

The Gopher State "The Star of the North" is the motto of Minnesota. The meadow flower is the state flower, while the unofficial bird is the American goldfinch.

PRESENT DAY ECONOMY UNDERMINES... Clink of Dime Is Death Knell of Parting Era ... THE PROVERBIAL NICKEL PHONE CALL

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE NICKEL'S LAST STAND AMERICAN TELEPHONE companies are experimenting with 10-cent pay stations, which abolish the proverbial 5-cent call. Even talk is to be more expensive than ever.

dime-a-call machines. We presume the tests have two purposes: (1) to see how the apparatus works; (2) to see how loudly the user squeaks. ... The telephone business "ain't" what it used to be and the companies are up against terrific costs. For all we know the nickel phone call is as economically unsound as the nickel has fare.

"I want it better ventilated too," he continued. "In a nickel phone booth you are practically in solitary confinement. If I pay a dime I may even demand a soft chair and maybe television."

"A $15,000 dream house raffled off on Sixth Avenue, New York, had to be sold by the owner for $1,000 because of the costs of moving and reassembling." ... "I have seen the 5-cent piece replaced in most every field. There is something about dissociating it from a phone booth that fills many a heart with anguish."

Preparation GRACE NOLL CROWELL

WHAT shall I take into the coming year? And what shall I leave behind? I asked my heart, And quick came the answer: "Lay all doubt and fear And anxious care aside before you start. Take but life's stark necessities along: The Word of God that you may be kept fit, The staff of faith, the lamp of hope, a song Of high and dauntless courage; fill your kit With laughter, and take happiness to wear, 'Till cloak you on the bleakest, coldest day; And take an apple and a loaf to share With one who may be hungry on the way. Fill your canteen from a wayside well, You may grow thirsty," said my cautious heart. And Hark, across the world a midnight bell Peels out a summons—it is time to start.

There has always been something about the clink of a nickel in a phone booth that made sweet music, and of late it has caused much trouble and the soothing proof that there was still something to America not just the reach of a man in the lower brackets. ... Why movie review readers go mad: "The second Jolson film is not as successful as his heart warbling as its predecessor." ... "Of course the plot of the new Jolson movie is full with sentiment. The songs drip with nostalgia." —Jim O'Connor.

YE GOTHAM BUGLE & BANNER ... A British parliament member says John Bull will not be kicked around by unlettered pop belittled magistrates from the U.S. ... "The driver who would kill me is the driver who would kill you."

We can see the phone companies' point. There is not the money in conversation that there used to be. It costs twice as much to produce a "number please" as it did 10 years ago. ... Nevertheless we look for a hot time at hearings before the public service commission. Elmer Twichell is among those who will be present with some nifty blarney. "I may not fight the abolition of the nickel call if the figures show it necessary. But I will demand that a 10-cent phone booth be made twice as roomy as a nickel one."

From Man about Town To Man of God ... ISAAH was a young man about town, in the small but wealthy city of Jerusalem, about 700 years before Christ. He was a personal friend of all the important people, a man of good education, with wide range of interest, independent means, eloquent, polished and the sort of man who makes a good career diplomat.

He tells in some detail the story of how he came to be a prophet. The story is in Isaiah 6. Perhaps if we had been there with a camera and a wire recorder, we might have been able to photograph the seraphim and take down their conversation as Isaiah saw and heard them.

What we do know is that the story now he came to be a prophet. The story is in Isaiah 6. Perhaps if we had been there with a camera and a wire recorder, we might have been able to photograph the seraphim and take down their conversation as Isaiah saw and heard them. ... THE Flame of God ... FIRST there was the overwhelming sense of God's reality and power and holy majesty. No one else had perceived a call who does not take action.

A God "far off," a God who is only a problem, an idea, a hypothesis, never called any man. He alone can make himself real to man; and to him with a real sense of a living God is going to hear his call.

Next came Isaiah's realization of his own "unfitness and sin. A man who feels equal to a great task is probably not equal to it. ... Then comes the burning call from the altar; Isaiah feels that his guilt is gone. No one can fully do God's will with a burdened heart. Isaiah was not sinless at one time, but he had been purified to turn from all known sin; it is possible to devote one's loyalty to God, and this Isaiah did.

It was only then that he heard the call: "When shall I send? In modern and less picturesque language, Isaiah was conscious of a need he had not felt before—that is, of God's need, of his people's need. What those needs were will come out in later studies. The point here, young Isaiah, is that his heritage had lived only for himself now saw the need of the city and the people among whom he lived.

Now he has responded, and he says: "God: Use me. His voice is his knowledge, his eloquence, which he had been using for years before he was called for Isaiah) he was now to use for God and man. So there is a call: a sense of God's near and commanding aid; his responsiveness; forgiveness; a sense of need; willingness to devote all one's gifts to fit that need."

The Fiction FLASH OF BRILLIANCE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

CONSIDERING the fact that the necklace was valued at $50,000, and was my confidence, the Holbrook should have been upset. The fact that she wasn't astonished even her husband, for her husband is a man of an emotional, excitable p.o. ... "You what?" "The jewels that were stolen—my limitations. I wouldn't dream of wearing the original without having them insured."

ROBERT Q. LEWIS day evenings. Godfrey's popularity made him a difficult man to fill in for, and Lewis was bound to be a target for a lot of criticism, not because he wasn't Arthur. Now they're saying that there couldn't have been a better man for the job. Lewis did his best, of course, but he wasn't worried; he's done too many outstanding shows, of his own for that.

Sonny Tufts carried a container like a knitting bag to the "Easy Living" set at RKO every day; he held a two-quart thermos of half-milk, half-cream and another filled with soup and sweetbread mixture. It was his daily lunch. ... The father-son team of Walter and John Huston which won three Academy awards last year, will be reunited in Horizon Pictures' next for Columbia. "Reminiscence of a Cowboy" will co-star Walter Huston and Montgomery Clift. John Huston will direct, and, following tradition, will be seen in a small part. It should be good; everything John Huston does succeeds.

The cigarette company now sponsoring "Ladies Be Seated" and "One Man's Opinion" with Walter Kieran, has shifted them from Mutual to ABC; they replace "Against the Storm," daytime serial, and "Queen for a Day." ... Cathy Lewis, "Jane" of "My Friend Irma" is back again after a long illness. Marie Wilson "Irma" told me "sometimes I get sort of annoyed at Cathy, but I could forgive her anything, she's such a wonderful actress!"

"No. The real ones, Captain Talbert, I'm going to take you into my confidence. The story I told about the necklace being imitation was false. I never own false jewelry and I never shall. I merely told that story so that the thief would think his lot valentless." ... CAPTAIN TALBERT'S face lit up. "And then you spoke about apprehending the criminal by searching for the imitations so that the thief would return?" "Exactly. The imitations weren't worth having and in order to dispel the possibility of having them found in his possession he decided to return them. In doing so he unintentionally returned the original—and spared me the unpleasantness of facing my husband—alone."

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

By Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Our wallpaper is coming loose above our radiator. We papered three years ago this spring. We took all the old paper off and then gave the walls a good coat of glue sizing. Could you suggest something we could do that will not loosen the paper? (We have vapor heat.)

ANSWER: As you say the paper loosened above the radiator, but evidently did not loosen anywhere else. I make the guess that the heat was in the radiator at the time of papering, and the heat dried out the glue size too quickly so that the paper did not make a good bond. If you are planning to repaper, make sure that the radiator is cold at the time you paper that part of the room.

QUESTION: Our dining-room furniture has white spots on the legs, probably caused by striking the legs with shoes. Is there some way I can touch them up? I do not want to refinish the entire piece.

ANSWER: I suppose the pieces are made of a white wood, such as maple, and the varnish has been scuffed off. I believe you will find more satisfactory to do a good job rather than touch up the pieces with preparations for hiding the damage. However, perhaps you would rather do it with a pen if so, ask your hardware dealer for one or two of the new products made for concealing scratches and other blemishes on furniture or ask at a furniture store.

QUESTION: There is a corner crack in our bedroom wall and the ceiling has cracks. We have used a preparation for fixing cracks, but after a severe winter the cracks show up again. Is there any other material besides plaster that would be pretty and not crack down at the corners? Our room is finished in calcimine. Would that have to be removed if covered with other material?

ANSWER: A corner crack needs a somewhat different treatment from a crack in the straight wall. The plaster should be removed down to the lath on each side of the corner for a distance of 4 to 6 inches. Then a metal corner lath is nailed in place and that part of the wall then is replastered. If you cannot get corner lath, you may be able to get metal lath in six 6 to 12 inches wide. Bend the strips at right angles to fit the corner and fasten in place. It would be advisable to have a plasterer do the job for you. The ceiling crack can be "undercut" to make it wider at the lath than at the surface. The plaster crumbs should be cleaned out and a t and a groove wet with water. It then can be filled with patching plaster almost to the top and allowed to dry. It will shrink a trifle in drying. It then should be filled to the surface and smoothed level with the surrounding plaster surface.

Hits Signs of Wealth

In every Bantu language there is a word to describe the action of a man who, owning a considerable herd of cattle, plants them out among his poorer relatives and neighbors so that he will not appear too prosperous. Everybody knows that they are his, and just how many he has, but he must avoid any appearance of ostentation. Similarly, it is not considered advisable to own too good a house or lands that you will cultivated. Fear of exciting the envy of the chief is one of the motives that govern this attitude of mind, which always has been a powerful brake to the progress of Bantu agriculture in South Africa.

SAY YES FOR YOU and YOURS It's you, fellow Kentuckian—it's all of us everyday citizens—who suffer because the state constitution limits public salaries to $5,000 a year. Because of that limit we can't open our five new tuberculosis hospitals. Doctors with the necessary training and experience can't be had for $5,000. And so Kentuckians will die and others will sicken, and you and yours and all your kinsfolk and friends will have to run the risk of infection. Because of the limit, our hospitals for people ill in mind are kept to a caretaker basis. The help that would make useful citizens out of thousands now in custody can't be hired at the 1891 level of pay. Because of the limit, our whole school system suffers. Who wants to enter a state profession in which the highest officer can earn only $5,000? Because of the limit, our colleges and our university suffer, too. They lose men and women to out-of-state institutions. They lose men and women to industry. They feel insecure. Because of the limit the farmer is poorer. Agricultural specialists, research men, conductors of experiments—these aren't attracted to a state that offers them no future. If attracted, they don't stay. The men we do have remain in their positions only out of great devotion to their institutions and their state. Because of the limit we can't develop and operate our park and recreational system so as to give healthful enjoyment to our own people or so as to attract tourists and get the tourists' dollars. Because of the limit our highway program is faltering and expensive. We have to engage on a part-time or job basis—at far more than a $5,000 annual rate—the experts without whose help we just can't proceed. Because of the limit every service of state itself is limited. Every one is made needlessly expensive in terms of performance. What we're saying is: Because of the limit, you suffer. You pay. But you don't get full service for your tax dollar. You get a partial, unsatisfactory, expensive, pinch-penny service. And it's your fault, and ours, and every citizen's. It's our fault because we haven't seen earlier that we'd have to remove the constitutional barrier to progress. At the election November 8 you'll have an opportunity to make a better Kentucky—a better Kentucky for you and yours—by voting for Constitutional Amendment No. 2. It will make possible an adjustment of official salaries. And it will help mightily to cure our ills. If you want to know more about the working effects of the salary limit, fill out the coupon below. We'll send you, without charge, a booklet that tells the full story. It's honest, it's factual, it's informative.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Wise Choice and Use of Patterns Helps You to Look Fashion-Right

By Erta Haley

IF YOU'RE hard to fit, if you want to be fashionably dressed and if you want to save money on clothes, the best thing to do is to make friends with paper patterns.

Dotted Velvetene

Polka dots are importantly featured for fall by Carolyn Schreyer in this youthful fashion. She selects black polka dots on mustard colored velvetene for the pattern.

You'll have to study not only the patterns themselves, but also fashion trends and your own personality and figure proportions. To do the best job, select a pattern whose style will do something for you, just as certain dresses will bring out or mask figures.

Dresses for teenagers may appeal to many of the older women. However, the style is fascinating since you are the subject, and the grade you make is a ticket to the group who knows how to dress.

Let's suppose that you have studied to the point where you can choose the proper style. The next important error not to make is the selection of the improper fabric for the pattern.

Before selecting a pattern stop to consider whether the garment has a place in your wardrobe. Don't consider just the pattern, but how it will be used, as well as how it fits your own individual needs.

Fancy houses may be beautiful things, but if you're going to wear them in a business office, wouldn't it be more fitting to choose something tailored?

If you're choosing dresses for wear around the house, select something that is comfortable as well as pretty, in addition to something you won't have to be forever laundering, ironing and mending.

Many women will try a pattern and give up in discouragement because they find it so uncomfortable. The pattern may look deceptively simple but carries a lot of fine detailing that the inexperienced just simply can't cope with.

Let's suppose that you have studied to the point where you can choose the proper style. The next important error not to make is the selection of the improper fabric for the pattern.

Maybe you have a soft, flowered print which you have in mind to use for a dress. If you've chosen a tailored type of pattern, however, that soft material won't form the nice, sharp edges which the other dress will need to be successful.

Softly draped dresses cannot be made from stiff materials that simply will not drape and which are meant for the tailored type of clothes.

With the fabric picture so much improved over the past several years, there should be little difficulty in selecting or obtaining the one you need and want, as well as all the colors you could desire.

With individual measurements, the main thing is to put suitable patterns in the right fabric together. These Patterns To Fit Needs

You wouldn't think of going into a store and buying an evening gown or fancy dress for which you had no use, simply because it looked so nice, would you? A lot of women, when turned loose with

Be Smart! Feathers, but no fuss, just smart, smooth-flowing simplicity instead! These are the earmarks of the new fashion picture for Fall. Selected here is the very personification of this spirit from a current collection.

SPOOK SWEEPERS

Ghost Tales Haunt House

WASHINGTON, D. C. — James Cypress, 64-year-old custodian of the most famous haunted house in the land, should lay claim to the title of "one of the bravest men in the world."

James is old, now, and tired. He's lived in the house for more than a quarter-century. "Golly," he said, "I don't hear any creaking floor or strange noises. Of course, that is what they talk about. There is the woman who fell over a black cat and was killed when she tumbled over the circular stairwell."

Saw Black Cats James once saw a couple of black cats around the place and didn't mind it too much. He also recalled that once when his wife was in the house, she called a doctor the night before she died. The doctor saw some strange shadows.

Must not have been much to it, a sign "George Washington Slept Here," which the Cypresses living quarters, most of the building contains offices now.

It's a red brick building and isn't called haunted but is located in the library of congress, which is supposed to know everything, doesn't know how the house got its name of congress.

The first person who ever lived there was Col. John Taylor, a James plantation owner and friend of George Washington. It is one building in the world which could, if it wishes, honestly put out a sign "George Washington Slept Here," but doesn't.

Touch of Tragedy There was a touch of tragedy from the first. A daughter of the colonel fell in love with a Britisher, cluffed him, and he committed suicide in the house.

After the treaty which ended the War of 1812 was signed, Washington society kicked up a fancy heel in the old building until 1821.

There were some unexplained deaths, there was an underground passage between the octagon house and the White House. That now is plugged up.

During the Civil War, the building was confiscated by the government and turned into a hospital for wounded Yankee soldiers. At another time, it served as a Catholic school for girls.

Louisville Library Lends Copies of Famed Paintings LOUISVILLE, Ky. Reproductions of 60 famous paintings are being loaned to Louisville families by the free public library.

The reproductions, including works of Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso and Rousseau, were selected by a committee headed by Dr. J. Stuart Bier of the University of Louisville art department.

Joseph A. Graham, librarian, said that as far as he knows the Louisville library will be the first to lend such paintings. Copies have been sent such pictures to the U.S. Post.

"The library," he said, "wishes to stimulate the interest in these paintings among its patrons." He added, "Also the library patrons will have an opportunity to become acquainted with better paintings and will be able to try out different ones in their homes before making purchases."

Luncheon Ideas DO YOU FEEL that your head is bringing a full of question marks instead of good ideas when it comes time to think of something for luncheon?

Special Sunday night supper. With a well rounded luncheon dish, you need only a big vegetable or fruit salad, chilled to icy crispness, to make the main course complete.

Keep your pantry shelves well supplied with staples, as well as such items as dried beef, deviled ham, hoodles, evaporated milk, rice and condensed soups so that you can whip together these recipes without trips to the store.

1 cup dried lima beans 2 cups water 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion 1 teaspoon sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon powdered sage or poultry seasoning 1/2 pound small pork sausages 1/2 cup evaporated milk 1/2 cup shredded green pepper Wash beans; soak for several hours or overnight in four cups water. Drain; cook beans in the two cups of water until tender.

1 cup evaporated milk 1/2 cup shredded ham 1 egg, slightly beaten 1 cup grated Swiss cheese 1/4 teaspoon onion juice Dash of tabasco sauce 1/4 teaspoon onion powder 6 tablespoons deviled ham 2 tablespoons evaporated milk 4 slices bread 4 slices tomato Heat the 1/2 cup evaporated milk in top part of double boiler. Mix flour with water. Stir into milk and cook until thickened, about five minutes. Add the beaten egg, cheese and seasonings and continue cooking until cheese is melted and mixture is thick and creamy. Set aside to cool. Blend ham with two tablespoons of evaporated milk, spread the slices of bread with the mixture, then top each with a slice of tomato. Blend baking powder into cooled cheese mixture.

wanted them to be pallbearers. "They're my creditors," the sick man explained. "They've been carrying me most of my life so they might as well finish the job."

I "went down to the tailor yesterday" explained her husband, "and told him I didn't want any suits on my new clothes. He told me he couldn't give me any clothes on the cuff."

No one knew exactly how Rosenkrantz's business was going and as he never paid back any of the money he had borrowed from O'Flaherty the latter became rather anxious. He went to Rosenkrantz's store one afternoon and demanded a showdown.

Appropriate "Oh, yes, there's one more thing," said the sick man to his lawyer who was writing out the will. "I want these men to be my pallbearers."

He wanted a preferred creditor. O'Flaherty went home partially satisfied but after thinking the matter over hurried back to the store and demanded to know what a preferred creditor was.
