Mail Box Problem Up To L&N Officials

The citizens of Mt. Vernon and Broadhead have written their congressman about the injustice of having their depot mail boxes removed and the blame has been fixed. Immediately upon receipt of the letters and wires from the people of Rockcastle County, Congressman James S. Golden contacted the director of the Division of Railway Transportation concerning the depot mail service from the Superintendent of Railway Mail Service in Louisville.

The U. S. Mail Boxes at the L. & N. Depots were taken away by Mr. Thorndill because the L. & N. trains on the division are not being held long enough in Mt. Vernon and Broadhead to enable the clerks to get out of their mail cars to go to these boxes, unlock them, take the mail out of them, reload the mail cars and then get back in their mail cars before the trains pull out of these stations.

According to Mr. Thorndill said, on at least one occasion, a train pulled out and left the railway clerk. But Mr. Thorndill further stated that the railway mail clerks did not have this trouble because the L. & N. used steam locomotives to pull their passenger trains. The rail-road according to information from Mr. Thorndill, this makes the difference. Mr. Thorndill said the Post Office officials are afraid some of the railway clerks might get injured if they should undertake to catch these trains, they have started to pull away from the stations.

Mr. Thorndill also stated that the Post Office Department will remove any objection to the restoration of the service at Mt. Vernon and Broadhead if the people here could get some money raised from the L. & N. Railroad station by their would in the future period of their mail trains for a period of three to three minutes at these stations to enable their mail clerks to pick up the mail and get back on board their mail cars before the trains pull out.

Now the matter is being taken up with the L. & N. Railroad, with the permission of the Pullman, who headed the petition in Mt. Vernon, and the U. S. Post Office, who is campaigning in Broadhead, and having written the railroad officials concerning the matter.

K. U. Completes $35,000 Substation

Kentucky Utilities Company now has completed a $35,000 substation and switching station near Mt. Vernon to improve electric service in Rockcastle County. Roy K. U. manager here, announced this week.

This project, located about a mile from Mt. Vernon on U. S. 50, gives the area a three-way feed. The area, which had been served through Lancaster, will now be fed from the 69,000-volt line connecting K. U.'s Dix Dam hydro-electric station with the company's Pineville plant. The Lancaster line is to be used as a standby.

With the new connection here electric power can be brought to Rockcastle County users from either Dix Dam or Pineville. The Pineville plant is being doubled in capacity by the installation of a 35,000-kilowatt generating unit.

Mr. Owens said about 1700 electric customers in Rockcastle County and in the Crab Orchard area would benefit most from the substation and switching station.

Also surviving are another son, Roosevelt Norton of Bloss, 10 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, five brothers, six sisters and a host of other relatives and friends.

Willis McKenzie Dies In St. Joseph Hospital

Willis Adams McKenzie was born in Rockcastle County February 1, 1891, and departed this life at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, Saturday, May 19, 1951, as a result of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was a member of the South Christian Church, near Stanford, and a devoted Christian at an early age and had a strong and abiding faith.

In early life he was married to Ann Mc Miller, who preceded him in death, and of this union two daughters survive. On December 18, 1942, he united in marriage with Miss Hazel Marie Riddle of Mt. Vernon.

Mr. McKenzie had been a member of Highland Lodge 640, F. and M. S. for 34 years and was a member of Oletha Temple Shrine at Lexington.

He was one of the town's leading business men being proprietor of the McKenzie Tourist Court at the time of his death and also county supervisor of highways. In previous years he was manager of the Rockcastle and Davis Hotels of Mt. Vernon and all his life had been associated in the restaurant and store business.

He was very active in community enterprises, having served as a member of the City Board of Education and Town Council at different times. He also served as Chief of the Fire Department and was instrumental in bringing about the erection of the local graded and high school.

He had been active in Democratic politics here for many years and in November was commissioned a Kentucky Colonel on the staff of former Gov. Earle C. Clements.

Mr. McKenzie always worked for the betterment of his community and helped those who came to him in need. He said that he hoped to build a road to every church in the county. His untiring services, even during illness, will be sadly missed by all and it can truly be said that he was a lover of his fellowman.

Those who survive to mourn his passing are his widow, Mrs. Hazel McKenzie; his daughters, Miss Edna Grace McKenzie of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Juanita Moore of Burkesville; the sister, Mrs. Ella Mae Millins of Mobile, Ala., as well as other relatives and host of friends.

Mt. Vernon School Closes Fortieth Year

The Mt. Vernon Independent High School, established in 1911, closed its fortieth year Friday night, with Frank McHargue as valedictorian of the 1951 graduating class and Carl Clontz as salutatorian.

National Honor Society awards were made to Frank McHargue, Carl Clontz, John Bond, Rose Katherine Fred, Betty Jo Childress, Mabel Proctor, Joan Anderson, Gladys Owens and Cynthia Hayes.

Mr. Vernon became an A school in the early years of its existence and at no time since has it had other than an A rating. The number of graduates has increased from its first class of 1911 to its present number, 53.

Several days ago the Senior Class was given the State Classification test in mathematics. The results of that test show that the average of the Mt. Vernon Seniors was well above the average of the 8,045 high school Seniors who took the test.

Three of the students attained a percentage of 99, which is the highest possible. One score was 100 and two others scored 98. The three scoring 99 were Frank McHargue, Carl Clontz and John Bond. Rose Katherine Fred scored 96.

Eight of the graduates have been accepted by Berea College for the coming year. Three expect to enter nurse's training and four are planning to enter business college.

One student, Frank McHargue, has been appointed alternate for the Scholarship in Engineering at the University of Kentucky.

According to a late evaluation, the Mt. Vernon Independent High School is now eligible for admission to the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Cleanup Week To Start In Mt. Vernon Monday

The war against mosquitoes has already been started in Mt. Vernon and next week has been designated as "Cleanup Week" in a further effort to combat the mosquito problem here.

The first battle against the disease-carrying pests got underway Monday under the leadership of Rev. Wendell Belew, pastor of the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, and president of the Baptist Brotherhood, which is sponsoring a spraying project.

With the services of a driver and truck donated by the Kentucky Stone Company, Brother Belew supervised the spraying of the pond in front of the school. Other open water pools, and swamp-like lots and fields which provide a breeding place for mosquitoes. The project was carried out Tuesday by the Kentucky Stone Donates Spraying Equipment.

On Tuesday, 500 gallons of a pump and spray and insect oil was donated by Earl Hammons and Fred Baker. The City Council has also donated DDT. A total of 299 gallons of this insecticide was provided, and 500 gallons of oil was distributed.

But citizens of the town are reminded that the spraying project is only a start in ridding the town of the dreaded mosquitoes. It is also essential that garbage and rubbish, as well as weeds, be kept away from this in mind, "Cleanup Week" was designated, with the Mt. Vernon City Council setting to start at Monday, May 28.

Pick-up Service
 On Tuesday and Friday, the City will furnish free hauling service to all property owners for the disposal of trash, and every Tuesday and Friday, every street in town during the two days designated as pick-up days.

No brush from tree trimming or weeds will be hauled, but all other types of refuse will be picked up if put in containers placed at the curb line or near easily accessible driveways.

As mosquitoes also breed in weeds, residents of the town are urged to give attention to any weeds in their yards. Premises, as cutting weeds will be one more aid toward the goal of a clean town.

Water cans which collect stagnant water also attract the mosquitoes, and residents are especially urged to watch out for them. The Mt. Vernon Mosquito problem can be coped with, and the Mayor and members of the City Council most urgently insist that every citizen join hand-in-hand in this effort to make Mt. Vernon a cleaner and better place in which to live.

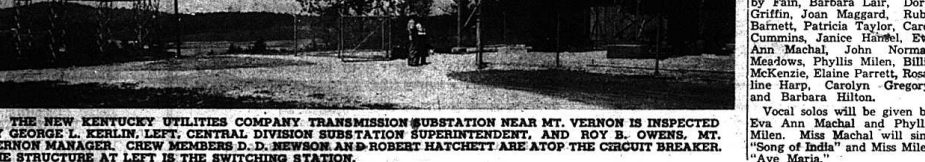

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McKenzie and daughter, Billie Bryant, left Wednesday for a week's vacation in Florida.

Household Hints

After searing less-tender cuts of meat, cook cooking methods as steaks, broilers and roasting should be used.

Protein foods require clean, covered metal surroundings to keep them free of harmful bacteria.

Cook dried peas, beans and lentils in the water in which they have been soaked so that valuable nutrients may be saved.

The best vegetable buy for March is celery with carrots, asparagus, potatoes, parsnips, turnips, snow peas and sweet potatoes on the plentiful list.

Whatever method of cooking fish you use they should only be done until tender and flaky.

Plentiful proteins in March are eggs, turkeys, broilers and fryers, frozen fish fillets, cottage cheese, peanut butter and dry beans.

No need for steel wool to rust and become unattractive. Between uses, store it in a jar of baking soda-water-three tablespoons soda to a cup of water. Soda is a rust inhibitor.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Junior High School Girls Learn How to Live in Outdoor Camps

In spite of eight-cylinder automobiles, television sets, electric dishwashers and instant hot foods, America continues to be a nation of pioneers.

If you don't visit a Camp Fire Girls camp this summer, you will find a group of junior high school girls living in a primitive clearing, 30 minutes by boat from the main camp where the younger girls live.

In Gypsy Haven, the pioneer Blue Birds (junior members of Camp Fire Girls) think breakfast cooked on hole stoves tastes better than any other, in spite of such banquets as "sun-burned" noses and panaches.

camp, the only permanent installations are a storage tent, foot-lock and toilet. The campers bring along chow pans, axes, rope, lashing cord and sleeping bags. With the Forest Ranger's permission, they cut down trees from which stools and tables are built. Needled, small-stemmed branches become mattresses under their beds. The girls also make other camp craft necessities such as sunken food-coolers, reflector ovens, stone-lined baking holes, drainage systems and trash pits.

During their stay at Gypsy Haven the girls cook their own meals and make friends with the area's wild life. A doe and her fawn visit the camp daily and chipmunks come up to eat from the girls' hands.

IN DEER HOUNDS, I.A., seven lucky Horizon Campers, members of the senior high school age, accompanied by three counselors, last summer paddled a 24-foot canoe 35 miles down the Red Moses river. Sandbars and rapids added thrills to the trip which lasted five steady hours of hard paddling.

When an experienced camper in Portland, Ore., reaches the ripe old age of 14, she gets to live in a unit of tree-houses.

An added task goes with outdoor cooking in Dickinson, N. D., where Camp Fire Girls prepare frog-leg dinners from frogs they catch themselves.

Even Blue Birds, who are seven-to-ten-year-olds and the youngest members of Camp Fire Girls, are busy with outdoor projects. They leave to cook on tin can stoves or on sticks over an open fire. Their pride in their own efforts produces an enthusiasm that overflows far beyond results. As one little San Diego Blue Bird said last year while the number of tags on a badly "sunburned" bread twist: "I wish my mother could cook like this."

In a recent issue of The Camp Fire Girl, Ernest F. Schmidt, director of Schiff Outdoor Activities at Dickinson, N. D., gave Camp Fire campers two rules to follow when hiking.

The first is to stop, look and listen if they become lost; to collect thoughts; look for landmarks, and listen for sounds of trains, auto-buzzes or running water. The second suggestion is always to carry with them a Liptop Lost Kit of emergency tools. The kit, which each girl can carry in her satchel, should include a small compass, spare wire and fishing tackle, pen, pencil, razor blades, paper and pencil, and flash light. All these articles fit into a cigarette-type plastic case or a typewriter ribbon case either of which can be wrapped with nail polish or shellac cut 50 per cent with alcohol.

GRASSROOTS

Gen. Charles Dawes Served Nation in Many Ways

THE LATE GEN. CHARLES G. DAWES was an interesting character, a man of many varied experiences, the general and lawyer, brother, Rufus, were almost wholly responsible for the holding in 1933 of the Century of Progress exposition. A group of the city's wealthy men had proposed that such an exposition be held at that time—and then the depression broke.

The proposer objected to financing an exposition at such a time. The two Dawes brothers, Charles and Rufus, had been announced, the show must go on. During the days it was held in Midway, Ill., Dawes on many occasions stood at the head of a numbering machine in the administration building as it checked off the visitors, one by one, as they passed through the paid admission turnstiles. In the end, there were enough such admissions to enable the exposition to pay out. Under his charter it could not make a profit, but there was enough left after all bond holders were paid, plus interest, to raise all the buildings, and to buy the landscape the five mile long lake front park through which rolls every day many thousands of automobiles from within and without the city.

Gen. Dawes served his country. As a soldier, he was purchasing agent of the American army in France during the first World War. As a civilian he served as vice president of the National Land, as first director of the budget and controller of the treasury. The Dawes bank, Central Trust of Illinois, was the first big $10 million-borrower of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and every dollar of that money was paid. Through the years he spent in Chicago he was a leader in the city's promotion of many years of its wealth, he died comparatively poor.

It is broadly rumored in Washington that other heads than that of Douglas MacArthur are to feel the blow of President Truman's execution axe. Rumor has it that J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F.B.I., is included in the next list of victims. Hoover and the F.B.I. have been largely responsible for the conviction of such Russian spies as Alger Hiss.

THE FICTION CORNER O.K. BY HER By Richard H. Wilkinson

THE MAN who had rented Freda the outboard motor told her that any fool could run one of these. However, right now, drifting in the wrong direction in the middle of Mirror Lake, with a sun beating down unmercifully, she would have given up on a good deal to have the man's neck between her two hands. Just for luck she gave the crank one more spin. The motor went "chugura, chugura"—and died.

"So furious she could have cried. Instead she stood up and began to wave wildly at a boat that had suddenly appeared around an island point. The boat kept serenely on its course and Freda was about to give up yelling and abandon her boat and fate when the other craft swerved and headed in her direction.

Two minutes later a black-haired young man was grinning up at her pleasantly. "Trouble?" he asked. "There's not a thing wrong with this motor," said Freda, "except that it won't catch her breath. The young man climbed aboard. He had a wrench in his hand. "I'll fix it for you."

Freda thought he was pretty confident, but a moment later she changed her mind. "Strained my crotch," he said. "I'm an expert on outboards. My business is retrieving 'em."

"Sure. Plenty of motors lost in this lake every year. I inspect 'em, either of 'em was a find 'em, then I grapple for 'em, haul 'em up, repair 'em complete the job so definitely started by the summary removal of MacArthur. It is possible the disastrous results of the MacArthur decapitation may result in staying the hand of the President in the case of J. Edgar Hoover. His party cannot afford another such result, especially if between now and the next elections. Should the people receive another slap in the face within the next few months at the instigation of the Sea Demon outboard motor, they would be well served to save the expense of the next election.

The administration at Washington continuously insists we will offer nothing that can be considered as appeasement to Communism, but at the behest of England, the granddaddy of all appeasers, and the insistence of the socially-inclined Dean Acheson, the President tried the one man more generally feared by Stalin and his Red hordes than any one else. That was appeasement, and the American people gave ample evidence that they did not like it.

ROCKCASTLE FACTS and STORIES

By RALPH GRIFFIN

Meanwhile James Langford had joined forces with the other segment of his relief party. The two white men and three negroes were rushing to intercept the Ku Klux at a strategic point near Irvine Gilmore's home.

These men had no way of knowing what had happened at the Tavern but were determined to get all possible revenge for the attack, or die in the attempt. They arrived at the selected spot just as a few moments before the body of horsemen arrived. There are two versions as to what happened when the two parties joined.

The version given our informant, J. S. 'Tip' Langford, by his father is as follows: The five men simply stepped out into the road and fought it out with the Klansmen. The eleven men were sober and better plain lucky.

Another grapevine version which was current for many years following the battle, was that James Langford deployed his forces in ambush behind a row of wild plum trees which grew alongside the road. This would seem to have been the more sensible procedure, since there were five men against an estimated fifty-five. Whether used for the purpose of ambush or not, the plum trees were there and may still be. Had he been there your correspondent would certainly have used one of them, although a large oak would have been much preferred.

Whatever may have been the conditions under which the fight began, people living in earshot heard a wild burst of firing, accompanied by shouts, yells and oaths. There were two or three hundred shots fired and the experienced

When all was over James Langford, elated by the victory, gave a loud yell and fired his pistol into the air by way of celebration. This bit of bravado came near to being his last shot, finally, they were just near enough to fire at the flash of his pistol; they came within inches of getting a bulls-eye.

Neighbors were afraid to go out until morning, when they found quite a scene of carnage. The Klansmen had one more wound to add to the ones which he had already received that night. He was slightly wounded in the hip by a pistol-ball, and it was the only casualty suffered by the Langford faction.

The Klansmen were badly scattered and the "Klan whistle" was heard all night and during the following day from points in the surrounding hills. Like scattered quail, they were attempting to rejoin the covey.

This battle, we are told, broke the back of the Klan in Rockcastle. There were to be other scattered disturbances and snarlives lost at future dates, but roadway was littered with guns, pistols, hats and even a saddle. More than one mark was found in the soft sand, apparently made when men pitched from their saddles and there was considerable blood.

Unless we are mistaken Judge W. T. Davis still has one of the pistols which was picked up at the scene. For many years your correspondent carried a silver dollar which was found there; he was so unfortunate as to lose it one day while watching-horses run.

The actual results of all this shooting must be largely accepted from rumors current at the time. It was accepted as truth that several Mt. Vernon citizens were immediately thereafter confined to their homes with unexplained ailments. One or more of the incapacitated gentlemen gave forth a word from their sick-chambers that they had been "hooked by cows."

A doctor was said to have set up a temporary operating room in a back-street building. There he not only was enabled to relieve a number of sufferers but also to salvage a considerable quantity of lead.

Our informant, who gave us this story in 1940, said that he finally obtained definite information as to the number of casualties suffered. According to him, a man confessed many years later that he was a member of the Ku Klux band which engaged in the battle. This man gave a list of fifty-four men who participated upon his side. He said that four out-of-county men were killed and smuggled away to their homes. They were buried without benefit of death certificates. Of the names listed, not one was living in 1940.

Irvine Gilmore had one more wound to add to the ones which he had already received that night. He was slightly wounded in the hip by a pistol-ball, and it was the only casualty suffered by the Langford faction.

The Klansmen were badly scattered and the "Klan whistle" was heard all night and during the following day from points in the surrounding hills. Like scattered quail, they were attempting to rejoin the covey.

This battle, we are told, broke the back of the Klan in Rockcastle. There were to be other scattered disturbances and snarlives lost at future dates, but the Ku Klux never gathered again in force.

WHAT ELSE DOES A GENERATOR DO?

The power that America must have if she is to remain great flows from the mighty generators of her business-managed electric companies. In World War II, electricity was never too little or too late. Since then, business-managed companies have about doubled their capacity.

Here's Kentucky Utilities Company's postwar record:

Two huge new power plants built. Work of doubling the size of a third virtually completed. Plans completed for immediate doubling of the capacity of two new ones. These plants will be capable of generating more than 2-3/4 BILLION kilowatt-hours annually.

But That's Not All These Generators Will Do!

Since 1944, KU's power plants have generated more than $20,000,000 in taxes to provide for defense and our general welfare. Even without any further increase in our tax rate, more than $5,000,000 annually will be paid into federal, state, and local tax treasuries.

This money will build roads, tanks, schools, and airplanes. It will help support many activities benefiting the farmer - county agents, home demonstrators, soil conservation service, vocational agriculture training, 4-H Club activities, and agricultural colleges. It will also help pay teachers, firemen, policemen, tank drivers, pilots, and gunnery sergeants.

From generators like these comes the life blood of our country - the power to live better and safer in our great democracy, the envy of the world.

Mac Urges Action Against China; Farm Land Prices at Record Peak

MAN WITH A MISSION—At last, much to the relief of the average home-owner, the emotional thinking that manifested itself with the return of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the United States, gave way to considerable sober reasoning as the general testified before congress concerning the cause and results of his removal as commander in the Pacific. Stripped of the superficial, the general's testimony revealed him a man with a burning conviction...

Before the Senate
Testifying before the house and senate armed services and foreign relations committees, Gen. MacArthur pressed for a new foreign policy and attack on China. His testimony was called a two-fronted attack on the administration by the press.

THE OTHER VIEW—And after MacArthur presented his views of how to conduct the war in Korea, the military man who in the eyes of the home-town equals MacArthur in ability and popularity, Secretary of Defense Marshall, told the congressional committees that MacArthur's peace appeal to the enemy had destroyed for the time being any chance of a Korean war settlement.

Step by step the 70-year-old Marshall disputed many of MacArthur's statements and warned against the general's proposal to step up the Korean war by bombing Red China and forcing a Communist surrender. It was MacArthur's outspoken call for this action—and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops—that led to his dismissal.

That is the other side of the picture. But the question remains—which plan for achieving peace will the nation follow. It is a question that must be settled in the mind of each individual American, not just in congress.

LAND PRICES HIT NEW HIGH—Main Street economy is built around the land and what it can produce. And any fluctuation in land prices and its products is a good indication of the economic future of the home town. Good farm property is in demand because people think prices are going higher. Land is a good hedge against rising prices...

MIDWEST FEEDERS HURT—As expected, the OPS regulations rolling back beef prices raised a howl of protest from cattlemen across the country. But it is in the industry, the midwest feeder was hardest hit by the new regulations. According to ANS members in the meat industry, 85 per cent, or seven million head, are slaughtered for export last year...

Communist Regroup to Attack
Beaten back in a slaughter that claimed as many as 75,000 casualties, Communists in Korea regrouped for another thrust to the south, UN command reported. The fighting would stay in the area indicated in the above map.

THE BATTLE ISN'T OVER—The Communist spear offensive ended in the slaughter of approximately 75,000 Chinese and North Korean troops without any notable gains. But the battle isn't over. The Reds retreated into North Korea to regroup for the next phase which could mean another all-out attack at any point along the Han River. It may well be that the second phase will begin at any moment. But UN commanders believe it, too, will end in slaughter unparalleled in history.

HOME TOWN BORROWING—The home town who thought his town might get that much needed farm program, drainage or sewage-construction project in the near future may be in for a big disappointment. Charles E. Wilson, mobilization director, has asked states, cities, and counties to get clearances before borrowing in excess of $1,000,000. He made his requests on the need to halt inflationary spending and to save defense-needed materials and man power.

THE JUNE GRADUATE Employers Disregard Military Status

Even if this year's college graduate rates in the draft, the big corporations are hiring him, even before he has received his diploma for a few months' work, if he is desirable employment material, and will have his job waiting for him when he returns from military service again. This is the prevailing trend reported by college placement officials in the annual employment survey made by Northwestern Na-

Displaced Persons
Lesson for May 27, 1951

"D. P." is a 20th-century noun which this displaced person has for centuries dotted the international landscape. We can define displaced person as one who, willingly or unwillingly, is a long-term expatriate. It is not a new word, but it has become so common that it has almost become a cliché. It is a word which no longer stings. A D.P. would usually go home if he could, but he can't. His home has been bombed out, or he has no one there, or his home town has been destroyed. Perhaps he and his neighbors have been forcibly moved out by a government that wants some one else in their place.

The D.P. is usually at first poor, in the nature of the case; a foreigner where he is, sometimes without even a native land to go back to, or any thing of a home town. Perhaps the most recent uprooting of people in recent times has been in Korea, where war victims have had to move out by the million.

The Innocent With the Guilty
D.P. Back in Bible times many of the Hebrews became D.P.'s. After the downfall of Israel and Judah, thousands of Jews were taken to the country along the Euphrates and Tigris rivers, there to find themselves at the best their aristocrats' debauched lives.

The Bible writers always looked on that experience as a punishment of the nation, and so it was. But the experience illustrates a number of things. One is that the innocent often suffer with the guilty. Yet those who were forced into those long death-marches had been to blame for their country's wrong-doings. Bad decisions of king and council caused the coming disaster to thousands who had had nothing to do with their king and council, but they were their aristocrats' debauched lives.

D.P.'s Taking Root
A NOTHER thing to be noticed in the Bible story of the Hebrew D.P.'s is the way they took wherever they went, and helped to build up the country, and help themselves at the same time. They took root, in short, and even when later on their descendants were free to go "home" relating very few ever went back to Palestine.

From that time to this, the Jews have been scattered over the wide world, living (where it has been possible) as good citizens of whatever lands they call their own. We can still read Jeremiah's letter (ch. 29) to the D.P.'s from Judah, urging them to buy land, to lay out vineyards and fruit trees, and to get their houses and gardens made themselves at home in Babylon.

We read of an Ezekiel, owning a home and settling down in Babylon in the morning and then the next day in the royal household of Nebuchadnezzar, and as a man rising to high office. Many of the D.P.'s took their place among the best citizens of their respective adopted lands.

D.P.'s in American History
It has often been since, the United States alone owns a great deal of D.P.'s. The famous statue of Liberty is a welcome sign to such people. The Pilgrims who came over in the Mayflower were D.P.'s, already well educated. The Huguenot protestant refugees from France by official persecution, became top-level, successful citizens in England and America.

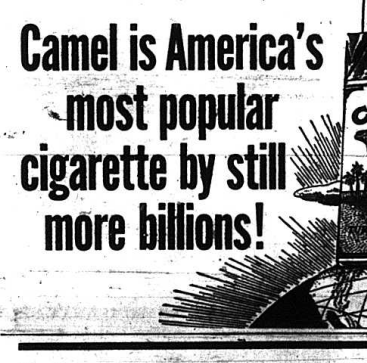

Revolutionary troubles in Europe a hundred years ago brought to American shores Carl Schurz, a refugee, and a fugitive from the police of two countries; here in America becoming a top success in many fields: general of the army, minister to Spain, Secretary of War. D.P.'s have been famous; but many thousands of them, throughout the troubled area, have been a blessing to the lands that adopted them. So it may be in our time, that as God has before now brought out of evil, he may in our time bring out of evil, the cruelities of deportation and homelessness again new understandings, fresh beginning, and an interweaving many strands of humanity into a stronger fabric than before.

DECORATING BASEMENT
Question: We are planning to decorate our basement. Would it be advisable to apply a coat of aluminum as a sealer before applying basement paint? What is the best paint to use for the basement?
Answer: For the masonry parts apply a cement base paint without any other base. It must go on a clean unfinished surface. Ordinary oil paint is not used on masonry walls which are apt to be damp. The cement paint is sold by dealers in masonry supplies and building materials; it comes as a powder to mix with water. For the wood parts use two coats enamel undercoater and a coat of enamel. Use only a rubber base floor paint for the cellar floors or asphalt tile.

MUSTY SMELL UNDER HOUSE
Question: Part of my basement isn't dug out. There is about two feet of clearance in this part, with practically no air circulation. There is a bad musty smell from this part of the basement, especially in damp weather, and I was wondering if there were anything I could use to eliminate this bad odor.
Answer: Try to provide more ventilation under the house, and in addition, if you can manage to crawl underneath, you could sprinkle the ground with chloride of lime. Cover your face with a gas mask while working to protect yourself from inhaling the stuff. If the space is too cramped for you to work in there, the only alternative would be to locate someone with an agricultural spraying machine.
