Homecoming

For Ed Denney

Twenty-four years ago Ed Denney, young attorney from Monticello first stood before Judge R. C. Tartar in Rockcastle Circuit Court, announcing to the judge that he "wanted to be a lawyer."

Ed Denney became a practicing lawyer, one of the greatest ever to grace the Mt. Vernon Courthouse with his presence. For 22 years he was present at every session of court without missing a single day. Mt. Vernon became Ed Denney's home. Here he brought his bride, the former Elmer Kindert of South Dakota. The Denney children, Suzanne and Joe Ed, were born at Denney Hospital and brought home to Mt. Vernon. The Denney's didn't leave Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County until Denney was appointed United States Attorney of the Eastern District of Kentucky, a position which necessitated his moving his family to Lexington.

This week Ed Denney came back to Mt. Vernon to once again stand before Judge Tartar at the Rockcastle Court. He came back as Republican candidate for the nomination of Governor of Kentucky.

The people in the courtroom, many of whom had known Ed Denney only as a lawyer, a lawyer fighting for a case, this time were humbled as they saw the man seeking the support of his people, people he lived and worked with, people who had shared with him and with whom he had shared the joys and sorrows of everyday living.

Mr. Denney was introduced by Judge Tartar as a man who stands "superior to any who ever stood before my court." The people were reminded by Judge Tartar that through Mr. Denney the county has a chance to be great, that the people have a chance to have the eyes and ears of the world turned upon them. A chance for the spotlight of the world to be upon them.

It was truly a home coming for one of Rockcastle County's great men. Ed Denney was received by the people who knew him best and the people promised him their support.

From the Mt. Vernon courthouse the word was spread. A vote for Ed Denney is the only vote for Ed Denney. Rockcastle County's own candidate for Governor.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Lucille, and the four little Carlottes; Koula, 2; Don Carcille, 5; George Carlos, 4, and Baby Belle Margaret, aged two months.

The house is one enormous room surrounded by screened-in porches, which will be used in for winter. The house itself is designed as a show place with kitchen, dining room and den practically outside and the large room planned to be lined the only bathroom available, but now the family has the luxury of not only water in the house, but hot water and a modern new bathroom. Plans call for a log room to be added to one end of the building for Lucille Carlottes' dream living room. Knotty pine, oak and cherry will be used for the paneling inside.

The Indians will live in barbed wire and remain in Rockcastle County the year round, working on their handicraft through the winter months to make ready for the tourist season of the coming year.

The village will be known as Fort Sequoyah and according to Carlotts is the only Cherokee village in Kentucky. Through its location in Rockcastle County Fort Sequoyah becomes an attraction of the scenic Cumberland, tourist area of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

The location is about thirty miles south of Berea's Indian Fort Theatre, home of the Paul Green of a "Wilderness Road," and is expected to present an interesting contrast to the Kentucky mountaineer far from one's mind. As William Walkingstick will explain in his lectures, "The Cherokees were in Kentucky the first white man settled here."

Now, only 3400 of them remain in existence and eight of them are settled in Kentucky on land which might once have been their hunting ground for their ancestors.

of bucking broncos and good roping ponies for use of the top-hand cowboys and cowgirls who will be, with the rodeo when it hits Renfro Valley. It isn't often that people in this part of the country have an opportunity to see a real Western rodeo in action. They are not to be confused with the so-called Wild West shows but give the spectators plenty of rough and ready roping, riding, shooting and steer bulding.

Admission will be one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children. Being the whole family. They'll all enjoy an evening spent in watching a real Western rodeo.

Right and Wrong Lesson for July 24, 1926

IT IS all very well to speak of the downfall of a nation, or of a national disaster; you can read in history books that such and such a nation was ruined out to such and such a year. Judah, for instance, ceased to learn of a nation that was ruined out in 586 B.C. But these are cold words. When a nation and its people cease to smash it means that homes are burned down, pennies are holed, the wrong business is bankrupt, nothing is left as Dr. Foreman says. More than this is no way a nation can cease without taking many individual lives and much happiness down with it.

Palling Others Out Of the many persons one can learn of in the downfall of Judah and its capital Jerusalem it is innocent people suffer with the guilty. Not every one in a wicked nation is wicked. Some may have been doing their level best to keep the nation from the wrong track. Jeremiah is a prime example of the kind of man. An inspired prophet, he had been warning his fellow citizens, year after year, as had Ezekiel and other prophets. But in the general disaster he suffered quite as much as anybody who was to blame for the whole thing.

Jerusalem was destroyed you might say in two days. The first was in 597 B.C. when the young king Jehoiachin was taken off to Babylon there to spend the rest of his days as a prisoner. Along with him went the best of the aristocracy, the top army officers, and a thousand skilled workers. Jerusalem and Judah were left to third-rate men for eleven years. Stupid, weak men who to make a long story short committed national suicide. Jerusalem suffered a great deal at the hands of these men. More than this he suffered in the final days of starvation and panic of which more text we have. He was not the first, last of only innocent man to suffer in a nation's disaster. A man who knew how to suffer suffered for Hitler's madness, a saintly Christian like Kagawa suffers in Japan's Breast; even though both of them protested against their nations' policies.

Palling Others Up Needless to say, there is the other side of this. As the innocent are dragged down by the guilty, so the guilty are sometimes protected and benefited by the good. A nation by breaking God's laws pulls down many individuals who keep God's laws so far as they can, and on the other side a nation that keeps God's laws pulls up many individuals who are quite indifferent to God. Take America at the present writing, for instance. The picture may have changed by the time you read this; but while it is being written our nation is at peace, prosperity blooms on every side. We are one of the two most powerful nations the world has ever seen. Who deserves the credit? Not all of us, surely! We talk about the heroism of our forefathers, immigrants and pioneers; but we are not a heroic people. We talk about American smartness and know-how; but how few of us know how. We point with pride to our vast educational system -- and we read the comic strips. We are happy to see erosion brought under the goodness of being restored to waste land. But how many farmers were eager for such a program at first? We are proud of progress, when it has been left to most of us, we would still be stuck in the mud.

The Price of Being Human The truth is, and cannot be reminded of it too often, that the human race is all tied together. Making it made for community. The human race is not like a pile of sand, where one grain can blow off without disturbing the others very much. It is more like a block of concrete, more one grain of that and it all moves. We are happy enough to be pulled up by the community of the nation when that is better than we are; so we have not too much to cry about when we are pulled down by the community of the nation when that is worse than we are. We can't have it both ways. We must not expect to benefit under the goodness of our good neighbors, and at the same time not be hurt by the badness of our bad neighbors. It is the price of being human, that we are bonded together with countless others, and that with them we must often suffer the severe judgment of God.

Soil Conservation News

The week of July 24-31 has been designated soil Conservation week by the Governor of Kentucky. Many county judges have also proclaimed this week as Soil Conservation Week in their counties. The purpose of this is to emphasize the importance of Soil Conservation to the people of Kentucky. Non-farm people have a big stake in the soil of our state as well as those who live on and operate the farms.

The supervisors of the Rockcastle County Soil Conservation District have arranged for two field meetings during Soil Conservation Week.

On Monday, July 25th at 1:00 P. M. C. S. T. there will be a meeting on Henry C. Martin's farm near Three Links. Pasture renovation, maintenance, soil waterways, stock water development, and related conservation practice will be seen and discussed.

On Saturday, July 30 at 10:00 A. M. C. S. T., another field meeting on Bronco Abney's farm 3 1/2 mile from White on the Clear Creek Road will be held.

Division Channels, sod waterways, and seedling will be the topics for observation and discussion. All farmers interested are invited.

This was accomplished through the benefits of $14,688,723 derived from whiskey and beer taxes levied in 1934, prior to his administration. This windfall that came into the state treasury was actually $130,242.00 more than the state debt was reduced under Chandler. This is a matter of record and not truth twisted by Chandler, who puts his own ambitions above the good of Kentucky and Kentuckians.

Second Annual Livestock Field Day

The second annual livestock field day will be held on July 29th on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station Farm at Lexington. Conducted tours of beef, sheep and swine farms will start from the New Livestock Arena at regular intervals from 9:00 to 10:00 A. M. (CST). The morning program will be devoted largely to a careful explanation of research projects in operation and the results that have been obtained from them during the past year. Visitors will be given the opportunity to ask questions pertaining to this research and to inspect the livestock facilities at the University. Transportation will be provided. A beef barbecue will be held at noon. The feature speaker for the afternoon will be Dean A. D. Webster of Kansas Agricultural College and a famous judge at the International Livestock Exposition and at foreign stock shows. Other speakers will include Dean Frank J. Welch and Dr. W. P. Garrigus of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics; A. W. Wells, president of the Kentucky Purebred Livestock Association, and E. P. Hilton, Director of Agricultural Education, Kentucky State Department of Agriculture.

Those who attend will be brought up to date on such matters as the use of antibiotics and hormones in livestock; feeding the effect of temperature and shearing on conception and early embryonic death in sheep; results of performance testing work with beef, hogs, Hampshire and Duroc swine, and Southdown ram lambs; the effect of sodium molybdate on the digestibility and palatability of grass silages; the effects of synthetic alfalfa ash and trace minerals on forage utilization by sheep and beef steers and many other interesting and timely subjects. All livestock farmers are urged to attend this field day and bring a card of their neighbors.

State Safety Week
Philip C. Eisenhower has proclaimed July 24-30, 1955 as National Farm Safety Week. He has requested all organizations and leaders interested in farm life to join in the continuing effort to reduce farm deaths and injuries to farm people. Here are some ways to be safe on the farm—More than two-thirds of the deaths caused by farm machinery involve tractors. Says a statement from the University of Kentucky issued in connection with Farm Safety Week, more than 75 of the deaths from tractors occurs because the tractor overturns. The most frequent cause of a tractor turning over sideways is loss of control from too much speed. Low speeds are the only safe speeds. Doubling the speed of a tractor increases the likelihood of its turning over not twice, but four times. When driving down a steep grade, leave the tractor in gear to help check the its speed. One cause of backward tipping is hitching a load too high on the tractor. The drawbar provided on all tractors is the only safe place to hook heavy loads.

Next to machinery and falls, animals rank third among the causes of accidental injuries to farm people. Increased reliance on artificial breeding of dairy stock has freed many farmers from the hazards of handling bulls.

But wherever a bull is kept and however gentle it may appear, substantial fencing is necessary.

Bull beefs that run with the herd have infrequent contact with the owners. If a bull in a pasture meek be approached, it may be better to a horse or go in an automobile. If one must approach a bull on foot, be sure there is a fence nearby to afford a barrier in case the bull should charge.

Remove the tusks from a boar. Even an ordinarily gentle animal may strike without warning. Deaths have occurred from such accidents.

In every community, safety is NO accident. "Your safety is in your hands."

Friendly NOTE

By Alfred Sparks, Jr.

IF YOU THINK YOU'LL LOSE YOU'VE LOST FOR OUT IN THE WORLD YOU'LL FIND SUCCESS BEGINS WITH A FELLOWS WILL. IT'S ALL IN THE STATE-OF-MIND.

It's surprising how most of us, can, on occasion, think of worries, doubts, self-doubts, and fears in our minds. Sometimes our state of mind is such that these worries are cultivated into full-blown complexes which null our ability to handle problems with the confidence necessary for success.

Some people have the happy faculty of being able to convert their minds to concerning their thoughts more with the ways and means of best solving a problem or handling an obstacle, rather than with vague, uneasy thoughts or impending defeat. This is the healthy state of which provides impetus to the will to succeed.

Ed Denney Speaks Here On Opening Day Of Court

Judge Tartar lauds county for lack of violence since last term of court.

The spotlight in Rockcastle Circuit Court this week was taken by a figure familiar on the court scene for 22 years, but absent for the last two due to a presidential calling. Edwin R. Denney, Rockcastle County's own candidate for governor, was back in town on the opening day of court to officially appear before the people as a Republican candidate in the gubernatorial race.

Mr. Denney was accompanied to Mt. Vernon by Joe Eaton of Louisville, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. He also shared the spotlight with Incumbent Eugene Clark and J. H. Hines, Republican candidates for state senator.

Remarks in testimony of Mr. Denney were made by State Representative James W. Lambert and Circuit Clerk C. W. Murphy, both of whom had been closely associated with Mr. Denney during his long years as a Rockcastle County attorney.

Denney was introduced to the courtroom gathering by Circuit Judge R. C. Tartar, who previously had made opening remarks to the court. Judge Tartar introduced Denney as "a man who fosters high behavior on the opposition."

Denney's early career was spent in the coal fields where he waited for three long months for his first client. He remembered when Dan Stiverson and the Bureau of the gubernatorial candidate of his selection to leave Mt. Vernon when he was appointed United States Attorney, but promised that he and his family would be moving back to Mt. Vernon. The family didn't move back after Denney resigned, because, as the candidate explained, he wanted to be on the next election and it's only 24 miles from Frankfort to Mt. Vernon.

Producer To Star In Playhouse Production

Producer Eben C. Henson, starring as the "Master Builder" in Henrik Ibsen's drama of that name, will lead the Pioneer Playhouse B company as the play is presented at Renfro Valley Tuesday night.

Henson, who customarily takes one role with the Pioneer Players each year, will depict Ibsen's complex, characterful, a ruthlessly successful builder.

Playing opposite him in her first leading role of the season will be Cynthia Smith, a girl who has idolized the builder for 10 years since she saw him working on a church tower in her home town.

Other roles in the psychological drama will be taken by Dorothy Miller, Rett Michaels, Lee Moore and Dorothy Edwards.

Miss Smith, an Ohian with stage experience in that state and in New York and Massachusetts, has worked with a number of celebrities, including Rudy Vallee.

Henson founded the Pioneer Playhouse more than five years ago and has produced it annually since then. A dramatics graduate of Indiana University, he also studied at the University of Redlands, Calif., and in drama schools in San Francisco, Seattle and New York. He is an official of several national dramatics organizations and has appeared in and assisted in making a number of movies.

"Master Builder" opened at Danville Thursday night, will be repeated Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Care Before Leaving To those who like closing the house for vacation, the USDA offers a few tips to keep it and its contents safe and in good condition. Insect pests won't "take over" during your absence if you leave the house clean and use a good household spray on rugs, in closets, and along baseboards. Don't leave soiled dishes, garbage or soiled refuse to attract cockroaches or ants. Avoid possible lightning damage by disconnecting the T. V. set, radio and lamps. Probably the best insurance for your refrigerator or home freezer is a neighbor who will check these appliances every day or so. If you leave the name, address and phone number of your repair man over the appliance, your neighbor can get help at once if he finds something wrong.

No wonder this Hardtop is the HIT OF THE YEAR!

IT'S 4-DOOR HANDY

—and priced for action!

This one you'll just have to see. It's a beauty. It's a brand-new kind of car. It's a Buick Riviera with four doors. And to top it all—it's a SPECIAL—the lowest-priced of all Buick Series.

Know what that means? It means you can have the newest bit in hardtops—the most advanced new body design yet—and you can have it in the price range of America's smaller cars.

It means you can have a steel-roofed car with the long, low, sweeping sportiness of a convertible—with no center posts in the side window areas—and with two separate doors to the rear.

And you can have all this hardtop beauty with sedan comfort and convenience at the easy-to-take modest extra cost of a 4-door model over a 2-door model.

But if you think that's all—listen: This gleaming grace of automobile is a Buick through and through—a '55 Buick, from the hottest-selling line of Buicks in all history.

So here you have the soft, firm steadiness of Buick's all-coil-spring ride and torque-tube stability. Here you have Buick brawn, Buick solidity, Buick handling ease, Buick styling and visibility and interior luxury.

And here you have the lift and life of vigorous new V8 power of record might—and coupled to the spectacular performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

Why wait a day longer—when you can come in right now and try the first true hardtop with the extra comfort, room and convenience of a full-sized 4-door sedan?

Drop in tomorrow, first thing—for a look at the price, and an idea of the whopping-big trade-in deal our huge sales volume permits us to make.

Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick body. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

NOW—Biggest Trade-In Deals ever on the Biggest-Selling Buicks in History! Come in and see!
