IF PRESIDENT FELL THROUGH FLOOR . . . There'd Be Re-Joisting in the White House . . . THE WORLD WOULD STAND AGHAST

H. I. PHILLIPS
The first president ever to have fallen from one floor to another in his bath; it would have made history.

For a century there might have been signs in the White House: "President Harry S. Truman, 32nd President of the United States, Landed Here"

Had Harry kept his mouth shut, he'd be building decorative and bravely crashed through the floor in his tub, it might have been far from a calamity so far as his followers are concerned.

The accident would have given the people a new appreciation of what a president has to go through. It would have kidded a mood of warm sympathy and understanding.

This is an era of rumor, gossip and suspicion; the story would have spread that the Republicans had undermined the timbers, and this would have increased pity for the President.

A New Jersey court has ruled that a night watchman sleeping on the premises is entitled to overtime if awakes during his sleeping hours.

We just heard of a fellow who was sending rest quiet, was ordered by his doctor to spend six months in Wall street.

19 AM.—The White House morning statement read: "The President is doing well, but still suffering from his own amazement."

Noon.—The President is resting. His face is not so red by 10 degrees as was after the mishap.

P. M.—Mrs. Truman was allowed to visit the President this afternoon. She asked him simply: "It seems mighty funny to me that you and the tub went down two flights, but your bathtub remained on the hook upstairs!"

P. M.—President Truman got a telegram from Thomas E. Dewey, it read: "I join the bathtub users of America in my deepest gratitude that you piloted the tub to a safe landing and I sincerely hope you will soon be bathing again in the happiness and security which you have a right to expect from our country."

P. M.—Henry Wallace was asked to comment on the President's bathtub accident and replied: "It was too far away for me to know the exact facts. All I know is that you hear of nothing like that happening in Russia."

P. M.—The doctors said they would permit the President to be interviewed by radio and television. "I only regret" Mr. Truman said, "that I have but one ceiling to give for my country."

Who Was Enrolled? THE TWELVE Apostles were the training class. Not all Jesus' disciples were equal to it; perhaps some of them actually did not have the time but in fact they were already been set off from the others, not because they were better men, but in order to do more direct service.

It met wherever he was at the time—in a house, or by the roadside, or on a hill-top. There were no set hours, no textbooks, creeds or diplomas.

Jesus kept it going to the very end. Even after the Resurrection, he still taught his Twelve.

What Did They Study? THERE WAS no printed circular. I no bulletin, no prospectus or catalogue. All the "course" amounted to just one thing: learning to do what Jesus was doing. To this day, that is the aim of all Christian training.

Many a person now in some hospital for the insane need not have gone there if he had had the help that Jesus-trained ministers can give.

Ministers today are not taught how to perform miracles like the feeding of the 5,000; but knowing that people's physical well-being has a great deal to do with their spiritual welfare, the alert young Christian minister of today will be keenly interested in Christian social action.

How Did They Learn? THE TWELVE learned by doing. It is the only way you learn anything of a practical nature.

Will It Still Work? THE METHODS Jesus taught are as effective today as they ever were. Not all churches nowadays follow his line; the course you have to see it done, first a farmer to the farm learns to be a farmer by watching his father and helping him, more than from school books in agriculture, useful as they are.

Misadventures in the 20th Century are required to take a great deal more equipment with them to their fields than one pair of shoes can take to it.

Another of Jesus' principles was direct contact. People are not won to Christ chiefly by sermons from pulpits, but by in-the-home contacts.

Ministers know this, missionaries know it; Sunday school teachers ought to know it too. Getting acquainted with your boys and girls at their homes, and being a friend to them there, is what will give your Sunday teaching its greatest force.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

By Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: My basement floor was painted some time ago, but the paint has worn off and I would like to fix up the floor so that the youngsters can use it for dancing. Because of the expense involved I would prefer not to lay asphalt tile. As it is now, there is powder about one-quarter-inch deep over the whole floor and the surface is not smooth, but full of small pin-holes.

ANSWER: You can treat the floor and get a good job, depending on how much labor you are willing to put into it. I would suggest that you look forward to laying asphalt tile as soon as you can manage it, for the tile would be much more comfortable underfoot than concrete, if the floor is to be used for dancing. In the meantime, you can paint the floor with an appropriate paint with a rubber base.

Democrats in Accord

HOUSE G.O.P. leader Joe Martin has been tipped that southern and northern Democrats finally have come to terms on civil rights. The compromise... reached during backstage bargaining between leaders of the two Democratic blocs.

Terms of the all-important civil rights agreement, Martin is reported as follows: Both sides agreed to an anti-lynch bill, anti-poll tax bill, 60-cent-per-hour minimum wage, and modifications of the Taft-Hartley law.

These are crucial and important compromises on the part of conservative southerners, but they have secured notice this will be the last they will go for. They will not, for instance, accept the dynamic-laden fair employment practices bill, which will be quietly side-tracked in the house.

Answers Critics

Former Gov. Sam C. Walton, Washington, sponsored by the National Truman to head the national security resources board, defended his charges at a committee hearing.

WAR TALK: Little Ease-up

There was little ease-up in the talk of possible war. War rumors were still flying, the latest reporting that the Russians had strengthened their garrisons along the Soviet-Norwegian border.

UNIVERSE: No Limits?

Since the first man lifted his head and gazed in puzzled awe at a star-studded sky, mankind has been trying to discover the secrets of the universe.

INFLATION: Has Two Faces?

Observers purportedly on the "inside" of things in Washington report that the inflationary pressure groups, and controlled editorial pages, columnists and commentators were offering differing opinions to his legislative program.

Phone Aid Advances

A house subcommittee has approved a bill to let the government make loans for a vast expansion of telephone service to farm areas.

Slowdown: Sonned By Court

The supreme court has upheld a Wisconsin ban on the slowdown as a union tactic in a dispute with management.

Tillage May Be Used In Controlling Grasshoppers

Farmers can use tillage as an aid in controlling such troublesome insects as grasshoppers, crickets and wheatstem weevil, according to Dr. J. A. Munro, entomologist of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Fewer Jobs: or White Collars

There are many fewer "white collar" job openings than a year ago in most U.S. cities, but high unemployment is still in demand.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Give House That Crisp Look; Put up New Window Curtains

By Ertta Haley

JUST BEFORE the warmer weather makes its appearance, many a woman is apt to take a good look at her windows. The curtains look very dirty and sleazy after a winter's heating. If you're certain they won't stand another laundering session, then get the tape measure and sewing machine. It's time to make new window dressings!

Glass curtains are among the easiest items that can be made at home. Most of them require only long stretches of straight seams. There's no fancy stitching or cutting, no elaborate patterns, and hardly ever any ripping if you follow the simplest rules.

First, full gathers will make the simplest materials exquisite when they're made into curtains. First measure the windows as to height and width. The curtain material should be purchased twice as wide as the window. You'll need at least two inches at both top and bottom for seam allowances, and from two to four inches for a shrinkage tuck, so add at least eight inches to window measurements on the length.

Net, marquisette, seersucker, rayon or nylon are all used for glass curtains. A good quality, firm woven material will give you the most satisfaction and most wear and is well worth the few cents more a yard which it costs. It's very important to buy good material if you live in a community...

Measure windows carefully... that's dirty or smoky, because their curtains will have to withstand frequent washing. Have Edges Straight For Good Appearance. Because curtains are so large, it is best to cut them on the floor where you'll have enough space to spread them out. If you place the curtain material on a rug, the fabric adheres to the rug and you need no pins to hold it.

Use the vacuum cleaner on the rug, and run over it with a damp cloth to catch any dirt, or you will have to wash the rug.

For nice, full curtains, roll the curtain. Whenever possible, tear the curtain fabric, rather than cutting it, as this will give you straighter seams to sew. If the fabric does not tear, draw a thread cut on the thread line. If you cannot pull a thread use a yardstick.

Be Smart! This season silk prints are really back. For the first time, in substantial quality and quantity. You'll see them now as one of the favorites for resort wear; very classic as to lines, extremely brief as to sleeves and pleasing as to pattern. Polka dots will continue their popularity, and prints are innumerable. New and refreshing are the small scale patterns, often so conventionalized or stylized that they are entirely new looking. In the hand of silk makes it possible to give these new classics many original collar interpretations, and most of them are low-cut.

No Puss Problem

You need never again worry about what to do with your puss when stung out. If you have ones of these smart puss holders, marquisette, seersucker, rayon or nylon are all used for glass curtains. A good quality, firm woven material will give you the most satisfaction and most wear and is well worth the few cents more a yard which it costs.

ALLIGATORS

Woman Has Strange Job

TALLHASSEE, Fla.—Blonde Mrs. Celeste Ross, who likes to take alligators alive because they're dead, has a job few men and few women would envy. She is right-hand assistant to Ross Allen, Florida reptile authority. Among other things, the job requires long nights in a small canoe hunting alligators in the north Florida swamps.

Towards sunset they climb into a jeep with a canoe strapped on top. Arriving at a likely pond about midnight, they sweep the water with a flashlight. If they pick up the red gleam which is the unblinking eye of an alligator, they get to work.

Quietly they put their canoe in the water. The first task is to catch a small 'gator, little enough to be held in one hand and shaken. Baby Grunt.

The shaking makes the baby grunt. This attracts the bigger ones. While the baby stunts and grunting for all it is worth, the larger moves silently towards larger game. Mrs. Ross steers by the water with a flashlight. If they pick up the red gleam which is the unblinking eye of an alligator, they get to work.

As the canoe nears an alligator Mr. Allen hangs with a rope now attached to a log post. The loop tightens around the alligator's neck—and there's a brief flurry. Then comes the tug and shakedown. An angry alligator diving under a canoe can turn it over easily. Swimming in the dark in an alligator will frighten an alligator isn't one of the safer methods of earning a living.

Others are shot. Their skins are sold for scientific purposes and their meat eaten. It tastes like a cross between fish and pork. How did Mrs. Ross—in her 30's—become the mother force behind what started on her unusual career? Pretty prosaically. All she did was answer a newspaper advertisement for a "laboratory assistant."

That was five years ago. Her "laboratory work," which began with helping to process snake venoms for medical purposes, since has broadened to include almost everything to do with reptiles.

She said she is not afraid of alligators but that she certainly respects them.

"There I was with my arms full of the babies," she said, "when I saw the mother alligator swimming. I only got out of that with the help of God." She said she is not afraid of alligators but that she certainly respects them.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Observing Rules Is 'Must' When Home Cooks Make Dishes of Cheese, Eggs

IF YOU'RE BUSY juggling menus for Lent or simply trying to add variety to your meals, then there's concrete help in today's column of recipes. Foods, eggs and fish are favorite foods of the right now, and it's a good idea to know how to bring out the best in each food. All these foods, cheese, eggs and fish are economical, which may be an incentive for you to give them more than a passing thought. However, they're also foods which are highly nourishing. All three contain high quality protein which you need for building and repairing tissue.

Aside from other vitamins, cheese furnishes calcium and riboflavin. Eggs supply vitamins A and riboflavin, as well as iron. For these reasons, both foods should be included in the daily diet.

There are many schools of thought on how omelets should be cooked, the main theme is to have them light. A light touch is necessary in putting together an omelet and it should be cooked until just done, then served at once. The omelet is a simple, delicious and nutritious meal.

Flavor trimek is this new way with omelet which is now broiled in the food and is served with a delightful cheese sauce. There's no scrambling—simply mix the cheese, egg and vegetable combinations as well as variety for your menu plan.

Recipes given here use one of the season's most delicious green vegetables and is made even more appealing with cheese sauce. Serve it with a vegetable juice cocktail, hot rolls and relishes and a simple fruit dessert, and you have a meal you'll be proud to serve anyone.

Beaten egg yolks until light. Add the milk and salt, then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a skillet in which butter has been melted. Cook lightly until puffed and lightly browned on the under side. Add the cream and broil for five minutes to dry the top. Spread half of the omelet with hot, chopped broccoli, fold the other half over it.

Melt cheese in top of double boiler. Add the milk, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth. Garnish the omelet with whole heads of hot, cooked broccoli and serve with hot cheese sauce.

No Original Cattle Breeds in U. S. Although the United States is a meat-eating nation and slaughters about 34,507,000 cattle and calves annually, it has produced no original breed of cattle. On the other hand, it has originated two breeds of horses and several breeds of pigs.

Since the beginning of America, pure-bred cattle were imported for breeding purposes. Henry Clay imported the first Herefords for use on his Kentucky farm.

WASHDAY WORK DISAPPEARS LIKE MAGIC!

... with an AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC WASHER

You can wash a load of clothes in an automatic washer as easily as a magician pulls a rabbit out of a hat.

All you do is put in soiled clothes and soap and set the controls. All by itself the washer cleans your clothes thoroughly, rinses them and spins them damp dry. It even drains itself and shuts itself off. You don't have to wet a hand in water—you don't even have to be there—while your clothes are washed SUPER-CLEAN!

Plan to start enjoying this washday magic soon! A few cents per washday is all it costs to operate an automatic electric washer.
