SONG OF SAFETY
Camp Fire Girl Groups Conduct Programs on Traffic Education

ADMINISTERING AUTOVIO—Along a song of safety while driving, Camp Fire Girls of the Central Valley Area Council in California launched a campaign in the communities of Stockton, Lodi, San Andreas, West Point and Okadale. At meetings of women and men's service clubs, PTA's, church and other groups, the young members of the youth agency distributed cards for drivers to clip on windshield visors. The card pointed out the perils of speeding along the highways and byways at 65, 75 and 85 miles per hour. Not content with this effort, Camp Fire members included Blue Bird (75 to 100) and Horizon Club groups (115 to 180), saw that every member of their organization signed pledges promising to obey safety rules while walking, skating and riding bicycles and scooters.

The girls also enlisted the aid of their parents in the safety campaign. Fathers sent letters to all drivers in the community, asking them to please observe safe driving practices, especially while in the vicinity of schools and playgrounds. The importance for teenagers to learn safe driving practices was so vital to a group of Beaumont, Texas, Camp Fire Girls that they have a journal discussion on "Should a Fourteen-Year-Old Have a Driver's License?" The discussion was held in school as part of their English class program. The girls did a lot of preparatory research before planning the discussion. They sent letters to the Beaumont City Council and explored the laws of different states with regard to licensing of teenagers. The girls also in many communities across the country Camp Fire members are participating in a demonstration, culminating their safety drives. The girls enlisted the cooperation of local police and highway departments and civic organizations, cars, bicycles, scooters, pedestrians and skaters all took part in the "safest" group of girls streaming from vehicles pointed out the "rules of the road."

Thelma Ritter gets star billing in her eighth picture, heading the cast "The Marriage Broker Story" (working title). She had several roles on the stage and in the radio. "The Marriage Broker" is her first picture. "A Letter to Three Wives" is the one she most people talk up and take notice. "All About Eve" and "The Matinee" are her latest.

Trouble Teaches Lena That Otto's Friends Are Not Bums

By Billy Rose

A beery little letter started up in the mail today from a man in Milwaukee, and if you'll pull up a chair and help yourself to the pretzels I'll be glad to let you take a look at it. . . Dear Mr. Rose: There's an old German couple in our neighborhood named Otto and Lena Brenner, and something happened to them not long ago which you might want to mention in your column.

Otto has been a gateman at one of the little trolleys for longer than most of us can remember, and ever since he got married in 1910 he's been turning his pay check over to his wife, who cashes it at the grocer's and gives him a couple of dollars from the top of a paper bag.

Billie Rose

LAST MONTH Lena got word that her sister in Racine was sick and needed her. . .

"SIN"

By Bro. Arnold Williams
Pastor Brodhead Baptist Church

An aged pagan, who had lived a life of greed, lust, and violence, was hearing his first sermon. The missionary was emphasizing God's judgment upon the sins of the flesh. When he was through, the feeble old man assured the missionary that he too was a Christian. In the many infirmities of his old age, and dim eyesight, dull hearing, and failing faculties, he was no longer greedy for wealth or power; he was no longer driven by the lusts of the flesh; he was no longer inclined to do violence, hence, he reasoned, he was now a Christian. What he failed to realize was that sin consists not merely in outward behavior, but even more in the attitudes of the heart; nor merely in transgression, but in omission as well; not merely in breaking the laws of God, but in ignoring the sovereignty of God, despising His love and rejecting His grace.

Every reference to sin carries a personal trust. Unless the conscience has been deadened by neglect or abuse, we know that we are somehow involved, and that "all have sinned" (Rom. 3:23). It is not difficult to recognize the sins of others. Although we may be unable to do very much about it. As to our own, there is much that we can do - and should. do. We can not help correct the wrong in others, if there is little right in us.

Railroad Worker And His Family Praise Hadacol

Hadacol Supplies Vitamin B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron Which His System Lacked.

Railroad men all over the country are known for their expert maintenance and careful sense of observation. Mr. G. Moncus, who has been in the service for over 17 years, is a railroad flagman. He is proud of his excellent job he is doing, and his observation powers are not limited to his job by any means. For instance, when Mr. Moncus noticed better his wife was beginning to feel, he decided he had better try the same thing and she might feel better. Yes, Mr. Moncus started taking HADACOL and now he says he has more pep and energy and just feel good in every way. Mr. and Mrs. Moncus were suffering deficiencies of Vitamin B₁, B₂, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mr. Moncus says: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a 'heavy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a better appetite. I have lots of pep and energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

GOP Appointments Urged

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has likely to move on to the left some of his genuine well-wishers have been dropping discreet hints that the most important thing he can do to bring about national unity is appoint two top Republicans to his cabinet—including possibly Governor Dewey as secretary of state.

Most unfortunate difficulty about the current bickering over foreign policy is the reaction abroad. All over Europe there has been a decision and dismay. The recent foreign-policy controversies came on top of the Korean disaster, but on top of the President's merrit-critic letter, both of which increased lack of confidence among our allies.

Many people don't realize, but the merrit-critic letter was published all the way from Africa to Norway. To the man in the street it would have been humbling to see the prime ministers and foreign ministers of Europe, it aroused fear that the head of the United States government might be a weakling, not merely over a music critic but over a potential enemy, and plunge them into the hands of the Russians.

They recall how President Roosevelt increased unity by appointing President Hoover as one of his two leading Republicans—Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox—into his cabinet as secretary of war and secretary of the navy. And while there is not too much personal enthusiasm for President Truman's Democratic circle, he is recognized as a man of real ability and speed sincerely as far as his country is concerned.

Furthermore, it is believed that Secretary of State Acheson would be glad to bow out in favor of Dewey in the interest of national unity. Acheson and Dewey have been conferring privately for the last six months, and several times Dewey has expressed his son's support. Finally Acheson had privately hoped to leave the state department, though he does not want to do so under fire.

Naval Campaign

It was just about a year ago that the famous battle of Midway was in Washington was Secretary of the Navy Francis Matthews. Matthews was in the navy and was up in arms over unification and one admiral had to be relieved. Captain Crommelin was campaigning for a super airplane carrier. Matthews' propaganda agency in the navy was shooting out malice against the air force. And Matthews was branded as a fresh-water executive from Omaha whose knowledge of shipping was confined to mud scows on the Missouri river.

However, the political pendulum had a habit of swinging into Washington and today Matthews is riding the crest of the wave. Secret of his comeback was keeping his mouth shut. Matthews was working closely with the efficient new executive who he picked to be chief of naval operations—Adm. Forster Sherman.

Today the navy has scored some real triumph in the Korean War, especially the evacuation of Hungnam where airplanes were used to evacuate the much-debated super airplane carrier which the navy so much wanted. Matthews' comeback was the result of his close cooperation with Sherman.

Mr. Moncus says: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a 'heavy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. Power of God

Lesson for February 4, 1951

ONCE UPON a time, miracles were one of the strongest arguments supporting Christianity. In our times, it is quite the reverse; miracles are for many Christians a major embarrassment.

Paul called Jesus Christ "the power of God" (1 Cor. 1:24). Whether you believe that Jesus could perform miracles or not, whether you find such a belief hard or easy, depends a good deal on what you think of Christ. If you think of him as a man much like yourself, and no more, then you have as hard a time believing that he could work miracles as I believe that you yourself could do so. But if you believe that in some way he was more than simply a man like yourself, but that God was in Christ (as Paul said), that his effort was the wisdom of God and through him surged the power of God, you will not have much difficulty with the miracles.

Motive for Miracle
 ONE THING the thoughtful reader will see in these miracles told of Jesus: they were not done to show off, Jesus himself did not brag about them, nor call attention to them, nor talk much about them. He saw people in trouble and he came to their help. It was as simple as that. He did not report to have stopped all the storms in Galilee, but only one. He did not cure all the leprosy nor even to save any one else from death, but to save them from fear.

ROCKCASTLE FACTS and STORIES

By RALPH GRIFFIN

Following the battles of Richmond, Perryville and Mill Oct. 18-21, 1861, Wildcat Camp, Springs considerable numbers of Confederate stragglers passed Mountain, Mount Vernon, Cat Skags Trace, The Cumberland Gap Road and the Old State Road upon their way southward but no large bodies of organized troops returned this way.

Frequent skirmishes were engaged in one having occurred near Cedar Rapids, three miles west of Mt. Vernon, only a few such engagements, however, were considered of sufficient importance to be recorded in Kentucky histories and there are but sparse details concerning these.

Newton A. Strick's Alpha Battalion of the 10th Kentucky Infantry, mentioned in the following, was at Rockcastle Creek Oct. 16, 1862. Rockcastle River Oct. 18, 1862. Rockcastle and around Wild Cat Mountain.

Oct. 21st, 1861. The 1862 fighting was probably encountered by the Federal scouts and Confederate stragglers retreating to Tennessee from Perryville, the engagements being mixed up with the previous year.

There is nothing which this column dislikes so much as dates, anyhow. It much prefers stories to facts and never permits the latter to interfere with the former. Since Mr. Albright got us into this, let him look up his own dates while we proceed with our story-telling.

Apparently the only battle worthy of the name was the one listed under Rockcastle Hills, better known as the Battle of Wildcat Mountain. Albright referred to in all the accounts which we have ever heard, as having been fought in Rockcastle Mountain, but this is true only because of a later alteration in the boundary line between the two counties.

At the time of this battle, the Rockcastle River was the boundary Camp Wildcat was almost a mile from the river on the south side and the attacking force came up from the south. On the 20th of September, 1861, Colonel T. Gabbard was directed to proceed with his regiment, the Seventh Kentucky Infantry, to Rockcastle Hills or the Cumberland Gap Road and there to fortify his position, such as would enable him to resist any force which might be sent against him. He was instructed to erect cabins for his men, pick up all possible information of enemy troop movements and to intercept any stragglers trying to escape in the direction of the Confederate lines.

These troops dug in and entrenched themselves upon Wildcat Mountain and also placed a small body of Home Guards upon Round Hill, some little distance away. Wildcat was most strongly fortified toward the south and Round Hill was guarded to protect against an attack from the rear. In addition to Colonel Gabbard's regiment, which was 800 strong, the Federal forces included the Thirty-Third Indiana regiment, under the command of Colonel John Colburn, and 250 dismounted cavalrymen under Colonel Wolford; Brigadier-General Schoepf was in command of the Confederate troops attacking this position were under the command of General F. K. Zollicoffer, General John Hunt, at the Battle of Mill Springs.

the Railroads RESPECT ...

the Labor Unions REPUDE this agreement!

At various states in the present dispute with the brotherhoods of railroad operating employees ... the railroads agreed to arbitrate. The union leaders refused. ... the railroads accepted the recommendations of President Truman's Emergency Board. The union leaders refused. ... the railroads accepted the White House proposal of August 19, 1950. The union leaders refused. ... Finally an Agreement ... signed at the White House on December 21, 1950. Now the union leaders seek to repudiate the Agreement. ... The railroads stand ready to put the terms of this Agreement into effect immediately, with back pay at the rates and date indicated. ... The Agreement is given in full below.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

Washington, D. C.
December 21, 1950

- Establish 40 hour week for yardmen with increase of 23 cents effective October 1, 1950, and additional 2 cents effective January 1, 1951.
- Set aside 40 hour week agreement until January 1, 1952, and establish 6 day work week for yardmen effective with the first pay roll period after 30 days from the date of execution of the formal agreement, yardmen required by the carrier to work on the 7th day to be paid overtime rates except engineers who shall receive straight time rates for the 7th day. This does not create guarantees where they do not now exist. On and after October 1, 1951, three months notice to be given of desire to go on 40 hour week. Provide for consideration of availability of manpower which becomes effective.
- Settle rules for 40 hour week and 6 day week.
- Grant yard conductors and brakemen other rules such as daily earnings minimum, car retarder operators and footboard yardmasters as recommended by Emergency Board No. 81.
- Settle following rules (Conductors and Trainmen):
Initial Terminal Delay (Conductors and Trainmen)
Interdivisional Runs
Pooling Caboose (Conductors and Trainmen)
Reporting for Duty
More than One Class of Service
Switching Limits
Air Hose (Conductors and Trainmen)
Western Differential and Double Header and Tonnage Limitation (Conductors and Trainmen, all Territories)
- Road men to receive 5 cents per hour increase effective October 1, 1950 and additional 5 cents per hour increase effective January 1, 1951.
- Quarterly adjustment of wages on basis of cost of living index (1 point to equal 1¢ per hour. First adjustment April 1, 1951. Base to be 175).

8. Agreement embodying principles applicable to yardmasters to be entered into for benefit of yardmasters.

9. Effective October 1, 1950, the basic hours of dining car stewards shall be reduced from 228 to 205 hours have been worked, no penalty overtime to accrue until 240 hours for at the pro rata rate.

Effective February 1, 1951, overtime at time and one-half shall accrue after 220 hours have been worked. The basic monthly salary to be paid for the 205-hour month. Except that four dollars and ten cents ($4.10) shall be added to the present monthly rate effective January 1, 1951.

10. In consideration of above, this agreement to be changed or modified under provisions of Railway Labor Act Memorandum on Proposals for changes in wages or rules until October 1, 1953, as follows:

No proposals for changes in rates of pay, rules or working conditions will be initiated or progressed by the employees against their carrier or by any carrier against its employees, parties hereto, within a period of three years from October 1, 1950, except conditions which may have been permitted to exist prior to June 1, 1950. Provided, however, that if as the result of a government wage stabilization policy, workers generally have been permitted to receive so-called annual improvement increases, the parties may meet with Doctor Steelman or after July 1, 1952, to employees covered by or not further wage adjustments for in addition to increases received under the wage stabilization formula at the request of either party for such a meeting. Doctor Steelman shall fix the time and place for such meeting. Doctor Steelman and the parties may secure information from the wage stabilization authorities or other government agencies. If the parties are unable to agree at such conferences whether or not further wage adjustments are justified they shall ask the President of the United States to appoint a referee nation, and decide promptly whether further adjustments are justified and, if so, what such increases should be, shall have one vote, the employee representatives shall have one vote and the referee shall have one vote.

11. If the parties cannot agree on details of agreement or rules they shall be submitted to John R. Steelman for final decision.

The usual protections for arbitrators, miscellaneous above existing standard daily rates will be included in the formal agreement.

The foregoing will not debar management and committees on individual railroads from mutually agreeing upon changes in agreement.
