LOCATION—This renowned fairgrounds, home of the nationally known "Little-World's Fair," is ideally located a short distance Southeast of Brodhead, Kentucky on concrete Highway No. 150. Ample space of some 22 acres for fairs, carnivals, picnics, auction sales, meetings of all kinds and parking space, nestling in a beautiful grove of black and white oak and gum shade trees. Truly, the personification of the rustic, yet imbued with the beautiful and cultured combined.

Also within the interior of this track is located a large barn and ample room left for a baseball diamond.

Other improvements consist of large grandstand with seating capacity of 3,000, large display arena beneath, bandstand and fenced off walk way. Across track from the grandstand is located a series of bleachers with seating capacity of 500, speakers stand is located in the center portion of the bleachers. Five barns with 70 stalls, dining room and kitchen concession, two houses; one of four rooms and one of three rooms, office building and all essential appurtenances belonging to and being a part of this famous fairgrounds site. Normal and high powered electric flood lights and public address system included. Also included with this property is a small triangular tract of land across their Highway known, traditionally, as the "Jackson County Fairgrounds"—a trading place well known to the "Old Timers."

This year will mark the 55th consecutive showing of this famous Brodhead Fair, originating on Fairgrounds Street some years ago. This place is rich in tradition, colorful with genuine folklore, a place where warm abiding friendships are made and renewed throughout the years.

Wildie Wins Over Central 17 To 4

The Wildie Rockies triumphed in their third place Clippers 17 to 4 last Sunday to retain their two game lead over the second-place Central Scarlets.

The Rockies pounded out 20 hits off the three county pitchers, Ralph McMaine the losing hurler, J. W. Maugin and Leo Fritz. Wildie started out fast by scoring two runs in the first inning on singles by Fish, Durham and Brannan. The game right back and picked up two more in the second, and three in the third. The biggest hit that the Rockies scored came in the fourth when they counted five runs on a walk to Fish, singles by Durham, Smith, Jennings and Burdette, and a triple by Robinson. The biggest blows were struck by Wildie in the sixth when they scored four runs on a double by Jennings, Burdette took home run hit by the pitcher, and then Bobby Robinson powered a home run over the fence. The fence to drive in the three of the four runs. The other run of the inning came in when Billy Witt tripped and scored on an over throw. When Stewart Persons singled, and then scored second and third, and then romped home on a fielder's choice. Bob Robinson was the winning pitcher by giving up five hits in six innings that he hurled. McMaine, who was hurled, allowed the Rockies to take over the mound. The Clippers got to get in his five hits and two runs in his two inning stint on the mound. This Sunday, in what shapes up to be the most important games for the Rockies this year, the second place Central Scarlets will invade Wildie to meet the Rockies in a twin bill. The first game will be a double-header will start at 1:00 p.m. The two leading pitchers in the Tobacco League will meet for the first time this year. They will be Bob Robinson for Wildie and Donald Richardson for Central. These two will lock horns in what promises to be a real pitcher's duel. The eyes of the whole league will be on the outcome of these two contests.

1. That the stock be sold solely to residents of the Commonwealth of Kentucky; and
2. That the price of $102.50 per share plus accrued dividends.

HOLINESS UNTO THE LORD

By G. W. (Bret) Murphy

"Ye are the light of the world. Matt. 5:14"

This is true, because every true Christian is a candle shining in this dark world. The Bible speaks of the spirit man as the "candle of the Lord." In the natural state, before regeneration, we are unlighted candles. We are candles, however, capable of being lighted for God made us in His own image, and it is sin that put out the flame, or left it only a smoking, smouldering spark. Put a thousand unlighted candles in a dark room and they would not mix with the light; so it is when we receive Jesus into our hearts, the Holy Ghost touches these candles with the divine flame and they begin to shine, and by letting this operation be done on us, to the effect it becomes within us, then we become really a candle of the Lord. It is not the light house that we need, but we must remember that we can shine of ourselves, that we are light only as we are lighted. The commandment is: "Let your light shine, etc., which means we can only keep the LORD Save us from another wick trimmed, so that the WAR. Amen.

flame shall always be bright, we are able to keep the windows of our life clean so that the beams may pour out without any hindrance. We are reserves of oil to replenish our lamps when they burn low; that is, we must live in constant communion with the Lord, abiding in him, that we may draw away from his filthiness. Remember the Ten Virgins; how became of the 5 foolish? I believe that each of us his candles, should be in his own place, because we must give light to other lives, and make the one little spark in the world that is close about us brighter and happier with love and grace. The great lighthouse lamp on the sea shore pours its beams far out to sea, but it does not lighten the space around the base. I am, of the world, what is the prayer of Master had in mind when He said "Ye are the Light of the World." It is not the light house that we need, but we must remember that we can shine of ourselves, that we are light only as we are lighted. The commandment is: "Let your light shine, etc., which means we can only keep the LORD Save us from another wick trimmed, so that the WAR. Amen.

HERE and THERE

By Robert Cox

Mr. Russell Dyche, well-known editor of the London Sentinel-Echo, is recovering at the Marymount Hospital from a recent collapse at the newspaper offices. We wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

Now that the homecoming fever has completely burned out, our attention will turn to the famous Brodhead Fair. Running from next Tuesday through Saturday, it promises to draw a bigger crowd than ever and to have a better program than any year before.

Baseball-minded Kentuckians have a good chance to see top-flight baseball this month. Louisville, high club of the American Association are currently leading their league and have been giving their fans a mighty good show. Meanwhile, Cincinnati's Reds have been playing some of the best ball in the majors this summer. After a lousy start in the spring, the Redlegs came to life and began beating everyone in sight, including 10 out of 15 games to the Brooklyn Dodgers' pre-season favorites to cop the National League flag.

If you want to see some good baseball without going too far, however, we suggest you drop on the Wildie Rockies. The Rockies are leading the Tobacco League and, look like a cinch to win the championship hands down. This Sunday's games at the second-place Central should tell the story if they really are of Championship quality.

Hook and Eye When you fit a hook and eye on a screen door, do you put the eye in the frame and the hook on the door?

That's not the best way. The hook rattles every time the door is closed. It wears a half-inch mark on the door. When the door is slammed, it may flip over and lock you out.

The solution: simply reverse hook and eye.

This is the start of a series of articles from the "Good Citizen" column of the "Washington Post" concerning the rights and duties of an American.

THE FIFTH promise of a good citizen: I will work for peace but I will not shirk my responsibilities in time of war and will respect the flag.

Probably the greatest of all powers is the power to declare war. In America this power is not given to any one man. It is not given to our generals and admirals. It is not given to the President and his cabinet. It is given only to our elected representatives.

THE OPENING words of The Crisis, written by Thomas Paine the lowest tide of America's hope, December, 1776.

THE day it was written upon a drumbeats by the campfires of Washington's defeated and retreating army.

It reads: "These are the times that try men's souls: The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; 'tis dearest only that gives every thing its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed, if it ceased to be an article as freedom should not be highly rated."

AS STATED at the beginning, the act to declare war is invested in the congress of the United States by Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution.

THE congress shall have the power: To declare war...

To declare war... To provide and maintain a navy...

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions...

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States...

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

All This Ex-Boxer Wants Is Peace and Little Pinochle

By BILLY ROSE

One of the more off-colorful characters around Broadway these days is Kid Herman, ex-champion of the prize ring, who runs the newsstand on the southwest corner of 42nd Street and Times Square.

The Kid, according to the record books, lost only once in 140 professional bouts and was one of the few men to beat Benny Leonard.

Today, a muscle-bound 56, he likes to think of himself as "a stick of sugar-coated Gandhi." "He and the world has seen too much fighting," he told me the other night. "All I want now is peace and a little pinochle."

While we were talking, as if on cue, a man rushing for the subway bumped into the expert radio bulldozer.

"Sorry, Mister," apologized Herman. "If I'd known you was coming, I'd have been ready to shake hands."

The man's glare related into a grin. "I couldn't flatten him with a punch," said the Kid. "but it just makes him feel good. I said it proved I was never convinced anybody by hitting him. It's better to get along with people. For instance, take the gink who runs the newsstand across the way."

"Fatsy White, tried to be a great fighter. Had a string of 14 straight knockouts but he met up with me. I knocked him down 15 times in 10. He said, 'I'll never see you again.' I heard me tellin' about it, he said it was only 14 times. So the next time I tell it, just to make him feel good, I said it was 14 times. But Patsy says, 'Who you kiddin'?' It was 13. Well, every time he hears me talk it he allows off another knockdown, so finally I says to him, 'Okay, let's leave it this way.

States. We have given the congress all the power, in time of war, to abridge some of our liberties for the common good.

The most fervent hope of every American heart is that the differences between nations may be settled without war.

Only a burning wrath can force us into another war.

Only a burning devotion to the principles of free government and to national unity and strength on the part of all the people can insure our victory over the forces of tyranny. If it is our destiny again to engage them,

In 1776 we won freedom; in 1812 we held freedom; in 1861 we preserved the union; in 1898 we strengthened freedom; in 1917 our freedom was threatened and saved; in 1941 again our freedom was attacked and saved.

THE HARMONIOUS UNION

By Richard H. Wilkinson

IT WAS incredible that Tony and Leah Cranston should have quarreled over so small a thing. The neighbors would have been horrified, for the neighbors thought no two people were more ideally suited.

The neighbors were right, too. Tony and Leah were harmoniously united. They were deeply in love. There was perfect understanding between them.

Then one day Tony came home from work and went into the bedroom to freshen up for dinner and found two five dollar bills and some change lying on the bureau. He scooped up the money.

"Hey," he said good naturedly, "can you afford this. I found this money lying on the bureau. It might have blown away. Don't be so forgetful!"

Leah smiled. "Oh, my!" she said. "Did I leave the change from the grocer there?"

A week later Tony discovered a dollar and a half had been left on the living room table and forgotten.

"Listen, honey, you've got to be a little careful. Money is pretty important to us right now."

"I'm sorry," said Leah. "I'm just a little careless."

The next time—the time Tony discovered five dollars on the kitchen table and one on the floor, where it had blown—he didn't smile.

"Good good, woman! Show a little more consideration, will you? If I had noticed that dollar on the floor it would have been lost."

"Darling," she said altogether too precisely, "I've never lost a penny of our money."

"How do you know?" asked Tony, a bit smugly.

"Because," said Leah, just as smugly, "I can account for every dime you've ever given me."

"Ha!" said Tony. "Let's see you!"

So Leah got a pencil and paper and sat down and figured out her expenditures, to the last penny.

"Well," said Tony, "that doesn't mean you won't lose some more. So Leah got a pencil and paper and sat down and figured out her expenditures, to the last penny."

"I've heard," said Leah tetchily, "a lot of cracks."

SUDDENLY it occurred to Tony that this was their first major quarrel. Someone he'd heard of that Leah of her habit without a quarrel.

It was the next Saturday noon when Leah came home from work that Tony discovered three ones and a two-dollar bill on the bureau where it had been absent dropped by Leah while she rescued the room from burning. Furtively Tony scooped up the money and stuck it in his pants pocket. Sooner or later Leah would discover it was missing. She'd become concerned. She'd ask him to help him. He'd make a pretense of caring and then pretend to find the money where it had blown into the bathroom.

"Darling," I said some money on the bureau. Have you seen it?"

Princess' Husband Climbing Ladder

Princess Elizabeth's husband has started out to work himed to the top of the ladder. Prince Philip won his first command in the British navy recently.

The admiralty announced the tall, handsome Philip would take charge of the anti-aircraft frigate Magpie in August.

Court circles predicted also that about the same time he would be upped from lieutenant to lieutenant commander.

Philip, 28 next month, now is first lieutenant of the destroyer Chequers, based at Malta. He returned to active Naval duty last fall.

The 1,430-ton Magpie is manned by six officers and 186 men. She mounts four six-inch guns, eight two-pounders and several pom-pom anti-aircraft pieces.
