COUNTY AGENTS NOTES

The farmers who are planning on showing livestock and poultry should be getting stock ready. Cattle, horses and mules will be shown in the ring by individuals. This will require the training and breaking animals to lead and show under halter and bridle. Animals should be trained and fitted so as to make the best possible showing. Poultry coops will be furnished by the fair for the exhibitors. Pens will be provided for the livestock. Farm crops and home exhibitions will be exhibited as last year.

The school program of the fair is being worked out by a special committee. The premium list will be mimeographed and sent to the teachers as soon as completed so that the schools can be getting ready and want to have catalogs. There will be a new feature added to the fair this year in the form of a Float Parade. Mr. I. C. McDaniel Supt. of Livingston school is chairman of the float committee. It is hoped the schools, civic organizations and others will join in with a float which will be an added attraction to the fair.

4-H Club Camp
The County and Home agent will take from Rockcastle County 25-30 4-H members and 3-5 leaders to 4-H club camp at Levi Jackson State Park near London August 2-6. The camp is an annual outing for 4-H members, leaders and agents from ten counties directed by the University of Kentucky.

Mobley For Congress

In reply to T. J. Nicoley's letter asking me to support Mr. Golden for Congress, I will say that I cannot conscientiously vote for him. I have known him since I was born and raised in Knox County and I have never seen him at a Republican rally, convention or Lincoln Club, but I do remember him speaking in Knox County a few years ago for the Democrat ticket and I also remember his father, E. Golden, prosecuting Caleb Powers when he was being persecuted by the Democrat party.

Casa Vote For Golden

I am a strong Republican and have been all my life, and I am always found at the polls on election day in the interest of Republican Party. I voted for John S. Cooper and shall do so again, but did Mr. Golden do anything in his behalf? Please excuse this poorly written letter, but I am a grandfather, 64 years old, who had two sons in World War II and lost a husband in World War I. I am voting for Pleaz Mobley as my conscience feels called in doing so.

Mrs. W. P. McKeehan, Corbin, Ky.

Beauty Festival At The Russell County Fair Friday, August 6

The big Russell County Fair is only two weeks away. From information received from officials of the Fair Association it is apparent that the float parade and the Beauty Festival on the afternoon and evening of Aug. 6, will be the outstanding event of the third day. The Beauty Festival is a new event for the fair but it seems certain that in the future it will be one of the biggest events. Already entries have been received from some of the adjoining counties. Russell County has two entries representing Jamestown and Russell Springs.

The Somerset Band, Glasgow Band and Danville Band will cooperate with the event. Arrangements are being made for the Tompkinsville High School Band to be present.

You cannot afford to miss seeing the big parade of floats from these various counties. There will be old stage coaches, covered wagons, decorated trucks, decorated automobiles of all kinds, with each float carrying the queen of the county or town she represents.

There will be broadcast casts direct from the fair grounds broadcasted in detail the whole event. Newspaper photographers from the Courier-Journal will be present taking pictures. Never before has so much of the county in any one program entered to the people of south central Kentucky at the big Russell County Fair. You can't afford to miss it.

Fighting Truman Gets Democratic Nomination, Calls Special Session; Barkley Selected as Running Mate

Truman 'WE ACCEPT!' Barkley in Fighting Mood Born in Log Cabin

The Philadelphia story Truman-Barkley If the Democrats hadn't known before their convention that President Harry Truman was their man they found out on the steaming Wednesday when their political show slammed through to a smashing, triumphant finish.

Harry Truman told them so, after the electrifying liberal forces of the party had spent all that Wednesday in the 105-degree heat of convention hall proving it beyond any doubt.

It looked like the Democratic party might have been completely revitalized in 12 tense hours on that last day of the convention, ending a period during which the Democrats' morale and will to win slowly had been ossifying.

The revitalization came as a result of two potent factors which actually could be reduced to one—President Truman's influence.

In the first place, in adopting the strong, positive civil rights plank in the platform, the party not only reacted but also dealt extremely sharply and real slap to the hands of the southern wing which had tried at times almost savagely, to produce a cleavage within the party.

The action, closely followed by the nomination of President Truman to run for re-election and the nomination of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky by acclamation for the vice-presidential spot on the ticket added another solid timber to the structure that the liberal elements of the party were fighting so hard to build.

Those developments were, in themselves, a complete and victorious proof that the Democrats this year intended to bring themselves before the American public as responsible, coherent party that would be striving for nothing less than total victory in the November election.

But it remained for President Truman to give the whole affair a significance that could not be ignored.

Fighting Finish It was a far cry from a love fest as the Democratic clans, leading for many months in the City of Brotherly Love for their 30th national convention.

After three days of strife and bickering, the convention came to a close as a fighting President Truman triumphantly accepted his party's nomination for the presidency and then roared Democrats and Republicans alike with an instant summons to the 80th congress to return for a special session July 26.

The convention, perhaps the most bitterly divided since 1860 and 1924, ended with a resolution denoted by the quiet man from Independence, Mo. The explosion startled even the regular members of his own party, who engineered the nomination of Mr. Truman to the presidency.

The Democrats pinned their November election hopes on a ticket of Harry S. Truman and Alben W. Barkley. It was the 64-year-old project, low-voiced senator from Missouri, who had succeeded to the office upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, for the presidency. And it was the 70-year-old, soft-speaking, compromi-

PERSHING: Taps Sounds

Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing, who led American troops to victory in World War I, is dead at the age of 87.

The aged former chief of staff had been ill since February, 1938, when he was stricken at Tucson, Ariz., by a form of rheumatism which affected his heart muscles. He came close to dying at that time, but rallied with a display of fighting spirit which amazed his physicians. Since then he had lived at Walter Reed hospital in Washington, D. C.

Death was caused by a blood clot which reached his lung. At Pershing's bedside when, with came his son, Warren; his sister, Miss May Pershing, and his long-time physician, Maj. Gen. Shelley Marietta.

Long the idol of a grateful nation, Pershing held the rank of general of the armies, a title conferred on only four other American soldiers, Washington, Grant, Sherman, and Sheridan. He outranked such contemporary five-star generals as George C. Marshall, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Douglas MacArthur. Their title is general of the army.

Pershing won his greatest fame as commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary force in World War I. Appointed to that post in 1917, he took personal command of the American troops sent to France. He almost immediately became involved in a dispute with the other Allied commanders who wanted to break up the American army and use to reinforce the French and British armies wherever necessary.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—As Washington hurries through summer, forced to commute to Philadelphia for its major distraction, it is faced with a painful prospect of less diversion next fall. This city which once boasted of almost a dozen legitimate theaters (when it had a much smaller population) is about to have the last one that lingered on alone turned into a movie house.

The old National theater, which opened in 1935, was burned and rebuilt four times, collapsed once, is now about to end its legitimate days on a stage which is giving the Democratic party equal concern—civil rights. The Actors' Equity, to which most actors belong, won't play here because Negroes are not permitted in the audience.

There is talk that the old Belasco theater, erected in 1895 on Madison place, facing Lafayette park, is to be reconditioned and leased to a management which will lift the racial discrimination practice (the Belasco is currently government property) and is used as a storehouse. If not, the Belasco is not expected to be reconditioned.

When that edifice burned, a second Washington theater, seating 700 persons, was opened in 1921. It boasted a magnificent program of improvements and innovations, including scenic, reserved seats, improved acoustics, no liquor in the bar, and a fine orchestra of Negro players. "Facilities" today wouldn't satisfy accommodations would have to be on a basis of race equality.

Fourteen years after the new Washington theater had opened its doors the National theater appeared on the scene in the early 1920s, but because of the rough going the wealthy didn't like to risk their fancy-forgone out on bad nights. It cost as much as $10 to get through to the show.

Now you can ride all the way from Capitol Hill to what was once the National theater for 30 cents. The capital's greatest theatrical development began right after the Civil War and went on for three decades. By the time I attended my first show here in 1914, there was no dearth of dramatic entertainment and sometimes three original Broadway companies would be playing in different theaters at the same time. It was a great town for opening until fairly recent years.

There is one theater, now a museum, which is still a point of interest in the city. It was a Baptist church on Tenth street. In 1881 it was converted into what was called Charity's opera house. Later it became Ford's theater. In the upper stage box of this theater, President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by the actor, John Wilkes Booth.

There was a saloon on the corner below the theater where Booth was said to have had his last drink before he crept into the theater, shot Lincoln and leaped to the stage, tripping on a piece of bunting and breaking his leg.

For many years, over the bar of that saloon, hung a crude picture of the assassination, and on the floor were the mugs and glasses where the half-amused man was supposed to have stood as he warmed his courage in preparation for the theater. Some Washington theatergoers were well acquainted with John Booth's acting but better still with that of his older brother, Edwin, who had the greater talent. But they never saw Edwin Booth on a local stage again. He was so heart-broken over his brother's crime that he never again played in the capital.

A theatrical performance in Washington plays one role that it plays in no other American city. It becomes, on certain occasions, few or many according to the taste of the incumbent president, a ceremony which is to matter how private the president wants to be when he sees a show, he can't help being a public person and on occasions when he likes them or not.

Use of Ammonium Nitrate Ammonium nitrate is one of the new forms of fertilizing materials that is being used on United States farms. Its use in mixed fertilizers began about 1920. It was first used for top-dressing crops in the 1943-43 season. In the 1947 season 774, 618 tons was consumed as top-dressing alone; says the U. S. department of agriculture, which anticipates that in 1948 over 400,000 tons will probably be used for this purpose. About 75 percent of the nitrogen in all forms of fertilizers is now supplied by this relatively new material.

American Cities Are Increasing in Size

Los Angeles, brunt of many jokes for its ever-expanding city limits, is not the only American city which is increasing in size. In fact, American cities are getting bigger all the time, with 98 communities extending their metropolitan areas in 1947 for a new all-time record, according to the International City Managers association.

Employment Gains

Continuing the postwar upward trend in civilian employment, 1.6 million more persons were employed in civilian occupations last April than in April, 1947, it is reported in figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference board. Accompanying this increased employment was a decline of more than 300,000 in unemployment over the year's period.

III-Fated Venture

Harry Truman has taken a lot of criticism for his failure in the haberdashery business. But the other day the President told his himself the story of how he had had still another business experience—as an oil prospector. He told the story to Frank P. Douglas, chief boss of the national media-union board, called at the White House to report that he had nothing to do with efforts of friends to get him named secretary of the labor board.

"I can understand your position," replied the President. "I was sure it was a business I could sell myself on a limited scale."

Woman's World Pick Your Kind of Mending Then Set Out to Perfect It

By Erta Haley

WHETHER you do a lot of sewing or not, you can't escape the daily and weekly mending jobs that inevitably will fall upon you. Most women dislike mending because it's what they term a dull job, but there are ways of making it interesting.

Night and Day

"I never liked mending until I changed my ideas about it," said a woman to me recently. It seems that she had done such intricate sewing in her time that mending was a come-down for her, but when she decided that she would learn to mend so no one suspected that she tested her ingenuity to such an extent that the task became an interesting one.

I tried this myself and found it could be a fascinating job. If you are mending men's socks, try to weave in the stitches so you wouldn't suspect they were there, and see for yourself how interesting this can be.

Or suppose you've torn the pocket on your best apron. Why not remove the pocket, weave or patch the material in a very subtle way and make a larger pocket of a flower design?

Have your best gloves slipped a seam? You have a chance to match your weaving skills with those already used in the gloves. You see, it can be fun!

Machine-Made Sweaters Can Be Mended

Always pass around your problem, something in the manner of an engineer before you start doing anything really important. There are many types of mending jobs, and requiring different materials and techniques.

It is sometimes difficult to match the stitches used in machine-made els, napkins, small tablecloths or collars.

Torn towels can be cut down to hand towels or guest-size towels. These may be made attractive by using an applique of a small hand or a pair of lips to indicate their use.

For towels worn beyond repair, save the good pieces and use for service as washcloths or pot holders. These can be decorated appropriately with contrasting trimmings, buttons or decorative patches.

Make Garment Patches Practical, Decorative
If youngsters have worn their overalls at the knees, make decorative padded animals and place these on the knees over the sturdy patch you have made to save the garment.

If you have tears on a dress or an apron where you can place a pocket, make this of the same or contrasting material that matches something else on the garment. This may be ruffled pockets, flowers or other decorative items. Or you can hide patches on some parts of a dress with a button trimming if it looks nice.

Decorative patches are applied with a catch stitch or by hem on the right side of the garment.
Tears and permanent spots sometimes can be covered with applique or sequin trimming or bands or lace, if they come in the right place. Give them ideas.

Use Bands Effectively To Disguise Darning
On dark fabrics of dresses, especially if they are woolen, you frequently can work a darn so that it does not show. However, on lighter fabrics, on linens or silks or rayons, it is not possible to disguise a darn. In this case consider using bands as a decorative measure to hide the darning.

Use a wide, circular skirt, for example, has small tears and darns, you might add contrasting bands—several rows, to go around the skirt to cover these. These add a lovely decorative touch.

How to Mend Sheets, Towels
If your sheets have torn hems, add contrasting bands of fast-colored percale to top or bottom or both. Two sheets will be more attractive and colorful than when they were new.

Small tears and holes can be darned or patched so they are fairly inconspicuous. Use small stars or flower sprays to cover them.
Large holes will cover a patching job. Overcast with a model of expediency. Use Egyptian cotton erasms, darning with the skillful use of embroidered bands as a measure reminiscent of the turn of the century.

"SAMSON and Delilah"

van, we're told, will be made this week. The picture is registered. This will be DeMille's 6th film since 1913, his fourth lavish production with Biblical characters and setting.

With three unrelated pictures coming up, ("Deep Waters," "The Great Gatsby" and "The Street With No Name,") and "Sitting Pretty" keeping him in the public eye, Ed Begley is free to give some time to radio. He will have a featured role in NBC's "The Big Story" on August 18. Known as a radio, stage and screen actor, television is the only new field open to him.

Ellen Corby was a script supervisor for several years before she turned actress and registered a hit in "Remember My Name." New Columbia has signed her for an important role in "The Dark Past," with William Holden and Miss Foch.

Arnold Moss finished an important role in "The Loves of Camille" (RKO). He is now in "Ford," and headed for New York and hard work for several radio shows.

Gene Autry's famous stallion, Champion, will wear a set of gold-plated horseshoes when Autry's rodeo opens in New York in September. They were a gift from his Oklahoma fan club.

Playing a lead in "Rusty Saves a Life," Stephen Dunne learned what it means to work with one of Hollywood's famous animals. Dunne was thrown into a lake with William the moving dog. Struggling to shore when the scene was over, wet and cold, Dunne was pleased when he heard someone shout "Get a towel!" then shocked when he heard "A towel for the dog!"

Anna Barr, of "Big Sister" now considers herself an expert on moving techniques. She moved herself from one city apartment to another, then went to the country the following week to transfer her mother from an old home to a new one. Came home to find her best friend baffled by moving problems, and took charge as a matter of course.

Anna Lee was back in her native England, all set to return to the stage, when John Ford called her to return to Hollywood for "Fort Apache." That was movie-dom's equivalent to an invitation to a command performance. She accepted the plane immediately and on Thursday arrived in Los Angeles in time to line up Monday with the rest of the cast.

After Bob Dyer, Australian comedian, told Art Linkletter's CBS "House Party" audience that his government would pay trans-Pacific fares for ex-GIs and their families who want to settle in Australia, responses within the first week went well into four figures, with every state in the country represented. And the letters are still pouring in.

ODDS AND ENDS — Terrie, the 200-pound mechanical turtle who made such a hit in "Tarzan and the Golden Lion," has been seen in the next spot in "Tarzan and the Leopard of Death."

Simplicity is Keynote When Guests Arrive For Unexpected Visit

"HAVE YOU ANY SUGGESTIONS for serving an entire meal when visiting relatives or friends who are vacationing drop in on you unexpectedly?" asks a friend of mine.

You know, this can create quite a problem because this is the season people are liable to be dropping in. Frequently it is morning before they leave and many women find themselves up against a problem of providing food for several more than originally planned, and still making this attractive and good to eat.

The best solution to this is a well stocked pantry. Have on this a stock of canned meats, as well as fish and boned chicken or turkey. Keep it provided with several vegetables as favorites.

Don't forget that spaghetti and baked beans in cans can be dressed up beautifully when you have to entertain on the spur of the moment.

Not much children is needed to make this dinner last when the meal is combined with bread crumbs and seasoning. Creamed green peas are a delightful accompaniment to the main dish.

IF THE DAY is warm, you might like to prepare some substantial main dish salads to serve as the main course of the meal. Here are two which will appeal to men and women as well as the youngsters:

Hot Frankfurter Salad Bowl (Serves 4)
4 frankfurters
4 cups thinly sliced raw potatoes
2 1/2 tablespoons minced onion
1 1/2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/2 cup cooked lettuce
1/2 cup well-seasoned French dressing
1 1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
Salt and pepper

Slurp frankfurters in boiling water for five minutes. Remove, cut into quarters lengthwise, then pour into a bowl.
1/2 cup well-seasoned French dressing
1 1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
Salt and pepper

Good DESSERT to serve with the above dish is simply made:

Cocoanut Banana Snow
3 bananas cut in small pieces
2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup cream, whipped
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup coconut
Combine banana, sugar and lemon juice. Chill. Force through sieve. Fold into egg white, then mix in lightly the whipped cream and coconut. Top with additional cream, coconut and maraschino cherry if desired.

HERE ARE SOME quick things to do with a can of baked beans when you have unexpected guests walking in:
1. Mix one can of baked beans with one-fourth cup chili sauce, two-fourth cup of brown sugar, and heat in a casserole.
2. Mix one can of baked beans with two tablespoons chili sauce, two-fourth cup of brown sugar, green pepper, minced onion and celery and heat through.
3. Season one can of baked beans with three tablespoons catsup, two tablespoons brown sugar, and then fold in one can of sliced Vienna sausages.

Baked beans are excellent served as an accompaniment with cold meats, cole slaw or grilled sandwiches.

HERE ARE TRICKS to use with canned spaghetti:
1. Mix one can of spaghetti with one cup diced ham and peas.
2. Parboil green peppers and fill with canned spaghetti, top with cheese and bake until peppers are heated.
3. Spoon heated spaghetti with broiled hamburgers wrapped in bacon.

NOW HERE'S a trick to use with canned chicken to make a good supper or luncheon dish for unexpected guests:
Chicken Lett (Serves 6-8)
3 cups cooked or canned chopped chicken
1/2 cup cooked chopped carrots
1 1/4 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons minced celery
2 tablespoons minced celery
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 cup milk
2 eggs
Parsley for garnish

Mix together all ingredients and pack into a well greased, one quart, heat-resistant glass loaf pan. Bake in a moderate (325 degree) oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until firm and slightly browned. Turn chicken loaf onto platter, garnish with parsley and serve with creamed peas.

Handsome Frock
Two pretty fabrics pair off handsomely to fashion this frock for you. Use the pattern on page 8330 for the curved yoke and pockets. Try a crisp eyelet fabric with white or pastel. Be sure to adore it.

Household Hints
Keep powdered sugar in tightly covered glass or tin containers to prevent lumping.
You really should cook potatoes and other root vegetables in their jackets. Retainable vitamins and minerals are near to the skin.

Very bread pudding by garnishing with chopped nuts, marshmallows, shredded coconut, or maraschino cherry sauce.
These will stay moist if you spread the cut edge thickly with butter and keep in the refrigerator.

When only a few drops of lemon juice are needed, puncture fruits with a fork or sharp-pointed knife. Squeeze gently. This prevents wasting the whole lemon.
To remove bits of ground meat easily from the food chopper, follow up the meat with a small amount of stale bread. The bread-crumbs will carry away any meat which remains in the chopper.

To preserve the new appearance of your refrigerator, remember that defrosting alone is not enough. Clean it thoroughly, inside and out, with soap and water every time it is defrosted.
Oranges at room temperature, or slightly warmer, will give more juice than chilled fruits.

Farmer's Field Day

women attended. Included in this number were specialists from State College of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service and members of WHAS radio staff. It would be hard to name the outstanding features of this field day since there were so many of them. Emphasis was placed more especially on the new farm practices and new farm crops such as Kentucky 31 Fescue, Serotia Lespedeza, Ladino Clover, pasture improvement, poultry on the range, farm water systems and terracing.

Logsdon was filed petition requesting the County Court to grant him a permit to operate a Filling Station, Restaurant, sell soft drinks, located at Gum Sulphur on U.S. Highway No. 150. T. J. Nicely, C.C.C.

Frank Coffey, our Agricultural Co-ordinator at WHAS, made a transcription at each farm which was broadcast last Saturday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, at 8:15 a.m. over WHAS. This was a great day for all those who attended. Plans are already under way for a bigger and better day next year.

YOUR VOTE CAN HELP CUT PRICES
What Will You Do, Mrs. Housewife?

Congress has the say as to whether the cost of living shall go higher or lower. It is very important that you elect to the Senate a man like Virgil Chapman, who has fought and will keep on fighting price increases like these:

Table with 3 columns: Item, 1942 price, 1948 price. Includes Chuck Roast, Veal Roast, Wiener, Hamburger, Eggs, Bacon, Pure Lard, 25 lbs. Flour, Milk.

Vote for Chapman for Senator August 7 to Protect Your Pocketbook

THIS IS CHAPMAN'S RECORD

Congressman Chapman, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator, voted for every bill presented to Congress between 1942 and 1947 to keep prices down.
He voted for passage of an Anti-Inflation Bill.
He voted three times for extension of price control.

He voted against the liquidation of subsidies which held down the prices of food and other consumer goods.
He voted against the Republican motion to suspend the rules and pass a joint resolution which removed all price controls except rent.
Virgil Chapman has fought your battle against higher prices. Now he asks your support.

HELP YOUR REFRIGERATOR SERVE YOU BETTER

DEFROST whenever frost reaches thickness—one-quarter inch

Thick frost retards coldmaking, makes your refrigerator run longer, increases operating cost. It should be removed whenever it becomes one-quarter of an inch thick. It is necessary to defrost more often in summer than in winter because of more moisture in the air and greater use of your refrigerator.

A Quick Method of Defrosting

Empty defrosting tray and turn control to "off." Remove ice trays and frozen foods from freezer. (If latter are wrapped in several thicknesses of paper and placed on refrigerator shelf, they won't thaw out in short time it takes to defrost.) Fill proper-sized pans with very hot water and place on shelves of freezer. Use fresh hot water as needed.

When frost has melted wash freezer with weak solution of baking soda and lukewarm water. Clean food compartment, wash thoroughly with baking soda solution and wipe dry. Empty drip pan, replace ice trays and frozen foods and start freezing. The entire operation should take only 20 to 30 minutes.

The Best Time of Day to Defrost

During the hot summer months it's best to defrost in the late evening just before bedtime, when the refrigerator has less work to do. If you defrost during the middle of the day, the refrigerator may run excessively when started up, because of the heat, frequent door opening and warm foods being placed in food compartment.
