Sulfas Cause Egg Slump—but
The American Veterinary Medical association warns poultrymen against reaching for the sulfa bottle too frequently.
In a recent experiment, the production of 671 birds given sulfa for periods of from three to six days dropped 50 per cent; and, compared with a control group of 450, it took the sulfa-treated hens a month to reach a rate of production equaling that of the untreated hens.
The association points out, however, that this argument is not against the use of sulfa drugs when needed, but rather a note of warning against their overuse.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Reds May Hit Iran

THE REAL TRUTH ABOUT the Soviet cabinet-shakeup is that no British or American observer really knows what is going on inside the Kremlin—and this includes our super-secret military intelligence men as well.

The iron curtain around the Kremlin is almost impenetrable, and the speculation as to what the Molotov-Vishinsky shift means was nothing more than that—mere speculation.

There was a time when the United States was able to get reasonably accurate inside-Kremlin information from Czechoslovakia and the Poles but since the Czech Communist purge and the tightening up in Poland, those sources have dried up.

However, if past precedents are any criterion, the Russians will not take the north Atlantic pact lying down. They are more than likely to move—and may move in the opposite direction.

That is behind feverish American plans to fortify Iran, also behind U. S. Ambassador John W. Winthrop's frantic cables from Tehran. He seems convinced the Russians will move there next.

"S.O.B." User Rebuked
The vice-president of the United States isn't advertising it, but he once participated in a severe tone of censure by the President of the United States.

The vote of censure was taken against Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, Democrat of Texas. Passed unanimously by the House of Representatives, the resolution stated:

"Whereas Thomas L. Blanton . . . inserted in the Congressional Record a letter which was indecent, obscene, vulgar and vile; . . . whereas the said Thomas L. Blanton . . . has offended an integrity of representation and the people represented by him in congress . . . for which he deserves the severest rebuke and drastic censure, therefore be it Resolved that the speaker of the house is hereby directed to summon him to appear before the house and deliver to him its reprimand and censure."

The obscene matter which Blanton inserted in the Congressional Record on Oct. 22, 1921, was a letter written by Millard French, an employee in the government printing office, addressed to George H. Carter, public printer. The letter contained the abbreviation S. O. B.

Narrowly Escaped Ouster
Nevertheless, Blanton escaped being expelled from congress by only a single-vote margin. A total of 167 congressmen voted to expel him.

Among those in congress at the time were such close friends of President Truman as James E. Byrnes, then secretary of state; Tom Connally of Texas, now chairman of the senate foreign relations committee; Speaker Sam Rayburn, and Vice President Barkley.

All the above voted to expunge Blanton's S. O. B. abbreviation from the record but none of the above opposed the resolution of censure, though they did not vote to expel.

The attack against Blanton was led by the late Rep. Frank Mondell of Wyoming and Nicholas Longworth, late speaker of the house, also now deceased. Mondell urging that Blanton be expelled, said: "Anyone uttering in public any words placed in the Congressional Record by the member from Texas should be subject to fine and imprisonment. While we cannot repeat the words, we can form the basis of this charge. It can be said that they are unparliamentary, foul, vile, profane, blasphemous, and obscene."

After the resolution of censure was voted, Blanton was called before the speaker's rostrum, where Speaker Fred Gillett stated: "It has been deemed to censure you because, when you had been allowed by the courtesy of the house to print a speech, you inserted in the record, and obscene matter . . . and that disgusting matter was transmitted as the transcript of proceedings of the house to thousands of homes and libraries throughout the country to be read by men and women, and worst of all, by children. In accordance with the instructions of the house and as its representative, I pronounce upon you its censure."

As Blanton left the floor of the house he collapsed in the corridor, stating his head had been struck by the floor and had to be assisted to his office.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Senate Debate-Curb Row Renewed; Rent Curb Bill Favors 'Home Rule'; Pit Walkout Slims Coal Stockpile

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

FILIBUSTER

Truce Colled

The long, weary talkathon in the U. S. senate was over—but the battle over the proposed curb on senate debate was by no means at an end.

A compromise had been effected with the aid of GOP support, but the administration was committed to oppose the peace formula which had been adopted.

THE FILIBUSTER had continued 15 days over a proposed change in senate rules. There was no end in sight for the "year" vote of 64 of the chamber's 96 members, who led the talkathon, had emerged victorious. The talkfest was staged by lead President Truman's civil rights bill, and it had done just that.

The provisions of the peace formula were:

Unlimited debate in the senate would be permitted only upon a motion to take up a rules change.

Debate on all other matters would be limited by the "year" vote of 64 of the chamber's 96 members.

Majority leader Scott Lucas (D., Ill.) attacked the compromise proposal as a "move to perpetuate the filibuster."

"Of course I'll oppose it," he told newsmen. "It's an effort to take the senate back to the 1920s."

MEANWHILE Truman Democrats were reported launching a new parliamentary move to clamp limits on debate. The change had overturned a ruling by Vice-President Barkley that discussion on one up the proposed rule change could be unlimited if it touched those voting desired.

The vote-over-riding Barkley was 46 to 41. The change would be to allow a bill some way to another ruling and, if they could change as many as three votes, a Barkley ruling could sustain it.

Mr. Truman had proved he could win the presidency without support of the SoCs, but it appeared it would be difficult to support a legislative program without support of southern senators.

JOHN L. LEWIS:
Herald of Spring

To coal miners and coaling-including the senate bill—there is no fallible sign of spring is neither the robin nor the crocus—it is John L. Lewis' annual call for the miners to leave the mine.

LEWIS CALLED, and the miners heard and obeyed. More than 400,000 miners began a week-long strike, ordered by a new slate of miners to miners killed and injured last year.

The miners were caustic. They saw another, more understandable reason for the work stoppage. The nation's huge stockpile of coal, some 100 million tons, was thought to be large in the Lewis eye. Unless this stockpile were materially decreased soon, the president of the United States would be in a less than desirable bargaining position later.

Another reason advanced for the layoff was miners' opposition to the appointment by President Truman of Dr. James Boyd as head of the U. S. Federal Coal Commission. One of his ideas suggested Lewis' move was intended to intimidate a senate committee considering Boyd's appointment.

IF THAT WERE TRUE, the attempt was a dismal failure. On the second day of the walkout, the senate committee again rejected the appointment by a vote of 10 to 1—admittedly to show Lewis that his members would not be intimidated.

But the U. S. couldn't shrug off the Lewis move. Already 11 railroads had ordered 57,425 workers furloughed. Coal is a vital freight item for these roads. The payroll loss to the railroads alone would be at least five million dollars over the two weeks of idleness.

THE MINEERS themselves stood to lose at least 88 million dollars in wages. In two states steps were taken to file unemployment compensation claims "Go take up the slack. But there was a big question whether the states would approve claims, because in many states do not approve claims where loss of employment is caused by the action of the claimant, himself—such as might be ruled to be the case in the voluntary walkout of the miners.

Meanwhile most miners' families were being asked to sign Emergency War Bonds. There would be little money to buy new bonds or dresses.

Bottoms Up!

Attorney Carl J. Stephens of the Iowa farm bureau takes a swipe of hog cholera virus in house of representatives in attempt to show virus was not dangerous to humans. A veterinarian declared Stephens, after drinking the virus, might be a cholera carrier for at least 19 days.

RECENTLY averted to striking first. This conflict between tradition and the hard facts of future war might have to be resolved in due course by our national leaders.

The article lists the following target areas which would be given priority by the Russians:

Augusta, Me.—site of a $38.38 base; Rapid City, S. D.—another $38.38 base; New York City—seven $38.38 bases; Washington, D. C.—one bomb could demolish Pentagon, nation's military nerve center; Saint Louis, Mo.—industrial center.

THE HOUSE had passed a rent control measure, but fixed extension at 18 months, instead of the 24 the administration wanted, and provided for home-rule application, a factor opposed by the administration.

RED TARGETS:

America First?

If Russia decided to launch a war of aggression, where would the Soviet attack be? The Kiplinger magazine has published a thought-provoking article on the subject.

EVERYBODY knows "Russia Strike!" the article draws these conclusions: "THE UNITED STATES would be the first to be attacked, for an enemy could not afford to let the United States build up its troops and representatives in strategic areas, as was done in the last war."

The initial attack would come by air, probably at night, on a whole-scale, long-range raid by bombers and centers within the single night.

This attack most surely would be by atomic bomb. Russia would not attack the continental United States without it. At present the bomb is believed to be a U. S. monopoly, but probably won't stay that way.

ANY FUTURE war probably would be attacked simultaneously by the Russians. First, the air bases from which we might launch retaliatory attacks against the Russians. Second, the places crucial to U. S. production and mobilization.

SEEKS PERFECTION

Wright Plans New Theater

HARTFORD, CONN.—A theatre where every gesture and tone of voice of the actors on stage can be seen or heard by every member of the audience. . . . A theatre that is not a "bad" seat. . . . A theatre which in the opinion of its designers, Frank Lloyd Wright will be so restful that it will be a pleasure just to sit in it.

Make Handy Bench

IN COLONIAL days folks made pieces of furniture as the need arose. If they wanted a bench to seat two, three, four or more persons, they made it to the size needed. The bench illustrated above is a replica of those commonly used in Colonial times.

This size bench is ideally suited for use alongside a fireplace. It can also be used as a coffee table or as an odd piece to add a special touch to a room, etc. By adding a third or even a fourth leg, the bench can be made to any length desired.

A complete dining room set can be made from the plans shown on page 19. Use the Sawback Table Pattern No. 19. The bench is easy to make. It is merely traced upon the wood and the pieces are cut. The bench exactly as it is merely traced upon the wood and the pieces are cut. The bench exactly as it is merely traced upon the wood and the pieces are cut.

New England Flag
As early as 1737, the recognized flag of the New England colonies had a blue field with a white union quartered by a red cross. Such a flag, with a pine tree design added thereto, was carried at the Battle of Bunker Hill.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Give Yourself Spring Tonic With Easily-Done Hair Style

By Etta Haley

YOU CANNOT ALWAYS afford to be the new wardrobe you want, but you can always be certain your hair is just right; and, for most women, this inspires just the confidence they need to meet the new season or any situation.

We're going through a fortunate period with hair styles right now. Those of us who are old enough will appreciate the fact that we don't have to impose on ourselves below-the-waist length hair to be in fashion.

Tea-agers as well as oldersters can look attractive in a short hair style. Many of those who feel they've passed their youth have discovered the short style lifts in years off their face.

Unless you have been told, with absolute truth, that you have a "way with hair," it's best to seek help in cutting your locks. A friend with the knack may be able to do for you or you may have to seek professional attention.

It's particularly important for your own sake to have an attractive cutting job, especially if you are not sold on the idea of having to go to a hairdresser.

Work the first application of shampoo and water in the hair, getting it all through the hair. This usually will be dirty. Now rinse this off with clear water.

The first rinsing may be, and should be, warm; the last rinse can be cool or even cold.

Home Permanent Helps Solve Many Problems
With the short hair styles which are now being worn, the permanent answers many problems. To keep the hair short and in fashion requires frequent hair cutting because hair grows amazingly fast.

Apply the shampoo a second time using massage through the hair thoroughly.

When It's Dirty
There used to be some idea that hair should not be shampooed more than once a month, or at least no more often than once every two or three weeks.

Be Smart!

Easy Hair-Do

A brief combing and a wash of the hair will bring your hair perfectly groomed for all occasions if you have the short casual hair cut and an easily given home permanent.

Control over tangles has been carefully planned to eliminate creeping drafts. Sliding doors insure a tight closure and the generous use of angle roots actually minimizes drafts usually encountered with conventional windings.

As a barn material, glass block offers many advantages. Of hollow construction with a partial vacuum inside, the block has a high insulation factor which can help maintain heat of the barn in winter.

Glass Blocks Offer Builder Advantages

This practical feature barn, shown below, not only offers good ventilation, freedom from drafts, and abundant daylight, but is designed to cut maintenance costs as well.

Developed principally for dairy stock, it has a labor-saving floor arrangement with a feed room and also convenient tie feeding stalls. Doors at either end provide ventilation through the litter alley to remove odors.

Howya-Doon Tells How Growups Should Behave

Our character would be an adult puppet called "Howya-Doon," and would operate along the same pattern as follows: SMITH—Well here's your friend Howya-Doon, the friend of all growups.

SMITH—And what else did you do that all good growups should do? HOWYA-DOON—I put my hotwater bottle and my liver pads away neatly after I got up and I made sure all the bottles in the medicine cabinet were in order.

SMITH—That's fine. And now we're going to introduce our new character Dub-a-Dub.

SMITH—He's the wonderful adult who never grunts, seems to enjoy life and ALWAYS BEHAVES SO HIS CHILDREN CAN BE PROUD OF HIM!

SMITH—Right. So what is the proper way for growups to behave at meals?

SMITH—Right. So what is the proper way for growups to behave at meals?

SMITH—If by chance you get something on your plate that tastes swell and that isn't fattening, is it okay to eat it all?

SMITH—So do I, Howya. And now it's time to show the movies. We've got some wonderful ones that are right down the alley for growups. They are from the American Medical association and show what happens to adults who enjoy eating and lead happy lives. But first, did you brush your teeth this morning?

Ozzie and Harriet

Switch to CBS

By INEZ GERHARD

AFTER PRACTICING fancy teak-sacking figures like mad at a local rink, Harriet Nelson talked the reluctant Ozzie into taking the family to Lake Arrowhead for winter sports, so that she could sniff off a bit.

He looked again at Dr. Price's stamped handwriting. "Oh, I'll deliver it, Mrs. Tompkins. I'm sorry to learn Mr. Tompkins isn't well."

"I told him it's just his bad disposition coming out," I told Dr. Price. I certainly hated to drag him out in weather like this. It is for a stomach ache. Doctor says he's all right in a day or two."

Dr. Price looked at the handkerchief from the pocket of his grey alpaca coat and wiped his forehead. The moment he used to dream of years ago, was here at last. This would cost Dr. Price his practice.

The play was, Dr. Price would never know he could have saved himself, if he hadn't made it so clear that a man who mixed prescriptions wasn't supposed to know about diagnosis. Dr. Price would never know what he'd done to himself when he told Mrs. White she might as well give the twins a chocolate soda. Diggle's Own Whooping Cough Mixture. Because of Dr. Price's new ways of doing things, no one thought Diggle's Ready Rheumatism Believer now. Shots, it was, the doctor was giving for everything. Not prescriptions.

Manuscripter, they called it. He wet his lips. Well, no one could expect Mr. Diggle to interfere with Dr. Price's prescriptions again. Not a second time.

Though it was so many years ago, he could feel the flush of anger that flooded his face remembering the day he'd called Dr. Price up, and suggested that maybe the heart medicine he ordered for Mrs. Venables was too strong.

"I know what I'm doing. Just mind your own business, Diggles, and I can mind mine."

He looked again at the prescription. There was no mistaking the symbol and he'd fill it as it stood. He reached for the bottle and removed the cork. Carefully, he measured out the prescribed dose.

Mr. Diggle's straightened suddenly, staring at the partly filled mortar. A feeling of nausea swept through him as he snatched it up and flung the contents into the market. He handed, replacing the bottle on the shelf, trembled.

John Wayne may find himself wishing he were two people. He has signed to do one picture annually for Warner Bros., has a contract to make three for RKO, three for Republic and an unspecified number for his own independent company.

MR. DIGGLES ON DUTY

Outside, the wind howled and flakes of ice made a cold noise beating the window pane. Slowly, he walked toward the telephone. After all, just as many people were by Dr. Price as tried Diggle's.

As he walked, listening to Dr. Price's telephone bell ringing, the shop door opened. Mr. Diggle put down the receiver and went to the front. Dr. Price was on the mat, stamping the snow from his feet.

"Diggles, will you let me see the prescriptions Mrs. Tompkins just brought in?"

"I was just trying to call you about it, Dr. Price. I felt there was some little inaccuracy."

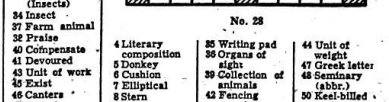

Dr. Price nodded. "Something told me. But I wasn't really worried. I knew you'd catch a mistake if there was one. It's a great comfort to me to know that a substantial man like you is checking up on me, Diggles."

"I have to do what I can. A man has to do his duty." He smiled and stood up.

"That's right, doctor. I guess duty became a habit if you do it long enough." The wind screamed outside the door and went out. It was a bleak, bitter day, but in Mr. Diggle's heart it was suddenly summer.

Trail of The Cross

Lesson for April 3, 1949

THE TURNING-POINT in Jesus' career was dramatic. But the few friends who were present did not then realize what it meant. On a vacation journey, Jesus put to his most intimate friends this question: "Who do men say that I am?"

It was sensational so much so that Jesus did not want the publicity that would come to him if that name "Christ" were freely circulated. For the word "Christ" meant nothing less than "King." To the Romans it would sound like treason; but to the Jews it would sound like Judgment Day.

When Peter said, "You are the Christ," he was implying as "You are immortal. You are the coming conqueror of the world. You are not in the same class with any other man. You are the coming conqueror of the world as other men have ever done."

ON ALL THAT glowing devotion Jesus' next announcement fell like icy rain. In the ears of those of his disciples who heard the bell of death. Never before had Jesus told them anything like this, and they have found it hard to believe.

For he had not a word about a throne, nothing about success, nothing about mastering the world, nothing about conquering the world. He had only the word "suffer" and "be rejected."

For Jesus had announced what to them seemed impossible, absurd: He, the Christ, would be killed! Small wonder that Peter broke out in a cold sweat. No, No! But Jesus would not compromise. He even called Peter "Satan."

The Christian church agrees with Jesus, not with Peter. We realize today, as Peter himself did afterwards, what the Cross of Christ means.

Buddha, founder of a very different religion, died in old age of overeating. Can you imagine Jesus doing that? Suppose Jesus had taken Peter's advice and made arrangements to retire comfortably where he would never see a cross? Then we never should have heard of him. He would not have been worth hearing from.

One Cross is Not Enough WEES, WE KNOW now that the Cross of Christ is important. But we are a good deal like Peter, after all. For we do not listen to what we do not like to hear. And the next words of Jesus, on that historic occasion, must have sounded then as they do now, most chilling of all.

"Whoever would come after me, let him take his own cross and follow me." In Jesus' time no one was ever seen carrying a cross who was not already under sentence of death and on his way to be executed.

Translated into modern terms, what Jesus said would sound as horrible as this: Any man who wishes to follow me must take his seat on the electric chair... must take his place in the lethal chamber... must put his neck in a noose... and follow me.

One cross is not enough. There must be other crosses. My road is a death-march. I want for my followers only those who are willing to take the same trail.

Trail of the Cross SUCH WORDS sounded harsh then; they do still. But in the light of the centuries, we can see what Jesus meant, better than that little band of frightened men around Jesus who did not want to hear the words "suffer... die." Jesus was not advocating pain for pain's sake.

Why did Jesus set his own face toward the cross? The Christian answer is, He did it for others. Now what is wrong with the world today? It isn't that we don't wish to help neighbors well; but the trouble is, we don't want to be bothered, our good-will is too tender to stand any strain, we will do anything for other people provided it doesn't hurt.

But the world can be saved only as men and women initiate and multiply the spirit of the crucified Christ.

HOW IT STARTED "CURFEW"—In the Middle Ages the peasants of France were required to cover or extinguish their fires at a fixed hour in the evening. A bell was rung to notify them of the time to obey the command "couvre feu"—cover the fire. The French called the bell and the time of its ringing "couvre-fer" or "curfew"...
