New Life For Mesabi

TACONITE is new giant of Minnesota's Mesabi range. Without it, the iron ore region's end was in sight. Now, new harbors, plants are rising on Lake Superior shore. It's steel's ace-in-the-hole. Industry will convert iron-bearing rock into iron content pellets.

SUPERMAN DEVICE, below, burns oxygen and kerosene and pours out flaming gases, crumbles rock at deposit site.

TO CAPTURE iron dust, processors grind three tons of rocks, like that held by miner, to get ton of 60% iron.

NEW CITIES being backed out of wilderness reflect size of taconite program. Trucks like this International work 24 hours a day; carpenters hammer at new houses. There's new life on Mesabi!

FLOWERS FOR TILLIE

By John Connolly

JANET opened the door almost before the bell had stopped ringing. She smiled pleasantly at the startled expression who stood in the hallway.
"Oh," said the young man. "You must be Tillie."
Janet smiled. "Come in, come in. Sit down a minute and I'll get your flowers."
"Killer?" the young man stammered. "I'm looking for Miss Tillie Rogers."
"Oh, I forgot," Janet said. "You don't know yet, do you?"
"Don't know what?" the young man asked as he stepped inside. He looked fully puzzled.
"Well, you see, it's this way," Janet began chattering away. "My father's Janet Clark, and Tillie and I work in the same store downtown. She's been looking for another place to live for months, and we had an agreement that if she found one I could move in here."
"Then she's moved?"
"Yes," Janet continued. "Yesterday she found the cutest little apartment, just what she wanted. She's going to occupy the new place right away, so we helped move each other this morning. Now Tillie's out of here and I've taken over and settled happily as she talked, as if moving into a new apartment were one of life's more joyous occasions. "Your flowers came this afternoon," she said. "The delivery boy just handed them over and I thought they were for me, so I opened them by mistake. They're very nice, Killer."
The young man sat awkwardly on the floor, his cheeks growing redder while Janet talked.
Janet rattled on. "If I could only remember her darned new address. I have a terrible memory. Auntie and the landlady don't know either. I guess we'll have to wait until she comes home, she'll know me or something," she said contentedly. Then, looking apologetically at her visitor, she added, "I must say you don't look much like a heavy-weight boxer, Killer. You don't have any marks on your face or anything, and you don't look very heavy to me. I suppose a fighter's looks are deceiving when he isn't in the ring and wearing trunks and all. Still . . ."

The young man fought a visible struggle with his vocal apparatus and finally found his voice again. Showing signs of the strain, he said in a high voice, "Listen, there's some misunderstanding here. This killer business and the flowers, I don't know what you're talking about. My name is . . ."
Janet's eyes widened as she looked at him, and she almost shook her head chidingly. "You just sit where you are," she said. "I'll get them for you."
Janet left the room through the swinging kitchen door and returned a moment later with a long narrow box bearing the flourishing imprint of "Vogel's", the finest florist in town. She removed the cover and handed the box to the young man.
"Like I said, I opened them by mistake. I'm truly sorry. I thought you'd be around to pick up Tillie, so I kept the flowers for you."
The young man stared at the flowers, dumbly at first and then he took a card out of the box.
"Dearest Tillie," it read. "America's Beauties for my favorite American beauty, the most beautiful of them all. Hugs and kisses and all my love. "Killer." Kovarsky, P. S. If that link Roger bothers you again, phone me at once and I'll take care of him."
The young man stopped reading and snatched his head sharply, as if to clear it. "I've got to be going," he said in his thin voice.
"Why Killer," Janet exclaimed as he opened the door.
"I'm not Killer," he said before bolting out. "I'm Roger."
As the door slammed behind him, Janet sank into the divan in a fit of laughter. When she had herself under control she shouted toward the kitchen. "Okay, Tillie. The roses worked, you can come out now. I'll make us a heavy-weight boxer. Killer. You don't

CONGRESSIONAL

Q-What is the current rate of U. S. deliveries of military aid to our allies?
A-During the first half of 1953, deliveries totaled $2,383,000,000 in value, according to Harold E. Stassen, Director of the Foreign Operations Administration. Deliveries reached $1,467,000,000 during the second six months of 1952, and $890 million during the first half of 1952.
Q-When was announced the $2 billion cut in estimated federal expenditures during fiscal 1954, did Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey predict a balanced budget?
A-Humphrey said, however, that the Administration will be "well along" toward balancing the cash budget before next June.
Q-Which three matters do members of Congress consider the key issues of the second session, which will convene in January, and of the 1954 election campaign?
A-A large majority of the 225 members who voted in a Congressional Quarterly poll tabulated Sept. 4 called Korea the top issue, followed in order by tax reduction and economy in government.
Q-When such legislation was introduced during the first session of the 83rd Congress?
A-Senators and Representatives introduced 10,095 measures, of which have the force of law when passed by both houses, and signed by the President. Five hundred and fifteen became law. The all-time record for introduction of legislation was set during the two years of the 61st Congress (1909-11), when 44,303 measures bulged the hopper. So far, the pace of the 83rd Congress is less than half that of the 61st.

DALE CARNEGIE

A S A BOY of fourteen Charles R. Branley, Huntsville, Alabama, once made preparations for the annual trip to the boy scout camp. Thirty boys from his home town were making the trip, and they were to meet at a designated place and there board a chartered bus for the trip to camp.

Between Charley's home and the bus were several houses which he had to pass carrying his sack filled with supplies. Since it was Sunday he did not want to be seen carrying that sack, he was afraid of what people might say about him. Very soon a fellow Boy Scout came by and he agreed to carry Charley's sack in addition to his own for five cents.
Such little incidents as that occurred many times in the years that followed, and Charles soon found that his fears were getting the best of him and he was worrying about almost everything. After graduating from high school he enrolled in college twice, only to give some excuse for not attending when the day arrived.

In 1945 he entered the army and was sent to a camp a thousand miles from home. Practically all the men in camp were many miles from home and most of them had wives. Since it was next to impossible to avoid being part of a group at all times, Charles made up his mind that he would make the best of everything. Instead of telling everybody about his own problems, he listened to the other fellow. Since he was willing to listen, nearly all the men eventually came to Charley with their stories.
His reason for telling this to you is to suggest that you do all you can in any situation, then forget it, be applied this advice to his own problems and found that it worked.
No longer does he worry about what people think of him, for he is firmly convinced that most people are too busy worrying about themselves to take the time to give him a thought, and, if he has done the best he can, worrying about what people might think of him certainly won't make them think any differently.

This An' That
Every day now, that is every Saturday, more and more of the big teams are having bad luck on the gridiron. The first upset and really hard luck story of the season was when Mississippi Sauters upset mighty Alabama 25-19 . . . The five-in-a-row pennant parade of the Yankees has been broken. No other club in either league had been able to win more than four straight games until Casey Stengel's men made the grade this year. Incidentally, Stengel is reported to have said recently that next year's team will be his greatest . . . The Yankees were their first flag under Miller Huggins in 1921. The win this year makes it their 20th . . . With the Dodgers in possession of the National League pennant, do you remember what some of the managers of this league had to say about the race in the spring? Charlie Grimm, Milwaukee Braves: "Breakaby will never—ever, I say—have another year like last year." And Leo Durocher: "This could be a big year for us."

By Alfred Sparks, Jr. "They also serve who only stand and wait"

Many times we feel as if we haven't accomplished anything worthwhile—useless compared to so-called "successful" people. When such doubts overtake us we must realize that success is not measured by bank accounts, but instead by Service—Service to one's self and one's fellow men. The greater the Service, the greater the Success.

It is the 'little men' who do their jobs diligently that make the world go round—surely we can't all be Napoleon. The Captains of Industry to have worked hard, earned an honest living and met one's responsibilities is the greatest success any man may have. All over the world repeated many times over, men are returning from work, wives are preparing supper, little children are awaiting their fathers—such people are in no small way successful. The cogs in the wheel give!

EXTRA FIRE CARE URGED BY GOVERNOR

Governor Wetherby has called Kentuckians to use extra caution in the prevention of forest fires because of extreme drought conditions in a statement issued here for National Fire Prevention Week.

Today our forests face even greater danger from fire than in 1952 when over 2,200 square miles of timberland were burned. This is the third year of a prolonged drought, and, even though some rains may occur, fires can start soon after and there will be danger until heavy snows make the woods safe.

Wetherby was presented a Smokey Bear toy, symbol of the nation-wide Cooperative Fire Prevention Campaign, by Henry Ward, Commissioner of Conservation. A similar toy has been presented the President and they are going to other governors to help publicize campaign.

Ward said the movement which has been conducted since 1942 by state foresters, the U. S. Forest Service, the forest industry and civic and educational groups, has reduced materially the number of man caused fires. Smokey Bear dressed in blue jeans and a forest ranger's hat, has been used to interest children in fire prevention and Congress has passed legislation making him official for the campaign.

Wetherby urged every boy and girl to become a Junior Forest Ranger and join Smokey Bear in the great work of helping to prevent destructive forest fires.

The Governor noted that in spite of great damage to timber soil and wildlife in 1952 no lives were lost. We might not be so fortunate in 1953 if fire gain headway and we cannot afford to take the chance with human life.

Road Work Progressing Well On U.S. 25

Foundation rock started at Calloway. Some delay in concrete pavement at Mt. Vernon.

The road work between Calloway and Livingston is progressing very well. Extra time has been spent by the crew to speed up the work of grading and of rock spreading. A distance of about a mile from the end of the old concrete to Calloway has been graded and the first layer of rock has been placed on it. At least twenty trucks are hauling the stone from the Kentucky Quarry at Mt. Vernon. The second layer will be placed immediately. This will consist of larger rock together with a fine screen binding. The layers of rock will be built up to a thickness of 18-24 inches. When thoroughly rolled down it will be able to take heavy traffic. It is hoped that the entire distance will be finished with this foundation rock and then will be left to settle and next year the black top will be added to complete the road. The contractor plans to complete the foundation rock within a few weeks provided the weather permits.

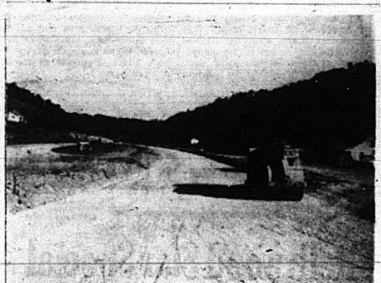

The grading towards Livingston is also progressing very well and much of it will be completed by the end of next month. Traffic over the new grade is not permitted and if any tourists expect to take this road they will encounter a lot of difficulties. Even now and then a tourist for some unknown reason attempts to get through, only to be turned back or if he gets through he will find plenty of trouble.

On the stretch south of Mt. Vernon there was considerable delay last week because of machine repair. Last Sunday night thieves stole a tire A cog wheel on the mixer stopped. That delayed the work again. No arrests have been made. About a quarter of a mile of truck lane has been finished. It will take a good many weeks to complete it. Much of the old road was damaged and a crew of men are drilling out concrete at these points. A large part through the big cut will have to be removed by a bulldozer.

Grading of the truck lane is practically completed except the laying down of the first layer of rock. This rock has been placed for a distance of about a mile.

Truck loads of rock ready to unload into the spreader on the new highway U. S. 25 at Calloway. These trucks are hauling the foundation rock from the Kentucky Stone Company in Mount Vernon. Favorable weather has greatly enhanced the progress of construction.

Lela M. Payne, Sheriff, Rockcastle County, Ky.

To The Voters Of Rockcastle County

At the November election last year you voted by approximately 8 to 1 a Hospital Bond issue for $100,000. That soon as this vote was certified The Rockcastle Fiscal Court appointed O. V. Hilton, Ernest Bullock and W. S. Stewart as the Hospital Building Committee.

We made several trips to Louisville to see Mr. Paul Hackney, director of Hospital service, to secure a grant of $100,000 from the Government as an outright gift.

We were told by Mr. Hackney that a total of $200,000 would not build a 20 bed fully equipped hospital. It would build six hospitals built in Kentucky cost from $302,000 to $352,000 and Rockcastle County would have to raise an additional $75,000 which would make Rockcastle County share $175,000 and the Government would give us $75,000 making a total of $350,000.

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court has made an order for an additional $75,000 Bond issue to be voted on Tuesday, November 3, 1953. If you, as voters, want a hospital for Rockcastle County, vote Yes.

Rockcastle Hospital Committee

The following is a letter from Mr. Paul Hackney, July 31, 1953, which will explain to you just why we need this additional $75,000.

Mr. O. V. Hilton
Mt. Vernon
Kentucky

Dear Mr. Hilton:

In the various conferences that we have had in the past few months, you have stated that Rockcastle County voted a bond issue of $100,000.00 and the County was hoping to receive an additional $100,000.00 in Federal money under the Hill-Burton Act for the purpose of constructing a new hospital.

I pointed out to you and your group that this was not sufficient local money inasmuch as a total of $200,000.00 from our past experience in building hospitals, would not be sufficient to build a 20-bed hospital. This letter, therefore, is written for the express purpose of suggesting that the County raise at least $75,000.00 additional money making local money $175,000.00 and Federal money, when available, $175,000.00, thereby creating a total fund of $350,000.00 which, in my opinion, is the minimum amount required in the construction of a hospital.

Because of cut in Federal funds, I know that it will not be possible for Rockcastle Co. to be allocated any of this year's appropriation since there are other projects for which funds have been earmarked and allocated a year ago.

I regret that at this time I cannot definitely promise you the amount of funds which are needed, but I certainly do suggest that, if the County is interested in going further, it will be absolutely necessary to raise an additional $75,000.00 as I have mentioned above.

Sincerely yours,
Paul A. Hackney, Division of Hospital Services.

Bench Show and Field Trials draw good crowd

The Eastern Kentucky Fox Hounds Association held a very successful bench show at the high school gymnasium of Brodhead last Monday evening. Forty-two dogs were on exhibition and prizes were awarded to the winners.

In the derby gyms, Jess Crawford of Berea won first place with his dog Jess Lynn. In the derby dog class E. Cummins of Crab Orchard won first place with his dog 'Paul'. In the all age dog class C. H. Cole of Berea won first with 'Rock'. In the all age gyms class Ted Hoskins of Lexington won first with 'E. J.'. E. J. Cummins of Crab Orchard won first in best pair with Paul and Jennie. Clyde Barnett of Mt. Vernon and Cosby and Wagner of Lexington won firsts in the best pack class.

In the natural carriage class C. H. Cole won first with his 'Rock'. He also took first place in the best in the show class.

The first field trial was held on Tuesday morning. Thirty-two dogs entered the derby. The trial was held on the Oscar Hopkins farm—north of Brodhead. The Chestnut Ridge dog club was in charge and the hounds were called back home. But at the time the writer was present only a few dogs had responded to the call of the bugle. Most of them were still far in the distance. On the first trial several foxes were caught but due to the dry weather it was difficult for the dogs to follow the scent.

Trials were held also on Wednesday and Thursday morning. The second trial was held on the Fred Hayes farm on the old Mt. Vernon—Brodhead road. Winner of the derby is to be reported in the next issue.

The local officers including Dewey Ballinger, McKinley Arnold, Salie Cromber and Clifford Pittman nabbed five men near the Chestnut Ridge school house last Sunday evening a little before dusk for drunkenness and making a public disturbance. The men were Glenn Pittman, Lemuel Pittman, Ver non Busell, Robert Kirby, and Leonard (Precher) Lovell. ### MORE STREETS ARE RESURFACED

The state highway paving crew also resurfaced the short section of west main street from the L & N tracks to the junction of U. S. 25. Another street resurfaced is the one from the Baptist church to the north to the Rockcastle Farm Service store. Later, the north end of Williams street is to be resurfaced.

This asphalt pavement certainly adds much to the convenience and comfort to those using these streets.

HEALTH NEWS

Brucellosis can attack you as well as your animal herds, warns Dr. Walker Owens, local health officer of Rockcastle County. Also called Bangs Disease, undulant fever and Malta fever, it is carried to humans by raw milk and through contact with infected raw meat.

In humans, the symptoms of Brucellosis vary so much that diagnosis is often difficult. Some patients are only slightly ill while others are extremely sick for several weeks. Symptoms may include the vague sensation of illness, fever, sweating body aches and arthritis like pains in joints. The disease lasts from a few weeks to years, and bronchitis is a fairly common secondary complication. Any person with brucellosis should be under the care of a physician!

Brucellosis in animals affects mostly cattle, goats and pigs. In cows and goats the bacteria that has been living in conditions in the udder and the milk of such animals is heavily infected. Animals with the disease commonly abort their young.

To avoid brucellosis Dr. Owens urges Rockcastle County to drink only pasteurized milk or milk that has been heated and treated at home. Washing hands immediately after handling raw meat also is a precautionary measure. In addition, cattle owners are urged to make certain that their animals are properly immunized.

Information on how to heat treat raw milk is available at your local health department.

"MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME," the song which has established the famous Bardstown mansion, "Federal Hill" in the hearts of people all over the world, has been "A Hit for a Hundred Years." That phrase serves as title for an article in the current issue of the popular Stephen Collins Foster melody in 1831.

The centennial anniversary of the song finds it still well loved and often sung, serving as the Commonwealth's official song and as a nostalgic reminder for people around the world of Kentucky's traditions of hospitality. A reproduction of the original sheet music of the song and a sketch of "Federal Hill" are shown above. At right is the portrait of Stephen Foster by Howard Chandler Christy which hangs in the mansion at My Old Kentucky Home State Park at Bardstown.

FIRE LOSS $20,510 IN ROCKCASTLE CO. LAST YEAR

School, civic and religious organizations in Ky. were urged today by State Fire Marshall J. T. Underwood, Jr., to support Fire Prevention Week programs in their cities. The week will be observed Oct. 4-10.

The toll of fire in Kentucky reached an all time high of $13,812,434 in 1952. Carelessness was the principal cause. Ninety per cent of these fires would never happen if we could eliminate carelessness. Careless smoking habits, electrical circuits that have been added to until they are overloaded, and faulty heating equipment are the prime causes of fire. Proper attention given to these matters can reduce tremendously the needless loss of life and property.

In Rockcastle County reported fire losses last year totaled $20,510 for a per capita loss of $1.47. A statewide radio fire drill and poster contest is being slated for the schools as a feature of Fire Prevention Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mullins and son Mike were in Barbourville over the week-end visiting Mrs. Mullins sister.

RUPTURE

Expert Coming To Examine & Somerset Again

Geo. L. Howe Well known expert of Indianapolis will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Glynndon Hotel, Wednesday, Sept. 30th from 2 P.M. to 7 P.M. & at the Beecher Hotel, Somerset, Thursday, Oct. 1st from 2 P.M. to 7 P.M.

Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture and no matter how much you lift or strain and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Howe Rupture Shield has no key strap, waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.

SHOULD YOU BUY A HOME FREEZER?

Because we're specialists in all phases of frozen food storage, many people ask if they should buy a home freezer or rent a locker. The answer, we think, is to have both, if you can afford them.

Today the home freezer is taking its place in the new scheme of food handling. It is no competitor of the locker plant, but as an extension. It performs the same function as your electric refrigerator... it puts frozen foods where you can use them more conveniently.

Remember, the home freezer cannot chill, age, process, or wrap; it can freeze only small amounts of food. So we suggest you use the locker plant for the source of your food supply, for proper processing, sharp freezing, and reserve storage. Then, if you need, use a home freezer or two-temperature refrigerator for the convenience it can provide.
