"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Millie Easton, Edmond, Okla.: I remember, when we noticed any young man calling on his best young lady friend as often as once a week, the neighbors would whisper behind their fans and say, "They surely will be marrying very soon."

From Donald Blesman, Atlanta, Ga.: I remember when mother did the family washing in a wooden tub with a zinc washboard.

From Mrs. T. S. McSwain, Wetumpka, Ala.: I remember taking some eggs to the store for my mother. I got the things she went for with the eggs and had a dozen left over—which were worth 15 cents. With them I took three yards of cloth for a dress for me.

From the Old Cass, Chicago: I remember when politicians restricted their kissing to babies of the cradle age. But now, there's no limit to whom and what a politician will kiss for a vote or two. Just the other day, I saw a picture of Bernard Baruch getting his face patted by a sweet young thing, who'd been out of the cradle for a date or two. I'll bet. He's taking a tip from Alben Barkley. I'm getting up in years, so pretty soon, I can act like Baruch and Barkley without getting my face slapped. Then I won't be remembering much, old timers!

From Mrs. Stella Casady, Harve, Meigs: I remember when I started to school in western Meigs in 1884 in a sod school house with a dirt floor. We had charm strings of buttons.

Mr. Vernon Described On Radio Program

Mr. Vernon, Kentucky will be described as a scenic spot on Route 25 on the WAW "Down the Highway" program at 11 a. m., EST, Saturday May 31. The program, which has been designed for automobile owners and week-end tourists, will note the points of interest in Mt. Vernon, suggesting it as a pleasant spot to visit on a summer week-end drive. The broadcast, which has a musical background, also presents up to the minute weather reports for the area, giving motorists an opportunity to prepare for inclement weather. Tips for traveling and safety measures will be included in the program. Material for the popular Saturday morning show was obtained with the help of the State Departments of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia, the state police, weather bureaus and auto clubs.

RURAL HEALTH IN KY.

This is the theme of the first Statewide Rural Health Conference scheduled for May 7 and 8 in Louisville. It was decided at the last meeting of the program committee, which met in the offices of the Kentucky State Medical Association in Louisville, on March 13.

At this meeting were: Paul Grubbs of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation; Miss Myrtle Weldon, State Leader, Home Demonstrations Agents, of Kentucky; Mrs. Thos. E. Roberts, Kentucky Farm Bureau Women's Department; D. Extension Service, University G. Miller, Jr., Morgantown, W. Va., representative to the American Medical Association's Rural Health Committee and Walter L. O'Nan, M. D., Henderson, Chairman of the K.S. M.A.'s Rural Health Committee.

The committee put a final stamp of approval on the program for the 2 day conference and selected the theme. The theme, they agreed, was significant of the theory behind rural health. This theory being that no one but the people themselves in their own communities can solve the problem of rural health, and that the time is here to do something about it. Following the program's approval by the committee, they met with a full-blown meeting of the Kentucky Rural Health Council and received an enthusiastic "go-ahead" from the entire group.

But, meanwhile other groups had been added to the Council. In addition to those already named were added: the Kentucky Hospital Association, Women's auxiliary of the K.S. M.A., the County Agents Association, and the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers. Not less than 12 statewide groups have expressed an interest in the Council and pledged unstinting cooperation.

FARMERS

The farmer speaks his mind and acknowledges the vital necessity of our system of free marketing in the 1952 Edition of "The Farmer and the Market Place"—a public service radio series prepared by the Chicago Board of Trade and soon to be aired by radio stations in all forty eight states and Alaska. This new series features interviews with farmers tape recorded by the well-known agricultural reporter, Mel Galliard, at the State Fairs last summer and introduces the Grain Champions of the International Grain and Hay Show to listeners from coast-to-coast.

Grain growers, livestock producers, dairymen, 4-H Club members and the Grain Kings of the International all are heard in this factual series expressing their own personal views of the economic value of the market in selling their farm products.

Dave Elvingston, a Washington, Iowa farmer, who each year farms 400 acres in grain and livestock, summed up his views this way: "Without our free competitive grain marketing system, a grain farmer wouldn't know what to plant, he wouldn't be able to plan his operations and he wouldn't be willing to face all the risks entailed in large scale production and feeding programs." The Soybean King, Ben T.

Gildersleeve of Hudson, Ill., when interviewed at the International market in Chicago, said: "It seems to me that our free system of marketing is very essential in seeing that the farmers of our country have a fair and equitable market."

One of the country's top livestock breeders, Del Kingston of Curtis Candy Farms expresses his views on the contribution our marketing system has made, to develop better livestock, this way: "We all know that breed improvement is one of the greatest needs in agriculture today and this work would not be possible without our system of free marketing with its 'cash grain' and 'futures' market. Because our confidence in this system which supplies us with a never-ending supply of feed grain, we can devote entire energies to improving the breeds on our farms, without any worry about the grain supply."

These views and many more are heard in the 1952 Edition of "The Farmer and the Market Place"—comments from men who are actively responsible for maintaining our agricultural economy. This series soon to be heard on 500 radio stations in our country will inform the radio listeners of the nation the vitally important part our American system of free marketing plays in the ever day lives of all Americans.

Christian Science

Spiritual understanding alone can pierce today's corruption in government and world confusion and lead mankind to lasting safety and security. The Christian Board of Directors said today.

About 7,500 Christian Scientists from throughout the world heard the Directors' special message at the Annual Meeting of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Directors said that human ingenuity alone will never solve mankind's deepest problems. But they added that the means for right adjustment are spiritual and are immediately available.

"Not numbers nor human might but Truth—spiritual understanding—is the power that will suffer the world's destiny," they declared.

Named president of the Mother Church for the coming year was Lt. Col. Robert Ellis of Long, England. Associate Editor of the Christian Science religious periodicals. He has been active in the religion for more than forty years, including service as practitioner, lecturer and authorized teacher. "The keynote of this century is not chaos but Christ," Colonel Key told the huge crowd. "War and destruction have been associated with the first half of the twentieth century, but progress and spiritualization will mark the succeeding years."

"The old materialism must be replaced by a spiritual concept of creation, he added."

Mrs. Lora C. Rathvon, Retiring President, said there is "growing recognition that spiritual enlightenment, and spiritual enlightenment alone, will blot out the materialism which is the source of all confusion and of mankind's multiplied problems."

She added: "We rejoice in widely accumulating evidence, in terms of Christian healing, that the needed spiritual understanding is available to humanity today."

Key officials reported on the far-flung activities of the denomination, which has branches throughout the United States and in 41 other countries. Of spiritual healing was noted by Gordon V. Comer, Clerk of the Mother Church. Current church records, he said, include testimonials of Christian Science healings of arthritis, cancer deformed nose, infantile paralysis, gallstones, crippling bones and flesh, as well as of social drinking and smoking.

George Chanak, Manager of Christian Science Committees on Publication, reported increasing official state and local recognition of the right of the individual to exemption from compulsory physical examinations in good faith on religious ground. He said flourishing of the public water supply is being opposed on the grounds that it represents state medicine, and there are prospects of success.

Relief totalling some $200,000 was voluntarily contributed by Christian Scientists to aid sufferers in the Kansas-Missouri Valley flood, Roy Garrett Watson, Treasurer of the Mother Church, announced. In another field, the Christian Science Camp Welfare Department disclosed that more than 380 Camp Welfare Workers were ministering to hospitalized veterans and members of the armed forces. In addition, thirteen Christian Science chaplains—three of them in Korea—were on active duty with troops.

Commencement At Mt. Vernon High School

Thirty-five graduates receive diplomas and a few are granted awards. 3 alumni are recognized.

The annual graduating exercises of the Mount Vernon high school last week Friday was culminating event of the school's labor for the year 1951-1952. It brought together a multitude of patrons, friends and parents, whose interest, loyalty and support for the school has always been strong and sincere. Thirty-five students completed their work and received their diplomas from the hand of the school's superintendent Clyde Linnville. At the opening of the program the orchestra under the direction of D. B. Thompson played several selections. The professional "Prelude" was played by Edward Barnes. The reverend Howard Ray offered the invocation, following this the Girls' Glee Club sang "The Thrush" by F. E. Rich.

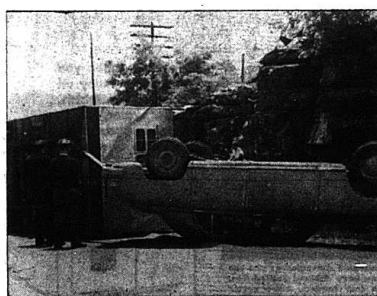

Three former graduates of the school were presented to the audience by Mr. Linnville. They were from the class of 1914 and when the three men rose to their feet there was a tremendous ovation. The three alumni were John Lair of Reno Valley, R. B. McKensie of Mt. Vernon and James Thompson of Newport. Harry Sparks of Murray Teachers College gave the address to the graduates. "Balance" by Mr. Sparks, "is the most important word in the dictionary. Right now this world is out of balance. What the students and the graduates need is direction, so that they may develop character citizenship.

At the close of the address a mixed chorus sang "Twilight Serenade" by Gardner. Mr. Linnville then presented the awards to the outstanding students of the senior class. He listed the names of those who made the honor society. These included Albert E. Gehlin, Johnny Machal, Sue Ann Bullock, Barbara Hilton, Cartha Jean Scott and Rhoda Woodall. The selection was based on scholarship, leadership, service and character. Only 15 per cent of the class was eligible for this honor.

Jess Bullock was given special mention for his outstanding work in agriculture. He is a Cumberland Star Farmer, Cumberland District President, President of Mt. Vernon F.F.A. Chapter and a candidate for State Farmer. The valedictorian of the class was Sue Binlock. She won a Transylvania College Scholarship valued at $100, and a year's subscription to the Readers' Digest.

Supt. Clyde Linnville gave the diplomas to the thirty-five graduates, after which the reverend Wendell Belew pronounced the benediction. George Walter Mullins, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Mullins (Edna Moore) of

Mysterious Explosion Near Level Green

An explosion that rocked the neighborhood of Level Green on Sunday afternoon, May 18th has not yet been explained. Persons who heard the explosion said that it was terrific. Buildings in and around the Level Green region shook, windows rattled. Mr. R. L. Shepard who lives near the Level Green school stated that he heard the blast and thought that it was in a north easterly direction. About half a mile from his home he saw smoke billowing through the tops of trees on the farm owned by Robert Hoyt. Mr. Hoyt is reported later some one climbed the hill where the smoke had been seen and found a hole in the ground with the trees seared and scorched the blast. An area of about 30 feet in diameter showed scars of the explosion. The hole in the ground was about four feet deep and approximately eight feet across. There was nothing to indicate what kind of an explosion it was. Was it a meteor? Was it dynamite or was it a small bomb dropped from an airplane? No one seems to know. It is only guess work. No fragments from shrapnel have been discovered. The sound was heard as far as fourteen miles away.

Seniors Return From Washington Trip

We, the senior class of '52 Mt. Vernon, Ky., not fully awake as of 7:05 A. M. Sunday May 18, left Mt. Vernon. Bus station on a chartered Greyhound bus, with destination Washington, D. C. We made several stops between Mt. Vernon and Roanoke, Va., where we spent the first night of our trip. But of course there wasn't much sleeping, because everyone was so excited and afraid they might miss something. And by the way, the Blue Eagle Motel manager was up bright and early to see us off Monday morning and make sure the Mt. Vernon Seniors wouldn't spend another night giving war-whoops from one side of the court to the other.

Leaving Roanoke we arrived in Mt. Vernon, Virginia Monday about 3 o'clock P. M. where we had only a short wander through the home of George Washington and to get the boat for a ride on the Potomac river to Washington, D. C. We were all pretty well worn out on arriving at the Ebbitt Hotel, but we still gave our four day trip a rough time keeping track of everyone. On Tuesday morning in spite of rainy weather, we started our tour. We had a rough trip, we went to Lincoln Memorial and Smithsonian Institute. At about 1 o'clock we ate lunch at the airport. We began the afternoon with a visit to the Capitol Building, there we journeyed to the library where the books provided boring to us seniors because of its ever continuous quietness. Finishing our tour for the day, Joe Brower, our bus driver drove us to Jefferson Memorial, where we spent one half hour. After leaving Jefferson Memorial all but willing to go back to the hotel and freshen up for the evening, which you can rest assured we took full advantage of.

Mrs. Serena Mink Dies at her Home

Friends in this city and elsewhere were saddened by the news that Mrs. Serena Elizabeth Mink had died at her home on Brindle Ridge Monday, May 19, 1952. She was born in Rockcastle County, April 15, 1885, and was the daughter of the late Coleman and Mary Alice Burdette. She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, Thomas Burke Mink, to whom she was united in marriage December 26, 1910 and two children, a son, Raymond T. Mink, and a daughter, Alma A. Adams, three grandsons, Harold and Arnold Mink and Randall Adams, four brothers, John, Peasley, Harrison and William C. Burdette and one sister, Mrs. Jennie Houston, as well as many other relatives and friends.

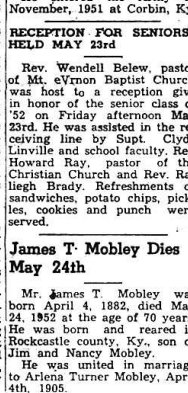

More than thirty years ago she became a member of the Brindle Ridge Baptist Church, at which place funeral services were conducted by Bro. Ellis of Williamsburg, Kentucky, at 11 o'clock, Monday, May 22, at one o'clock, The Britton Funeral Home had charge of the funeral arrangements. She was in Green Hill Cemetery.

Serena was a good wife, a companion to her husband, always looking ever to the ways of her household and at her price was far above rubies. As a mother, none could surpass her, she was ever mindful of her children and gave to them her best. And as a friend and neighbor she was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand. To know her was to love her.

Death is often associated with shadows and gloom, but to one who believes in God, Serena died, "the door of death is a dawn, not a sunset." "Dust thou art to dust returned was not spoken of the soil." Her body may return to dust but all that is good in her life remains. The things she loved still endure and will live in our hearts forever.

And now, somewhere, sometime, may we hope to renew her life, her companionship, rarely broken off by the ruthless touch of death. Sometime shall we not set our faces toward the sun-dawn, pass along the way her feet have trodden in to rest and dream, and there under the cool, green shadows of the trees of paradise find the old familiar welcome, look

About 70 tanks of acetylene and oxygen exploded, making an awful noise. They landed several hundred feet from the truck. The fire valves blew out on the other tanks and the contents went up in smoke

Officers Raid Still At Dry Fork

The local officers, sheriff Payne, Ballinger and Arnold made a raid in the region of Dry Fork Monday, May 26 and discovered an operating still near Blue Springs. They found a complete unit consisting of a kettle, worm and two barrels of mash. No one was at the still when the officers arrived. The equipment was brought to Mt. Vernon by the officers. The two barrels of mash were burned on the ground. A berry sorbet, rest of Boyd Mink has been issued but so far no arrests have been made. It is believed that the party that operated the still must either have gotten wind of the raid or they were eating their dinner at the time. The fire was still burning at the still when the officers arrived.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Delbert Griffin, who departed this life June 3, 1948. May brings sad memories of a loved one laid to rest. You will never be forgotten by the ones who loved you best. Yes, four sad years have passed since that sad day. The one we loved was called away. God took him home, it was his will. But in our hearts, he liveth still. Don't ask me if I miss him, Oh, there's such a vacant place. Oft times I hear his footsteps and see his smiling face. Yes, Dear, we loved you so. Sadly missed by mom, dad, brothers and sisters.

Health News

"The health of the children of Kentucky today means the health of its adults tomorrow," says the May issue of the Bulletin of the Kentucky State Department of Health, just released. The entire Bulletin is devoted to the work of the Department's Division of Maternal and Child Health.

In 1950, out of every 1,000 babies born alive in Kentucky, 35.3 died. However, 30 years earlier of every 1,000 babies...

61.5 died. The rate is being steadily lowered through the efforts of private physicians and the maternal and child health program of the State and local health departments, according to the Bulletin.

The Bulletin, in color and interlaced with drawings, describes the many maternal and child health activities of the public health program in Kentucky. It tells of work being done for improved dental and school health, hearing conservation, accident prevention, improved nutrition and prevention of disease.

The well-child well physically, mentally and emotionally and to promote good development and well-being. Parents' class health program of the State also are being held in many localities. The classes, taught with the approval of county medical societies, are conducted for adolescent girls newly married couples and expectant parents.

The State Department of Health has a hearing conservation program, the Bulletin points out. In Kentucky, it says, one child in 20 has a hearing loss ranging from mild to severe.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Hasty Chili
(Serves 4-6)

- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons drippings or lard
- 2 small onions, chopped
- 1 No. 2 1/2 size can tomatoes
- 1 No. 2 can kidney beans
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Brown beef slowly in drippings. Add all remaining ingredients and cook slowly for one hour. Water may be added and seasonings adjusted to taste.

A good dressing for fruit or finely shredded cabbage salads uses 1/4 cup apricot whole fruit nectar added a little at a time. Then blend in 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, a little tabasco sauce and salt.

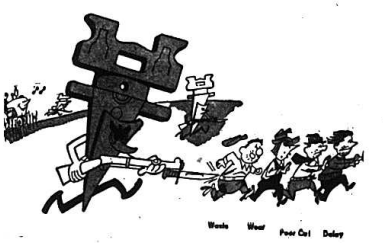

Thick slices of peeled banana dipped in mayonnaise then in chopped walnuts make a good beginning for a salad. Add to this some slices of orange and a garnish of maraschino cherry.

For a pretty dessert try a fruit meringue cake: cover the top of an angel food cake with drained, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, bake on a cookie sheet in a hot oven for five minutes.

For a novel appetizer course for your guest dinners: quarter canned artichoke hearts and combine with avocado balls and tiny blue cocktail onions. Dress liberally with spicy cocktail sauce and serve chilled.

RAMBLINGS

Accidents seem so necessary when they happen. We always wonder why they should happen to us and not somebody else better able to take them. But that does not sound logical. The next person is just as susceptible to theills and accidents of this life as we are. But accidents do happen. The strike unexpectedly. There is always a reason for them.

During the past week three highway accidents occurred in our county. Two on U. S. 25 and another on the Broadhead Creek road. One was a fire that destroyed a large truck and its contents. Its cause? Not definitely known, but believed to have started from a defective battery wire.

The second accident was at Burr. No one was hurt, but it could easily have been tragic. What caused that? Making a sharp curve at high speed.

The third accident happened on Brush Creek road. A man was hit and hurt.

A majority of accidents happen because the driver loses control of the machine. An automobile has a lot of tonnage at high speed and momentum is terrific. There are certain speeds which a car can make easily provided the controls are in the right hands, but it is rare that an automobile is defective. The modern car is a superb machine. It operates easily. It has tremendous power. But let that power get into the wrong hands and what have you? The greatest cause for accidents is drinking and intoxicating liquor. I remember the road signs in the state of Texas that read: "If you drive, don't drink. If you drink, don't drive."

CLEAR CREEK COMMENTS

By Cleatus Tussey

I can't see why in the world that weeds grow so fast. They say a punkin vine will grow up to anything that comes up but they will have to go some to beat a weed. I had it all evening up in my new green tractor and had plum give out. I sat down under the mulberry at the end next to the road when Nature was three kids often the boys came by. When his pap raised Billy, he sure made him one bad mistake as I still think he was the best just jokin when they let him hatch. He stopped and axed me how I felt toward taking a drink and I told him as I didn care a bit, he hawsed out a bottle and told me there was some good old Bond & Lillard. I layed her up to my head and when that roun State my throat. I thought somebody had hit me in the back with a maul or that he had me with a dubble-barreled shot gun. When I did get my breath back, I says to him, "San, why can't you get somethin from here, is a real drink and won't put nish kill you. Why don't you get some of the good seed beer?" Well, I had to go into a long story to tell him all about good old time seed beer, and how you had to have molasses and spring water to make it and what all the good virtues of this potent drink could do. I still think he was the best heard of it. I told him that they wuz a thousand people in this county who had drunk seed beer and they would love to have me another start of them seeds as we lost ours when our house burned down. It is interesting to be trying to scorch the bedstids to get rid of chinchies. I grow up on seed beer as my motor mester make it all the time and it wuz such a fascination to set and watch it work.

around with him. You know I bote one of them from him, and I never seed as much paper in that bunch as he give me. When I got it home and got Armin started reading on it, she said wuz this aint nigh as much news in this as they is in this here Signal that you rise them pieces fer. I took the whole bunch of it down to the Main store, and he told me if he had as much as twenty copies of it, he could wrap everything he sold, in it for a year. They sure do do you losses on that advertizing and I have wondered what people done fer paper in case we had a bad year on our corn crops. I notice that them that had a complete failure, bote a copy every Sunday. I wonder if that Nita can pick a bapier as they tell me she shore can play some right purty music on that organ. I bet she can't "Phy-that old favorite of mine, "The death of John Henry".

Some people came over to the house tather evening saying as how they heard that Ide been putting some pieces in the paper. They axed me if I could probably help them out in the way of a little advertizing. I wuz plum put out about what they might be trying to put of on me until they said they wuz awantin to ax if anybody would be interested in either buying or taking three kids often the hands. Well, knowing them kids as I do, I don't blame them James Boys from leaving Kentucky and going to Missouri and start robbin banks. Folks, then is three the worst children I ever seed in my life. It a good thing they are under the Statute of Liberty is away up yander in New York as they would take him down offen his neck and the Mamouth Cave is away out yander as they would stop up the mouth of it. They are slightly used, and I can't let you get somethin from here, the price aint too high. But if you stick by your, you'll have to get by your, I trade as you shore wont get no refund in case out try to take them back. Why even the catsand they come over here and I like to never get my row to make out to the milking gap just on account of them standing at the gate and looking over the lane. They are kidnap-proof as innobody that would be fool enough to tackle them, would get tight down on be and in a slip in a rattlesnake's den, with nothing but a feather to fight with in case innny person should get in there, it is a jist rite me, but be sure you bring some good stout strings and a couple of two-handed mauls, and be after and after, say any thing about your future welfare.

Arminata allers grabs that there Mt. Vernon Signal as quick as we get it out of the box and starts reading it. I haft to be right after she reads it, her read it out loud as she will jest read and mumble and laugh and brag. But bust her when she says she is after a drap and squidge in the one that came this week. She came across a place in the Scaffold Cane New tash said something she liked to tickle me to death as I didn't think a sole in the world ever looked at her like them things she say, as the whole danged family makes fun of me fer riting them rimes, saying as there aint no more corn and times and that we are living in a modern world and age and us more. That sounded so good from the air person up there in Scaffold Cane, that if I had my senny shod, Ide go right up there and eat dinner with her. I betcha she's got ham meat up there with rines on them thicken a shoe sole, and it would do me the most good in the world jest to square myself at her, (er maybe me table to fur to say her) table and jest watch the hide on my belly get as tight as a banier when I betcha I could be a settin of goose eggs from her and she could tell me a lot of things, I betcha she would then you wuz to brag on me one more time, you could out my saltins strivers and Ide go up to get a billion net on my head, I get on the derby hat that I use to wear to the Broadhead Fair every year. You, me, you get us a little vanity too.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Banks and daughter, Jean this past Monday, and Mrs. Grant Banks Jr. and little daughter, Susan, of Spindale, N. C., left Thursday for Middletown, O. The trust is operated for the Cumberland Strawberry Cooperative Association. It made its first trip through the county Friday May 23. It will stop at Mt. Vernon at 1:00 P. M. for 15 minutes and at Berea for 15 minutes to pick up berries ready to market.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

A rather heavy flight of army worm moths this spring and favorable weather conditions for the development of army worms at this time indicate that there will be evidence in a few days. Small worms may be found now in greatest numbers at the base of plants where the growth is rank. Farmers should examine their fields now to determine the location of the pests and the extent of infestation.

The worms can be killed readily with a treatment of Toxophene used as a spray or dust at the rate of one or half to two pounds of actual Toxophene per acre. Chlordane at the same dosage and in the same form may also be used with equal success.

Crops treated with these chemicals should not be harvested or pastured sooner than 30 days after the application is necessary to apply the insecticides only to that portion of the field where the worms are operating.

If for any reason it is not Toxophene then poisoned bait is desirable to use. Chlordane should be employed for this purpose by mixing, well dry, 25 pounds of bran with 1 pound of paris green and adding enough water to moisten. Broadcast this mixture in late afternoon, at the rate of 12 pounds per acre, to the area where the worms are actively working or in front of their line march.

Strawberry Marketing
A strawberry truck is running on U. S. 25 on Monday and Friday from Williamsburg to Cincinnati to pick up strawberries ready to market. This truck is operated for the Cumberland Strawberry Cooperative Association. It made its first trip through the county Friday May 23. It will stop at Mt. Vernon at 1:00 P. M. for 15 minutes and at Berea for 15 minutes to pick up berries ready to market.

Farmers and 4-H club members should grade berries carefully and fill cups rounded over to top and have crates at one of the above stops if they want to send berries to city market. Name and address of the grower should be written on each side of each crate. All crates should be brought to Mt. Vernon by 12:30 P. M. and at Berea by 1:30 P. M.

In defense of women
This appeal is made to daddys and big brothers of families who are raising a garden this year. You fellows would rank in the work for the women and children in your homes if you would cultivate the garden with a horse mow that usual. The ground gets hard and the women and children with dull hoes, can't do a good job stirring the soil and killing the weeds and grass. Of course the time to best prepare a garden is before its planted, but since most gardens are planted and the crop is growing, it needs stirring with a horse drawn cultivator or strong arms with a sharp hoe.

Another item might be mentioned, it might be a good idea to begin to spray or dust early in order to stay ahead of the insects. Its too late to do much after insects get a start on the plants. If you have any vegetables, if the spray pump or dust-er both are not in good shape with plenty of material to kill insects that it is better to kill insects than it is to let them eat before its too late. Tomato blight may reduce this year. Are you ready to spray or dust early, or you may not have the nice red tomatoes you hope to raise.

Start in this spring. They sold sprays-or dusting the garden may be worth more to the family.

Walter Durham and Ben C. French, in the Horse Lick neighborhood have raised 5,800 chickens this spring. They sold 4,200 of these birds at the weight of 3 pounds each for 27c per pound. Mr. Durham kept 1900 for layers and Mr. French kept 600. It cost about 60c to produce these birds to 3 pound weight.

These men expect to bring their 1600 pullets into laying by September 1. This will give them advantage of the rising price in late summer, fall and winter eggs. Pullets that want to nest, spring to lay are expensive and don't pay their keep.

SENIOR TRIP
Enroute to Roanoke, Va. we drove through Skyline Drive and the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia, which proved to be very beautiful and interesting. We arrived in Roanoke about 9 o'clock which proved to be another unrestful night for the night clerk at the Blue Eagle Motel.

On rising a little later than usual Thursday morning, we started our long, but anxious journey back to Mt. Vernon, Ky., which was a good sight for sore eyes, after many long and cordless hours of riding on the bus. We rolled in Mt. Vernon about 7 o'clock P. M. But after-all is said and done we will all agree with the old slogan-"There's no place like home".
