THE ONLY NEWSPAPER PRINTED IN ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

ESTABLISHED 1867 — SIXTY-THIRD YEAR — MT. VERNON, KENTUCKY

VOLUME 63 — NUMBER 17

Thursday, March 23, 1950

The above photograph shows a portion of the huge crowd on the Courthouse lawn here Saturday afternoon during the Booser Day Drawing. In the center is Clyde Linville at the mike leading the crowd in suspense as well as in a good humor. This scene will be repeated again Saturday, March 25.

First Booster Day Draws Big Crowd To Mt. Vernon

As anticipated the first Booster Day, last Saturday, brought out a crowd to Mt. Vernon. Trading was good, real bargains were offered and sold and nice prizes were given away by participating merchants.

A wonderful spirit of enthusiasts was shown by merchants and customers and it is felt that all that is needed to make Mt. Vernon a better trading center is a little more co-operation between merchants and a better understanding of them by the out-of-town folks.

Yes, they were here, thousands of them. The streets were jammed. There were no parking spaces left and it was necessary to block off the main section of town while the drawing was in progress. They will be here again and again—this Saturday and next. There will be more bargains and more prizes—more friendliness and more understanding. And, too, we are told that there are some really big prizes in the offing. Keep your tickets.

The first three prizes, worth $15.00 each, were claimed as follows: Auto Tire, Paul Childers; Groceries, Ray Kirby; Dry Goods, Everett Nolan, Somerset.

Thirteen other prizes ranging in value from $1 to $10 were also given away. Clyde Linville acted as master of ceremonies. Several members had to be redrawn because holders were not present. Re-draw members are to be present with your tickets.

Sheriff Reports Liquor Arrests

Sheriff Arthur Payne this week reported the arrest of three persons charged with liquor violations. They were Eddie B. Rice, possession of liquor; trial set for March 25; Ike and Nannie Young, possession of 47 half pints of liquor; Nannie Young and Eddie B. Rice, selling liquor. Their trials were set for Saturday, March 25.

"Renfo Valley Offers Much"

Such is the title of an article published in the Spring edition of In Kentucky Magazine. The story, although a short one, is to the point, and will no doubt go places this year since it is Kentucky Homecoming year and the magazine will be widely circulated.

Five photographs and a map showing the location of the "Valley" accompany the article which states that an expansion program is on foot, including a Drive-In Theatre, a filling station and a swimming pool. They respond and other improvements.

As you already know, 1950 has been designated homecoming year in Kentucky and native Kentuckians are expected to return home during this period. It is anticipated that the influx of tourists into the state this year will be the greatest ever. And Renfo Valley and Mt. Vernon are a "must."

ADDITIONAL PERSONALS

WILDE 4-H CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The Wilde 4-H Club met last week at the school. The meeting was called to order by Kathryn Bullen, who led in repeating the pledge to the flag. Mrs. Lucile Owens led in singing "America." Members responded to the roll call by naming one of their favorite neighbors. There were sixteen members present.

The topic of study this month was "Our Part in America." The members who took part read a short reading, showing how each person could take part in America as a good citizen.

The members from the Boiling Springs District brought the work which they had done on their projects to show this club. They have been doing very good work.

The enthusiasm was raised by knowing that each of the club members was working harder and getting more done on their projects than ever before.

P. T. A. Holds Spring Conference At Athens

Those from Mt. Vernon who plan to attend this meeting will contact Mrs. Robert Cummins, 1000 S. 1st St., Mt. Vernon, P. T. A. for full particulars.

They Meant It

Insurance Man: Ever had any accidents?
Westerner: Nope. Got a couple of rattlesnake bites though.
Insurance Man: Great Scott, Mr. West! Don't you call those accidents?
Westerner: No sir. They bit me on purpose.

Corbin Man Found With Stolen Bicycle

Night Police Reppert and Arnold reported they caught Pete Blue, age 22, of Corbin with a stolen bicycle belonging to Melvin (Snooky) Taylor on School Street here Tuesday night. Blue was brought to the court house where he was searched and found carrying a knife with a six inch blade. He was then placed in jail to await his trial which is set for Thursday, March 23.

CHRISTIAN SINGERSHIP SERVICE A BIG SUCCESS

A capacity crowd assembled at the Mt. Vernon Christian Church Sunday evening at 7:00 p.m. for the Christian Singership Service. The Service consisted of old time gospel numbers and choruses plus special numbers by the Renfo Valley Quartet and home talent. The children and young people of the church also sang some of their favorite choruses. A baptismal service followed the singing. Various parts of the country were represented at the service. The next Singership meeting will be held April 16, 1950. Plan now to attend.

MT. VERNON 4-H CLUB NEWS

By Nancy Noe

The Mt. Vernon 4-H Club held their regular meeting last week at the Mt. Vernon School. The meeting was called to order by the secretary, Bonnie Purcell, in the absence of the president. The meeting was opened through the National and Club Pledges.

"Business of giving demonstrations was discussed. The program, "Our Part in America," was given by eight members. As a community project the club will see to it that the school grounds are kept clean. We made plans for an Easter party which will be held Friday, April 7.

Governor Gets Homecoming Record

Raymond Scrivner with first copy of sheet music for the Kentucky Homecoming's official song, "Homecoming of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce Homecoming Committee," looks on while Ernie Lee, right holds first record which also was presented to the Governor.

"Headin' Home To Old Kentucky." That's the title of the official song selected for My Old Kentucky Homecoming 1950.

The ballad was written by Raymond F. Scrivner of Lexington. It has been recorded for RCA-Victor by Ernie Lee, noted folk singer of radio station WLW, Cincinnati, and sheet music has been published by the Forster Publishing Co. of Chicago.

Scrivner and Lee are old friends, having grown up together in Madison County

House Sanctions Walker Honoring

The House Monday passed a resolution already adopted by the Senate giving official sanction to a celebration in Kentucky and three other states this year of the 200th anniversary of Dr. Thomas Walker's trip through Cumberland Gap and into the wild west.

The resolution was sponsored by Senator Virgil Chapman, Paris, a d Representative James S. Golden, Bowling Green. The celebration of the Walker anniversary is to be in connection with Kentucky's 1950 Homecoming.

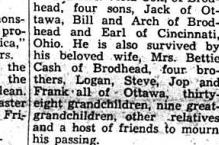

In speaking of the Homecoming, Mr. Golden said, "For over 100 years Kentucky has been honored to settle among pioneers to take part in the building of other states. In this great 1950 Homecoming thousands of former Kentuckians and their descendants to come back. We hope that many of them will settle among us and become permanent residents."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Aids Asked for Farm Support; Coal Industry Seeks Strike Peace; Unemployment Surges to New Peaks

(EDITOR'S NOTE: What explains are the columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

FARM SUPPORTS:

New Aids Asked

Charles Brannan, U.S. secretary of agriculture, is still planning for adoption of his (Brannan plan) system for farm price supports, arguing that new price aids must be provided now.

Pointing out that there is trouble getting rid of 1948 farm surpluses even as 1949 surpluses are building up, Brannan said the disposal problem "points to the need of supplementary action on price supports."

Up to this point, he had been unable to convince congress that it would. What luck he would have in the future was wholly problematical. But there was no arguing the point that something new had to be done to clear up the muddled farm price support program.

The problem indeed was a grave one and made even more so by the fact that the administration may be caught in a trap that has been long in the making—a trap created by the fact that the benefits of long experience the subsidy aid as is, farmers won't like any tampering with the program and might fight their ill will up anyone who may do so.

LEWIS:

A Fine Losses John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America—a labor union that does not pay its members strike benefits and which subjects them to unpaid fines and hardships for breaking contracts—was offering a victory-fund of one-million-dollar to the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers Union.

THE PURPOSE of the loan would be to help the UAW win new contracts from Chrysler, Ford and General Motors. Lewis' wife Walter Reuther, head of the giant auto workers union, that wage-welfare improvements in the auto industry were fought by money interests linked with the "financial group" which dominates car-making.

Help for Reuther was authorized at a jubilant meeting of Lewis with his top union aides, where Lewis was said to have boasted that he had "kicked" the strike-emergency unemployment provision of the Hartley law, inasmuch as a federal court injunction issued under the law failed to halt the coal strike.

Communist?

A sensation was caused in British political circles when Lord Beaverbrook, the conservative London Evening Standard named War Minister John Strachan (above) "an avowed Communist."

COAL:

A Look Ahead

The most crippling coal strike in the nation's history had come to an end. Miners were pouring back into the pits and allied industries, faced with a threat of total shutdown.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Worker chief, apparently had won again. He had obtained a raise in pay for the miners along with additional health and welfare benefits.

As the nation relaxed with a sigh of relief that the production stop had been removed, leaders in the coal industry began to look farther ahead—to examine methods by which a permanent coal peace might be won.

JOBLESS:

Hit New Peak

Again jobless numbers in the United States had catapulted to a new high, and again the federal commerce department appeared unperturbed about it.

THE SLIGHT rise in unemployment between January and February (204,000) appears to be due mainly to seasonal increase in the labor force and not to any cutbacks in employment.

Large masses of men never would be pitted against each other in Alaska, or other Arctic waters, as they were in the last war, according to military experts who would the "seasonal turnover" explanation hold water?

U.N. COST:

Each citizen of the United States pays less than a dime for his share of the big United Nations annual budget.

At least three members of congress disagree on whether this is too little or too little at all, according to the first issue of a weekly wall newspaper in color, the U.N. NEWS.

APPEARING for the first time this week, the new publication reports that Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor, chairman of the Senate special committee on expenditures in the executive departments which recently issued a report asking that the U.N. reduce its expenditures for the United Nations and its affiliates, thinks that a dime per capita is too much.

Supporting the "too little" approach of Congressman Douglas, he says: "New York City, U.S. permanent home, pays more for garbage disposal than the U.N.'s annual cost; its subway deficit would run the U.N. for six months."

AND BACKING UP Sen. Kenney's "just right" viewpoint, it argues: "Upning the U.N. budget by forcing out poorer members, would make it a 'rich man's club.'"

THE SOURCE was James Patton, president of the National Farmers Union. Patton said: "Somewhat, I believe we will be able to find a way to live in this world with people who differ in viewpoint as to type of economy and social systems."

LET us lead out in America by placing the disposal of the world's annual production of 10 billion dollars for the next 15 years in the hands of the world's TVAs on the Danube and the Yangtze, and for building man's productivity in all of the undeveloped areas of the world.

NEWS TICKET—The Red Cross telecommunications system plays an especially important role during disasters when messages are heard about quickly from stricken areas. Here, General Marshall looks over the telecommunications room at the Chicago chapter with Mrs. Mary C. Mullen, central states superintendent of the system.

Disaster Relief Work by American Red Cross Swiftly Brings Nationwide Resources to Aid Of Areas Stricken by Fire, Flood or Winds

By General George C. Marshall

I BELIEVE the disaster relief work of the Red Cross is more appreciated and better understood than any other service it renders. Its resources, nationwide, can be quickly brought to the aid of stricken communities. These resources are not solely in funds and trained workers.

THE impulse to help someone in distress is a very human reaction. It inspires the staff personnel and the thousands of volunteers who give their time and talents to the Red Cross. Their effectiveness lies in providing prompt relief and results from the organization's network of 3,748 chapters and 4,628 branches in the United States, its territories and insular possessions.

There are only a few county seats in the United States without an active chapter. There is scarcely a town in the country which does not have an active branch.

It means that the local chapter has, under standing with the police, fire and health departments, with which it works in cooperation.

Because the crops were destroyed, supplies of food were shipped or flown into the island. Rehabilitation started as soon as the high winds permitted.

It is this kind of the Red Cross that is the backbone of my association with the organization. More recently, the organization has been called upon for help in relieving Midwest flood sufferers and the victims of winter storms in the Far West.

It is therefore should be apparent that organization cannot well delegate its fund raising responsibility to another agency. Nor can it commit itself to an alliance which might hinder its freedom of capacity to meet its national and international responsibility.

WOMAN'S WORLD Plan Your Living Rooms With Eye To Both Friendliness and Comfort

By Eritta Halcy

LIVING ROOMS are just what they say: room for living. In yours planned to be enjoyed by every member of the family...

For a room meant primarily for living, all these aspects are of first importance. Does the room invite you in to stay as you first step in to it, or does it urge you only to look at it in a detached sort of way?

A comfortable living room is full of friendly pleasing colors that give you a sense of rest and peace. It has chairs that invite you to lounge and relax. It's a room of which you won't tire easily because it has muted colors that you can live with a long time.

It's easy to furnish a room such as this if you let common sense and this guide you. Do plenty of thinking about the room before you jump into decorating it.

The room should reflect you and your interests. To you, like you to have people drop in and spend an evening in good conversation, this can be shown in the comfortable conversational arrangements you've made.

If you like it to be a place to read and relax, then have enough end tables, good chairs and lamps that make this possible.

Use no More Than Three Colors in Room

start with color, since that's a good, solid basic point. The colors may be chosen from a favorite picture which you have in the room, or a piece of material you fancy on the drapes, a pot of flowers, a china platter, or something like that.

Every room should have one main color, then a secondary one which blends with the first. The third color, used in small quantity, merely for accents.

You would do well to choose muted colors since they are easiest to live with year after year. If too brilliant, you may like them a lot at first, but you'll tire of them.

THE BIBLE FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

World-Wide Church Lesson for March 26, 1950

first, but then tire of them quickly. Too many colors will make the room look busy, thus tiring you out after you sit there awhile.

No color or no thought to color will give you an unpleasant feeling of indiffiniteness and can make you sit as eager to get out of the room as to much color.

When considering color, never forget to include neutral colors such as beige or tan, white, gray, etc.

WHERE IS NOTHING at all in the New Testament to indicate that the church at Rome was considered by Paul or any one else...

Blending Effects With These Decorative Tips

Expensive materials are not needed for drapes or covering. In fact, it's much better to buy good quality, appropriate cotton in place of silk or satin that will hang limp and dull.

Avoid too much furniture. It's far better to rule out a piece that is not absolutely utilized in a room, than it is to fill up space.

THE CURE FOR SIN
Lan E. Kineman, Minister
Mt. Vernon Christian Church

Last week we presented some of the evidences of sin. Since sin is rebellion against God, and since He is the one who is aggrieved, it is only logical that He is the one who should state the terms for the forgiveness of sin. For man to try and dissipate the terms of pardon for man's sin is to take the authority out of the hands of God, which is hopeless. Davis threw light upon the true nature of transgression after his adultery with Bath-Sheba, when he said, "Against Thee, Thee only, have I sinned." Thus, from Him, and Him only, must the plan of forgiveness come. God in His infinite wisdom selected a cleansing agent that is closer to us than breathing and nearer than hands and feet, and that agent is BLOOD. "For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar to make atonement for you, so that it is the blood that maketh atonement by reason of the life." (Lev. 17:11). Only he that can cut out the blood is the blood is the life." (Deut 12:23). Now the word "atone" means "to cover," "to conceal," and "to cancel," the factor through which atonement comes. Just as turtle's blood and isomers of chalmogral oil cleanse one of leprosy, so does blood cleanse the soul in the therapeutics of God.

My Lord for his visit to the Church on West Main Street this last Sunday, March 19th, and broke down the little wall that has caused much pain and heartache, and closed up the wound with Love and true fellowship. His plan to get his people together especially his anointed ministers, was I am sure brought about by many souls praying for it; Well Dear hearts believe me, IT IS SETTLED. Now after my testimony as above said, let me talk to you about true worship of God. Jesus said in Matt. 6:24, I quote "You cannot serve GOD and MAMMON." I had better look very carefully into the meaning of these words, remembering that Paul spoke by Our own Dear Lord. Mammon means riches. To serve means to be the slave of. I notice Paul loved to call himself the servant of Christ. Now Jesus says here that we cannot be God's slave, and Mammon's slave. We cannot belong to two masters at the same time. If we are Mammon's slave, that ends it - we are not God's. If we belong to God, Mammon is not our master. Think too, what a degrading thing it is for any being with an immortal soul, bearing the image of God, to be the slave of money. To use the word, "SERVE" in its mildest English sense, no man should be ever the servant of money. Riches are meant to be man's slave; now think how degrading it would be for any man to become servant or slave to his own SLAVE. Lots of people only serve the church for money, and if some other church offers more pay the church that is poor loose a servant. Listen to me, God will not share his throne with the god of gold. God's true servants may have money and may even be rich, but when you see one such servant notice that he gives his money to honor God and be a blessing to the world in Christ's name. The servant must own the money, not the money own them. We must carry it in our hands, not in our hearts. This is a very important thing for us all to learn, don't you think? Oh Amen.

Look what BREAD would cost you today

... if it had come down from its 1939 price like the unit cost of ELECTRICITY

No one needs to tell you how inflation has hiked the price of bread since 1939. What you may not realize is that the unit cost of electricity has come down in the same period.

Your electric rates have not been increased, and as you have gone up the average price per kilowatt-hour has come down. It is now 30% less than in 1939.

If bread had followed the same price trend, the pound loaf that cost 8c in 1939 would cost 6c today, instead of the 14c or so you are now paying.

True, your electric bill may be higher, because it yours is the average household you're using 68% more electricity than in 1939. But the price you pay per kilowatt-hour was never lower than it is today.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET Nazis 'Process of Selectivity' Outsmarted by Polish Scientist

By BILLY ROSE

Whenever I'm in the mood for gargantuan gab, I like myself over to a Russian tea room near Carnegie Hall where refugees of a dozen nationalities sit around and give out with tall talk about the old days behind them and the new days coming up.

To give you a fitting for-instance, the other midnight I heard a macabre yarn from a gent who used to teach science in Warsaw, and while I don't know whether it's history or hokum, it strikes me as being worth my allotment of white space today.

During the last year of the war, there was a small concentration camp in east Germany which had been set up for two purposes: (a) to build an underground machine shop, and (b) to make available the required number of human guinea pigs for certain experiments being conducted by distinguished Nazi scientists.

By SS STANDARDS, the method of selecting these guinea pigs was scrupulously fair. Each morning before breakfast, the 50 men in each of the wooden barracks would stand at attention until the commandant appeared with a list of their names. He would read off the top name on the list and the prisoner whose name was called would step forward.

The commandant would then hand two small leather disks, one marked with a white circle and the other with a black circle, to the "trustee" of the barrack for examination. Then the commandant would draw the disks into his hat, and the prisoner would draw one of them.

If he picked the one with the white circle he was safe until his next drawing; if he drew the black one, he would be shipped out that Saturday night.

In December of 1944, my ten-room friend—the scientist—from Warsaw—was cattle-carred to this concentration camp and assigned to a barrack occupied almost exclusively by captured Russian soldiers. He was asked the usual questions, and when the Russians found the newcomer was a Pole, they quickly let him know that the fraternity of races as preached by Hitler was confined to Kremlin publicity landouts.

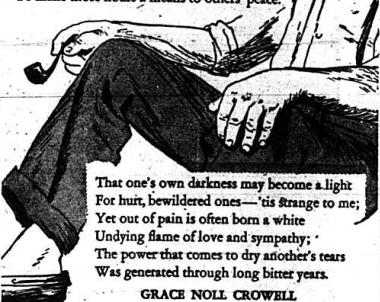

And when he further admitted he had never joined the Party—not for any big ideological reason, but simply because he was a scientist and had no interest in politics—the Red army man decided he was an enemy of the state and began to plot against him.

THE POLE, however, was more serene about the disks in his hat than the whisperings going on about him. Under the lottery system, it would be almost two months before he would be called, and since news had filtered into camp that the Russian guards were only a few weeks away, he kept telling himself that liberation might come before the date for the drawing. But as the days turned into weeks, and still no sound of far-away cannon, he resigned himself to taking his 50-50 chances with the hat.

One morning, the fate of the morning, the scientist was lying

Strange Alchemy

I AM amazed to find that pain and grief. By some strange alchemy, if bravely borne, Become a power, vital beyond belief. To bless and comfort other hearts that mourn. I did not dream through those far lonely days, Those bitter hours when pleading for release, That God would move in His mysterious ways. To make those hours of a means to others' peace.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

That one's own darkness may become a light For hurt, beyond others—'tis strange to me; Yet out of pain is often born a white Undying flame of love and sympathy; The power that comes to dry another's tears Was generated through long bitter years.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

The Fiction Corner KNOLTON'S CASE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

KNOLTON'S ACT was the result of two years' of planning. There was little chance that anything would go wrong. He had served as clerk at the lumber camp for two long years. And from the moment he first saw the payroll left unguarded in the office while the bank guard went out, and a camp policeman had chosen for the robbery was not unlike a thousand others. At exactly noon the payroll car drove up. A guard stepped into the office and deposited the heavy bag on the chair. Knolton greeted him carefully, nodded at the bag and bent to his work. The guard went out. The moment the door closed Knolton's head came up. He listened intently. Outside he could hear the bank guard in conversation with Raymond, the camp manager. There wasn't a moment to lose.

Quickly Knolton lifted up the cover of his desk, removed the bundle a bag almost identical to the one on the floor and equally as heavy. He made the transfer deftly, unobtrusively.

The door opened and Raymond came inside. He nodded briefly to Knolton, picked up the heavy bag and went out again. Unobserved he climbed into the canoe which was hidden there, and pushed off.

By mid-afternoon Knolton reached a tributary and turned off the main stream. He paddled up this smaller waterway for more than a mile.

He set the canoe adrift and headed inland, swinging southward. By dusk he had come to a virgin forest of timber, mighty and uncut by the forest as yet uncut by the lumberman's axe. His steps led him to a huge pile of logs, the rest with thick undergrowth at the base. He parted the growth, pulled at a tuft of dirt. The tuft came away, revealing a shallow hole. Knolton had dug the hole with a pickaxe, and the growth to grow over it so that no trace of his recent visit would be the evidence.

He reached the bag in the hole and carefully replaced the dirt. IT WAS A MONTH before Knolton reached his destination; a tiny village hundreds of miles south of the lumber camp. Here he passed to rest with a friend. By now he had grown a beard. The friend provided dye, and Knolton changed the color of his hair from light brown to black.

Six months later Knolton, new known as Carl Hedman, with no trace of the one-time clerk showing beneath his perfect disguise, rode leisurely back toward the scene of his crime.

The lumberman gave him no more than a passing glance. Satisfied that he had not been recognized, Knolton followed the river to the mouth of the tributary.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION OF KENTUCKY

In the Matter of the APPLICATION OF MT. VERNON TELEPHONE COMPANY FOR AUTHORITY TO INCREASE RATES FOR LOCAL SERVICE.

APPLICATION

1. Comes now Mt. Vernon Telephone Company, a Kentucky corporation whose post-office address is Brodhead, Rockcastle County, Kentucky, and asserts as follows:

2. Exchange are operated at Brodhead and Mt. Vernon.

3. Toll service is also rendered by means of connections with Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company's facilities.

Due to the increased cost of plant, supplies, and labor the Company is not-earning a fair return, if any, on its investment, and in order that its earnings condition may be improved to the extent that funds can be obtained for needed extensions and betterments the following adjustment in rates is applied for:

Class of Service	Present Rates	Proposed Rates
Business phone, one-party	$3.50	$4.50
Business phone, two-party	None	4.00
Business phone, more than two-party	None	$3.75
Residential phone, one-party	$2.75	3.25
Residential phone, two-party or more	None	3.00

WHEREFORE, Applicant asks for approval of the foregoing rates at the earliest possible date, and hereby gives notice that it intends to put the proposed rates into effect on the first day of April, 1950.

Applicant moves the Commission to modify Rule No. 23 of its Rules and Regulations so that said Applicant shall not be required to give notice of its application for adjustment of rates to the public by means other than a posting of its proposed rates in its offices and exchanges in the territory to be affected.

IN MEMORY OF GRANVILLE A. PROCTOR

Born May 18, 1900 passed away March 9, 1950 in Berea Hospital. A beloved and familiar figure in and around Mt. Vernon he was kind to every one, always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need; always a kind word and a friendly "hello" to those he knew and with a smile. He was liked by all who knew him and loved by those who knew him best. He had been a watch and clock repairman around 20 years and will be missed by many. His passing came so sudden to shock his many friends and loved ones. The sun shines down on a bright grave, my only dear brother, I could not save. I loved him, but Jesus loved him best. Peaceful may you sleep, dear brother. Your only, lonely sister, Della Friess
