The center will include all needed buildings for the largest exposition, fair or industrial show, an indoor arena seating more than 18,000 and a 21,000-seat stadium. To the left in the foreground and surrounding the stadium are shown portions of the 66 acres of hard surface parking lots to be included in the plan.

Friendly NOTE

We gave us memories so we could have roses in December. Springtime is eternal in the human breast if we only use our God-given gift. Memory. When the trees of life seem bare it is wise to recall the greener days. Such reminiscing serves a dual purpose. It gives us a glimpse into the past, and with Work and Hope at your side, rosebuds will again envelop you.

Surplus Distribution Controls Changed

More rigid controls will be placed over the distribution of surplus commodities within the state, but not to the point of depriving the needy of their benefits, Commissioner of Agriculture Ben S. Adams said today.

The distribution, which started out as an emergency program several months ago, now shows signs of "being with us for some time to come, and it is essential that there be a re-examination of the methods," he added.

"We don't want to see any one go hungry as long as there is a surplus of foodstuffs in the country," Adams continued.

During conferences here a few days ago led by James Hutchins, assistant chief of the Direct Distribution Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, it was agreed practically the entire surplus program is to be broken down into the proper certification for relief—there being some 175,000 in the state.

The procedure requires the county welfare unit, the Salvation Army or other local certifying agency responsible for distribution to appraise the county level to take greater precautions to determine all claimants are in actual need.

The federal office failing to meet the requests might expect to be cut off as recipients of surplus commodities.

Wally Fowler, Chuck Wagon Gang Here For All Night Sing

On the night of July first, Wally Fowler will stage one of his famous all night gospel sings in the Renfro Valley Fairgrounds. It is to be an open-air event so that the huge crowd expected can be taken care of. In the event of rain the sing will be conducted in the big barn and probably cut into two shows.

If weather permits however, the entire singing program, from eight P. M. to midnight will be staged under the stars on a big portable stage or platform, set up in front of the outdoor amphitheatre here in Renfro Valley.

Featured with Wally and his quartet and singing group will be the Chuck Wagon Gang, most famous of all gospel singers in the recording 1954.

Kentucky Press Selects Signal as best In Pictures

The Signal has again scored in winning first place in news picture contest in state.

The Kentucky Press Association, which met at Kentucky Lake last week awarded to the Mount Vernon Signal first place in the news picture contest. This is the second time the Signal has won a recognition as one of the best weekly newspapers in the state in news pictures. Last year the Signal won third place in this same contest. The Signal entered only the one contest this year.

The Commonwealth of Somerset was first place as the best all-around paper of its class in the state.

The certificate reached this office this morning and the trophy is a camera tripod which will be sent later. One of the office staff were able to be present at the occasion meeting last week when the award came to us through Mrs. W. M. Cox who was the announcer in one of the daily papers.

The recognition is a significant one since it takes a lot of time and expense as well as a certain sense of values as to what makes a good picture. Many of the subscribers have helped us and without their aid we could not have merited this recognition.

Purina Research shows how to RAISE BIGGER CALVES without any milk

You don't have to feed any milk any more. Here's an easier, cheaper way, used by 2,000,000 farmers last year:

1. Feed Purina Nursing Chow gruel from 3 days to 30 days old—then quit suckling. Feed no milk.
2. Self feed Purina Calf Startena dry in a trough. After calf is 30 days old, she needs no milk or grain. Just Calf Startena and salt. Hay after 2 months.

ACID SOILS ARE UNPRODUCTIVE

An acid soil is one that has been robbed of its fertility by cropping and leaching. Crops obtain their food nutrients from the soil. Both the grain and the forage are removed from the fields taking the minerals drawn from the soil with them. The water falling as rain as well as the water applied by irrigation systems goes down through the soil leaving its hydrogen while carrying plant nutrients down out of reach of crop roots. The more porous or sandier the soil, the faster the water seeps through and the further the nutrients are carried. The nutrients removed by these processes must be replaced if succeeding crops are to get sufficient nutrients to obtain satisfactory production both in quantity and quality. Replacement of the nutrients thus removed is accomplished by fertilization with a nitrogen, phosphate and potash mixture which also frequently contains other plant food elements. Fertility can also be restored by applications of liming materials. Limestone which is calcium and magnesium carbonate restores these nutrients which the water carried out of the soil. An application of 1 to 5 tons of this material per acre depending on soil type, cropping practices and humidity restores the proper balance in the soil, reduces the acidity, preventing the iron and aluminum from locking up the applied nutrients as well as facilitating assimilation by plants of the nutrients native to the soil. In fact more and more evidence is being found to prove that the calcium and magnesium carbonates thus added provide necessary plant food which produces bigger and more nutritious crops rather than this being a result of correcting the soil acidity. While acid soils produce poor crops - poor in both quantity and quality - it is because the plants are starved and not because of the acidity.

TO FATHER

(By Rena Jane Jordan)
Each year one day is set aside in honor of our fathers. Still some of us just let it slide. And never care to bother. To go to dad and try to pay those old bills and work and deeds. He did for us on every day. To help the family needs.

He labors hard from morn 'til night.
To keep his children growing.
His aches and pains he never tells.
And keeps us all from knowing the uphill fight that goes with life.

He plans the path that each should take.
And let's not one of them forsake.
The words of wisdom and of truth
Found 'round about on every hand.

When planning your vacation wardrobe, the variety of new cotton fabrics deserve consideration; clothing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest. Many cottons now have wrinkle-resistant and spot-resistant finishes which help them keep their new look with the minimum of pressing and cleaning. These finishes save laundering, but the fabric launders successfully when it finally shows soil.

Wrinkle resistant cottons may be slightly heavier than the same fabric untreated, but their great advantage is that they are resistant so do not build creases from wear or folds from packing in a suitcase, for example. Spot-resistant finishes make the fabric less absorbent so don't cling or penetrate so easily.

Some of the newer cottons need little or no ironing. Among these are the crinkled cottons, pluses and seersuckers. Liked for sportswear or the French-knot cottons, attractive for street wear. The crinkled fabrics, if placed on clothes hangers to dry after laundering need only a little finger pressing on seams, collars and around armholes.

Cottons come in such variety today for office, street, sports and work. Many old familiar cottons have been so improved that they have graduated from kitchen or hamper to closets in homes, offices or dressrooms. Denim, once used mostly for overalls, now is preshrun and fast color, comes in a variety of shades and also in velvety "Flock Prints."

When choosing cottons for the dark colors, plaids and checks generally show soil and wrinkles than plain light colors. White collars and cuffs in women's clothes should be removable for washing. Moderately full skirts usually are more comfortable and keep their shape better than tight or very full skirts.

Will Long Feel Economic Hurt

State Senator Ed P. Wariner declared today that Kentuckians would long feel economic hurts voted in the administration's tax program at Frankfort last winter.

Wariner of Albany, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Eighth District and vigorously opposed the several tax measures approved by the General Assembly.

Talking to District Republican leaders in Somerset Monday, Wariner said that the changes made by the new law further unbalance the present inequitable tax structure of Kentucky.

He said that a heavy patrolled by these farmers and tobacco workers.

The Senator has many people alike for his fight against the tobacco tax which he said was waged not only in the interest of people of his district but for all tobacco producing counties in the state.

sin—it hits the most people where it hurts most," Wariner said.
"Representatives of various farm organizations and tobacco interests were in Frankfort last winter opposing the added tobacco tax, but the administration fought to rush the bill through the Senate without a hearing. It did go through the House without any sort of public hearing."

Wariner, the Republican caucus chairman, caught the administration forces off guard and called for a Senate motion picture for a public hearing on the tobacco levy before the vote was taken. His motion was quickly carried. It was the only real opposition move made on the tax program.

Despite the strong arguments presented at the hearing by farmers and tobacco people, the administration forces held together enough votes for passage.

Wariner said the full effect of the vote may not be felt for some time, but he predicted a gradual weakening in Kentucky demand for tobacco products and therefore a weakening in the price of tobacco—the state's leading cash crop.

He said that the survival of the hikers, caught their breath.

No, the ladies hadn't had a word to say. They'd just decided that the weather was just too fine to spend in town so why not drop in on Mrs. Treadway's brother, Eugene Taylor, and his family who live in the county. Buckeye would just be a nice walk, the ladies reasoned.

Friends estimate the offer home to be a good four miles from Mt. Vernon. The ladies loved more than glad to take an offered ride back to Mt. Vernon.

State Sells First Turnpike Bonds

The state sold its first batch of turnpike revenue bonds in the largest transaction in the history of the State Department of Highways to a syndicate headed by Blyth and Co. Inc., Louisville and 53 other brokers.

The entire group of $38,500,000 in bonds sold to the Blyth syndicate for a cash offer of $37,865,750 with the issue to bear 3.4 per cent annual interest. Three other syndicates offered bids with the bonds to bear a 3.5 per cent interest rate.

Commissioner of Highways W. P. Curlin announced the award immediately after the bids had been opened and expressed satisfaction with the price yield—an average of 98.35 per cent.

The proceeds are to be used to finance construction of the 40-mile turnpike between Louisville and Elizabethtown, with bids to be received for grading and draining of 12.7 miles of the road June 18, and 13.6 miles June 25.

Commissioner Curlin pointed out that construction of the turnpike would not cost the State a "single tax dollar." All costs incidental to construction of the turnpike will be paid from bond proceeds, with subsequent maintenance costs to be borne from project earnings, rather than from ordinary revenues of the Department of Highways.

The means that funds for Kentucky's new highway program will not be adversely affected by the construction of the toll turnpike, said Curlin.

What God Wants

Lessons for June 19, 1954

WHAT does God want? It is the most important question anyone can ask. There are religions that answer in one word: Nothing. He goes his serene way uncares what we do. But the Christian religion, the religion of the Jewish religion before us, believe that the prophets of the Bible were true prophets. They did really know the mind of God. And those prophets—our old Dr. Foreman all—and for that matter every part of the Bible—teach that God does care, He does want something of us.

A Great Word

The prophet Hosea preached in a very "religious" era. At least, that is what his fellow citizens may have thought. There were temples crowded with worshippers, and every part of the high with lilies and offerings. The smoke of burning animals, con- tinued, and the High God could be seen rising above every important city, especially in Jerusalem and Bethel. But the prophet Hosea, who had attended at the temple plenty of animals for sacrifice. Hosea knew better than to think that God was he says, speaking for God. I desire "At this point our English translators of the Hebrew Old Testament have forgotten that no part of the original Bible was written in English—our religion is a translation of the Hebrew word. Hosea said at this point is chesed pronounced rather like "beastly" and it is interesting to note that different words are used in our English Bibles to translate this one Hebrew word. It is called "goodness" in Hosea 6:6; "kindness" in Gen. 8:12; "love" in Ps. 100:5; "mercy" in Ps. 145:8; "faithfulness" in Ps. 136:1; "all in Psalm 103:4; Hosea 1:9). All these are in the old King James Bible. More recent translations have used the word "steadfast love" to translate the Hebrew Bible. It is interesting to note that the Revised Standard Version has used for the most part the expression "steadfast love" to express the deep meaning of this word.

What God Wants Most

Hosea tells us, people, and he tells us, that what God wants most of all is this great thing which is more than mercy, more than kindness, something that can be expressed in the two words "steadfast love." Not sacrifice and loyalty, things that we do to please Him anything else that we can think of. Just steadfast love. Then Hosea puts with this and he tells us that it is the knowledge of God. This does not mean theology out of a book. The Hebrew word for "knowledge" never meant simply information about facts. A person could memorize all the facts about a President of the United States and still not really know him. Knowledge in the Bible sense of that word is deeper than that. It is to enter intimately into the understanding of a person, to know him as it were from within. God wants us to do that, as he did and does always. More than anything else that our lives may show "steadfast love" which reflects his own.

Nothing Else Will Do

We have a lot in America about "Back to Religion" or "Back to Church," but a good deal of this comes from people who have a kind of vague idea that our churches were only full every Sunday God would reward our fine record of church attendance with bumper crops and prosperity in general. Here could make a sad smile at such an idea. It was exactly the kind of idea his wrong-headed people had. It was not that God did not want sacrifices at all, but they were no substitute for what God really desired most of all. So with us Church-going, once-in-a-while people, we are "cracking down" on gamblers, now and then, more beautiful worship services, bigger and handsomer churches—none of it is what our America's substitute, or American's substitute, for steadfast love and the knowledge of God. He wants it. Do not let us be misled on nothing copyrighted by the International Children's Bureau, a Non-Profit Corporation of the Churches of Christ. Dr. Albert Roy Perkins

"Kentucky's Rural Minister of Year"

Dr. Albert Roy Perkins has been named as "Kentucky's Rural Minister of the Year" by The Progressive Farmer and the Town and Country School of Emory University, Georgia.

The current July issue of the farm magazine tells of Dr. Perkins selection for this award.

He has served as secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council of the Methodist Church since 1939.

Dr. Perkins has vision and a gift for organizing and carrying out plans, the story tells, "this spelling success."

Since he was appointed superintendent of the Danville District in 1948, he has helped to raise the salary level of preachers from $69,000 to $13,000.

"At a conference, missionary secretary he got the conference to adopt a quarterly check-up system."

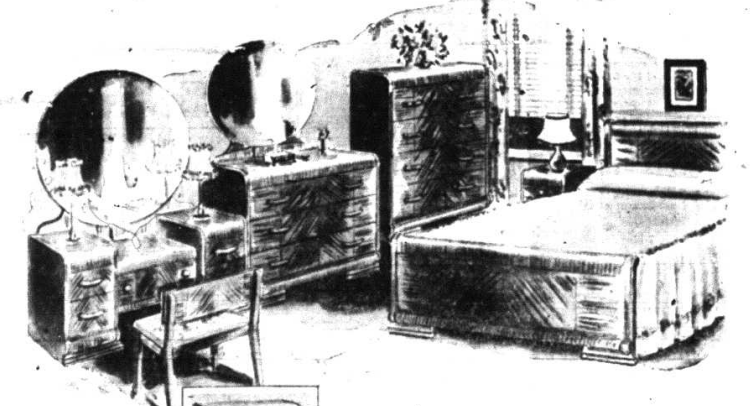

Dr. Perkins has encouraged many churches in the Danville District to use the Lord's Acre Plan. Last year they raised more than $3,500 in this way.

"He arranges his appointments so that every church in his district has preaching services every Sunday or every other Sunday. Only a few have services just once a month."

"Always looking ahead, one Methodist leader says of Dr. Perkins. He has challenged ministers and laymen to think of the church in terms of the year 2,000."

Ministers in 14 Southern states have been chosen to receive the Rural Minister of the Year awards this year.
