Farm and Home Week Delegation

Mrs. Hope Cox and Mrs. Bertie Lakes attended Farm and Home Convention by spending the week in Lexington. Others who attended one or more days and registered were Mesdames Eldon Davidson, J. A. Sherrard, Morris Calico, Hug

Walker, J. C. Chambers, Harold Price, Charles King, Dan E. Botkin, Hobart Thompson, Earl Roberts, Asbill Brown, Hubert Brown, Phillip Davis, W. H. Anderson, Everett Williams, Everett King, George Caldwell, Robert Crutcher and Jack Henderson.

Mrs. John C. Lewis brought a little niece, Anita Muse, with her and Mrs. Al Parks brought her daughter, Linda.

Others may have attended but failed to register. It was a most enjoyable week with many outstanding speakers and programs.

Housewives Advised to Use Milk Freely

Milk is one of the best food investments a housewife can make. It is so important in food value that from one-fifth to one-third of the money spent for food should be spent for milk and its products.

The use of non-fat dry milk is an excellent way to supply the essentials it supplies at low cost. Every member of the family should have milk in his daily diet. It promotes growth in children and health in adults. It is the outstanding source of calcium and riboflavin, and is rich in animal protein. Children should have three to four glasses a day, and grown-ups, at least two glasses. Expectant and nursing mothers need at least a quart of milk a day.

A survey conducted by the government shows that farm families who do not have milk cows generally use small amounts of milk, and families without children use less than when children are present. Low-income families generally use less than those with high incomes, yet they need milk more as diets are limited.

Women over forty have been found to be very remiss in their use of milk, consuming as a group less than men, teen-agers or children. Contrary to common belief, milk is not fattening.

The surest way to get the milk needed is to drink it, but it can be eaten in puddings, creamed soups, creamed vegetables, and ice cream. About two or three average servings of milk dishes can be counted as a glassful. Milk may also be eaten in the form of cheese. A cube about one and one fourth inches in size will just about make up for a glass of milk in the calcium and protein it supplies.

Delegates To Farm and Home Convention

Approximately 25 delegates from the county attended Farm and Home Convention by the day February 2-5.

Mrs. Dan Langliener, county homemakers president and Mrs. Hope Cox, director of Wilder-ness Trail District of homemakers was the official delegates and voted at the business meeting.

Food and Home Notes

Peanuts and Peanut Butter
 Just in time to go along with peanuts and peanut butter, both on the list of "pentifals" for February, is a newly-revised collection of more than three dozen recipes for these well-liked foods. Home and Garden Bulletin No. 36, "Peanuts and Peanut Butter Recipes," points out the virtues of the nut that is a nut at all, but a member of the pea-and-bean family. Peanuts have long been popular in salads, sandwiches, cookies and deserts, but they are also good in main dishes, in soups and in combination with other vegetables. Because of their high food value, use of peanuts and peanut butter in family meals is nutritionally sound. They are a good source of food energy and can help out also in B vitamins and protein. Included in the bulletin are recipes for main dishes, for peanuts with vegetables, for peanuts and peanut butter in breads, for salads and relishes, salad dressings, soup, desserts and sweet sauces. One of the six main dishes is peanut Butter French Toast, a newcomer to the booklet, made as follows:

- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 tablespoons butter

Blend peanut butter, honey and salt. Place about 2 1/2 tablespoons peanut butter honey mixture between 2 slices of bread to make a sandwich. Combine eggs and milk. Soak sandwiches in egg mixture. Melt butter in baking pan. Bake sandwiches at 400 degrees about 40 minutes. Turn sandwiches to brown both sides or brook slowly on top of range. Single copies of Home and Garden Bulletin No. 36, "Peanuts and Peanut Butter Recipes" are free at the office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

For The Garden Library

The arborvitae gardener who is now spending many profitable evenings with the new seed catalogs will find a useful addition to the flower garden library in Farmers' Bulletin 1711, "Growing Annual Flowering Plants."

This 26-page illustrated bulletin describes more than 40 of the most popular old-fashioned flowers, from a geranium to zinnia and includes a table of principal flower colors. Zinnia for example, one of the easiest of all annuals to grow, comes in crimson, orange, pink, salmon, red, gold, white and yellow.

Single copies of the bulletin are free on request to the office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

VOLUME 66—NUMBER 19

MT. VERNON, KENTUCKY

Work On U. S. 25 Has Begun At Boone Gap

Machinery already in operation at the Gap to make a cut 103 feet deep.

Reconstruction of U. S. 25 between Roundstone and Berea began last Monday morning at Boone Gap. Almost a hundred men reported there hoping to get a job on this huge project. The noise of chain saws, axes, falling trees was heard coming from the top of the hill and smoke from the burning brush and timber curled up into the blue sky. By nightfall the hill was clear of all the timber and stakes marked the path where the new road is to go.

On Wednesday morning the big bulldozer nosed into the side of the hill making room for the shove to gouge through the hill to a depth of 103 feet. This right-of-way is approximately 300 feet back from the old road so that a great slice of the hill will have to be removed.

To the north of the Gap there will be a distance of 2,000 feet where the road will be straightened. That will be close to Belcher's filling station. Much of the dirt from the hill will be used to make these fills, but not nearly all can be used so that the balance of the dirt will have to be shoveled back off the highway.

Few passers many readers will remember how the scarpstone formation beneath the old roadbed at the Gap used to slip out from under the foundation and caused the concrete to break up. Much of the road had to be moved back before it was firm enough to carry heavy traffic. At one point a solid concrete was had to be built for at least 30 feet deep before the slide could be stopped. One can still see the spot where this happened.

In order to avoid any such hazard on the new highway the hill will have to be cut back.

When Names Are Important!

It's too bad there are persons living near each other who bear the same names. Last week we printed names of two sets of individuals of the same name in the court records. There are two persons living in Mt. Vernon who have the same name as two persons who live in Brodhead. When we copied the Court Record we didn't pay any attention to the addresses, as a matter of fact there were no addresses given, so we just published the names as they appeared in the record. On Friday morning we got telephone calls asking us to make the correction. It was then that we discovered the duplicate names. With due respect to the innocent parties we hasten to mention that John Middleton who was fined for drunken driving is from Brodhead and Bill Cox, who was fined for public drunkenness is also from Brodhead.

considerably all along from the Gap south to where the Boone Postoffice is located.

The new highway will have a total width of 24 feet with a 10-foot shoulder. There will be no three-lane stretches at any point. The cut through the Gap will permit a 5% grade.

At least 354,000 cubic yards of dirt will have to be moved in the entire project, including Hayes Cut. At this latter point there will be a straitening out of the S curve and some of the hill will be moved but not nearly as much as, at Boone Gap.

The construction firm responsible for the grading is Nally and Hamilton of Bardonia, Ky. Mr. Richard Hamilton, one of the partners of the firm was on hand Monday morning to manage the project.

The superintendent of construction will be J. W. Spaulding. Dash of Mt. Vernon, a long-time construction worker is supervising a crew of men who are clearing the right-of-way.

The Berea Construction Co. has the contract for the surfacing the highway.

It will be of interest to all tourists to know that the road will be kept open to traffic during the reconstruction work, however the superintendent warns that the area will be dangerous and all tourists should be extremely careful.

Nally and Hamilton have 30 days to complete the grading. Much of the resurfacing can be completed before all the grading is done because the old roadbed will be used as foundation without much change except added to the width.

Paul Hopper of Berea, engineer for the highway department is responsible to check on the contract and see that specifications are met.

John Norman Meadows and Billy Gregory narrowly escaped serious injury when their car which they were riding overturned twice on U. S. 25 just south of the Bonfro Valley Bridge. The two boys were out for a Sunday evening ride just planning to go as far as Bonfro Valley. In their attempt to pass another car the speed was too much, and John Norman's car got out of control and landed in the shallow ditch. The car was damaged to the extent of about $450.00. The only injury received was a cut on the hand of Billy Gregory.

Pfc. Charles R. Shepherd Jr. who is stationed in Camp Lejeune, N. C. spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shepherd and family. Mr. Lloyd Livesey spent with Mrs. Georgia Bryant is spending the winter in Ft. Meyers, Fla., with her brother, John McCreron.

Belly Acres Installs New Heaters

Belly Acres, the motel north of Mt. Vernon, owned and operated by Jack Albright has recently installed some modern electric heaters in every unit of the motel. Mr. Albright, a professional electrician himself, did the installation work. The installation required a huge transformer to be erected near the motel to take care of the extra current required for this modern heating system. A small automatic unit has been installed into every room. These units are of such construction that they will take up no extra space. They are placed into the wall almost flush. Inside the unit is a fan that will circulate the air and make the temperature of the room exactly right.

In summer time these same units are used to cool the rooms and keep the air in the rooms fresh and clean.

Wins In Soil Conservation Essay Contest

An 18-year-old senior at Murfreesboro High School is the state winner of the tenth annual Soil Conservation Essay Contest. Cletus Coats, of Route 3, Cave City, will receive a $100 U. S. Savings Bond for his essay on "How Soil Conservation Benefits My Community."

His entry was judged best from more than 10,000 essays. The $100 prize, a $50 honorarium and a $25 bond, will go to Jerry Ringo, of Rothwell, and third prize, a $25 bond, to Charles Layton, of Lancaster. Winners of the $3,000 in contest prizes were announced by Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times, WHAS and WTAS. TV: Wendell P. Butler, state superintendent of public instruction, and A. Threlkeld, president of the Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

mins Cotton the day before. On top of the cliff was a guy wire to warn of the danger of the cliff. The car plunged through this wire and landed on its top on the pavement 40 feet below. It was a sheer drop. The car was completely demolished. John Cornett received a deep gash in his head and a cut on his face. He was taken to the Berea College Hospital immediately after the accident. Martin was only slightly hurt.

Eddie Riddle, 15-year old son of Mrs. Lella Riddle and the late Grant Riddle of Route 3, Berea, lost his life in a truck wreck that happened last Saturday night between 11 and 12 o'clock on highway 25 between Felico and LaFollette, Tennessee. Driver and owner of the semi-trailer was Ed Elam also of Berea. Eddie was a passenger with Elam and went along just for the ride. The truck was headed south for Atlanta.

Just what happened nobody knows since no other vehicle was involved. The trailer for some unknown reason left the road, and turned over the embankment. The gasoline ignited and the trailer was completely consumed by the flames. The body of Riddle was extricated from the truck before the flames destroyed the vehicle.

Eddie Riddle

Death to Riddle was instantaneous. Elam received a broken neck bone and fractured skull. He was taken to a hospital in Knoxville where it is reported that his condition is critical.

Mr. Elam was a truck driver and made his trips from the northern states to Florida.

Funeral services for Eddie Riddle were held on Monday afternoon at the Conway Baptist Church with the Reverend Will Bryant officiating. Pallbearers were Ray Lowery, Jack Hazelwood, Jimmy Lunsford, Hansford Gadd, Ed Rucker and Wid Jennings. The British Funeral Home had charge of the arrangements.

Eddie is survived by his mother, three sisters Mrs. George Hill and Mrs. David Newman of Berea, Mrs. Jack Collins of Richmond, and three brothers Roy of Columbus, Ind., Elmer of Richmond, Ind., and Arthur Olan who is in military service in Korea.

grain marketing channels or the media of our great livestock industry. Phosphorus levels must be high as well as potash for abundant yield. Liming is another practice conducive to optimum yields. These materials should be at a high level now or forthcoming when field conditions permit. Without these items nitrogen will not be used efficiently. The use of nitrogen on small grain has become an established practice. Wise use of nitrogen pays dividends in a full grain bin. Excessive amounts will cause trouble and loss due to lodging of grain and leaching of costly plant food. This brings us up to the question faced by farmers: spring which field do I need to top-dress? Where will I get the most return for each dollar invested? Many factors must be considered before a constructive suggestion may be presented, such as climatic conditions, optimum yields for greatest profit, and many others. Top-dressing will usually return dividends under the following conditions: 1. Land of low productivity soil producing less than 30 bushels of wheat - 45 bushels of barley and 45 bushels of oats. 2. Small grain with winter injury. 3. Many acres of late seeded grain and late germinating stands. 4. Over-grazed grain. 5. Soils that tend to be droughty. 6. Thin stands. 7. Grain for pasture. The rate of application will of course, depend on what is available and the yields desired. Usually 20-40 lb. nitrogen should be the goal in the fall. A 30-lb. top-dressing in February will usually push yields upward. Grain following corn which produced low yields on highly fertile soil will require less nitrogen due to the carry-over from past fertilization. Time is short. That tractor and its equipment will be rolling very soon now. Have you fixed all those parts that kept giving trouble last summer and fall? If that tractor engine is using oil in excess, wouldn't it be better to overhaul it now? It could go out on you with only about 1/2 of that corn and tobacco ground broken.

County Agent Notes
Top-dressing Small Grain
Small grain will need more attention during the coming spring season than ever before. Many factors point toward the requirement of better management than previous years. The narrow margin separating farmer commodity income and production cost, coupled with carleaved drought condition, make 1954 a year to try for the most efficient production. We must provide the utmost in management to overshadow this condition and maintain a healthy farm income. Kentucky is not a major grain-producing state, but over 5,760,000 bushels of wheat, 364,000 bushels of rye, 2,832,000 bushels of oats, and 2,338,000 bushels of barley are produced. This volume of production affects our agricultural wealth to a great extent either through

RAMBLINGS

"Should we have Eastern Standard Time in Central Kentucky" is a question now under debate in the legislature at Frankfort. Farmers are against the change of time, while business men are in favor of it. Personally it makes little difference to me whether we have Eastern or Standard time. One can get used to the changes, and it need not take long to get one's life adjusted. In the olden days we had sundial time, as well as the established Standard time. The sundial time meant that the clocks varied a great deal from one community to another and the confusion was endless. I believe that the Eastern Standard time would solve a great many difficulties that now exist between near-by states. There is a great deal of confusion in vogue.

I told you last week that I would let you know what construction on U. S. 25 will be. It started Monday. The project is a big one and will take a year or so to complete. Fortunately it is an improvement on that traffic will be able to pass through without too much difficulty, although the superintendent on U. S. 25 will tell you that it is dangerous. There will be danger spots. When this stretch of highway will be completed U. S. 25 will be by far the best route south through Kentucky and for a long time to come we may be certain that the tourist traffic over this route will be tremendous.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Schumacher:
Please find a check enclosed for the amount of $2.50 for this year's subscription to the Signal. Thank you very much for a month's worth of news. I have been so kind as to continue sending it our way and we appreciate this very much. I am sorry for the trouble in sending you our check. We were not getting along without the Mt. Vernon Signal, so we kept it coming our way. Sincerely yours,

By Alfred Sparks, Jr.

"Defeat is nothing but education. It is the step towards something better." We definitely grow through adversity. If one has the capacity to absorb defeats, trials and tribulations, then, as a result, one becomes a more complete person with a sharper and clearer understanding of others and their troubles. Adversity is actually an experience which teaches us to tread more carefully in the future. Life is but a book of experience and each joy and trouble is but a page in that book. One doesn't live a complete life until one overcomes the troubles and sorrows that confront us on the road to life. One does not know what is sweet until one tastes the bitter. So live a full life, take everything in stride, whether it be pleasant or unpleasant, and be grateful to the good Lord that each day opens up a new page in this mysterious commodity. and book of knowledge, called LIFE. SPARKS FUNERAL HOME West Main Street Mt. Vernon, Ky.
