U.S. Society has Distributed 406 Million Bibles in 135 Years

This year, the American Bible Society will celebrate 135 years of service in promoting wider circulation of the Bible. It was in May, 1826 that a group of Christian leaders gathered in New York and founded the national society for the distribution of the Bible.

America was starting out in a great period of expansion when the Bible Society was founded. New York, the largest city of some 100,000 people clustered around the Battery, but the country was spreading westward. Already settlements of hordes of men and their families were dotting the wilderness. It was the era of the American pioneer, and along with the need for roads and schools came another—the need for Bibles.

Although there were local societies for this purpose in New York and communities, no one was able to fulfill the needs to the west. It was the small city of some 10,000 people, the foreign missions, who was most instrumental in calling together the historic meeting which brought about the formation of a national Bible society. Many notables of the day were in attendance. Among them were Dr. Lyman Beecher, the father of all the Beechers; James Fenimore Cooper; and Elias Boudoin, who as president of the Continental Congress had signed the peace treaty with Great Britain in 1783.

Boudoin was elected the first president of the society. His vice-president was John Jay, the first chief justice of the United States Supreme Court. In later years, another great supreme court chief justice was to serve as vice-president of the society, Charles Evans Hughes.

AS AMERICA expanded, so did the society. From their first small headquarters in the offices of a printer, they moved into their own establishment. After repeated enlargements, the society moved to their own building on Astor Place, which was then so far uptown as to be considered almost a suburb of the city. The Bible House, which is the only building of its day to occupy an entire block in New York, was the show place of the city. Today, although the Astor Place Bible House is still being used, main headquarters for the society is housed in a modern building on Park Avenue and 57th Street in New York.

The number of Bibles, whole and in portions, printed by the American Bible Society since their first edition of 10,000 Bibles in 1816 is staggering. During the Civil War period alone it landed in the United States 2,297,832 Scriptures, most of which were New Testaments for soldiers fighting on both sides. In its 150 years, the American Bible Society has distributed 21,409,998 volumes; in one hundred years 12,232,222 copies of all the Scriptures had been distributed. And yet the distribution increases each year. "Never before has the Bible been so wanted," said Dr. Robert T. Taylor, general secretary of the society, at the 135th annual meeting held in New York recently. "The 1959 report shows a record distribution is almost every part of the world, in my ten years as president of the society I have never known an emergency, but I have never seen anything like the present opportunities."

Today the American Bible Society is a prime American institution. It is making the Bible the least expensive and most readily available book in the world. In many languages, a Gospel may be had for as little as one cent. And, if the penny isn't available, it can be had for less. It is America's most purchased book. It is the world's best seller. Horace Greely once said, "It is impossible in any wise to enslave a Bible-reading people." The Bible is a book of freedom.

Mac Could Have Left UN Command, Kept Japan Job

By Wright A. Patterson NOW that we have heard both sides I am convinced that General MacArthur has the best of the argument, and it would seem that General Marshall, as spokesman for the administration, largely concedes that. What I still do not understand is why it was necessary to summarily relieve General MacArthur of all his duties in the far east, where his opponents admit he has done so outstandingly.

If the United Nations took exception to his proposed methods, that organization could have asked President Truman to have said, "I am sorry, but this man is the best commander in his field commander, for he was employed by the United Nations as supreme commander of its forces in Korea."

WRONG AND RIGHT

COURSE it was wrong for Johnny to kiss her and it was right for Jilly to slap his face. They stood there with the desk chair between them, staring at each other, and in that moment, Jilly recovered first. She turned away and walked to the door with her head high and went out.

Johnny sighed and sat down at the desk. He was amazed and disgusted with himself. Ten minutes ago he had been the practical exorcist. He had rung for his secretary, Miss Alisen, and a girl with a tanned complexion and blue eyes had appeared instead.

"I'm Jilly Alisen," she explained matter-of-factly. "Miss Alisen was absent and I'm taking her place." She had stood looking at him from the other side of the desk without saying a word he had reached out and pulled her toward him. She had smiled and he had slapped his face.

Sitting at his desk Johnny wondered why he hadn't noticed before. He realized he must be new, he told himself. To gesture angrily. What a fool he'd made of himself.

He looked at his wrist. He noticed that he was missing buttons—well, with things like that. And he told himself fiercely, "I wasn't going to begin now, Miss Alisen. You'd have to be dismissed."

He stood up, grimly determined. The matter had better be attended to at once. Half way to the outer office he stopped short. Suppose Miss Alisen had already quit? Probably she had. The possibility that she might be the case brought on a sense of panic. He rushed to the door and opened it, was vastly relieved to discover a tanned-colored head bent over a desk close by the door.

He went back to his own desk. Well, she hadn't quit and he wouldn't fire her. He decided to let her stay and ignore her entirely. During the remainder of the morning he put Miss Alisen from his mind. What he had to do was dictate a report for a stenographer in exaggerated unconvincing. And when Miss Alisen's name appeared he told himself he was relieved.

By long established custom, the Korean bridegroom stays with his bride three days in his father-in-law's house before returning with her to his own parents' house. Official tradition begins for the Korean only after marriage. Even if he is 70, a bachelor's opinion has little influence.

The Koreans' traditional habit of wearing many and varied hats is said to have had its origin as a measure against plotting. An ancient ruler, the legend goes, once concluded that men could not conspire if they could not put their heads together. Hence he required his subjects to wear such huge hats that whispered conversations could not be carried on.

County Agent's Notes

By Robert F. Spence

Timely Garden Notes

This is the turn of the year, both in season and in the manner of the gardening.

Next winter's canned or frozen corn and beans should be planted. Also, just in case that tomato blight comes, and refuses to be controlled, it might be a good idea to sow seed now, for making slips to set out mid-July for a try at late tomatoes.

Late beets and carrots should go in.

As to "season," there have been years that the start of June was the beginning of a drought, that, except for chance showers, lasted until early autumn. To be on the safe side, and to reduce the surface soil to dust.

This is winter-potato planting month. Sequoia and Klanting are two good sorts. Planting time is about June 15.

Hard on the heels of the potatoes' coming up, will come two troublesome insects—the leafbeetle and the leafhopper. Both are controlled with DDT, 1/2% dust, or spray made of 50% wettable DDT, two tablespoons per gallon of water, or one pound to 50 gallons. Starting when the potato tops are from one inch to four inches tall, two more applications should follow, 10 days apart. (Some of the trouble called "blight" may be "leafbeetle hangover.")

Should the weather become wet (as in the past three summers) there may be trouble with potato blight, a cousin of the tomato blight. Just in case, it might be well to be prepared for blight's coming on potatoes, giving one spraying or dusting when the potatoes start blooming, and 10 days repeating. The materials are the same as for tomato blight.

As for tomato blight, this should be repeated. If spraying (or good dusting) was not started when the plants were set, certainly it should not be delayed after the fruit of the first cluster becomes the size of garden peas. Starting then is only a compromise, but will save some tomatoes.

Now, should the season this year be relatively dry and the nights only fairly cool, it is possible that blight would be no problem on tomatoes. The spraying or dusting that were done last year should be repeated. Early Blight as well as the serious kind, and expense and effort would be repaid many times.

3 Girls Attend 4-H Week

The 26th annual 4-H Week June 5-9, was attended by five girls from the county and the home agent. The girls participated in the general activities as well as some special ones. Mayra Satterfield attended special classes on public speaking and Retha Cabard attended a special session on record keeping. Betty Jean Carter entered the room improvement judging contest and Juanita Edister and Betty Sue Dowell were in the dress revue. Juanita won a red ribbon with her play clothes outfit and Betty Sue was given a white ribbon on her dress-up costume, with hat and bag which she made, also. Betty Jean won a white ribbon for her judging.

Not any of the five girls had attended 4-H Week previously and Betty Jean substituted in the judging for another member who was unable to attend the week's program.

District 4-H Camp

District 4-H Camp will be held at Levi-Jackson State Park, near London, this year July 9-13.

Four leaders may attend from this county. Letters have been sent to leaders and members asking them to answer if they want to attend camp. Please send your card back as soon as possible so that arrangements for going to camp may be made by the end of June. 4-H members who are 12 years old and have project work up to date are eligible to attend. The cost of camp is $6.00 and part of that can be food taken from home. It is not known yet what, if any, will be the transportation fee.

VA FARM-HOME LOAN DEAD LINE JUNE 30

World War II veterans planning to apply for direct home or farm loans from the Veterans Administration were reminded by VA recently that program ends by law on June 30, 1951.

VA said it would scarcely be possible in most instances to process applications before the June 30 deadline that are received by the VA regional offices after June 15.

The Housing Act of 1950 authorized VA to make direct loans up to $10,000 at 4-percent interest to World War II veterans with which to buy or build a home or to build or improve a farmhouse. The act stipulated that VA was to make these direct loans in those areas of the country where the regular GI loans are not available from private lenders. The law further required VA to designate the areas as eligible for direct loans.

While the direct government loan program ends June 30, 1951, the regular GI loan program does not expire until July 25, 1957. Both programs are subject to the same minimum down payments imposed by the credit contracts announced October 12, 1950.

Messrs Wayne Stewart, Elmer Anderson, Bill Norton and Bruce Mahew left early Monday morning for Hardinsburg to attend a vocational agriculture teacher's convention.

Miss Doris Bowling of Paint Lick visited Mrs. Ethel Pinix and Mrs. Alene Harper the first of the week.

Announcement Of G. W. (Bro.) Murphy For Circuit Court Clerk

TO ALL MY GOOD FRIENDS AND LOYAL SUPPORTERS IN THE PAST:

I hereby make this public announcement through the "SIGNAL" of my candidacy to myself to the office of CIRCUIT COURT CLERK FOR ROCKCASTLE COUNTY. I will let you answer the following questions: If I have made you a good clerk, if I have conducted myself as a Christian Gentleman, if I have treated you right in the office, at my home, and on the street, during eleven and one-half years, I have been your servant? Then I ask for your vote and influence August 4, 1951 Republican Primary Election. I wish to say now, whether I have opposition or not, that I am not taking sides in the Judge's race. Tax Rate Lowered On City Bond Issue

Citizens of Mt. Vernon will pay less taxes for the year 1951. The saving will be realized through the lowering of the tax levied for the purpose of paying interest on the city bond issue. In the past a tax of 20 per cent has been levied on each hundred dollar valuation of taxable property, with the proceeds to be appropriated to the bond sinking fund of the city.

For the year 1951 the tax to be applied to the Bond Sinking Fund will be only 5 per cent. The 15 per cent reduction in 1938 for general improvements of the city. The bond will retire in 1958 and as the time draw nears the City has found it possible to reduce the tax rate to be applied to said bond issue.

The levy was voted upon at last week's meeting of the City Council. The levy for general expenses and purposes will remain 75 cents per hundred. The poll tax also will remain the same, $1.50.

City taxes will become due September 1.

R. C. Tartar Announces For Circuit Judge

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF ROCKCASTLE COUNTY:

The formal announcement of my candidacy for Circuit Judge, has already been published in the columns of the Mt. Vernon Signal. Many people are commenting on the fact that there is now less disorder and lawfulness in Rockcastle County, than there has been for many years. This is a very happy situation. The small civil and criminal dockets in the court is a good omen, and shows that not only the law is being kept, but that good feeling and harmony prevails. The Circuit Court has enforced the law and time to time communicated with and urged all of my friends to the fullest with the lower courts, in their efforts to rid the county of disturbance and the lawless. The policy of the circuit court in respecting the verdicts of the juries and in refusing to make the probator laws a way to escape for the law-breaker has paid off.

No judge is in a position to enforce the law, unless he obeys all of the laws, and tries to be an example in public and private conduct to the people. The record of my work is outstanding among all of the circuit judges of the state. I have kept myself free from prejudice and influence, and I have decided all matters in the light of my own intelligence and conscience. I have heard all appeals from rich and poor alike, with kindness and consideration. I wish that I could see every voter in Rockcastle County, before the primary election. But that will be impossible. I shall endeavor to reach many in person, and from time to time communicate with you through the newspaper. I want your sympathy and support, and I urge all of my friends to become active in my behalf. We will not relax our efforts until the polls close.

Your Friend,
R. C. TARTAR

ROCKCASTLE FACTS and STORIES

By RALPH GRIFFIN

Prior to 1868 there had been but few exports of any kind within the survey of this county from Rockcastle. A few logs were floated down the various creeks to Rockcastle River and operated in the Stephen Lang-ford house which is now the home of Mr. R. L. McFerron. It is probably as old as the Farris tavern but was not used as a tavern when first built. Others were operated by John A. Moore, Liberty Langford, General William Smith, Preston Taylor, Reese Ward and numerous names which would be remembered by but few people of today.

Most of these taverns were licensed by the state (even then our elected officials knew how to raise revenue). As a usual thing they were filled to capacity almost every night and their operators enjoyed an unusual degree of prosperity for that day. Rates for meals and lodgings were set by law, by the predecessor of O. F. A. A traveler arriving late at night was quite likely to find all available beds taken but if there was room he was afforded liberty to lie down upon any space where he might be able to scrounge in, without knowing or caring whom his bed-fellow might be. (Our modern hotels are hardly ever that crowded, unless it be Louisville during the Derby season.) If even this possibility of a resting place was exhausted our late arrival procured his blanket from his wagon or horse, went to the public room and there retired upon the floor.

Come morning the guests performed their ablutions at the watering trough outside, dried themselves upon the common towel, were summoned to breakfast by a blast upon the landlord's horn then set down at a common table. Food was plentiful and liquors available. Arising from the table after being properly fortified the travelers resumed their journey and repeated the Stagescoach transportation was available to travelers along the Wilderness, or Cumberland Gap Road for several years before the coming of the railroad. The section of the line which passed through Rockcastle was operated by a man named Sigall. Traveling southward his first relay was at a tavern near the present location of Brodhead, the place was then known as Sigall's Station. Several more or less pretentious taverns were operated along the road for the accommodation of stagescoach travelers and stock drovers, the earliest one known to this section of the country having been long before the stagescoach. The first one of which we have any record having been called the Farris Tavern and was operated by John Farris before Rockcastle county was formed. It stood across the Rockcastle River at the old ford below performance at some other tavern that night. They were the fore-runners of our tourists. With the advent of the railroad the stagescoach and tavern soon became things of the past. Ambitious Rockcastle citizens who were in position and local-ity to do so, interested themselves in the coal and timber industries. Tanbark, cross-ties, staves and other timber products were to be soon in active demand and coal could be profitably mined if not too far from the loading point.

The coming of the railroad was to bring many changes to Rockcastle. If no better idea presents itself between now and next week this column will probably begin working on the railroad.

TELEPHONE HEARING (Continued from page one) filed its application seeking authority to convert its existing telephone system from magnets to dial operations and to extend service to certain rural areas of the county, which overall proposed construction and operations, the commission points out, are substantially the same as those proposed by the Cooperative.

Heardings on this application have not been completed, the Commission advises. Telephone Company Hearing Scheduled For July 10 "It is, therefore, ordered," the letter to Mr. Denney stated, "that the Mt. Vernon Telephone Company, Inc., show to the Commission its willingness and ability to provide reasonably adequate telephone service in all the area proposed to be served in its aforesaid application, for which purpose its application is set for hearing on July 10, 1951, at 10:30 a. m. in the Commission's offices in Frankfort, Ky."

The PSC made its findings in a meeting held Thursday, June 7. Present were Chairman Robert M. Coleman, the Commissioners Case R. Walden and H. Clay Kauffman. The letter to Mr. Denney was signed by Ralph E. Kessinger, secretary of the Commission. The Mt. Vernon Telephone Company, which appeared at the hearing of the co-op and protested the granting of the authority sought by the Co-op, has asked permission from the PSC to build 48 miles of additional lines in the county, compared to 148 miles of rural lines to be constructed by the Co-op.

Present lines of the Mt. Vernon Telephone Company reach from Crab Orchard through Brodhead and Mt. Vernon to Livingston and from Mt. Vernon to Renfro Valley, with exchanges at Brodhead and Mt. Vernon. The Co-op proposes to establish automatic electric telephone exchanges at Brodhead, Mt. Vernon, Livingston and Wildie, with electric dial telephones throughout the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob White of Berea were over Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hiatt.

What the Pulaski County Bar Association Said about Judge J. S. Sandusky at the End of his 2nd Term as Circuit Judge

RESOLUTIONS

We the undersigned committee appointed by the Pulaski County Bar Association to draft resolutions in regard to Hon. J. S. Sandusky, Judge of the 28th Judicial District, who has just finished holding his last term of court for Pulaski County, would respectfully report the following, and we do hereby move their adoption by the Bar Association.

I.

Be it resolved by the Pulaski County Bar Association that Judge Sandusky is entitled to the thanks and appreciation of both the bar and litigants for the ability, integrity and courtesy which he has always shown in the performance of the duties of his office. He is now going out of office enjoying the confidence and personal friendship of every individual member of the local bar, and this in itself is an unusual thing.

Judge Sandusky during his twelve years as Circuit Judge has set a splendid example of good morals for the people of the district. He has been a sober man, a good father, a good husband and a faithful member of his church. He has faithfully enforced the law, with the result that law violations in the 28th judicial district have greatly decreased. In these troublous war days the district was fortunate in having him for its circuit judge, and has profited greatly by the splendid example set by him for law enforcement and good morals.

II.

Be it further resolved that this Bar Association regrets the retiring of Judge Sandusky from the bench, and he may have the satisfaction of knowing that after twenty years of service as circuit judge he now leaves the office with the universal high regard and respect not only of the Pulaski County Bar Association, but of the people generally.

III.

Be it resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the order book of Pulaski Circuit Court, and that a copy be furnished to Judge Sandusky.

This Friday, November 16, 1945.

Signed by:

E. J. BETHERUM
Former Judge 28th Judicial District

R. C. TARTAR
