nations will be afraid to start war and will themselves sue for peace."

For Richer Pasture

Many pastures provide poor feed for livestock because the soil lacks phosphorus. Phosphorus-deficient soil produces phosphorus-deficient feed. Phosphorus-rich soil produces feed richer in both phosphorus and protein—and a bigger, more palatable growth! A generous application of our FOUR-LEAF Phosphated Rock phosphate will benefit your pastures—and the livestock grazed on them—for years ahead! Investigate.

COURTNEY ROSE'S

Dandy Modern 6 Room Home and 5 Acre Baby Farm

Located 5 miles South of Berea on U. S. 25

Saturday, July 17th

10:00 A. M.

LOCATION—This dandy home and baby farm is nicely located just 5 miles South of the town of Berea, Ky., on U. S. Highway No. 25. This property faces the east which is an important item for a home, in good community and among fine neighbors. This location is on one of the most important through highways of the state, which connects the North and the South. Fine place for tourist cabins, on Greyhound bus route, rural mail route, school bus and milk route.

RESIDENCE—A 6 room house with two large concrete porches. Has electricity throughout, three everlasting wells, one at door, fire proof shingle roof, sheetrock and papered. This residence is new and has 5 acres of land, large garden, nice green shady lawn, new garage, hen house, and large building with office room and a wash room, all buildings newly painted, concrete walks, farm well fenced with new fence and locust post.

PERSONAL PROPERTY—5 year old cow and calf, and lots of other personal property.

Our signed contract calls for but one price and that is the High Dollar Bid at the auction sale. Reason for this sale is Mr. Rose is moving to Brodhead close to his work. Bid last and receive a deed to this nice well located property.

Folks, this is another one of these absolute auction sales, and we are offering to you at your figures one of the best located homes in Rockcastle County.

We take this means of most cordially inviting you to attend this sale on Saturday, July 17th, at 10:00 A. M. and ask that you pay these folks a fair and reasonable price for their property.

Some money will be given away absolutely free.

POSSESSION—30 days from date of sale.

TERMS—Made known on day of sale.
