County Had 3 Polio Victims During Past 7 Month Period

The Kentucky Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent thirty-five times as much March of Dimes funds for patient care in Rockcastle County during the last seven months of 1949 than during the entire preceding year.

Mrs. Inez K. Ligon, Louisville Secretary of the Kentucky Chapter said $685.33 was spent during the period from June 1 through December 31, 1949 compared with $18.92 spent during the period from June 1, 1948 through May 31, 1949.

During the seven-month period of last year 3 persons in Rockcastle County were stricken with the disease. This is nine less than the twelve stricken in the county during the twenty-three years from 1925 through 1948.

Kentucky is in desperate need of its 1950 March of Dimes quota of $500,000. Mrs. Ligon said, "and Rockcastle county's quota of $750 is an important part of the State quota. After all, the State quota is only the sum-total of the quotas assigned the 120 counties." Last year Rockcastle County raised $382.01. Mrs. Ed Deatherage, county agent here, said yesterday that the response so far has been fair but that the goal is far ahead.

"All our money is gone," she said "fighting the disease in 1949 and unless the people of Kentucky open their hearts and their pocketbooks patient care will stop."

Mrs. Ligon said adults afflicted with polio can look only to the Kentucky Chapter for financial aid since last February State aid from going to persons over 21 years old. There were more adults with the disease in 1949 than in any other year.

The 1950 March of Dimes will continue through January 31.

Safe Crackers Get Cash At Stanford

The Murphy Motor Co., of Stanford, was robbed of almost a thousand dollars sometime Thursday night when their safe was blown by what police think was a gang of professional yeggs.

State police from Danville were called in after the robbery was discovered by night policeman Holton Reed about 5 o'clock Friday morning. They said the men used an ax to knock off the combination and then poured nitroglycerin into the opening.

Although the safe was near the front of the office and was lighted by bright light, the job was so smoothly done that hardly anything near it was disturbed by the explosion. A safe was discovered by police inches away was not broken by the explosion and several articles resting on top of the safe were undisturbed.

No finger prints were found and no clues were left, the officers said.

County Agent's Notes

Farm Inventory Time
It's time for farmers to take inventory and start the year with "The Know Plan." Know what your farm and its value are at the beginning of the year. Taking an inventory will also reveal what is needed on the farm to make it more profitable. In other words it's good business for a farmer to check once a year all his available equipment, machinery, live stock, buildings, feeds, seeds, fertilizer and his investment. This gives an idea of what his year is compared with what it is at the close of the year.

Any farmer, in Rockcastle, who wants the most up-to-date Farm Record, including news, from the State College of Agriculture, can get one by calling at the County Agents office at Mt. Vernon. The supply has been fast, at the office, since first announcement was made about one. Put in your order at once if you don't want to miss it.

A few more bulletins, on Farmers Income Tax, are left in the County Agent's office. This little bulletin explains how to fill out income tax but they are available as long as the supply is in the office.

Let's not forget the Farm and Home Convention at Lexington, Jan. 31 to Feb. 3. This convention is for the farm men and women of Kentucky. Much has been done by the College of Agriculture to make this year's convention one of the best. It's too important and too closely related to the Farm and Home life to miss. Make plans to

New York Farmers Hit 'The Jackpot' New Device Determines 'Good Soil Management'

What a New York farmer gets these days when he "hits the jackpot" might not be dimes or quarters, but it may be increased crop yields in the years ahead. Or, as the saying goes in Illinois, Cornell's two versatile soil conservationists have "done it again." Hugh Wilson and Harry Kerr of the state extension staff have come up with another "gadget" to demonstrate the value of good soil management.

"That's where the jackpot comes in," says Wilson, who has been dubbed the "one-armed bandit" because it looks like a cross between a slot-machine and a roulette wheel. But it has proved an effective teaching device to let farmers know if their crop practices are robbing the soil.

The "bandit" is in two parts, one a chart which determines soil use capability (LUC) and the other, an analyzer consisting of four concentric circles. It can set up a possible 758 combinations and a flashing green, yellow or red light indicates whether or not favorable soil balance is being maintained. But that's the last step. First, the land use capability must be established. It is based on these physical characteristics of the land: slope, length of slope, internal drainage, texture, erosion and humus. Values determined mathematically from these characteristics are assigned to slides of varying sizes which fit into the LUC chart. The color and number which the six slides reach show the land use capability for the field.

Cows Infested With Lice Give Pools Milk Output

Cows with lice make lousy performance records, says T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at Ohio state university. Since lice are often abundant on cattle during the winter and spring when the hair is long, he recommends treating the animals for lice as soon as possible. Either rotenone or DDT is an effective treatment. If rotenone is used, two treatments 10 days apart are necessary. Only one thorough treatment with DDT is required.

Parks states that cattle with lice will not make satisfactory gains in weight, or if being milked, will maintain a steady milk flow. Symptoms of lice include rough and coarse hair, and, sometimes, large, hairless patches on the neck and back caused by the animal rubbing the irritated area.

Winning Carload

The grand champion carload of hops at the annual International Livestock Show in St. Paul was owned by 23-year old Stanley K. Swift, Gilman, Iowa, who is shown with the winning. Swift is said to be the youngest winner of the carload championship in the history of the show. The hops are purchased Barbarkers.

Insects, Insecticides Team Up on 'Bad Bugs' According to many scientists, certain insects beneficial to man, in that they prey on harmful bugs, may be expected to "team" with newer and better insecticides in controlling these harmful bugs. They tell how insecticidal sprays killed the "friendly" bugs as well as those to North Dakota, and that spraying was suspended for a time, sufficient to let the predators of the harmful bugs build up.

WOMAN'S WORLD Use Practical Knowledge, Vision To Achieve Room Atmosphere

By Erita Haley

IS THERE SOME feature in your home that annoys you, such as a dark hall, a jumbled room, a shabby bed frame or no space for books? Maybe it isn't anything like this, but something intangible such as atmosphere or style? How do you go about getting it?

Surprising though it may seem, many of these decorative problems are easily solved in many cases. It may involve changing a furniture picture arrangement which requires no money, only knowledge. It may mean taking the old-fashioned trimmings off some of the furniture and a bit of refashioning which takes, not money, but "elbow work." It may mean constructing a shell over a studio couch at very little cost.

The first problem is not one of how to do it, but one of what you have to do with. Look over the room critically and think about the possibilities. See what the desired effect should be, and then it's much easier to go about getting it. Style and atmosphere are a result of imagination, but they must be based on practical knowledge and certain basic rules. You cannot violate the principles of balance or rules of color harmony and achieve a result pleasing to the eye.

When you feel you lack imagination, study good examples and soon you'll feel yourself becoming creative. In this way you can achieve the style you want, and, at the same time, have a lot of fun. Simple practical tricks that you do with pictures or decoration add to the atmosphere and make a room or a home yours. Carry them out with neatness and dispatch and you will have created something that gives you and anyone else real pleasure.

Les Picture Arrangements Reflect Personality If it's not necessary to rush out to buy expensive originals if you like pictures in the home. People have been known to collect inexpensive prints or greeting cards that they like or which reflect a certain hobby by theirs. Groupings of several of these over a couch, above a desk, or on a wall panel will reflect the personality of the owner. Groups of pictures which go together might be pasted on a wall near a deep window with frames of their own. Colored glue tape, to match some color in the draper or in the room itself would serve to frame each of the pictures. Family portraits might all be

Be Smart! This is the classic dress style of the times. For the winter season you'll find it in sheer wools, dressings, galas and similar fabric that is hard to tailor in a hands-on way. For the spring season it is beginning to appear in moire, tulle and similar fabrics of silk and rayon, and a wonderful new fabric called H. It is fully flattering dress in the slim lines undisturbed by the darts inserted in deep folds and the heavy interest. This style has a long fashion life ahead.

When Men Delay UP TO NOW, the church has been playing around with Jesus' command. Very few denominations are actually putting any large amount of money or manpower into obeying Christ's command to go into all the world.

One fairly typical American denomination contributed last year to all benevolences, every cause not in their own local congregations, the sum of $9,137,065. That sounds like a lot; but divided by the total number of members it boils down to $14.03 per member for the year, or less than five cents a day.

And of course not all that big sum of five cents went to missions of any sort. Yet that denomination gives more per capita than the wide world sings "Oward, Christian Soldiers!" or prays "Thy Kingdom come!" how much does he mean it? Not a sinner's worth!

Or take the question of man-power. This same denomination sends out as missionaries, every year, as many men and women as are sent by some denominations have a center of interest in the world. In fact, some of the men are sent to the most remote parts of the world. In fact, some of the men are sent to the most remote parts of the world.

When Men Obey AS A MATTER OF FACT, even the earliest church was slow to pay real attention to Christ's command. Forward Men are strange things about us that we often have to be scared into doing our duty.

It took the persecution set off by the death of Stephen to move the Christians in Jerusalem out along the roads south, north, east, anywhere but away from the city of death. Everywhere they went, they told the story of Jesus.

One OF THE MOST interesting and surprising little books of recent years is called "By Hand of the Church," by H. P. Van Dusen. It is dramatic, it is one of the Bible—old or parts of it—has had to be translated into more than one thousand different languages and dialects.

Smile Awfully

Young Tom was the picture of utter dejection. "My girl turned me down," he explained to his friend. "Now I have nothing to live for. I may as well cut my throat."

"Now, now, wait a while," said his friend placatingly, "don't lose your head." Mr. Jones squinted into the living room where his daughter's young man was comfortably ensconced in the most luxurious chair in the house. He frowned and turned to his wife.

"You don't love me any more," she sobbed. You used to be so nice to me, now you're always barking and growling." "What do you expect?" he demanded. "You've always got me in the doghouse."

You will suffer from heartburn, gas and pain, and your food will not give you what you need. You will have an upset stomach. You will suffer from heartburn, gas and pain, and your food will not give you what you need.

After the second bottle of HADACOL I began to feel better and to regain the weight I had lost," said Mr. Barnhardt. "My digestive system became normal again and today I am as well as ever. My legs no longer ache and my feet are no longer swollen. My legs got weak as I worked in the mill each day. It is a tremendous mistake to think that the Christian religion is only for English-speaking peoples, or for Europeans, or for white people. It began among people whom most readers of this column would set down as "heirelgers."

ONE OF THE MOST interesting and surprising little books of recent years is called "By Hand of the Church," by H. P. Van Dusen. It is dramatic, it is one of the Bible—old or parts of it—has had to be translated into more than one thousand different languages and dialects.

Addressing Pastures
Adds Grazing Days, Boosts Legume Yields

CHICAGO—Milk paths will be fuller next spring and you will get bigger dividends from extra grazing days and more tons of hay, if you topdress your pastures and grasslands this fall with phosphate and potash fertilizer.

Fertilizer added to the fall helps deep-rooted legumes and grasses make a sturdier, fuller growth, says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The roots dig themselves in more firmly. The plants weather the winter in better condition for early spring growth.

Earlier spring growth means a longer grazing season. It means fewer days of barn feeding for your cows.

Agonomists recommend adding heavy amounts of phosphate and potash fertilizer to pastures and grasslands. Tests at state agricultural stations show that applications of 300 to 600 pounds per acre produce profitable results.

Good Soil Management Plus Fertilizer Produces
Championship Wheat, Heavy Stand of Legumes

After This Record-Breaking Wheat Yield Was Combined, the Field Produced a Thick, High-Yielding Legume Stand.

CHICAGO—Good soil management including the use of commercial fertilizer paid off for Harold Pirtle, when he won the 1949 wheat growing championship of Southwestern Indiana with a record-making yield of 57½ bushels per acre.

Growing the championship wheat crop wasn't the whole story, either. After combining the grain Pirtle got a lush stand of alfalfa and sweet clover. He says the soil's good tilth and organic matter supply plus the added plant food gave it the power to produce both a high wheat yield and an excellent stand of legumes.

Before seeding time last fall, Pirtle had the soil tested to find out its plant food needs. When he seeded the wheat and the accompanying legume crop, he added 400 pounds per acre of 3-13-12 fertilizer. Then early last spring he topdressed the wheat with extra nitrogen. The nitrogen gave the wheat new life and put extra vigor into the legume seedling.

The championship wheat was grown on an 11-acre contest field on the Sullivan county farm near here.

The field was in alfalfa during 1948 and 1949, corn in 1947 and soybeans in 1946. The organic matter added by plowed-under alfalfa helped modify the soil, built good structure and tilth and improved the drainage.

Pirtle used Vigo wheat, the new "pocket area" wheat growing championship is sponsored by Purdue University and the Southwestern Indiana Wheat Improvement Association. Howard Lathrop, Purdue agronomist, supervises the contest.

case, he said, shortly after the younger was stricken by bulbar infantile paralysis last November 12, and vowed then to visit the boy as soon as he returned to Miami.

Snite arrived at the March of Dimes ward in a special bus, which is fitted with a long ramp for easy transportation of his 7-foot respirator. Completely paralyzed since he was felled by polio in China 14 years ago, Snite explained to the 19 children in the ward that he has been able to live an interesting life even though he must spend all his time in a big iron lung or a smaller portable respirator.

Within the past year, Snite related, he has lived in homes at Miami Beach, River Forest, Ill., and Minocqua, Wis., and has been a leading player in bridge tournaments as widely scattered as Detroit, Brainerd, Minn., Danville, Ill., and St. Petersburg, Fla.

He now plans to spend four or five months at his Pinetree dr., home on Miami Beach, he said.

Snite described to Tommy the special portage to lung, his respirator technician and constant companion, Leonard Hawkins, had designed for him. "I can be zipped in and out of that lung within 30 seconds."

Snite told the children that he would lend full support to the March of Dimes drive now in progress to raise $200,000 this month for polio work in Dade county.

Tobacco Marks Closed This Week

With the exception of one or two of the major markets practically all tobacco warehouses will be closed for the season this week.

One or two houses will remain open in Lexington to receive straggling crops. Although averages were at a low at the close, farmers in this county and throughout the state generally were satisfied with the seasons prices.
