KEATON COMEDY TO BE FEATURED AT JOHN DEERE DAY PROGRAM

Highlights Full Program for Farm Families

Buster Keaton, long famed as a comedian of stage and screen, stars in "Paradise for Buster", the feature film that highlights the John Deere Day program to be given for farmers and their families 27, Jan., by Mt. Vernon Hardware, local John Deere dealer. The program which is free, includes a complete list of entertaining and educational pictures in the store and is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock.

One of the few instances when it's not Buster's own sack that's sitting out in this scene from the film "Paradise for Buster", feature picture of the coming John Deere Day program.

A feature length comedy, "Paradise for Buster" is the story of a would-be bookkeeper with a rare skill for incurring the merciless wrath of the company "boss". So well does Buster exercise his special talent that finally he and the chairman of the board reach the loud and unanimous decision that the firm and the world in general will benefit by Buster's removal from the pay roll. And so it happens, but not before Buster falls heir to a farm left him by his uncle, Burr McKean, a situation that gives him a new feeling of independence which he asserts at the painful expense of the bewildered "boss". With the farm, Buster also inherits more than a dog's share of troubles, and his stumbling fumbling struggle for survival provides a story that will delight young and old alike.

son with their usual share of anxious moments and to try to limit the patience of all he meets. But with all his resistance Tom is still no match for the rest of the family. This picture tells the inside story of the new John Deere Models '50' and '60' Tractors. Additional Full-Color Films In addition to "Paradise for Buster" and Tom Gordon Goes Modern several other films described by Mr. Winstead as certain to interest farmers and their families will be shown. Among these is "Oddities in Farming," a film that reveals rare practices employed in specialized fields of farming seldom witnessed by most farmers. Some of these practices are so peculiar to a particular locale that they are applied only in instances shown in this film, according to Mr. Winstead. This year's "Oddities" will include cranberry harvesting scenes, flower seed harvesting, walnut harvesting in California, and lettuce harvesting in the nation's salad bowl.

In May, 1944, 32 individual retail grocers in Lexington and Central Kentucky met and organized the Kentucky Food Stores, Inc. This organization to be owned and operated by bonified retail grocers whose duty would be to buy, warehouse, and advertise collectively and to do this on a non profitable basis.

The advantage of such an operation gives a central buying power which will enable each member to participate in the savings of large quantity buyings. Merchandise is being brought into this large warehouse in Central Kentucky by the hundreds of car loads and trailer tractor loads per year and is distributed to the individual retailer at a very low cost eliminating the middle man profit.

The Kentucky Food Stores have grown from 32 members in eight years to 100 members and are the largest food distributors in Central and Southeastern Kentucky. These tremendous savings are passed along to the ultimate consumer making it also possible for the members of the Kentucky Food Stores to not only meet competition but sell cheaper than any other retail establishment in Central and Southeastern Kentucky.

The growth of the Kentucky Food Stores has not only been noticeable in the number of stores but more so noticeable for the tremendous advance in remodeling and building larger and larger super markets. Truly, we are just in our infancy and in the next few years you will see more greater and greater advances.

Very truly yours,
