

THE GARDEN

Sweet corn is a crop with which most chances may be taken, as even at best one must wait 60 days for this delicacy, and every day gained helps. If the chance were to fail, only small seed expense has been at stake.

rows may be as close as 30 in the seed dropped 10 to 12 in solid rows or in hills of 3 or 4 seeds, 30 inches apart. Covering should be a half inch. For the first planting, slight ridges may be made to combat cold and wet land, the later planting should be level. As to varieties, there is always Early Adams, not particularly good, but extremely quick. Just a few days slower is a really fine yellow corn, Kold Bush, 60 days. If Golden Cross Bantam were to be planted at the same time, there is no gap as the Golden Cross coming in just as the Gold Rush is done. Thereafter, a 2 week planting schedule should be observed until the corn is ready to have continuous corn all summer. A criticism of Golden Cross is that it does start in a few days. For canning and freezing, this is an advantage. The job can be done in one operation. For the table, the really fine corns, Joana and Lochie, that hold their sugar longer, may be used. There are 100, 1 1/2 old time favorite white sorts. Country Gentlemen, Stowell's Evergreen and Aunt Mary's are fine freezers.

A stalk of sweet corn may be assumed to bear an average of one and one fourth ears. 13 ears will can or freeze a pint. No early pests bother sweet corn later than the European Corn Borer and the Corn Earworm may come.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDTIMERS

From Miss Ruth Sweet, Waterloo, N.Y.: I like to think of the days of the nickel sodas when a young man was able to take six girls to an ice cream parlor and buy seven sodas for 30 cents.

From Mrs. Ada Short, Center, Texas: When my grandmother told us Indian stories—the trials and tribulations she encountered in her caravan from Alabama to Texas.

From Mrs. C. D. Hale, Mart, Tex: As do you remember when the daughter of the family would say "Mother, do you think three petti coats will be enough?"

From Mary Karch, Lakeview, Ohio: I remember the peddling wagon where mother used to take her butter and eggs to the main highway to trade. The peddler used to blow a cough shell that sounded over the hills to let us know he was coming.

From Curtis W. Robertson, Kansas City, Mo.: I remember when I was a very young man living in Lathrop, Mo., I sold stereoscopes. I remember going as a boy to my great grandma's to roll papers to light her pipe and the oil lamps.

From John S. Simpson, Cincinnati: I can remember when we had to wear a pair of leather boots all winter. We would have to go barefooted until well up into the winter, and then my father would get on a horse and go get us a pair of good and brass-toed boots, and come riding home with them slung across the saddle.

Two Minutes To Wash Separator

Information sent out by the University of Kentucky in cooperation with the Kentucky cream improvement association, and the International Farm water is washed in two minutes. Here is how it is done.

After milk has run through the separator, rinse the supply tank and bowl with a pint of warm water or skim milk. Add soapless cleaner to about a gallon of warm water in the supply tank. Brush supply tank and allow solution to run through the machine while the separator is running down. Collect wash water in a dishpan and take machine apart, putting parts in the pan. Inspect the parts to see that they are perfect clean, especially the disks. Rinse with hot water, boil if possible, and allow to dry in a clean place.

MAKE IT A "HIM-HER" SHOWER

Leaf Diseases Away Tobacco Diseases, a recent bulletin of the University of Kentucky Experiment Station says use of natural leaf tobacco while working in plant beds may spread disease. It has been clearly demonstrated, it is stated, that cured tobacco is the source of most of the mosaic infection of tobacco plants before and during transplanting. There fore do not use natural leaf for either chewing or smoking and handle it while working around the plant bed. If natural leaf has been handled recently, workers are advised to scrub their hands during handling plants in the bed. If natural leaf has been carried in the pants, brush the pants. Funds Are Authorized For Railroad Equipment An expenditure of approximately $7,400,000 has been authorized by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad for the purchase of 55 additional diesel electric locomotives which will be delivered in the last quarter of this year, President John E. This appropriation combined with other commitments makes a total of over $87 million for various equipment and other improvements authorized and now outstanding, the expenditure of most of which will be incurred during the current year.

Local Womans Club Portrays Famous Paintings

One of the most interesting and impressive programs to be presented by the Mt. Vernon Woman's Club was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Lair. The members took part in depicting famous paintings, and were highly successful in bringing to life several well known portraits.

Preceding each portrait were readings by the Three Muses, Mrs. John Griffin, the Muse of Music, Mrs. Ralph Griffin, the Muse of literature, and Mrs. William Landrum, the Muse of Art.

Appropriate music was played by Mrs. Lewis Miller before and during the revealing of the pictures. Little Miss Barbara Lair portrayed "The Strawberry Girl"; Mrs. E. R. Denney and daughter, Suzanne depicted "Madame Lebrun and her Daughter"; Mrs. Walker Owens re-created "Mrs. Siddons"; Mrs. Preston Nunnally was "Pinky"; Mrs. Alex Milien represented "An Indian Girl"; Mrs. Arlie Smith posed as "Whistler's Mother" and Mrs. Marcus Maggard, Orlinda Betsy Ross in "The Birth of the Flag" and Mrs. Burgess Robbins as "The Madonna" while Miss Nicely sang "Ave Maria."

The program was most colorful and Mrs. Walker Owens showed artistic skill in arranging the costumes and posing the models so that these famed paintings could be made to live for the audience. Evidently everyone enjoyed the portrayals very much.

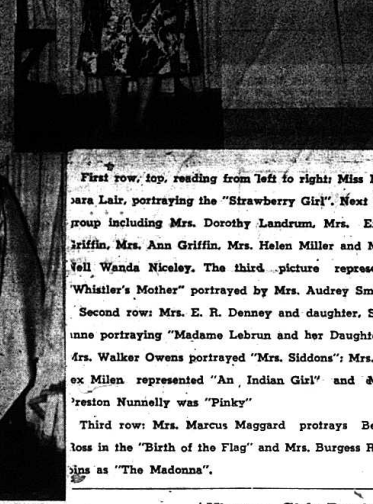

Another highlight of the evening was the display of paintings and drawings by various students of Mt. Vernon and Brodhead schools. The youngsters show considerable talent and imagination in their work, and it is reassuring to know that their instructors are taking such an active interest in bringing their talents to light for everyone to see and appreciate.

Mrs. Robert O'Brien, the Mt. Vernon instructor, and Mrs. George Long is teaching art at Brodhead.

During the business session of the meeting, club members discussed further aid to the Girl Scouts, which they are sponsoring.

Co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Cora Lee Spears, Mrs. Jack Crawford and Mrs. Frankie Phoenician. Refreshments of ice cream roll and coffee were served to the members and guests.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Griffin.

Regulations For Elementary Teachers

Each year the requirements are harder to meet. A major portion of college work must be selected from the elementary curriculum. An average grade of 'C' on total college work is now required. The amount of correspondence work is very limited. The state department reviews each case on its merits and may or may not approve. Teachers who have below "C" average must bring that average up if they plan to stay in the teaching

DENNEY WINS CHAIRMANSHIP OF STATE G.O.P.

Edwin R. Denney was voted the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in Louisville Saturday.

The results of the first ballot for chairmanship showed this vote: Denney, 13; Thomas W. Hines, Bowling Green, 10; Ward, 8; Dewey Daniels, Harland, 4.

A party law interpreted by James Park, Lexington, chairman of the outgoing committee and not candidate for the office, stated that a majority of the 81 present, in person or by proxy, is required.

It was agreed that if no one had a majority on the first ballot, the low man would have a majority, and other ballots taken until one man did have a majority.

With Daniels out, the second ballot showed: Denney, 14; Hines, 12; Upton, 11; Denney and Hines picked up two votes each of Daniels' four. Upton remained the same with five.

It was presumed these five were those of the five members from the Eighth District, which had instructed-for Upton.

However, Upton was low on his second ballot. He was Denney with 12. This dropped. The third ballot gave three votes more than Denney needed. With Hines holding on his 12, it appeared that Denney had picked up the five votes that had been going for Upton.

In answer to the charges that there might have been some trickery and deceit in Denney took the floor and came right to the point. Mr. Denney to the defense of the 20 members of the state committee he had appointed the week before and said that in appointing the 20, two from each of the eight districts and four from the state at large, he was only a party instrument through which the appointments were made. He said he acted in each appointment on recommendation of the district committee. He added he had not solicited any one of the 20 to vote for him for state committee chairman.

Red Cross Donations Urgently Needed

It cannot be overemphasized that the American Red Cross does a vital service to the people of this country, perhaps more than any of our agencies. For example, funds donated to the Red Cross are used to take care of human needs which are not taken care of by government funds. Government appropriations go exclusively to the rebuilding of public facilities and buildings, and no part of such funds go to relief of individual sufferers.

Governmental agencies also make loans which are payable to the Red Cross disaster aid is in the form of an outright gift.

The Red Cross emergency relief, such as furnishing food, clothing, shelter and medical aid to disaster victims is an invaluable service in times of stress, but perhaps most important of the activities consists of repairing or rebuilding homes, replacing furnishings, helping people get back to normal life, and caring for medical needs over long periods of time.

Word comes from Washington that the American Red Cross has boosted its ten-state estimate of families affected by the disaster to 31,700. In other words some 130,000 persons. These figures include families from large areas of Ohio and Indiana, Wisconsin where the crest of the flood was expected.

The breakdown by states of flood affected families is as follows: Iowa 17,318; Nebraska 3,885; Minnesota, 2,641; South Dakota, 2,120; Missouri, 1,830; Illinois, 1,455; Wisconsin 950; Montana, 886; Kansas, 500; and Illinois, 125. A total of 24 counties in the ten states are wholly or partly inundated.

To aid flood sufferers, a staff of 175 paid Red Cross workers are assisting 6,000 local volunteers in emergency relief efforts. The Red Cross is operating 72 shelters and feeding 11,500 persons, including children.

The play was given by the Lions Club, proceeds went to purchase eyeglasses for the underprivileged children of the community.

Medical Conference to Be Held May 7-8

The first state-wide conference on rural health has been scheduled for May 7 and 8 in Louisville. It will be sponsored by the Kentucky State Medical Association, and will have qualified support and cooperation of other state wide organizations interested in the problem.
 Rural health in Kentucky, as in many other states, is one of the major problems facing the medical profession and the other groups who are active. KSMVA's annual meeting, Dr. Walter L. O'Nan of Henderson was appointed chairman of KSMVA's rural health committee by Dr. Sam Overstreet, Louisville, then KSMVA president. Since then, slow but progressive steps have been taken to bring about the conference now scheduled for May in Louisville.

 First of Dr. O'Nan's steps was to arrive at a philosophy, a philosophy which would serve as a foundation upon which all future actions could stand; actions, not only of KSMVA, but of all groups who profess an interest in rural health.
 Rural health is a problem of each individual community and the community must help itself.
 This fundamental theory was approved by Dr. Overstreet, in the name of KSMVA, when the committee was formed. And approval has been voiced by Dr. Clark Bailey, Harlan, this year's president and Dr. R. Haynes Barr, Owensboro, president elect.
 Other state wide groups serving as sponsors of the conference are Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, Kentucky Dental Association, Kentucky state Association of Registered Nurses, Cooperative Extension work in agriculture and home care, University of Kentucky, Division of Child Welfare, Dept. of Economic Security, Division of Vocational Education, State Dept. of Education; Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers; Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association and University of Louisville school of Medicine. These groups have approved also the fundamental concept of rural health advanced by Dr. O'Nan.
 After Dr. O'Nan's appointment by Dr. Overstreet, his first move was to call a meeting in Louisville in March 1951. This meeting invited representatives from the various groups whom he found to be interested in the problem. The group called themselves the Kentucky Rural Health Council and elected Dr. O'Nan as chairman.
 The group met again in May. At this meeting it was decided a steering committee should be formed which could act for the entire Council. It was thought that a smaller group could meet more often and accomplish more than a large group. With Dr. O'Nan as chairman, the Steering Committee, is composed of Dr. Clark Bailey, as KSMVA president; Dr. Bruce Underwood, State Health Com missioner; Dr. A. B. Corwell, secretary of the Dentists Association; J. E. Standford, executive director of Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation; Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader, University of Kentucky; Miss Margaret Grubbs, director of Public Health Nursing, State Dept. of Health and Miss Margie Wilson, Director of Child Welfare, Dept. of Economic Security.

 The Steering Committee met in October. Three important matters were on the agenda. The first called for a sub-committee to draw up by laws for the Kentucky Rural Health Council. Dr. O'Nan appointed Raymond Jones, field secretary KSMVA; Paul Grubbs, director of public relations; Farm Bureau, and Dr. C. E. Redlick, Deputy State Health Commissioner, all of Louisville.
 Second on the agenda was the appointment of a sub-committee to study the available data on local health councils throughout this county. They do for their community and the information they would need to this committee the Council. Dr. O'Nan appointed Raymond Jones, field secretary KSMVA; Paul Grubbs, director of public relations; Farm Bureau, and Dr. C. E. Redlick, Deputy State Health Commissioner, all of Louisville.
 Third, and perhaps most important, the initial discussion on a state-wide rural health conference.

WITH PASSAGE by the senate of the bill to give the oil-rich under sea lands to the adjacent states, leads two decisions of the federal government has paramount jurisdiction over these areas beyond the low tide mark. It is recommended that the President Truman, will be remembered that the President vetoed such a measure in 1946, and he is expected to do so again.
 The senate turned down any compromise on the matter, such as a split authority between the states and the federal government and turning the royalties into an educational fund for the public school system. Vote on the measure was 50 to 35. Certain exceptions were set up in the measure providing that states which had not already done so might extend their boundaries to the three-mile limit. In the case of the gulf coast of Florida and the coast of Texas, the boundaries were recognized as far as Spanish leagues (10 miles) seaward to the land further out on the continental shelf was not decided by the measure.
 The Senate has approved a bill to increase the base pay of all armed services personnel by "three percent plus allowances by varying amounts and to provide a $45-a-month combat pay for fighters in Korea. The bill also provides for a revision of the basic pay structure which permitted a straight 10 percent increase in all pay and allowances in 1949.

STORIES HAVE REACHED crack. The corridor outside was in darkness.
 "I believe this matter is being handled in a proper manner," said Carlton Brael, "about your power as a detector of military inspectors. Warren, I have summoned you here in the hope that you can solve a problem which has baffled not only myself but all efforts of local policemen."
 Inspector Joe Warren nodded. "To begin with, Mr. Brael, I deduct from your expression that, despite the stories you have heard, you are inclined to feel skeptical—about my ability."
 "I like to be honest with men, Inspector, as I like them to be honest with me. Your deduction is correct."
 "And now, Mr. Brael, suppose you continue with your honest policy, and give every detail you think might be helpful."
 "Gladly. Undoubtedly you are aware, Inspector, that this hotel caters to rather a high-class clientele. And in order to maintain an atmosphere befitting the caliber of our guests we have invested a considerable sum of money."
 "The hotel not only contains many priceless antiques, but we have some of the finest reproductions of paintings and statuary by famous artists. It is, in fact, this private museum which attracts many wealthy connoisseurs of art during the winter."
 "Recently, several valuable pieces from the museum have been stolen, among them a priceless painting by Rubens. I have done everything possible to apprehend the thief, but thereby without alarming the guests."
 Warren asked: "Your servants, of course, have beyond reproach managed the staff?"
 "Most certainly. They have been with me for years."
 "The criminal outside was in darkness."
 Five minutes later he was back in bed. An hour before dawn he awoke again, donned his dressing gown and went out.
 Two hours later Warren was rudely awakened by a wild pounding on his door. He opened it to find Brael.
 "Inspector Warren, this is absolutely the last straw. Last night the most valuable piece of statuary in the entire museum, a piece worth all the others put together, disappeared in the same mysterious fashion as the other pieces. You must have thought, and have concluded from the thief must be either Hedstrom or Henderson. No one else could gain admission to the museum in so short a space of time and without creating enough racket to arouse the household."
 "Shall we," asked the Inspector, "search the guards' rooms?"
 "An excellent idea. Let's be about it at once, before either of them comes off duty."
 Five minutes later the two men entered Hedstrom's room with the aid of a passkey. Packed away in a chest were the pieces of statuary. He held it up, a look of triumph in his eyes.
 "The statuary, yes," Warren agreed. "But where are the paintings?"
 "Hedstrom has had ample time to dispose of them," Brael explained.
 Warren nodded. "Just the same I think it would be wise to search other rooms."
 Apprecatively Brael followed Warren along the corridor to a door. He opened it and Warren entered the first room he came

NATIONAL GARDEN CONTEST OPEN TO KENTUCKY YOUTHS

The 12th annual $6,000 scholarship competition of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association was officially open for Kentucky farm youth today by John S. Gardner, state adult leader of NJVGA.

Gardner announced that boys and girls age 12 through 21, with at least one year of garden project work are eligible to compete in this vegetable production and marketing contest.

He described NJVGA as a national wide, self governed, rural youth organization which complements 4-H programs by offering specialized training in efficient commercial methods of vegetable production and marketing.

Last year, Gardner said, boys and girls in 44 states competed for the scholarship grants totaling $6,000. Stipends under a plan that provides a number of awards in each state as well as on sectional, regional and national levels.

Kentucky youths who shared in the scholarship fund last year, Gardner said, are Mary Ann Huffage, Mary Lou Conder, Ernest W. Bonzo, Ray C. Warmath, and Bettye Jane Napier state award winners. Leaders of two national agriculture organizations have endorsed NJVGA at the beginning of the program.

In my opinion the vegetable growers of America would be serving their own interest and that of the country by encouraging their sons and daughters to participate. NJVGA is a sound, self helping organization and I personally am grateful to the organizations and individuals who have developed it.

The master of the national Grange, Hershel D. Newsom, reaffirmed the resolution pledging assistance to NJVGA adopted at the last Grange convention.

The National Grange is happy to endorse that the scholarship awards, announced at the annual association convention in December, are based on a report of the entrant's garden project, his score in the contest, and a rating of his general school and community activities.

Public Assistance Set For Hospital Patients

Public assistance may be granted patients in public medical institutions under new amendments to Kentucky's public laws, it was pointed out today by Aaron Paul, state director of Public Assistance.

The changes, however, do not permit persons afflicted with tuberculosis or mental illnesses to participate.

Paul pointed out that each medical institution that accepts or has facilities available to must comply with reasonable established by the department. The amendment brings Kentucky's laws into line with federal requirements.

In 1949 a survey disclosed that there were 23 private non-profit institutions and more than eighty private profit institutions caring for some 1,600 potentially eligible recipients.

Economic Security News

Temporary seasonal layoffs in the clothing industry were largely responsible for a 9.2 per cent increase in new claims for unemployment insurance in Kentucky during October, the Department of Economic Security reported in Frankfort today.

O. B. Hannah, director of the departments unemployment insurance division, said that in 5,984 in September to 11,859 in October, about 25 per cent above the October 1950 figure.

In addition to the seasonal slump in the clothing industry Hannah listed continuing fluctuations in mining employment some construction layoffs, layoffs in metal industries due to material shortages, seasonal layoffs at distilleries, and a change that the base period, used in determining unemployment insurance payments, is the first four of the last five months. Approximately 54 per cent of the individual claims filed during October were filed by women who make up substantially all of the production force in the clothing industry, Hannah said. He also noted that about half of the new claims were filed by persons who had experienced at least one other spell of unemployment during the past 12 months.

Continued UI claims also increased during October to 91,761, the agency chief said, about 14 per cent above September and 21 per cent higher than October 1950. He estimated approximately 3.5 workers were unemployed last month in covered industry for every 100 working in covered jobs.

Heavy maintenance costs include damage to mowers and other machinery caused by cans and bottles as well as expense in hauling the trash away, he pointed out.

Bray said his department tries to catch dumpers and bring legal action against them but that this method of beating the problem can never be successful by itself.

He used the term litterbugs to describe those who are guilty of the dumping and urged them to think of the damage they are doing before they take a load of trash out to a public roadway and deposit it.

Another Stocking Project

The Division of Game and Fish hopes to have at least 20,000 rainbow trout to release in Cumberland River below Wolf Creek Dam early in May. Biologists, who have studied the 50 miles of water below the dam, believe it is suitable for trout since the water temperature never gets above 65 degrees, even on the hottest summer day. A similar stocking of dam in the Obey River has produced favorable results for the Tennessee Department of State and Federal agencies. Whether the fish will reproduce...
