

Grandma's Sayings

IT'S GOOD for us all to keep in mind that any job is like a mirror, reflecting exactly what efforts we put into it.

WHEN IT COMES to style, yellow Nu-Maid is worth talking about. Molded in modern table style 1/4 pound prints that fit any serving club. You get it always looks for the picture of Miss Nu-Maid on the package, 'cause Miss Nu-Maid means modern margarine.

IT'S BEST not to judge folks by appearances. Lots of times, poor-looking clothes cover the best of hearts.

SO SWEET, 'n smooth, 'n modern. That's what the men folks are sayin' and they're not talkin' about a gal. They're talkin' about 'Table-Grade' Nu-Maid, the modern margarine. You sure kin tell the difference. Nu-Maid spreads on smooth. Nu-Maid stays good by itself 'cause it's modern in texture and flavor.

$5 will be paid upon publication to the first contributor of each category having a winning recipe. "Grandma's" 309 East Pearl Street, Cincinnati 2, Ohio.

ALWAYS LOOK FOR SWEET, wholesome Miss Nu-Maid on the package when you buy margarine. Miss Nu-Maid is your assurance of the finest modern margarine in the world.

Keep Him Caged When she was four, her parents decided it was time to take him to church. So the following Sunday she accompanied them to services. The minister, up high in his pulpit, was earnest and vigorous. His voice rolled out over his flock in loud tones and low, as he waved his arms and twisted his torso. And he completely fascinated little Anna. Finally, clutching her father's arm, she asked worriedly, "What do we do if he gets out?"

FISHING IN THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC IS A THRILL AMONG GREAT ANGLERS

QUEBEC, Q., (1950) . . . The Laurentian Mountain range in the Province of Quebec, varying from 500 to 3000 feet, is overrun with thousands of streams and lakes filled with an abundance of fish. It has heavily wooded mountains, smooth plateaus upon which are said to be the oldest in the world. Here and there, lively little streams and towns have sprung into life, but the tableland is immense indeed, and most of it remains in its vigorous wild beauty! For all that, many and good are the roads leading into the Laurentians that satisfy the artist's eye, and thrill in the pulse of the fisherman.

Game to ninety steps at a river's brink to drink or crash through underbrush in startled haste. Lakes and streams glitter in clear, sunlit waters, and trout and looper comes upon them. The pungent odor of spruce and pine fills the air, and the peace is all about. Imagine, with all this, the tantalizing smell of freshly caught trout sizzling in the frying pan. What sportsman can resist the temptation.

Here where the moose and black bear stalk through the silent woods, is the kingdom of the trout. That the fisherman may enjoy his trip in the utmost of comfort, returning to his home completely rested and relaxed. Perhaps this is the reason that sportsmen from all over America prefer the Laurentians for their vacations and return again and again to these beloved spots. —Adv.

Brother to Jesus

THEY WENT fishing together, no doubt; very likely they worked together in the shop; perhaps little James was the nuisance that small brother sometimes are, but like all small brothers he would tag along when Jesus went walking about the Nazareth. . . .

FOR years and years James grew up with Jesus, boy with boy. They lived under the same roof, ate from the same dish. . . .

And yet, the strange thing is that when Jesus left the carpenter shop and went about "doing good" as Peter said, James did not believe in him. . . .

Believer

PRECISELY what changed him was never known. Some anonymous writer in early times wrote a "Gospel of James"—a piece of fiction never accepted by the church as genuine. . . .

Quality of Leadership

JAMES was not an accepted leader; he merely because he was a brother of Jesus. . . .

In Acts 21:17-26 it is clear that James kept all the laws of Moses himself and expected other Jews to do the same. . . .

When the question arose, How much of Jewish law shall we expect Gentile Christians to observe? . . .

A most enjoyable time was reported. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Shively and Mr. R. S. Shively of Belview, were here for the funeral of Mr. Alfred Owens.

Plant Food Added in Fall Boosts Wheat and Hay Production

Ohio agronomists recommend fertilizing wheat and meadow crops this fall with 400 to 800 pounds of plant food per acre. They say this soil treatment will bring up yield in increased wheat yields alone. What fertilizer to use depends on your crop rotation and the soil's productive level. Where wheat is grown in rotation with alfalfa or other soil-building, nitrogen-fixing legumes, the agronomist recommends fertilizer containing only phosphate and potash. They list grades such as 0-12-12 and 0-20-20. For best productive soils, the agronomists recommend a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phos-

County Agent's Notes

By ROBERT F. SPENCE

According to reports coming into the County Agents Office from farmers throughout the county, the tobacco crops are rotting in the barns. There were seven men in the office

(Saturday) who had lost at least one-third of their crops from barn damage. Most all of the tobacco that has been cut so far was cut to green and had too much sap in it to cure in the barn without being fired, with such weather as we're having.

Tobacco is really better off in the field growing until it gets enzyme ripe, than the green tobacco that has been cut so far. Ripe tobacco is heavier and green is of better quality when cured than the green tobacco. Such weather as we have been having is hard on any kind of tobacco. Farmers who are equipped to use coke can now get it from all coke dealers. This has been made possible through the requests made by Governor Clements to coke dealers. Farmers who are equipped to burn coke could probably become equipped by the time tobacco ripens, by buying a few coke stoves. Some of the farmers are using wood stoves, coal stoves, and oil burners. In these cases one should be very careful to avoid fires which could be very disastrous. T. J. Parsons, Wildlife, is trying a new kind of stove operated with oil and kerosene. It is very interesting to his experiment might call and see how he is getting along curing his tobacco.

Soil Conservation News

By Clay A. Colson
One hundred thirteen prizes totaling $2,925 are being offered Kentucky junior and senior high school students in the seventh annual Soil Conservation Essay Contest.

The competitor was announced this week by Barry Bingham, president of The Courier Journal, The Louisville Times and sWHAAS, and A. Threlkeld, president of the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts. These organizations sponsor the contest each year.

A first place award of $100 will go to the state student submitting the best essay on "The place of water control in my district soil conservation program."

A second place prize of $50 is being offered and $25 will go to the boy or girl placing third.

In addition to the state awards, 110 district prizes of $25 each are offered to winners in conservation districts submitting at least five essays. The winning essay in each district will then compete for the state awards.

All awards will be in the form of U. S. Savings Bonds. The three state winners will also win expense-paid trips to Louisville for an annual Farm Awards Luncheon. The contest closes January 1, 1951, and all entries should be in the hands of county school superintendents by that time.

Complete information on entering the Soil Conservation Essay contest may be obtained from district superintendents or supervisors or by writing the promotion department, The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, Louisville 2, Kentucky.

Champion Wheat Crop, Thick Legume Stand Come From Good Soil Care Plus Plant Food

GOOD soil management practices including the use of commercial fertilizer, paid off for Charles Doades, who farms near Washington in Davies county, Ind., when he was named 1950 champion of the 10-Acre Wheat Improvement Contest in Southwestern Indiana.

Doades harvested a 48 bushel per acre yield of Vigo wheat from the 10 acres he entered in the contest. At combining time, the field's legume stand was about 12 inches high. Doades plans to plow it for corn next spring.

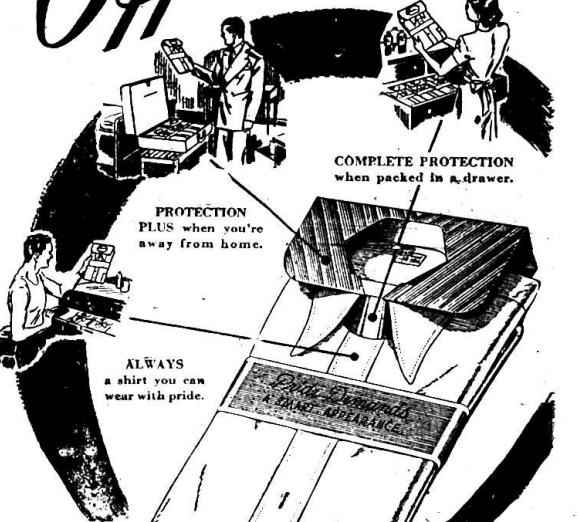

This year's championship field was seeded last October, at the rate of two bushels per acre. At seeding time, Doades added 600 pounds per acre of 12-12 fertilizer. Late in February he topdressed the field with 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre. The wheat followed soybeans in 1948 and corn in 1949.

Doades is a firm believer in legumes as a soil builder, according to Prof. Howard H. Thorpe, Purdue University agronomist. He seeded a mixture of seven pounds of sweet clover and five pounds of red clover on the field early in March.

More than 400 Southwestern Indiana wheat growers competed in the wheat improvement contest this year. Fields were scored on appearance, soil management, culture and yields. County agents and specialists from Purdue University cooperated in the contest.

Many of the answers to the questions which folks ask about polio are still unknown, but answers to many more have been established. Since several cases of polio have already been reported throughout the state and since summer is the season during which polio is most prevalent, it is timely to consider some of the known facts.

The length of time which a case should be isolated is, for example, an important piece of information to have on hand. The period of isolation should last for one week, from the date of the onset of the disease, or for the duration of the fever, if longer.

Cases of polio can be treated in a general hospital, provided the patient is adequately isolated.

To the question - who can catch poliomyelitis? - the answer is that anyone can. Children from 1 to 16 years of age are more frequent victims than adults, but among children there has been a gradual shift to the older age group.

There are, at present, no vaccines, drugs or sera which are known to be of any value in preventing or treating the disease. The practice of general measures of hygiene and sanitation and the avoidance of over-fatigue or chilling build up body resistance, but they cannot be said to render a person immune.

One of the questions most often asked - how is poliomyelitis spread? - cannot be definitely answered. Experience indicates that close association with infected people accounts for a large proportion of cases. Since it is possible to become infected without suffering from a clinically recognized attack of polio, it is difficult to determine the identity of apparently healthy carriers.

Of utmost importance is the realization that while polio does sometimes leave after-effects, one-third to one-half of the cases show no weakness and one-half of those who do will make a complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Pender of Lexington spent the weekend with relatives here.

ROCKCASTLE BEAUTY SPOTS

FOOTPRINT ROCK

Although this retouched photograph would hardly be called one of Rockcastle's beauty spots, the rock which contains the impression certainly is interesting from any viewpoint.

Footprint Rock, as it is called, is located on Lowman Hill in the northeastern part of the county near Disputants on the Climax road. It is in a wild but beautiful setting where nature went on another spree and seemingly pushed things around to the extent of disorder.

On this large rock are eight or more footprints. There is no doubt that they were made by prehistoric man. Some geologists estimate them to be close to 2 1/2 million years old.

How old they are cannot be said but they were made in the Upper Mississippian Limestone which prevails throughout this section, outcropping on top of our hills and therefore being made before the great Appalachian upheaval. In fact before the mountains were made.

All that modern man can do is imagine a short-statured, spish-looking creature who with shaded eyes stood on the soft sandy beach looking out over a vast prehistoric sea for friend or enemy.

Two of the prints were made as the man stooped in that manner. Others were made in stride and a few are of a smaller size as if made by his mate or offspring. The large flat heel and the wide spread toes of all the prints show plainly that their owner never knew anything about footwear.

Here is another Rockcastle wonder. It is easily accessible and anyone who has not been to Footprint Rock should go and see it out of curiosity if for nothing else.

Soil Building Job Should Be Put On Year-Round Basis

THERE is no "closed season" for an applying soil building amounts of commercial fertilizers. The heavens, says, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing recent research by Dr. W. A. Albrecht, chairman of the soils department of the University of Missouri, and A. W. Klemme, extension soils specialist.

Soil building amounts of plant food can be added any time machinery can be driven over the fields, according to these soils research men. The fertilizer application need not be timed with crop planting. It can be put on well in advance, whenever the ground is firm and labor is available.

The research men report that on most clay or silt loam soils of Missouri, the clay fraction of the soil has a high capacity for holding fertilizer. Thus very little of any plant food materials will leach down through the soil. This is particularly true if there is some growing crop which will catch the plant nutrients applied in more soluble form.

However, fertilizer in the row is still needed by crops to give them the quick start and sturdy growth needed for top yields.

Soil tests indicate good results from putting mineral nutrients on the soil during the regular operations of preparing the residue for the next crop, the agronomists report.

Some People have gone Crazy

All over the country, people are going buying mad. Why? We do not know... especially when this is the MOST PRODUCTIVE nation on earth.

This condition is terrible... when all it leads to is gouging, profiteering and INFLATION. Prices are SOARING... and a few ordinary commodities are getting scarce, simply because some greedy people are hoarding things they do not need, or never will need.

Think of it! Today America's production capacity is nearly double of what it was in 1939. It is so great, that it can cope with any situation, except the hoarding and panic buying.

If these folks would just stop and think... and then check up and see what they are actually getting for their money - and see what they are doing to their friends, neighbors and countrymen, no doubt they would stop all this foolish buying... and put their money in U. S. Savings Bonds, that not only would increase as the years go by... but also help finance this emergency.

OUR PLEDGE TO YOU--

If you are one of the lucky folks who own a Chevrolet Car or Truck... no matter what year or model it is... it is our urgent message that you keep this car up, in as near perfect condition as possible. Also KEEP THE CAR, as you have one of the best.

Here at our place, we have a good supply of GENUINE CHEVROLET PARTS... and facilities with specialized equipment, for renewing every moving part of your Chevrolet. Also all kinds of body parts, fenders, etc., as well as Accessories... such as Radios and Heaters.

It is our sincere desire to see that you get excellent service and performance... as well as economy, from your Chevrolet. You are welcome to come in for an estimate on any work that is needed. Convenient easy terms arranged on repair or reconditioning work, if you so desire.

DON'T BUY WHAT YOU DON'T NEED--It's smart to be THRIFTY.
