IN A STEW

It's a stew because of the high cost of meat in a stew about how to feed that family of yours on the budget you simply can't stretch any farther? In a stew about what, to serve 'em these crisp winter nights? Are those your questions? The answer is in the questions themselves. Is a stew? Something that will stick to the ribs, and yet won't cost you a week's allowance? Stew's the answer! Something savory and appetizing. Stew's your answer to a question that practically cooks itself, while you busy yourself with other household tasks! Something that will save time and trouble for the family dish and pot-washer! And echo answers stew.

You don't need the luxury cuts for a good stew. Even if you could get a leg of lamb, now as scarce and upper-bracket as a beef rib roast, you couldn't get shoulder chops and breast cuts, for the tastiest stew you ever served on your stove. Lamb stew saves time, too, because it's a one-pot deal. No preamble of browning for the fat of the shoulder or breast gives flavor to the whole dish. Onions and carrots are always with you—no closed season on these fresh vegetables—and what more could you want? Potatoes, while slightly higher in price these days, go farther cut up in a stew, than mashed or cooked in other ways.

BEEF CUTS TOO

The cheaper cuts of beef, like chuck and rump, go a long way in a stew, too. With beef, remember to seal in the juices by slow and thorough browning before adding the water. The same holds for the vegetables you plan with it. Then join all forces, and let it simmer away as long as you can refrain from eating it all up yourself.

You can save on chicken, too, by buying the less costly hen, and giving it the stew business. Have your butcher cut it up for you at the market. Roll the pieces in flour, and when the fat is well heated, add the meat and brown it to the golden stage. Then put it aside and add your vegetables, your onions, celery or whatever, and cook them just short of the browning point. Then add your water, a little of the stock or a bouillon cube, your seasoning, and then the chicken. Then go about your business—in a couple of hours of slow, low-heat cooking, your chicken stew will be ready for your family.

On-tails? Sure, if you can get 'em, and most of you can from that obliging butcher of yours. Have him cut 'em in 3-inch lengths. Place them in a deep sauce pan, cover with boiling salted water, and cook gently for about half an hour. Drain off the broth, dip the tails in flour and brown them before adding your vegetables. When the vegetables are tender, add the boiling water and seasoning, and cover lightly and let it cook gently for about two hours. Before serving, thicken the gravy, and watch that hungry family of yours gobble 'em up, and ask for more.

Village Population Jumps by the Dozen

NANTUCKET, Mass. — The 2,800 population of the island village of Nantucket jumped by 18 in one afternoon recently with the arrival of the family of the Rev. Clayton E. Richard, the new minister of the First Congregational Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Richards have 14 children. Quite by coincidence, the Richards have as next door neighbor Robert Gilbreth, a Nantucket high school teacher, a member of the family portrayed in the best selling novel, "Cheaper by the Dozen."

One Accepts Council Job, Village Needs Five More

LUCAS, Mo. — In a small village of Lucas has one councilman, but still is shy five more and a three-man Board of Public Affairs.

The trouble came about when no one filed for the village offices before the November election. Several names were written in and one written winner, Willard Darling, has agreed to accept. Mayor Zane Moore is the only official who sought office.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

McGrath Deal
ONLY cabinet member who has outsmarted the President in his accustomed technique for axing an unwanted member of the official family is Attorney General Howard McGrath. Howard was out of the ring, hanging on the ropes, and even the count of nine, but by one of the cleverest footwork ever displayed in Washington, he managed to scramble back into the cabinet.

Here is the inside story of how he did it.
By now, official Washington has become quite familiar with the way Harry Truman exerts out a cabinet member who doesn't want Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug, for instance, was axed by a planted story that he was resigning, following which the President (in a "planned resignation") at his next press conference, and Krug knew the jig was up.

Thereafter, when word came out of the White House that the Lamar Caudle hearing had embarrassed the President, shrewd politician McGrath beat it to the President to the punch, offering his resignation if he embarrassed the administration.

But Harry Truman, who shies from others with the word "resignation" personally, hemmed, hawed, said he had no intention of pulling the rug out from under his friend, did not accept the suggested resignation.

Ambassador to Spain

Nevertheless, he did have Donald Dawson look round for another job with sufficient prestige so McGrath could be eased out of the department without loss of face.
And Dawson soon came up with the ambassadorship to Spain, and it was announced that Dawson seemed a natural McGrath is one of the top-ranking lay Catholics in the United States.

Shortly thereafter, a carefully planted White-House article appeared in the local press that McGrath would go to Spain and that Dawson would become the new attorney general.

Naturally McGrath knew exactly what was up. This was the same treatment given Krug and Louis Johnson. Furthermore the McGrath resignation story was followed by a press conference at which the President bluntly refused to comment on the report that McGrath was to go.
All that day, newsmen tried to pry McGrath. Ordinarily easy to reach, he kept ominous silence. However, he was not idle.

Overnight he hauled up two of his biggest guns. One was Cardinal Spellman, who sent a message from Rhode Island.
The other was his 84-year-old law partner, Senator Francis Green of Rhode Island.

Truman in Reverse

Meanwhile, Matt Connelly, though ordinarily lukewarm toward AG and favor of adding Judge Tom Murphy of New York to head a corruption commission, went to McGrath's defense.
That was why the President at the next cabinet meeting suddenly reversed himself, told the surprised and the surprised McGrath that with the beginning of the year he wanted them to know that despite the press attack on his attorney general, he was keeping them all on.

Churchill's Wit

Prime Minister Churchill was getting a progress report on the Anglo-American military discussions from his friend and military observer, Field Marshal Sir William Slim.
Referring to the dispute as to whether NATO should adopt Britain's new automatic rifle, the new American Grand rifle, Field Marshal Slim reported:

"So far we haven't made much progress. Both guns are good and it's difficult to decide which one to adopt."
Churchill listened patiently, nodding his head in agreement.
"It's my guess," Field Marshal Slim continued, "that I finally adopted a rifle that contains the best features of both, models. It'll be a standard rifle—half American, half British."

Churchill's eyebrows shot up. With an air of solemn gravity he said: "My dear Marshal, aren't you being a trifle careless with your words? Have you forgotten that I, too, am half American, half British?"

Merry-Go-Round

Latest Washington gag: "The only thing the Democrats have to fear is fear itself." ... Orville Morrison, president of the Sigma Company of Glen Riddle, Pa., has a remedy for Washington's influence racket. He suggests that all bidders on government contracts be required to furnish an affidavit that they haven't done any favors for, or spent any money to entreat federal procurement officials (who award contracts) or their relatives.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Truman Submits Record 'Peace-time' Budget of $85 Billion to Congress

THE BUDGET—A heavy burden... the price of peace. With these words President Truman attempted to describe his proposed budget of $85,444,000,000 for the fiscal year which begins July 1. This amount does not include a five to six billion dollar atomic energy expansion program which the President said would be sent to Congress in the near future.

This proposed budget is an increase of almost $15,000,000,000 over the current fiscal year which ends June 30. And it is not far from the record World War II spending of $100 billion in the 1945 fiscal year.
As outlined by the President, more than three-fourths of the total would go for national security programs, including $51,100,000,000 for the armed forces, $10,800,000,000 for foreign aid, $1,700,000,000 for atomic weapons, $811,000,000 for defense production and economic stabilization, and $359,000,000 for civil defense.

The military expansion program, as outlined by the President, would include increasing the armed forces from 3,600,000 to 3,700,000 men, the Air Forces from 90 wings to 143, increase the Army's 19 divisions to 21, add another 16 major combatant vessels to the Navy's 302, build up to 16 large carrier air groups, and increase the Marine Corps from two to three divisions.

All of this, of course, is the proposed plan, depending upon approval of Congress. At this point that approval is unlikely, because it would mean a joint for even more economically minded than in the past.
Adoption of this budget would mean a deficit of $1,444,000,000 for the next fiscal year unless Congress approved the $5,000,000,000 tax increase already requested by the President. But this is an election year and Congress will be even more economically minded than in the past.

Congressional debate over this proposed budget during the next few weeks is likely to be bitter. And it will end with Congress slashing it as much as possible. At the present moment there is no indication of how much they will cut it. The defense items may be cut, some of the greatest slashes will be foreign aid and less necessary domestic items.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED—Aging but still dynamic Winston Churchill accomplished his mission to the United States. That mission, he said, was to be summed up in his own words as he concluded his speech before a joint session of Congress.

He said: "It is a great pleasure to say that the supreme fact of the 19th century was that Britain and the United States spoke the same language. Let us make sure that the supreme fact of the 20th century is that we speak the same language. It was the third time in a decade that Churchill had addressed a joint session of Congress. His speech was well received and it was evident he had accomplished much in bringing about greater cooperation between his country and the United States. Announcement of the agreement on the transfer of vital materials from one nation to the other, and accord on the differences in Europe and the series of meetings with President Truman and other high officials, also indicated the successfulness of his mission as a young leader can handle.

The British leader also promised that Britain would help defend Western Europe against Soviet aggression. He also promised the United States that Britain would not give up its atomic weapons without an iron-clad guarantee of peace.

FARM PROGRAM—The federal farm programs, of vital interest to home towns across the nation, will cost approximately 7 per cent more next year because of a government need to encourage greater crop and livestock production, President Truman said in his budget message to Congress.

According to best estimates the greatest part of the cost would be for price supports, soil-conservation payments, and wheat-export subsidies. The President reported the price support program it being used to encourage farm production by keeping support prices of cotton, corn, wheat, soybeans, milk, wool, and several other commodities at 90 per cent of market value.
The budget calls for $258,500,000 for payments to farmers who carry out approved soil and water conservation practices, $70,000,000 for subsidies to farmers who co-operate with the government's sugar-control program, $162,000,000 for wheat export subsidies, and $75,000,000 for rural telephone and electrification loans.

EGYPT—The killing of an American man in the Suez canal zone brought the conflict between Great Britain and Egypt for control of that vital waterway into sharp focus for most of this country. She was identified as Brigitte Ann Timbers, 52, of New York. She had served in Egypt since 1947.
The British charge Sister Anthony was slain by Egyptian terrorists. Cairo newspapers, however, said it was killed by British bullets. She was slain during a four-hour battle between British soldiers and terrorists.

KOREA—Another week dragged by and still no important progress was reported in the Korea peace talks. The United Nations command and effect to recalculate an important phase of its armistice prisoner-exchange demands if the Communists would say how many civilians they intend to return to South Korea. In effect, the U.N. dropped its demand for an equal one-for-one exchange of Red prisoners.
There was no progress on the armistice question that has been holding up negotiations. The Reds insist on rehabilitation of airfields during an armistice. The U.N. command has opposed it.

Meanwhile, at home, Senator Taft called the Korean War unnecessary and insisted that the United States help to end the Korean War. He stayed in Korea and returned the South Koreans after World War II.

He also said he would make a truce in Korea if he were President because "even a stalemate truce is better than a stalemate war."

Gov. Earl Warren of California, a "maverick" candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, may be the key to a new national convention. He should be thrown his influence to either Taft or Eisenhower if could be decisive for that candidate. If the two top men should become deadlocked, he could be the compromise candidate. He is shown here talking to Guy Gabrielson, GOP National Committee chairman. Mayor Ewan Robinson of San Francisco stands behind them.

U.S. BABY BOOM

Population Increases 2.5 Millions Yearly

According to a statistical bulletin issued by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the United States may soon break all world's records in population growth. Americans are being born at the rate of 26,000,000 and more each 10 years. It is expected that by 1962 there will be 181,500,000 of us.
Births in the United States set an all-time record of more than 3,900,000 last year. After subtracting the deaths, the gain amounts to 2,500,000. This reflects, the report said, the increase in marriages after the start of the Korean War.
There is a general trend to break away from the one-or-two-child family that prevailed before World War II. The report adds, also, that there is a general trend in the United States toward earlier marriages.

SPORTS

BY GRANTLAND RICE

Cash and Glory Trail

A LONG the road known as "the cash and glory trail" there are two couples out California way who will very likely get by financially through the year. They are they should break better than even.
One is Leo Durocher and Laraine Day. The other is Ralph Kiner and Nancy Chaffin, his bride.
Durocher, the Giant leader, is picking up in the general neighborhood of $60,000. Nancy Chaffin, one of the best young ladies in the game, is doing even better. They have been offered a fancy handout for a television ad, which they can't use at the moment. In addition to which they are working practically for nothing except exercise. Exercise is important but a poor substitute for cash.
The two Kiner's Nancy and Ralph are riding the top waves.
Ralph is picking up $65,000 a year as the home-run hitter of both leagues. He is practically the only reason Pittsburgh fans have been coming to the ballpark. It can be different a year or two from now when Branch Rickey begins to use his magic.
Nancy Chaffin, one of the best younger tennis players we have around. She happens to be an extremely charming and attractive young lady, just as Laraine Day. The Kiner's have also been offered a well-paying TV spot, but have decided to wait until next year. Ralph has been building a home in Palm Springs and it won't be any but. The Durocher can look forward to a big season. In the meantime, the National League pennant, won in a miracle finish. Laraine Day has all the TV engagements one young lady can handle.

Grantland Rice

The Case of Ralph Kiner
Ralph Kiner is a rather remarkable young man. He is now only 23 years old. He will be 30 next October. He came to the Pirates in 1946 direct from the Navy Air Force and has led his league or led for leadership in home runs ever since. He has been a main slugger ever since he really got warmed up.
In the last six seasons Kiner has contributed 257 home runs to his list. He has been named Babe Ruth's total of about 700, but he should continue to lead both leagues for some time. In the last five years he has averaged between 47 and 48 homers, which isn't feather duster stuff.
Kiner is something more than a good hitter. He is also a 75 golfer and a pretty good tennis player. He still will be called a Kiner as a tennis dueler, but he is improving week by week. For that matter Nancy can't hit as many home runs as Kiner can. This should be the ideal American couple. They are young, good looking, healthy, strong and deeply interested in their game, where both excel along certain lines. If Nancy can have the same influence over Ralph that Laraine has had over Kiner, the National home runs this next season, the motion picture star and TV vision has done something of an incredible nature to Durocher's club played with the Yankees many years ago. Fleury, reckless, but still smart, almost as good as the Yankees a great field leader. Durocher has turned into a smooth, controlled, bustling manager who has the respect of the fans. Kiner's wife gives his men all the credit—a lesson I think Chuck Dresser has learned for 1952. And I happen to be a Chuck Dresser supporter for future delivery.

New Champ Under Way

Australia's Davis Cup victory was expected next year will be the expected again next year as Frank Sedgman is hanging around on the points premises.
Frank Sedgman was on the point of leaving into pro arms, Australia got smart by giving their star a $10,000 wedding present, tax free, and by keeping him in his sport job in the government. The twice-beaten U.S. will still have Trabert, Savitt and a few others next year, but they just are not the good enough to handle Australia.
It can be different around two or three years. But it should have just finished looking at a young kid who may easily be the best in the world, given just a little more growth.
He is due to being magnificent this year. His name is Mike Franks of Beverly Hills. What about Mike Franks? In the first place he has just turned 18. But a show has just back, still in his 14th year, he beat the 18-year-old champion of California, regarded as a sure thing, in a morning match. The afternoon that on same day young 18-year-old Franks whipped the 18-year-old Junior Champion.
Frank Franks, pro instructor, is dead sure that young Franks will be world's champion by the time he is 18.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Learning May Replace Acts

By Lawrence Gould

Does knowledge insure performance?

Answer: No, writes Drs. David G. Ryans and Norman Fredericksen in a symposium on "Educational Measurement." One of the most common mistakes in the field of measuring people's abilities is to assume that someone who knows all the facts and principles involved in a task will therefore be able to perform it. From the standpoint of employing anyone, it is "performance tests" that count. There are not only a lot of people whose fears or repressed resentments will not let them put what they know into practice, but learning and studying can become substitutes for action, especially for someone who has a neurotic fear of failure.

Will devious make people avoid you?

Answer: No, writes Mrs. Grace E. Barrow Murphy, who is deaf herself in her recent book, "There's Always Adventure." Other people rarely mind your being deaf. What they mind is "a bad approach to deafness." If you are ashamed of being deaf and hearing and try to conceal it, you will cause others much more inconvenience and annoyance than if you accept the fact and ask them to go half way in establishing communication with you. While there are exceptions, the idea that deafness will make you a "social outcast" is mainly the product of the tendency to be suspicious, which is often a deaf person's chief emotional problem.

How Exercise Strengthens the Blood

By Dr. James W. Barton

I WRITE OFTEN about the "friendly force" behind malking and of how nature is always ahead of man's needs in supplying him with extra blood, extra blood pressure, extra white corpuscles to fight off invading organisms and increased amount of adrenal juice to strengthen him in an emergency.
I have also pointed out how nature means that man should use the hundreds of muscles in and on his body to keep him strong physically, give him an appetite, help his digestion, regulate the bowels, enrich his blood and maintain blood pressure. By simple physical work or exercise, man obtains all these helpful services. And should man engage in regular physical training or exercise, if only five to 15 minutes daily, because faster in his movements. This applies to all forms of games or athletics, and a fraction of a second may make the difference between a win and a loss.

★ HEALTH NOTES ★

Liver as a food delays fatigue.
The narrow shoulders of former years are responsible for most of the cases of crippled feet found today.
The shape of your body affects your health.
Lack of thyroid extract changes whole appearance of adults and children.
Exercise trades useless fat for useful muscle.
A heart patient, after getting back on his feet, needs nine to 11 hours rest at night with an hour's relaxation in the middle of the day's work.
People may become sore and stiff from making too much as physical therapy. These patients are tense and highstrung.

Extra Chairs Are Easy to Construct

HERE are those extra chairs you have been needing. Make them yourself with ordinary hand tools or take the pattern to the nearest woodworker to be cut out. Then finish them yourself with foam rubber seats and back pads. Leatherette upholstery and brass tack trim. Price of pattern is $25c. WORKSHOP PATRONS SERVICE, Bedford Hills, New York

Cleaning Spoons
Egg stains on silver spoons are the bane of many an existence. Keep silver shining between regular cleanings by sprinkling dry baking soda on a damp cloth and rubbing stain lightly. Soda is safe, non-abrasive, just right for treated flatware, sterling or plate.

Ironing Hint
You'll leave no lint when you're pressing out the crease in a let-down skirt if you use tissue paper to iron on instead of a damp cloth.

Yum, Yum Cider
Cider in a glass pitcher becomes something special when you add a few unpeeled apple slices drained through the apple, to the drink. Some hostesses add mint leaves, too.

ROCKCASTLE FACTS and STORIES

By RALPH GRIFFIN

When basketball was first introduced into Mt. Vernon Graded and High School some marked results were soon noted. Professor Irvine was strict in his ruling that scholastic standards came first; every boy who hoped to play upon either his first or second teams must rate high in grades and deportment. Hence, there came about an immediate improvement in both application and discipline. Boys who had previously come to school only because they had to, now became the most ardent exponents of education. Other chaps who had previously been swaggering bullies, getting by largely upon bluff, proved themselves unable to meet their fellows in the fair competition of sports and just faded away. Other boys who had always remained in the background because of shyness or previous lack of aggressiveness, now rapidly developed into good players. As first-played upon outdoor courts basketball was no game for weaklings or the faint-of-heart. It was a sort of combination of football, bull-fighting and the gladiatorial combats of ancient Rome. The rules of the game were not confining but they must not be violated. It was unfair to kick an opponent in the face while he was down or to strike him with brass-knuckles; either of these offenses entitled the opposition to a free shot at the goal. A player was forbidden to run off the school-grounds with the ball, while it was in play, nor was he allowed to crawl under the floor with it; such tactics were to be deplored and automatically gave the ball to the other side. All else was covered by The Articles of Warfare as observed by Civilized Nations. Outdoor players learned to keep their feet in a manner which appeared almost miraculous. Knee-pads and elbow-pads were as yet unheard of and those courts were a mixture of gravel and clay, frozen during most of the season. When a lad got tossed he might go thru some violent contortions and gyrations but he usually landed right side up, he was like the buffalo that climbed the tree, he had to. Begging players usually looked as if they had been carefully buffed with no. 2 sandpaper, but they eventually learned to stand up or they quit playing. Another menace to the everyday player was the goal post. They were merely hickory or oak saplings, chopped down in the woods and erected in the rough. Maybe softies peeled them in some localities but recollection has it that ours were just placed in the ground as nature grew them. The probable idea was that the bark would soon get knocked off anyway, so why go to all that trouble. After charging head-on into these posts a few times the toughest lad learned to pad these collisions with an opponent whenever possible. Despite these inconveniences, which probably prevailed in all neighboring schools as well, Mt. Vernon eventually developed a team which was a cracker-jack by standards of today. Depending entirely upon memory, we would say that the first outstanding team was composed of Logan Bryant, center; John Lair and Ben Fishback, guards; Bryan Perkins and Herbert Cox, forwards. Not much attention was paid to substitute players; the first five was supposed to go in there at the opening whistle and stay until the game was over, barring the loss of a limb or both eyes. It might be interpolated that this correspondent doesn't have time to run around the mountains his recollections. It is easier to just go ahead and make statements-if they are correct, nobody says anything, if they are wrong, we find out just how many readers we do have. Keeps everyone alert and saves time. So, back to our story, we assert that the aforementioned team was the first one Mt. Vernon had and that it was a good one. Granting that neither Logan nor John look like basketball timber today, the statement still stands. Someone else will have to supply the names of players from surrounding towns. Everett Watson was, if memory serves an out-standing Brodhead player and Otis Hale had learned the game at Berea. Scheduled games with other schools were not frequent. Roads were bad and horse-drawn hacks were the most advanced method of transportation; this made Brodhead about the only logical opponent. Even so, opposing teams did manage to get together occasionally. When they did, played, come hail or high-water.

Choose a JOHN DEERE Integral Plow

... For Unsurpassed Plowing Performance
... Freedom From Costly Delays

Here's integral plowing at its best... with an integral 2 bottom plow made especially for the John Deere AGC-2000 and MC-1000 Integral Tool Carriers.

It's a rugged plow with all the advantages of an integral plow... the sensational safety trip standard, exclusive with this John Deere Plow. When an obstruction is hit in the field while plowing, the quick-acting spring release, built into the standard, allows the individual bottom to swing back, up, and over the obstacle. Chances of damaging the plow bottom, frame, or carrier are decreased measurably as are costly delays when plowing time is short.

Add quality workmanship, which is always yours in a John Deere Plow, and you'll agree... this is the plow for you. See us for complete details.

THE BIG SHOW Chicago's 'Cow Barn' Will Be Site of Political Conventions

By Walter A. Shead
WNU Washington Correspondent

To some from the rural areas, Chicago's "Cow Barn" may be a familiar sight, but to thousands of others, both delegates and visitors to the national political convention next July, the 1922 setting for the presidential nominations may seem unrealistic.

For the site of the two national conventions has been switched from the traditional Chicago stadium on the Windy City's west side, to the International Amphitheatre, near the Chicago Stock Yards, home of the famous International Live Stock Exposition and other big agricultural shows.

Republicans will convene on Monday, July 7, with the Democrats following them into the amphitheatre, two weeks later on Monday, July 21. There will be 1199 Republican delegates, 105 more than were required at the 1948 convention in Philadelphia, while the official Democratic delegation will be 1,230, four less than the 1948 total.

Star Dust
By INEZ GERHARD

DOROTHY SARNOFF is letting no grass grow under her pretty feet these days. Featured in the best musical in New York, "The King and I," she has been appearing on television more and more frequently. Now she has taken time off to rush to the amphitheatre where this could be merely the preliminary to appearing on the screen in the role she does so beautifully in "The King and I." when that magnificent show reaches the screen, certainly no one could do it better than she does.

Margaret Truman's ability to relax amazed even RCA-Victor veterans during her recent recording session with the Boston Pop Art Orchestra for a new song album.

MARGARET TRUMAN
They'd expected her to be stiffly proper. She removed her shoes before she talked, slipped on her slippers, thermos jug held brought from home, and sent out for hamburgers when a long break permitted.

Nobody was at all surprised when the George Stevens production for Paramount, "A Place in the Sun," was voted the best motion picture of 1951 by the National Board of Review. It's a leading contender for the Academy Award.

GRASSROOTS
Last Six Years Cost US More Than 160 Previous

By Wright A. Patterson

FROM THE FOUNDING of this republic as a government, with George Washington as its first President, down through all the years—more than 160—to the death of the Second World War, the United States treasury over those years spent $158 billions.

That covered all the cost of all our wars since the Revolution. It included the cost of our second war with England, the Mexican war, the Civil war, the war with Spain, the first world war, and practically all the rest of the years since. It included all the costs of our vast internal improvements, and the construction of the Panama canal, the purchase of the Panama railroads, the building and rebuilding of our navy, and the vast fleet of merchant ships built during World War I.

NOT A GOOD RISK

By Maud McCurdy

3-Minute Fiction
Janet had said, "I'm not going to marry you, George!"
He thought a run-down mansion at the edge of town, which he'd converted into apartments.

George looked startled. "We can't take children, Janet," he said. She was astonished.

George shook his head and flinched angrily. "I don't believe you even like children. What would you do with them around?" She hesitated a moment, then added, "I'm not marrying you, George. You wouldn't be a very good matrimonial risk."

George tried the best he could to defend himself, explaining that children were destructive. He said that Janet only looked at him in bewilderment.

George began to feel a little depressed. There was one pretty young mother, with violet eyes almost the color of Janet's, who said feelingly, "Mr. Hartley, the mothers of this town will call you blessed!"

George was perspiring. He looked a moment, and took a look at the ad. There it was in bold type: "Only couples with children need apply."

George stood there looking at her as if he never wanted to stop. "Look, Janet, I was looking at the matter in a cold-blooded, business way. He drew a long breath and said, "You didn't make a mistake, I did. The place is just like I take, a natural for children. And they're there already, about a dozen of them with their parents."

George just smiled. The whole office force was crowded to get a word of care. He bent his head and kissed her.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN
SCRIPTURE: Luke 18:18-30; 19:10-11
REVISIONAL READING: Mark 10:23

Two Rich Men

EVERYBODY knows that Jesus took an interest in the poor. But there is another side of the picture: Jesus took just as keen an interest in the rich.

One, who remains nameless, had more to recommend him. He was rich, and perhaps that was the last thing people thought about when they saw him. He was young and vigorous; when he came to Jesus for an interview he did not act the part of a beggar.

Jesus loved him. He would certainly think that a man like that couldn't miss. But he did. On the other hand was the rich Zaccheus. Being a publican, and rich, it is perfectly obvious that he couldn't have been either honest or generous. It was only the greed and the dishonest in those days who could amass fortunes by collecting taxes.

Money the Master
THE last thing we see of a good rich man is his turning his back on the world. He had a chance to follow Christ—the same chance that Peter and Matthew had, the same command, Follow Me!
