Switch on L. & N.

About twenty-five men have been working on the installation of a new switch on the L. & N. Railroad just north of Conway. A considerable distance of new rails are also being laid at that point. As an observer this reporter was quite taken by the skill and the precision those men work. Three different gangs were on the job. One from Richmond, one from Berea and one from Wildie. A crane lifted the old rails off the track and then replaced it with a new one. It used to take many men to lift these heavy iron rails; now it looks like child's play. The spike drivers never missed and in a few strokes the spikes were in place. Several of the heavy gauge rails were placed on the main line. It was only a matter of a few minutes and the Southland was to rear through and one rail completely off. What would happen if the train would come? But the men were unconcerned and went at their business with a self assurance that was puzzling. The L. & N. is replacing many of the cross ties with ones all the way north of Wildie. The condition of the bed is now in excellent shape.

Mrs. Andrew Blanton Dies May 21st

Mrs. Maggie Bower Blanton was born January 27, 1892, in Rockcastle County and died on May 21st, 1953 at the age of 61 years, three months and twenty four days. She was married in 1910 to Andrew J. Blanton who preceded her in death in 1946. To this union were born eight children four boys and four girls: Mrs. Earl Roberts of Spiro, Carter Blanton and Coleman Blanton, both of Spiro, Mrs. Albert Miller, Mrs. Lester Hasty, Mrs. Andy Simpson, Walker Blanton and Everett Blanton all of Detroit, Mich. She also leaves 16 grandchildren. One sister Mrs. George Dalanis of Detroit, and one uncle J. W. Shotts of Quall. Mrs. Blanton united with the church at an early age and lived a devoted christian until death. Services were held Saturday, May 25, 1953 at 2:00 P. M. at the Freedom Church. Interment was in the Freedom Cemetery. Officiating ministers were Bros. C. H. Philbeck and G. W. Murphy. Arrangements were made by the Cox Funeral Home.

Rev. Eugene Bradley Accepts Pastorate

It is with regret that the Pine Hill Baptist Church accepts the resignation of her pastor, Bro. Eugene Bradley. Bro. Bradley has been with the Pine Hill Church seven years. Under his ministry the church has made marked improvements. Mary have been added to the church during this time. The church has owned and operated two buses, being the first church in the association to do so. A basement with Sunday school rooms has been added. A gas furnace was installed recently. The building has been completely re-decorated. The church has grown more financially than at any time previous. Bro. Bradley has rendered a great service while working with the Pine Hill people. The spiritual life between pastor and church has grown very strong. He will always have a warm place in the hearts of these people. As he assumes his new duties the prayers of the church go with him, wishing for him a successful and happy ministry with the Mt. Zion Church. The church gave to their outgoing pastor a Benrus wrist watch as a token of their appreciation for his faithful and untiring service. The watch was presented by the oldest deacon, Mr. J. W. Hilton.

RAMBLINGS

I made quite a blunder last week when I stated that the "big snow" fell sixty-nine days ago. It should have been fifty-nine years. The snow fell in the year of 1894. Some who remembered the date came into my office and reminded me of the error.

Two fast trains are to make regular stops at Brush Creek beginning next week, Monday. The Southern will make a stop in the forenoon and also in the evening. An official announcement to that effect is appearing in this week's issue.

Now that these two important and fast trains stop so close to Mount Vernon, passengers going long distances and who prefer train travel, should avail themselves of this opportunity. Some County representatives should be on hand next Monday morning and extend a greeting to the engineers and conductors letting them know that we appreciate this service. The morning train stops at 10:10 A. M. and the evening train at 4:46 P. M.

Saturday is Memorial Day. It is a day set aside in memory of those who gave their lives for their country on the battle fields of many wars. The blue uniformed soldiers of the Civil War are almost always available. Others have stepped in to take their place. Since these bloody battles of the War between the States we have had other wars that took the lives of many of our boys. These also we must remember. And today our boys are giving their lives, not on domestic soil but in foreign lands. Wars have increased in scope. They are world-wide. They are demanding more of our men and money.

There seems to be no end. Sacrifices are getting larger. Honies are torn up, boys are being maimed, crippled and incapacitated. It is no fault of theirs. But somewhere there are evil forces and evil men that seek only to destroy and not build.

On this Memorial day we should dedicate ourselves anew to the building of a better world—a world-in which the sword shall be turned into a plowshare and the spear into a pruning hook.

County Agent Notes

Armyworms
Due to a rather heavy flight of armyworm moths this spring and favorable conditions for the development of armyworms, it is indicated that there may be a heavy outbreak of the pests in certain parts of the state. In fact, outbreaks of these worms have already been reported in central Kentucky and adjoining counties. It is anticipated that further outbreaks will be in fields of barley and grass within a few days. Small worms may be found now in greatest numbers at the base of plants where growth is rank. It is suggested that farmers examine their fields immediately to determine the location of the pests and the extent of the infestation.

The worms can be killed readily with a treatment of Texene used as a spray or dust at the rate of one and one half pounds of actual Texaphene per acre. Chlordane in the same dosage and in the same form may be used with equal success. Likewise Aldrin at 6-8 oz. per acre and Dieldrin at 4-6 oz. per acre have given satisfactory control.

Crops treated with these chemicals should be harvested about a week or two earlier than 30 days after the application. It is necessary to apply the insecticides only to that portion of the field where the worms are operating.

If for any reason it is not advisable to use any of the insecticides mentioned above, then poison bait should be employed. This is made by adding one lb. actual Dieldrin to one half pound of actual Chlordane, in either the emulsion concentrate or wettable powder, to enough water, 10-12 pounds per acre, and stirring the water which should be added to the bran and mixed. This mixture should be broadcast, in late afternoon, at the rate of 20 pounds per acre. The worms are actively working or in front of their line of march.

Dr. E. P. Hilton was introduced by Wayne Stewart who knew him as a teacher of agriculture. In his introduction Mr. Stewart gave a formidable list of achievements that the speaker has made, not only in the agricultural field but now as an educator in Frankfort.

Mr. Hilton in his introductory remarks deplored the disturbed condition of life, saying that people get to nervous these days because of the hectic days. And are given to alcoholism.

Jesse Stewart and another man he called Elmer, were cited as examples of achievements in spite of serious financial and educational handicaps.

Dr. Hilton mentioned three things necessary to success: 1. Decide what you want to do. Choose what you like to do and a job has a future. Be willing to start at the bottom and be willing to prepare yourself. 2. Always seek the truth. "Most of us are afraid of the truth," said Mr. Hilton. Sometimes farmers were afraid to use fertilizers on their farms and some are still afraid of vaccination! We must seek freedom from ignorance. 3. Follow Christ's teaching. Read the 5th, 6th and 7th chapters of Matthew.

During the evening the girls Glee Club rendered two selections: "Trees" by Kilmer - Rasbach and "Indian Love Call" by Friml - Lawrence. The invocation and the benediction were given by the Reverend Lawrence Adams and the Reverend Howard Ray, respectively.

Miss Ruth Ann McClure spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Albright.

SOLDIER TAKES OFF WITH CAR

A two-tone 1952 Buick was stolen Tuesday forenoon by one of the hitchhiking soldiers. It seems that three soldiers were on leave and on their way home. One soldier who was well acquainted with the other made his get-away with the car while the other two soldiers were out for a brief rest period. State police were immediately alerted and warning was sent out. The soldier took off to the south. His home is in Knoxville. The incident happened about 10 miles north of Mount Vernon.

Last Saturday night a car was stolen at the jused car lot of David McCaulley on route 150. Mr. McCaulley would like to find some information about the theft. So far no clue has been found.

IT'S HUMAN NATURE AT WORK

Stopping for gas in an Iowa town, I found a line of cars at a filling station which displayed a sign: "Your tank full free if you guess how much it takes." After I had guessed—and lost—I asked the busy proprietor how his plan worked out. "Followed guessed right about two years ago," he said, "but it only costs me $1.30. And we don't get any 'Gimme a dollar's worth' customers any more. Every body makes a guess and gets it." M. F. McGrath Milwaukee, Wis.

How to Convert Attic

When it's been transformed into a cozy living quarters or recreation room!

It's quite a simple matter, and economical, too. If you will use modern remodeling material like Tempered Presdwood. That was the all-wood paneling used to transform the attic in the illustration into the handsome room for a teen-age boy.

Tempered Presdwood is mighty tough—just the durable material needed in an attic recreation area or room for the young man of the house. Also it's good looking, with-out any paint—a rich brown with the wood fibers showing through. Of course, it can be painted, too, beautifully.

The entire room may be outfitted by the handyman and his son. For instance, in the room shown were made of Tempered Presdwood in easy combinations with lumber. This versatile hardboard may be found in any lumber yard.

Bro. Ramsey will preach at Providence Saturday night and Sunday. Every one is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Herrin and family of Ohio visited relatives and friends here over the week-end.

Bro. Carl Sutton of Corbin preached at Providence last Saturday night. Sunday and Monday night with a large attendance.

Serve By Sharing

Lesson for June 7, 1953

A FIELD of soy beans in North Carolina; a calf and eggs in Blossom, Texas; 1500 boxes of apples in Washington, bags in North Dakota and chickens in Wisconsin. What are all these together? These and hundreds of other products grow on farms were "Lord's Acre" and "Lord's Livestock" projects last year. Thousands of people in every part of the nation have been joining in such plans for more than 22 years now. The idea is to dedicate to the Lord's service a field, some head of cattle, whatever the farmer or housewife owns or can grow. The projects are varied; they are generally successful; but the greatest success has been in the happiness and satisfaction of those who have worked on these things.

Themselves First

The innumerable people who shared in dedicating their work in the service of God and his cause have simply turned into action and experience what St. Paul laid down long ago to the church at Corinth. The Corinthian Christians were city people, not country people; but they were poor, not rich. Paul is urging them to give what they could; and in doing so brings out at least four principles of right giving.

First and foremost is that the best givers had first of all given their own selves to the Lord. The church has learned long ago that St. Paul was right. You can't expect big contributions or hard work from those who are essentially selfish. You have to convert a man's heart before you can convert his money. And even if you have God everthing but yourself, you would not yet have given the very thing He wants most of all.

Sharing the honor

"They simply begged us to accept their gifts and so let them share the honor of supporting their brethren." (1 Cor. 16:7) Philippi translates II Cor. 8:4. Paul is describing the way in which the church in Macedonia has contributed to what we would call the benevolent funds. Christian giving is all in the way the giver looks at it. It is that of a steward, not a miser. It is thought of as something only the wealthy can rightly do, if it is thought of as something the poor can't be expected to do. Kind of chore at best, then of course the giving won't be much. It comes from the heart. It is giving nothing at all. But giving in the cause of Christ, for the use and help of God's people, is an opportunity to share in the difference in the world between the giver who says "in effect," "I'll do it for you," and the one who says, "Do let me get in on this."

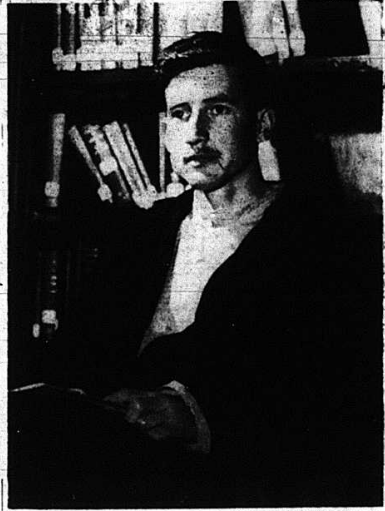

The Lord Loves

The Bible does not encourage any one to fancy that he can buy his way into God's favor by his own efforts. God loves the cheerful giver, even though He seldom turns away givers of any sort. A sour and selfish man might be high-pressure into gloomily squeezing a few dollars into the church budget, and those dollars will do some good; but the Bible does not suggest that God cares much for that sort of giving. Giving that hurts may be good, but giving that it doesn't hurt is better! We remember Jesus' comment on the offering of the wealthy Pharisee and the poor widow. Is there any one who can think God loved her and them alike?

Carrying Through

So there are three principles of Christian giving: personal dedication, a sense of privilege in sharing God's work, and enthusiasm. As Paul puts it again Philippi's translation: "Show that you are a complete what you set out to do with as much efficiency as you showed readiness to begin." (II Cor. 8:7) A good Lord's Acre project calls for more than enthusiasm in the springtime. It has to have hard work most of the summer. The work of the church, and indeed every undertaking for the welfare of mankind, is best carried on not by those who blow all their steam at once, but by those who save up some steam for the long steady pull. Long mileage is worth more than a flashy start.

MAKING money growing acre, but the cost per bushel on how many bushels per acre dropped to 77 cents. The gross return increased to $157 which left the farmer with a net profit of $82.76. This was nearly three times the profit per acre from the 48-bushel yield.

The use of fertilizer meant the difference in profit. Other vital factors affecting on any corn field, high or low yield are good tillth and soil structure, drainage and a stalk acre. That was true on fields yielding 48 bushels per acre use of all the nutrients available in the soil. If the soil can't provide the nutrients in balanced supply, they can be added in the form of commercial fertilizers carrying nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

Yields of 100 and more bushels per acre are possible even in severe droughts, where the crop is well fertilized and has a large enough stalk population. That was demonstrated by agronomists in drought-stricken Missouri last year. County agents throughout the state reported that farmers who reached the 100-bushel corn goal, fertilized on the basis of spent for fertilizer. This boosted the total cost to $76.24 per acre at the proper rate.

The Garden Vegetables

John S. Gardner, University of Kentucky

The annual fight between weeds and vegetables soon will start with the advantage to the weeds. Why this is so is understandable when it is kept in mind that weeds are the tough survivors of countless ages of all kinds of weather, whereas vegetables are man-tamed, many of them miles away from their original climate. They lost whatever resistance they originally had as they were being bred to suit man's selfish ends, production. It is a fact that the farther away the vegetables are from their wild state, the more tender they become, and the more dependent on man's help toward surviving every way.

In old times, weeds were stopped by working the soil deeply, as with a shovel plow to cover the weeds. But such treatment worked hardship on the vegetables as it disturbed their roots or cut them off. Besides, working was quite laborious, which should be enough argument against it. Also, most times it failed of its purpose, as it merely transplanted the weeds, which when rains came started growing again and the working had to be done all over.

The time to stop weeds is while they are small before they have become contenders for plant food, as well as for the moisture the winter stored, and which the chance showers from May on may bring. But small weeds (and large ones, too) may be stopped by cutting them off at the ground level, with no soil stirring at all. Do this by hand, or with a sharp hoe or a sweep or a scuffle hoe attachment of a wheelhoe, stirring only the top of soil, leaving the garden's surface level.

Another outmoded practice is that of making hills and ridges. Again, it's laborious to make them, and as they're made of soil scraped from over the vegetables' roots, those roots are placed in an embracing position until they can dive down to deeper, more moist soil. Much better than deep working is shallow cultivation no more than an inch deep within the radius of the vegetables' roots, and the soil surface left as nearly level as possible. And no hills or ridges ever.

AH, THEN COMES SPRING! Professor: "Joseph, describe hibernation to the class." Joe: "To hibernate is to pass the winter in a state of torpor."

as do certain animals. It is a sort of suspended animation during which life flickers low and the animal barely exists through the cold, dark part of the year." Professor: Correct. Give us an example." Joe: "A baseball fan."

EMBARRASSING MOMENT A housewife was seated at breakfast when she heard the back door slam. Thinking it was her young son returning from school, she called out, "I'm in here, darling. I've been waiting for you." There was a silence for a long moment, then an embarrassed shuffling of feet and finally a strong, masculine voice which said: "I think you ought to know, Madam, that I ain't your regular milkman!" Heard on "The Gary Moore Show."
