Nation's Food Security Calls for Long Term Soil Fertility Building Program on U.S. Farms

More and better corn per acre comes from a well-balanced supply of nutrients. Corn (right) had plenty of fertilizer; corn (left) had none.

AMERICA'S food security depends on the use of more fertilizers on more farm soils, declared Dr. William A. Albrecht, chairman of the Soils Department of the University of Missouri.

Pointing out that supplies of natural fertility in the soil are threatened with exhaustion, Dr. Albrecht called for a program that would provide long-term "sustaining" fertility.

The way to get this sustaining fertility, he said, is to put larger amounts of fertilizer deeper down in the soil.

"Starter fertilizer applied near the surface in soils which are not increasingly fertile deeper down," he said, "may get the crop off to a good start. But later on as the roots push down to more moist soil zones, they must find enough nutrients to carry

Why Advertise - -

Look over any newspaper from a progressive business town and you will find it full of advertising by its local merchants. Why? Because it is good business . . . It pays them big dividends. Where you find one merchant who tells you to the contrary you will find dozens who have found that their sales are multiplied by consistent advertising.

In fact it is needless to tell a merchant that advertising pays . . . he already knows that. Of course he is a busy man and sometimes does not plan his advertising schedules and budgets ahead. The Signal has a free mat service available to its advertisers which they can use in making up their ads. There are pictures to suit almost every occasion. They are yours for the asking and we will help you with making up the ad, too.

The Signal is your newspaper. It covers your trading territory thoroughly. The ad rates are comparatively low considering circulation involved and are within reach of all. Remember the progressive, consistent advertiser is the man who does the biggest business. You can't get around that fact.

German Youth to Learn About U.S. Living in Rural Homes

By Anne M. Matthiary
WNU Washington Bureau
"The people are so nice—and it's wonderful to be able to say what you want to in America, I'm so happy to be here."

Although this program of the state department and the national grange is one of exchange, it represents a new method of opportunity for foreigners to see not only our agricultural methods but also to study our national philosophy and the manner in which we live.

These youngsters are to be sent to grange homes throughout the country, a large number going to Washington, Virginia, and Ohio.

STAGE SCREEN-RADIO

LLOYD BRIDGES, in movies for about 10 years, has made some great barrier, to their American education. However, there was a girl named Elizabeth Taylor.

Howard and given a part on Broadway in "Palais de Glorie." A measure of ups and downs in his career led him to Hollywood; he made his first picture at Columbia, and then he moved to Paramount.

Alrene Dahl is going to get out into the wide open spaces; she has been signed to a new picture contract by Williams Pine and Thomas, to be made during the next two years.

GRASSROOTS

Lack of Positive Platform Has Defeated the GOP

By Wright A. Patterson
OVER THE YEARS I have voted with but rare exceptions the Republican ticket. One such exception was in the contest between Harding and Coolidge. As a protest against it I used the methods of the old guard senators in nominating Harding, I voted for Coolidge. The old guard was un-American and un-Republican.

JUST ABOVE THE teen-age level, there are "Young Farmers Group," young men and women in their teens, from Denmark, who do much more traveling than the younger students. They shift from home to home and learn all types of farming, whereas the teen-agers become "members" of one family for a year while they stay there.

Upon their arrival in New York, the latest and first such group of German teen-agers were whisked down to Washington where they, in a group, spent part of their second day in this country writing home to their families to let them know their safe arrival and to tell of their first impressions.

While in Washington, they met Howard, master of the national grange, who welcomed them to this country and added that he hoped the Americans with whom they would be in contact would be as much about Germany as the students did about America—that is, they would be interested in each other's country and the program had to be reciprocal.

statement of national politics. The Republican party offered them no platform, leaving it up to the candidate to propose from his own platform. The candidates had no platform, or at least could not articulate them. So again the Republicans failed for lack of a constructive party platform. The old guard was un-American and un-Republican.

THE PERFECT DAY

EARLY FALL looked the air. The leaves surrounding the little church were caked with brown fallen leaves and in the sky, a bright sun shined down on the clouds. "Such a perfect day!" Nell thought. "Everything is on its good behavior for Steve and Mary."

She folded her hands in her lap and relaxed in her seat. The organ started softly began playing the pre-wedding melody. The organist's hands moved deftly over the keys. "That's right," she told herself. "You ahead and try. Make a lot of yourself and have it a baby. Forget about your plan to see calm."

troung for Republicans were the alluring prospects that provided pay for the millions of Democratic job holders. But with the meaningless word "unity" the only thing talked about, President Truman beat the Republicans to the punch, and he was given a Democratic congress that the Republican 50th congress had paid for with its refusal to limit bureaucratic appropriations.

Meat

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Meat has jumped from America's dinner table into the nation's press, politics and public consciousness. Among the best-kept secrets in the world, the average home town American eats about 148 pounds of red meat a year. It is in uniform, he may expect nearly four-fifths of a pound a day, or 280 pounds a year. He will eat beef, about 60 percent of it, and beef, 46 percent in pork, and the rest in lamb and mutton.

Small Towns Work For Repeal of Blue Laws in New Jersey

FLEMINGTON, N.J.—In Hunterdon county or any other part of New Jersey, it's absolutely against the law on Sundays to ride a horse, make music for the sake of merriment, travel or even work in the town of biton and antique, deer and elk. Beef did not become an established part of American habits until after the Civil War.

County Agent's Notes

By Robert F. Spence

Bang Disease Control
Arrangements have been made with the State Department of Agriculture Livestock Division to send Mr. Lackey to Rockcastle County to spend two weeks, beginning August 27 to September 7, to test and vaccinate cattle to control Bang Disease. Farmers interested in having cows tested and calves vaccinated should get in touch with any one of the Veterinarian Teachers or Wayne Stewart of the County Agent's Office.

We should make every effort to get all of our cows tested and calves vaccinated against Bang Disease while we have a man to do it free. Since it doesn't cost farmers anything to have this work, which will add much to the Livestock Industry of this county, we should all cooperate to make it a great success and clean up the Bang Disease of the county.

Farm And Water Systems
The following farmers have made plans to put in farm and home water systems this month: Hubert Brown and Asbil Brown, Willailla; G. C. Brown, Quail; W. E. Proctor, Ottawa; Jack Albright and Murphy Whitehead, Brodhead, and R. L. Shepherd, Level Green.
Mr. Hubert and Asbil Brown, Willailla, are taking water from a well to supply their farm and two homes.

ROCKCASTLE FACTS and STORIES

By Ralph Griffin

This column does not intend to give the impression that nothing but bloodshed occurred in Rockcastle during the late nineties, but there were but few stories printed during this period which did not deal with sensationalism. There were stories of violence from all over the state and nation, interspersed with news of the Spanish-American War and letters from soldier boys who were away in training camps. So does history repeat itself.

It is with real pleasure that the reader finds items in the Signal files of this period which deal with constructive matters. For instance, in July of 1898, it appeared that road commissioners and overseers were beginning to arouse interest in county roads. It was remarked that better roads were beginning to be uppermost in their minds and that they (the overseers) were beginning to realize that it takes real work to build them. It is sincerely hoped, at the time, that the day will come when Rockcastle will have better roads. To accomplish that purpose they must be widened and made higher in the middle; rock must be placed on the rock and dirt to make the roads more smooth and level.

In September of that same year the Mt. Vernon Town Board shook off its lethargy and ordered that brick sidewalks be put down from McKenzie's store to Houk's corner; also from there to the Christian Church; also from the corner Miller House on Main to Dr. Lovell's corner. (It will take an old-timer to remember these boundaries.)
These walks were to be constructed out of brick, plank, ballast or screenings. Advertisements currently displayed show that there was a deal of business being done over the county, largely in timber. Split hickory spokes, single-tree billets and neck-yokes were in demand, being bought at every loading station along the railroad. (Imagine trying to sell a neck-yoke today.)

The University of Kentucky will have several exhibits at the State Fair, including its own petriol history, 4-H Club exhibits, home-economics displays, agricultural engineering, dairy, poultry, animal husbandry, and horticulture, at the Grandstand building.
Better handling of eggs by farm fathers and market agencies would add 2 to 3 million dollars to Kentucky of poultry raisers in Kentucky, according to the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. The report said that three out of ten eggs reaching city markets would not satisfy quality-minded buyers: wanting clean shells.

A cellar room where there is a furnace is a fine place to store sweet potatoes. Baskets hung near the ceiling will stay warm enough and changes of air at that point will assure dry air at all times.

Plant Nutrients Boost Grass, Legume Yields By Two Tons Per Acre

ADDING fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash has increased pasture yields as much as 2 tons per acre, declared Prof. C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin extension agronomist, in reporting on the results of pasture demonstrations in the state.
On the Henry Berg farm near Blanchardville, in Lesayette County, pasture fertilized with 10-10-10 showed yields of 8,025 pounds per acre on July 5, 1951, compared with 3,750 pounds on unfertilized fields, an increase of 4,275 pounds.
When 10-10-10 fertilizer was added to white clover and bluegrass on the Bellach farm near San Fraiza in Dane County, pasture yields increased by about 1 1/2 tons per acre. The output was 8,025 pounds per acre on the 2, 1951, compared with 3,750 pounds on unfertilized fields and 2,300 pounds on the check plots.
The pasture demonstrations are being carried on in cooperation with farmers, county agents, vocational agriculture teachers and organizations in the fertilizer industry.
