all figure there is less squawking about high federal taxes than there would be if the revenue were collected by states, counties and cities themselves.

If states and communities stood on their own legs and paid their own way, politicians and local business men would be robbed of opportunities to wangle funds from the Federal government and come back boasting that they brought home the bacon. Probably worst of all in the effect of the pork barrel, even on the civic and political morale of the people themselves. It makes them feel less responsible to their own states and communities. It makes poorer citizens of them. It does things to their civic self-respect.

BURLEY PRICES SHOW ONLY SLIGHT CHANGE

Average prices for representative grades offered on burley tobacco markets Wednesday were practically unchanged from those before, according to the Federal-State Market News Service.

The only difference of importance in the market, was a slight strengthening in the demand for some medium and low leaf grades. Extreme prices ranged from poorest nondescript to 85¢ for some top quality tops and flyers.

However, the practical top continues to rest at 85¢ on the majority of markets. Reports from several markets indicated that about 15 per cent of the baskets offered were consigned to the Associations to day.

Because of the large proportion of "wet" baskets offered, the progress of sales was delayed at a number of points. The prices offered for some of the baskets were rejected by the growers with intention of offering them for resale.

Baskets graded with a "W" (unsafe keeping order) carry no support price. While a large number of baskets were graded unsafe, there were relatively few of classed as unsound or damaged.

Gross sale for Tuesday, totaled 28,982,105 pounds for a net average of $49.15 per hundred. This purchase was around $4 million more than that for opening day, and the general average only 90¢ less. Sales for the first two days amounted to 56,993,536 pounds an average $49.57 per hundred.

Do your Christmas shopping at home this year. Watch the Signal for the bargains at the local stores. They have the best in all lines of gifts.

Woman's World Select, Make Thoughtful Gifts That Will Be Used, Enjoyed

By Eritta Haley

EVERYONE'S mysteriously busy and happy. Everywhere there is a sign of the Christmas spirit—the early bit of holly on the front door, in that extra branch of pine on the front lawn, in the house ablaze with lights and full of laughter and loud consultations on Christmas presents.

It's a job, this business of gift giving, but none of us would do without it because it's such a joyous work. But pause a minute, take a little before deciding on a gift. Does the chosen present fit into the scheme of life of the receiver? Will it be of use? A thing of enjoyment? Something to be prized or shown off with pride when presents are unwrapped?

These are the things to consider, then to make the choice, and even perhaps to make the gift. An inexpensive apron sewn with loving care may be more prized than a jewel which does not fit the wearer. A thoughtfully chosen lingerie set may be more prized than gloves or slip that don't fit the wearer. A rug doll may be more precious to a child than a fancy doll she must handle carefully to prevent breakage.

It's just amazing how many things can be made at home, and made more quickly than even shopping for them in the Christmas rush. If some spots on your gift list are empty, then check over these ideas I'm giving to see if they won't fit some names on the list. You may be able to make something nicer than you could buy.

Present for Home Are Appreciated

Any woman who has kept house for any length of time knows how cheerful a thoughtful present can make her home. If the present is Button buttons, everyone's wearing buttons this season. In an era of rich fabric and an unusually strong crest toward ensembling a costume of the same material, buttons have come into an even greater importance. Here they are with decoration, they accent lines which is the basis of unstated smartness in your wardrobe planning. Today's buttons take on rich coloring as well as the effect of jewelry in many cases.

News for Knitters

Latest invention for knitters is this spindle bracelet that fits securely on the wrist and enables the knitter to put the ends of the yarn on the spindle. The yarn unwinds quickly and easily from the spindle. The bracelet is made of plastic and has a cap that fits down over the spindle to keep the ball of yarn in place.

Plush Age on Farm

The future living quarters for Bostick and Dobbie may still be a far cry from farmhouse comforts and big-city penthouse plush, but at least some of them will have air conditioning in the interests of more milk and better livestock health. A new barn humidity control system which will reduce excessive barn moisture to levels that will do away with decay, rusting and mold-growing equipment and losses due to spoiled animal feed, bacteria and insanitary conditions, has been put on the market.

The new system will automatically control fans and other devices for reducing excessive animal-produced moisture which in winter often reaches 100 per cent saturation.

Night Hog Feeding Shows Good Results

Experiment May Prove Useful During Summer

What is believed to have been the first experiment in night-feeding of hogs is being conducted by Robert C. Turner, a Henry, Ill., farmer, who produced an average gain of 69.38 pounds each on a herd of 107 Duroc hogs he had on his night-feeding program for 83 days. To encourage his pigs to eat during the cool of the night when they were reluctant to eat during the heat of the summer days, Turner erected lights in his hog lot. He had a time clock control set to switch the lights on for two night feedings from 10 to 11:30 p. m. and from 3:30 to 4 a. m. One pole with a single light and another with two with 150-watt bulbs lighted the hog lot area, while a third pole with two 150-watt bulbs lighted the self-feeders.

Turner fed a ration of ground oats and a pelletized milk product in the self-feeders, hand fed ear corn, and provided mineral, salt and good alfalfa pasture. His 107 pigs, farrowed in late May and early April, weighed in for the test at 7,424 pounds, or an average of 69.38 pounds each. They weighed out at 17,270 pounds, or an average of 161.4 pounds each. meant a total gain of 8,648 pounds of pork, about 82 pounds per pig, or an average daily gain of about 1.46 pounds per pig. The herd consumed 149 kilowatt hours of electricity at a cost of $1,089.91. According to these figures Turner produced his gain at the rate of 275 pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of pork, or a feed cost of about $1.70 per hundred weight.

Christmas Tree Coffee Cake (Makes 1 free cake) 1 cup ready-to-eat bran 1 cup scalded milk 1/2 cup shortening 1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon salt 1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package granular yeast 1 egg well beaten 1/2 cup coffee 1/2 cup sifted flour Combine bran, milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Stir until shortening is melted, then cool to lukewarm. Add coffee in this mixture. Add egg. Stir in flour to make a soft dough. Let stand ten minutes. Knead on lightly floured surface. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Form dough into a long rope or roll about one inch thick; swirl back and forth on a cookie sheet in shape of a pine tree, reserving a small portion of the dough to use for the trunk of the tree. Cut the tree into 1/2 inch wide and 1/2 inch high in bulk. Bake (at a moderate 375-degree) for 15 to 20 minutes. When cool, frost with uncooked icing (made up of powdered sugar and a little milk) and decorate with candies. Tie in the four and six cherries to represent lights on a tree.

HERE IS an excellent fruit bread to have on hand for the holidays because it will keep fresh for weeks. If kept wrapped in waxed paper and placed in a tin. Slice it thin and use for sandwiches. It makes a lovely gift.

FRUIT BREAD (Makes 3 loaves) 12 eggs 8 cups sugar 8 tablespoons baking powder 2 cups chopped seedless raisins 2 cups chopped walnuts 1 cup chopped candied orange peel Beat the eggs and sugar together for 10 minutes on an electric mixer. (Hand beating will take an hour so you'll have to enlist help from the youngsters.) Fold in the flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Add the fruits, mixed and floured with a bit of extra flour. Bake in greased loaf pans in a slow (325-degree) oven for one hour.

This is a nice bread for a gift. It's rich and has a distinctive flavor because of the walnuts. Serve it for sandwiches when entertaining, rather than for a meal.

FACTS OF LIFE

A good many people seem to believe that next year something resembling the old OPA will be brought back from the dead, and prices will immediately drop.

This is one of those illusions that should be scotched as soon as possible. For, regardless of what the law may or may not attempt to do, there are certain economic principles involved which are as inevitable as the movement of the planets.

For of all, no one will produce anything at a loss. We could pass a law, for instance, saying that a dozen eggs shall be sold for twenty-five cents, and a good suit of clothes sold for twenty dollars. But no farmer would produce those eggs and no manufacturer would make the suit—for the simple reason that bankruptcy would follow.

Secondly, we cannot make any merchant handle goods at a loss. Today, for instance, typical retail stores, including both the big chain systems and many independent stores, earn a smaller profit on each dollar of sales than they did under OPA. That profit, generally, runs from one or two per cent to about six cents on volume of trade, depending on the kind of good handled. There certainly is no room in this field to make any dent in the prices paid by the consumer.

Thirdly, price fixing by fiat is one best friend the black market has. It makes for scarcity in the legitimate, law-abiding channels of trade. And it makes for abundance in undercover dealings, where the price charged is all the traffic will bear—right down to the last penny. The racketeer and his customers get the goods—the responsible merchant and the masses of people go without.

Today's prices are the result of record wages, enormous government spending, full employment, high taxes, and other such forces. Competition keeps them as low as possible. Government meddling would be the worst possible way to attack the issue.

COMPETITION DID THE JOB

What has been the most vital factor in linking the oil supply problem? According to one of the principal American experts in the field, the answer is competition.

He said, "There has never been such intense competition by each and every company in the important job of trying to take care of its own customers almost regardless of costs, and thus retain their good will and hold their business for the future. . . . Competition alone explains the tremendous drive producers have put on to find more oil, the building of new refinery units, the opening up of old refineries and operating absolute submarginal units, the extension and enlarging of pipe lines, and the addition of tankers and barges to the water-borne oil-carrying fleet on the scale of the last two years.

"It is competition that has prodded the industry into pouring nearly $5,000,000,000 into new facilities since 1946, spending more for that purpose each year than its total net earnings and seriously enlarging the debt it must manage in an unpredictable future."

Under a system in which competition did not exist or was minimized—as, for instance, a cartel arrangement, or government ownership or control—all this arduous and costly effort would be avoided. No company would be in danger of losing its customers because there would not be another company in a position to attract them. Only in a competitive private enterprise system, where the very existence of any company depends upon its willingness and ability to serve the public, can so remarkable an achievement as that made by the oil industry take place.

tends back, or Southwardly, this width for 112 feet, and then extends back an additional 98 feet with a width of 69 feet, bounded on the east by the Dr. B. F. Robbins property, formerly W. T. The dwelling is modern in every respect, it has nine rooms and bath, hardwood floors, electric water and sewer service and connections, basement under all the house, hot air furnace with stoker, concrete front and side porches, two-car garage with storage space above. The lot has a large lovely flower garden with a lily pool and outside fireplace.

Highway No. 25, and its state maintained. The lot is entirely covered by the brick building and is accessible on three sides, on the South by Chestnut Street, the West by Broadway and on the North, or rear, by an alley. There is a basement under the whole building. This building is heated by a modern hot water furnace, with stoker. The East side of the building is a good business location. The West side has several rooms and a bath and is so constructed that it may be used either as an apartment for others.

METHOD OF SALE: The

Commissioner will first sell the residence. He will then adjourn to the business property, and offer that for sale.

The above two pieces of property are the best that have been offered for sale in the City of Berea for some time, and being sold under a court order will be an absolute sale, so if you are in the market for an outstanding home, or business location, be sure to attend this sale.

TERMS: The above described property will be sold on a credit of six months, the purchasers being required to execute sale bonds with approved surety, payable to the Commissioner, and bearing six percent interest per annum from day of sale until paid, said bonds to constitute and remain a lien on the property sold, until same with interest are paid in full. A blueprint of the property will be on display on the pre-

Kentucky On The March

Compared with the broader and deeper menace of the strength and individuality of the 48 subdivisions of the nation, the recent states' rights flare-up was only an episode which may or may not help the cause of racial tolerance.
