At least 47 persons lost their lives in Kentucky during 1949 directly or indirectly as results of fishing and hunting accidents...

manner either while actually fishing or while on fishing parties. Deaths from accidental shootings as a result of hunting episodes number 18. Probably three times the number killed by firearms suffered injuries in hunting accidents.

The deaths of five fishermen below Gilbertville Dam, when their boat overturned in the waters of the Tennessee River, was probably the worst one accident to occur during the past twelve-month period.

Deaths by drownings follow: John Lasak, his son, Dean Lasak, Fred Rich and Miller Baker, of West Frankfort, Ill., and J. W. Morin, Herin, Ill.

Morris Kulmer, a Shepherdsville, died when he fell from boat while fishing; Julius Hall, Topmost, drowned in Right Beaver Creek while fishing; Roy Lee Briggs drowned while fishing in slough near Dade Park Bridge in Henderson County; Glenn Decker, Livingston Co., drowned in the Cumberland River near Dyersburg; Shelton Lee Basham, Dyer County, drowned when he fell into the Ohio River while running a trotline; John Gordon Williams, Mayfield, drowned in Jonathan Creek when an overturned boat capsized; Sen Paridlo, Shelby County, died in Brahears Creek while on fishing trip; Jewel Runtam, drowned while attempting to save his child who had waded into Cumberland River while family was on fishing trip; Franklin Schaffer, Jr., Uniontown, Kentucky Lake near Eggers Ferry, when boat overturned. Walter C. Yarbrough, Mayfield, drowned when boat capsized below Kentucky Lake Dam; Charles Kurtz and Woodrow Willis, Louisville, drowned when boat overturned; Clifford Evans, Fredonia, drowned while fishing in Kentucky Lake; Henry Miracle, Knox County, drowned in Highland Creek; Bued Metcalf, Harlan County, drowned while fishing in Harlan Lake; Willie Green, Louisville, drowned when boat capsized in Ohio River; William King and J. M. King, Pleville, and Archie Rose and Ivol Rose, Albia, drowned while on fishing trip to Norris Lake; William B. Perry, McHenry, drowned when he fell in pond while fishing; Ellis Hopperton, Walton,

Balanced Soil Plan Gives Top Yields at Low Production Cost

COLUMBIA, MO. — A five-point program to "balance the soil's needs" and obtain maximum crop yields per acre at low production costs, was outlined by O. T. Coleman, Missouri University extension agent.

- 1. Provide plenty of plant food in available form for the crops you are growing. Crops cannot grow without nutrients. 2. Have your soil tested to determine whether the plant food supply is in balance. Growing crops need a balanced ration the same as do people and livestock. 3. Get the soil in condition so that crops can use the plant foods. This means a turnover of organic matter. You can add organic matter and improve soil tilth, drainage and aeration by growing well-fertilized deep-rooted legumes. 4. Keep water, plant nutrients and soil at home by conservation of water. Where needed, these include terracing and contouring to reduce runoff and erosion losses. 5. Follow a well-balanced cropping system. Deep-rooted legumes or pasture and green manure crops used to be related regularly with "cash" crops. Livestock is a "must" to properly handle pasture and roughage crops in such a crop-balancing program. Tests have shown that where a crop is pastured off, about 1 per cent of the organic matter is turned to the soil. This is true of legumes and non-legume crops.

drowned in Ohio River when boat overturned; he was duck hunting; Morris Chilton, Lexington, drowned while fishing in a lake. Fatal accidents due to firearms while victims were hunting follow: Curtis Clone, Hollybush, was shot by a hunting partner who shot at a squirrel; Jimmy Hornback, Larue County, died of wounds suffered when he dropped his gun while attempting to shoot fish; Alvin Pendleton, Knifley, was believed to have been killed when he fell on his gun, accidentally discharging it; George Curtis Maysville, died of wounds suffered when he pulled his gun through a fence while hunting crows; Shady Webb, Johnson County, was killed when his gun was accidentally discharged while hunting foxes; Darrel Harrison, Richmond, was killed when he fell, discharging gun, while squirrel hunting; William Ridgway, Carter County, was shot fatally when a gun, handed by his brother, was accidentally discharged as he prepared to go squirrel hunting; Taylor Maggard, Giles County, Va., was killed accidentally by his brother while squirrel hunting near Chappell; Anthony Taylor, Maggard, was killed accidentally shot by Charles Robinette who was bird hunting; Claude Robert Mercer was killed in Pulaski County when shot accidentally by his brother who was shooting frogs in a pond; Tom Ridgway was killed near Monticello when his hat was mistaken for a groundhog; Milton Whitley, Bowling Green, was killed while hunting squirrels; his hat was mistaken for a groundhog; Roy Stone, who was killed from a shotgun wound, had been squirrel hunting; Ralph Benningfield, Paint Creek, died from shotgun wound which is thought the youth incurred when he dropped his gun while hunting rabbits; Wilburn Stacy, Gloumar, killed himself when bending over his gun to make a repair while hunting; Franklin Marvin Sample, was accidentally killed while squirrel hunting when his own gun went off striking him in the stomach; Juanita Stratridge was killed by shotgun wounds.

Bigger 1950 Fertilizer Demand Spurs Need For Prompt Action in Obtaining Supplies

Buying fertilizer early saves time and insures getting just what you want.

PROSPECTS of a "sizeable increase" in the 1950 demand for fertilizer make it advisable for farmers to act promptly in ordering plant food now and taking delivery as soon as it can be arranged, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee in a statement issued here. More farmers may want more fertilizer than ever before next spring. The demand can be met only if fertilizer manufacturers can keep a steady flow of plant food moving out of their factories this winter. To accomplish this, it is essential that farmers be essential in ordering early and taking delivery as soon as available. Unless finished fertilizer continues to move to dealers and farmers, factory storage space will become overloaded and production schedules will have to be cut down. Already some factories report they are running out of storage space. If this trend continues the plant food production may not be sufficient to meet demands next spring. In pre-war days, says the statement, many farmers could wait until the last minute to get their plant food. With the greater demand, the manufacturing, curing and delivery of fertilizer can no longer be crowded into a seasonal rush period. Production operations, shipping and delivery now must be planned on a year-round basis. The cooperation of farmers in ordering early made possible the big increase in the production and use of fertilizer in recent years. The continuance of that "order early" cooperation is essential today for every farmer to have the plant food he wants when he wants it next spring. This will save costly delays when every hour counts.

Hadacol Helps Folk Music Fiddle Player

James William Martin, of route 4, Lewisburg, Tenn., has been a familiar and popular figure at thousands of old fashioned entertainments throughout Tennessee since he was just a boy because the oldtimers claim that young Bill can really make a bull fiddle talk "sweet music".

James William Martin

They will be happy to know now that Bill is back with the bull fiddle and it seems to some that the music is just a little sweeter because Bill feels better now than he ever did before because he has learned the blessings of HADACOL.

Here is Martin's own statement about the blessings that HADACOL brought to him: "I am only 24 years old but have suffered with the horrors of nervous indigestion. No food I ate digested well. I suffered sleepless headaches. I have played with radio bands and nervous indigestion affected my work. I was run down and nervous and for a time thought I would have to give up my work. After the second bottle of HADACOL I felt better and now after five bottles of HADACOL I feel like am a new man. I am going to continue to take HADACOL to help keep well."

Martin is just one of countless thousands who suffered because of a deficiency of B vitamins and certain minerals which HADACOL brought to him.

A lack of only a small amount of B vitamins and certain minerals will cause digestive disturbances. Your food will not agree with you. You will have an upset stomach. You will suffer from heartburns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the results of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of the lack of the B Vitamins and Minerals which HADACOL contains. And if you suffer from such a disorder, there is no known cure except the administration of the Vitamins and the Minerals which your system lacks.

HADACOL contains not only one, but 5 of the B Vitamins. HADACOL contains not only one, but 4 of the necessary Minerals. It comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilated in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have already been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL. So, it matters not who you are. . . . it matters not where you live. . . . or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering! Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered even longer, are able now to live as happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplied the missing B vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial. Demand the genuine HADACOL. Accept no substitutes.

During these days when we get outside in the rain, here comes a helpful hint from the clothing specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Safe Drying
Think twice before you get wet shoes or overshoes on the hearth or near the stove to dry these winter days. Wet leather may be hardened so that it cracks, or may even be scorched by too much heat. Rubber may be weakened or even melted. Slow drying at ordinary room temperature prolongs the life of these clothing items.

The rule of slow safe drying also holds for fur and woolen clothes—too often draped over hot radiators or hung too near the fire. Both wool and fur are especially fragile when wet and may be damaged by strong heat.

THE NEW BIRTH

By Lanis E. Kineman, Pastor Mt. Vernon Christian Church

The quest that is uppermost in every mind is that which has been asked by men of every age. It was asked at Jericho and at Pentecost (Acts 2:37), by the Ethiopian Eunuch (Acts 8:36), by Saul of Tarsus (Acts 9:6), by the Philippian Jailer (Acts 16:30), and by countless others.
During the time of Jesus' Ministry a ruler of the Jews by the name of Nicodemus came to Jesus seeking the means of entrance into the Kingdom. Jesus said, "Verily, verily I say unto thee, except a man be born of the water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God." (John 2:5).

By an examination of the answers given to the question as it was asked on various occasions, a variety of answers may be found. A further study of all the situations will reveal a reason for the differences. All of the accounts of New Testament Conversions reveal the steps of faith, repentance, confession, and baptism as being essential to the new birth. The difference in answers given to each individual's need. If an individual had already believed that Jesus was the Christ, there was little need to command the same, but rather to complete the next step—repentance. If the individual had completed all steps but the last, as in the case of Saul, then there remained for him—to be baptised for the remission of sins. Every answer is given, then, in fulfillment of the need of the individual.

To seize upon one step in the plan of the New Birth without recognition of the others is to do a great injustice to the N. T.

We may conclude that there are two elements in the New Birth; namely, God's part and man's part. God's part is to make salvation available for man (John 3:16). He gave us the plan whereby we might be saved, and revealed it in the New Testament. God forgives us our sins and will grant to us the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:38), and promise eternal life. His part is to bring his life into conformity to God's will through faith, repentance, confession, baptism, and a fruitful christian life.

HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD

By G. W. Murphy

THE STIRRING QUESTION: "Will Thou be made whole?" John 5-6. To you who claim to be saved this question is asked. Did you seek Him—or He seek you? Or did you seek Him because He sought you? The answer to this last question will be found in 1-John 4:19. I do not know just why Jesus did single this poor fellow out from all that bunch of (multitude) and revealed it in the number 1000 blind, halt, and withered suffering people. It could have been because he had been sick for 38 years, and no one seemed to care, just how many seasons he had been brought there I do not know, anyway he did not seek Jesus. Did you seek Him? I pause here and look up toward Heaven and say "Thank You Dear Jesus for you sought me and have brought me out from among the blind, halt, and you NOT." This man had undoubtedly come again and again to Bethesda's pool, but he was no better for being come. No other time on his visit there has anyone said to him "Will thou be made whole?" That is why are you here? Do you expect to be made whole? "He that hath ears to hear let him hear." This man heard the voice of Jesus. His voice with its quickening transforming power sounded so different to others. The paralytic answered so sadly and said "Sir I have no man to put me into the pool." He acknowledged his helpless condition. Then it was Jesus said, with a command in His voice, "RISE, take up thy bed, and walk." Jesus meant what he said when he asked that question. There are some people who would rather have sympathy than health. There are some who talk of desiring Holiness, but are unwilling to part with sin. Others claim to desire the Baptism with the HOLY GHOST, but sit with folded hands and say "When the Lord wants to fill me I am ready."

THE STIRRING QUESTION is here laid in your mind. "WILL THOU BE MADE WHOLE?" It is a test question. I think so many shrink from the demand for Christ, "RISE, go to work, why? because some one will miss you at _____ and another says the name is not in the Bible." I think so many others say I am young and have plenty of time. Remember what Jesus told this man: Behold thou art made whole; sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. So think it over, all who read this. Come be with me this Feb. 5th, at the HILL VIEW HOLINESS CHURCH on Richmond Street. I beg you to come worship with me. Amen.

Kentucky On The March

By Ewing Galloway

"The job for the Committee for Kentucky is to give the job for the people of Kentucky has just begun"—Harry W. Schacter.

That is the last half of that sentence the president of the Committee for Kentucky said a month ago.
That was stung when, several months ago, Mr. Schacter announced that the Committee would wind up its job early in 1950. I thought the organization should have been continued indefinitely, and it took me a long time to change my opinion. But now I can see that the original purpose was to give the people a true picture of our Commonwealth and let them see why we were to use a baseball term, a center team in the league of 48 states. It was not the purpose of the Committee for Kentucky itself to carry out the job of making us a first division team.
The Committee might have quit two years ago and called it a good job, but by continuing until now it got some kind of betterment work started in at least 100 of the 200 counties.
That civic improver, or organizations already at work will continue indefinitely there is no reason to doubt. And new ones will be started in every state at large there are already three statewide agencies for making Kentucky a better state than she is. The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, and the Bureau of Community Service of the University of Kentucky.

Attention!

Dear Friends,
Have you ever awakened at night in a cold sweat and thought "What would become of my wife and kids if I should die tomorrow?"
Every man with a family has had that thought many times. He should have it, because a man's family is his responsibility whether he lives or not!

But the fact is that many just think about it and never do anything about it.

My friend, the need of your wife and children for the necessities of life won't cease to exist when you die; they will continue to need food, shelter, and clothing. Would your family be sure of these necessities of life if you shouldn't wake up in the morning?

May I discuss this matter with you, soon?

COUNTY AGENT NOTES
4,000 plants will set an acre. Let's get started in growing more berries.

Potash Application Needed For Alfalfa
The increasing number of farmers interested in growing alfalfa is told by Dr. W. A. Seay of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, that applications of potash to the soil often are needed for good yield and long life of alfalfa.

Farmers are accustomed to apply phosphate-fertilizer when seeding alfalfa. Prof. Seay noted, but they often fail to use any potash.

The relation between the amounts of potash in the soil and in the alfalfa itself was pointed out. Good alfalfa hay contains about 2 percent potassium an acre.

Top-dressing land with about 200 pounds of 60 percent muriate of potash an acre after the last cutting of the year was recommended by Dr. Seay for alfalfa two years or older. Increase in yield the following year will more than pay the cost, he said. Potash not only keeps the alfalfa living longer, he said, but also increases the yield and improves the quality of the hay.

To determine the need of potash, soils now can be tested in laboratories in many counties, or can be sent to the Experiment Station at Lexington. County Agents first should be consulted. We are planning on setting up soil testing laboratory for Rockcastle some time in February. Papers will be notified when to bring in soils for testing.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET Art Is Long but Life Is Short, Full of Lumps and Black Eyes

By BILLY ROSE

"If you can come quick," my Aunt Frieda said over the phone, "come quick. Your Uncle Charlie is in trouble."

"What's up?" I asked. "Charlie is hiding in Brooklyn with his brother," said Frieda.

"What did Charlie do to Schoonp?" "What didn't he do?" said Frieda. "But better I should tell it to you in bits."

"Go hangus last summer your uncle and me, we are one afternoon taking the air on Delancey Street. On the sidewalk, like all ways, is a chalk mark and a scratch-ups from children, which your uncle has been seeing all his life."

"I'm very touching," says Charlie. "Is there on the sidewalk a sort of the East Side trying for some kind expression. Some day should be a real painter to draw up the neighborhood."

"WELL, LIKE YOU KNOW, with Charlie at get in to do something crazy. The next night he is going to the settlement house and joining a art class. And in the room is painting at get in a museum on a platform, and the scholars are holding out their thumbs and acquinting with the eyes."

"You know exactly what you see," says the teacher. "Half hour later, when the teacher comes to a to-look-see what"

For One Who Is Tired

DEAR child, God does not say today, "Be strong."

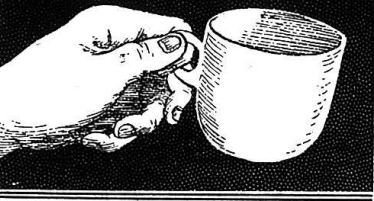

He knows your strength is spent; He knows how long

The road has been, how weary you have grown, For He who walked the earthy roads alone,

Each bogging lowland, and each rugged hill, Can understand, and so He says, "Be still, And know that I am God." The hour is late,

And you must rest awhile, and you must wait Until life's empty reservoirs fill up As slow rain fills an empty upturned cup.

Hold up your cup, dear child, for God to fill, He only asks today that you be still.

INA'S REVENGE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"I'M THAT GOING TO GET EVEN with I do!" Ina's Carolina's eyes were blazing, cheeks flushed.

"I presume," said Marlene Dale, "that you refer to Boylston's famous bachelor, Phil Bacon?"

"You know very well whom I mean! You were there. You saw him snub me! Right in front of all those other girls! Oh, I can still see his hideous, slouching face!"

Marlene sat down on the edge of the divan. "You're a little idiot to act this way, Ina. And you're not playing fair with Phil. He didn't snub you. He merely treated you like all the other girls."

"3-Minute Fiction" Ina's face was as red as a beet. The fact that he's trying to stay a bachelor until he gets his real estate business built up, doesn't justify your anger."

"This from her best friend, was small comfort. Ina had no scheme for revenge. Secretly she loved Phil Bacon.

"An idea came abruptly. It took form slowly, but by the time she had reached home, she had formed a definite plan.

Early the next morning Ina entered the office of Phil Bacon & Co., Phil, good looking, friendly, greeted his visitor warmly, though with a certain reserve.

"Good morning," said Ina brightly. "I'm calling on you to remember that we were introduced two days ago at Mrs. Whipple's party."

"Indeed I do remember, Miss (Disc.)"

"His business-like tones were discouraging. 'Yes, there is. You see, I have a piece of property—an old house—out on the Mendon road. Last night father decided to dispose of it and asked me to drop in and see you about the matter."

Phil's eyes shone. "Miss Carlton, I believe I can dispose of that property for you on such terms as you wish. In fact, I have been in here yesterday and asked about it. Do you think $10,000 would suit your father?"

"I think," said Ina, "that would be fine."

find out something absolutely hilarious. This Van Cook is all his life selling one picture for five dollars, one picture for five dollars during my lifetime entire, and then when I'm dead and gone the pictures is worth 30 million. By the time I am dead and gone, you who gets the 30 million? My brother, Why should that loafer get my 30 million? Let him go out and make his own 30 million. From now on, I am strictly a old-typical realist and making pictures with cash value like Grandma Moses. Which I am signing Grandma Moses.

"Now day Charlie is going to see our butcher. I'm going to paint a mural on your wall, he says, 'a whole panorama all kinds excellent meats. Will be good for the cash register.'"

"Schoonp says, 'What I got to lose, and so Charlie paints him a mural which he calls by name, the Spirit of Meat. When it is finished, Schoonp is saying when he sees your uncle he knocks out his eye.'"

"Was it that bad?" I asked. "A man could go bankrupt from such a picture," said my Aunt Frieda. "In Herman's strictly Kootzer store, your uncle is painting on the wall nice cuts Rinderbrut, chuck steaks, first-class plucked chickens. But in the middle is the Spirit of Meat holding a 15-pound—you should excuse the expression—Virginia ham."

"Phil's features relaxed. 'Why, I'm glad you told me, Miss Carlton. And about that snubbing, too, I really wanted to know you better; but well, it didn't seem possible that such a pretty girl would be interested in me.'"

"(But—then you haven't sold the house?)"

"Well, not exactly. I bought it myself a week ago. The man you see up there is my architect. I was explaining to him some changes I wanted made."

EDGAR BERGEN has what many a man longs for, an outlet for a side of his character that otherwise would be buried. Bergen isn't funny; Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd and the other Bergen-created characters are. Bergen is polite; Charlie is the rudest boss on the air. People look forward to tuning in on CBS Sunday nights to hear him say the kind of things they'd like to say. Bergen is kind; the Bergen-created characters are not. Bergen is a western university—the school where he couldn't finish because he had not quite enough money.

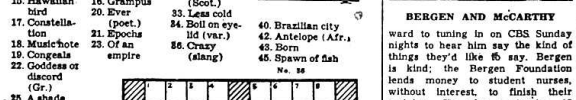

For a scene in Goldwyn's "Our Very Own" Ann Blyth was to be linked on the cheek by Rags, a shaggy canine. He did fine until it came time to kiss Ann; heartily disliking the makeup she wore, he refused to kiss anything to do with her. Trainer Jack Pack solved the problem by rubbing her cheek with a chunk of beef, and Rags' performance was enthusiastic.

"Don't you see? Father doesn't own this place! I'm sorry."

Carlton. Is there anything I can do?"

"His business-like tones were discouraging. 'Yes, there is. You see, I have a piece of property—an old house—out on the Mendon road. Last night father decided to dispose of it and asked me to drop in and see you about the matter."

Phil's eyes shone. "Miss Carlton, I believe I can dispose of that property for you on such terms as you wish. In fact, I have been in here yesterday and asked about it. Do you think $10,000 would suit your father?"

"I think," said Ina, "that would be fine."
