Crops Aided Through Use Of Plastic

Plastic covers over vegetable plant rows will be the means by which a gardener can get an earlier crop.

Dr. E. M. Emmert, University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station horticulturist, says the covers hold ground heat close to plants during frosty spells and keep plants from freezing.

He can plant earlier each year without too much fear of frost-kills and his vegetables can be marketed earlier. Emmert thinks the cover system gives the plants a 10-14 day jump on non-covered plants.

His current experiment got a recent proof-test. Temperatures plummeted one night in April to 27°F and unprotected plants were killed.

But where there was a double layer of the plastic row-covers, and where the earth underneath the plants had been compacted according to Emmert's directions, the plants survived. Watered furrows covered with simple thickness at once through well.

Emmert uses polyethylene plastic of varying thicknesses. Metal U-shaped frames much like croquet wickets except they are larger, are put into the ground along the row.

The plastic covers then is draped over these wickets the (Continued on page 4)

PLASTIC ROW COVERS—Dr. E. M. Emmert, right, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station vegetable specialist, has found that plastic covers on vegetable plantings help early growth of the plants by protecting them from an excessively low temperature. In April, for instance, temperature one night dropped to 27°F but Emmert's row covers saved the plants.

Public Says 'Wait, See' On Fluoride

Residents of Mt. Vernon took a "wait and see" attitude toward fluoride this week along with members of the Mt. Vernon City Council who are studying the pros and cons of the chemical.

At the next meeting of the council, Dr. Jack Henderson is expected to recommend fluoride be added to the Mt. Vernon water supply. It is also expected that Dr. Conrad Fey, Brohead chiropractor, will be at the meeting to offer opposition to fluoride.

Mayor Roy Cummins had considered calling a special session of the council during the month to discuss the chemical, but all probability the discussion of fluoride will be delayed until the next regular meeting of the council June 7.

(Two letters to the editor opposing fluoride are on the editorial page of this issue of the Signal.)

RAYMOND HANSEHL, 32, of Mt. Vernon, talks with Staff Trooper V. K. Miller while he waits for an ambulance to take him to Bourbon County Hospital at Paris following a wreck Friday night. Hansehl was injured seriously but was reported unoperated today. Harve M. Miller, 18, also of the Mt. Vernon area was not seriously injured.

2 Local Men In Paris Crash

A Rockcastle County man was injured seriously and another suffered cuts and bruises Friday night when their auto plunged down a 100-foot embankment near Paris.

Raymond Hansehl, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hansehl, near Chestnut Ridge is reported improving at Bourbon County Hospital. Harve M. Miller, 18, also of Chestnut Ridge community was treated and released.

Both men were thrown from the car when it overturned down the embankment. They were found 25 to 50 feet below the auto. A farmer living nearby heard the crash at 3 a. m. and located the men by the time the ambulance arrived.

A third person was believed in the auto but could not be found, state police reported. The car snapped a telephone pole guywire and hung by its front wheels on another.

Attendants at the hospital said Hansehl suffered severe back and body injuries and was at first listed in a critical condition. But when it was reported he is improving.

Miller was identified as the driver of the auto. The two men are employed in Cincinnati and were enroute to their home here when the accident occurred.

CENSUS DISTRICTS IN COUNTY TOLD

The Bureau of Census this week established four county divisions for the purpose of statistical reporting, it was announced in Paul Green's newest issue of "The Signal."

Prior to this time, the census divisions were taken in one unit. Similar areas were established in Washington state prior to 1950 census, and since 1950 have been put into effect in six other states.

According to Mr. Archer, the proposed census county divisions should be particularly useful for local administrative purposes. The census county divisions generally have clearcut boundaries which can be easily identified, and they are intended to remain as permanent areas.

It is believed that the county census divisions will be a handy tool for the use of county officials, local newspapers and business and civic organizations.

Mr. Archer reported the county divisions set up by the Bureau of the Census will not interfere in any way with the use of Magisterial Districts by the state of counties.

For census purposes, Rockcastle County has been divided into four divisions: Brodhead, Conway, Livingston and Mt. Vernon, he said.

One-Time Signal Editor, W.T. Davis, Dies Suddenly talking with his daughter, Mrs. Amanda Maggard, in the kitchen of her home. He was dead when a physician arrived.

Mr. Davis began his career in the newspaper field as a "part-time" editor in the Signal, and later became publisher and continued in that post until his retirement in 1945.

He was born William Thomas Davis in 1871 in Mintonville, Casey County. He was the son of Mr. Solomon and Mrs. Ann Serber Davis. He came to Rockcastle County 69 years ago. Six years later he married Mary Elizabeth Rickels, who survives.

He is also survived by one son, C. L. Davis, of Brownsville, Texas; six daughters: Mrs. Amanda Maggard, Mrs. E. W. Greenwood, Washington, Ind.; Mrs. H. C. Thompson, Arlington, Va.; Mrs. Theo Stokes, Willow Run, Mich.; Mrs. John Kincaid, Covington, and Mrs. Carl Hopper, Lexington.

Mr. Davis was a Mason and a member of the Mt. Vernon Christian Church.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Howard Ely, pastor of the Christian Church at Berea, and will be held in a Elmwood Cemetery. There will be Masonic rites.

Mr. Davis will be at Sparks Funeral Home until time for the funeral.

Two inspectors from the Post Office Department were in Mt. Vernon this week looking for a suitable site for a new post office in the town.

Although nothing definitely was accomplished during the visit, the fact the two men were in town, and their comments that something should be done immediately about post offices, indicates a new post office in the town is more than just wishful thinking.

Mrs. Ethel Griffin, acting postmistress, said the two inspectors inquired the post office should have quarters as soon as possible. She stated they were looking for a place to rent or a place to build. A building site would have to be at least 150 feet deep and 40 feet wide and easily accessible to the public.

During their visit, the inspectors contacted Clyde Barnett. He will lend a hand in obtaining a site and will talk with the town fathers.

The idea of a new post office came up several weeks ago when Mrs. Griffin reported she had a letter from the Post Office Department about the difficulties of service at the post office.

Lauderdale, Fla.; a daughter, Mrs. Nancy Hatfield, a foster daughter, Mrs. William Smith, Chicago, and two brothers, Howard Watkins, Chicago, and Dave Watkins, Milwaukee, Wis.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS
 That time. He tells me he put 1000 pounds of 3-12-12 per acre at seeding and also borax for boron. He says that he has used 500 lbs. per acre of 0-20-20 each year since. The field has made about 800 bales per year with a cost of fertilizer of about $65.00.
 When it is haled this time it made 255 bales and is as good or better than in any previous year.

Mr. Parkerson says that if a farmer wants his alfalfa to last and not fade out, he must fertilize it. He has the proof for it:
 too right in his own alfalfa field.
 He completed a pond for Robert Chasteen, Morrill, this week.
 Mr. Chasteen began the pond several weeks ago, but could not complete it because of rain.
 The fill in Mr. Chasteen's pond had 700 cu. yds. of dirt in it and the water is over 10 ft. deep.

Mr. Charley B. Parson and Jimmy Harold Roberts have been doing some work on the Oak Hill Cemetery.

White Bullen has just finished putting about 800 bales in the barn. As I passed over the county I saw Wise Noe had cut alfalfa that was seeded last fall.
 Bradley Saylor cut alfalfa and from grass that was seeded last fall. George Cope, Charlie Bussell, Rem McKinney also cut alfalfa this past week.

Stopped by Seif Parkerson's and he had just completed half of the 25th crop of alfalfa from a 4-acre field. Robert Harris helped him seed the alfalfa in August of 1955.

Mr. Parkerson has got four cuttings per year since Oak Hill Cemetery.

Buick Buick Six 6-Door Estate

When it purrs, you reign

YOU CAN hardly hear its whispered might—but man, you sure can feel it.

It's power almost without limit—power that humbles the hills, melts the miles, makes you monarch of all you survey.

For this is a new Buick—a '56 Buick—marked by the most potent engine in Buick annals—a 322-cubic-inch V8 with a record high compression of 9.5 to 1.

But what makes you feel even more like bossman of the highway is the great new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

First time you tickle the gas pedal you'll know what we mean.

Now—smack in the top inch of gas pedal travel—right where you save gas every turn of the wheels—you get a swift, sure and supremely positive new get-away response.

For smooth and nimble performance for sheer mastery in traffic—nothing like it ever was.

And that's just part of it. When you need a still greater flow of get-up-and-go for safety's sake, you merely switch the pitch and you zoom out of tight spots.

So come rule the roost in this '56 Buick. Come drive a car with 127 gorgeous inches of wheelbase to give it regal room and a ride that's fit for a king.

Try out Buick's new steering—new center-grooved brakes—new direct-acting shock absorbers with triple the former volume of jounce-cushioning oil.

Learn how it feels to boss a car that looks like royalty and acts the part to perfection.

We promise—you'll practically purr with delight at the wheel of this dazzler—especially when you discover how easily you can make it your own.

The Signal Says...

SO LONG, SENIORS

This issue of the Signal we dedicate to the Mr. Vernon Livingston and Brodhead seniors who left high school last week.

For most of them, it was the last time they will be together as a group. As they shook hands, embraced, or otherwise said their goodbyes, they all vowed to come back for a reunion. But as the rule, they will not all be able to get everyone together at the same time. Time itself will also dim their childhood friendships as they make new friends in the business and professional world.

At this point we could preach and say "it's going to be rough" or "it's cold outside in the world" or "now your trouble begins," but the seniors graduating in this Atomic Age know these things already and most have prepared for it.

Our regret for this year's crop of graduating seniors, years before, is that most of them can't stay with us or even near us. Some will go to the various services; others will be forced north to find a job; others will go to college. We know these are their prospects and accept them as necessary.

All we can say is congratulations, good-bye, good luck and you're always welcome here at home.

Dear Editor:
Enclosed find a clipping from the Richmond (Ind.) Palladium-Item and Sun Telegram dated Sunday, May 20, 1955. It may be of interest to your readers.

Los Angeles, May 19 (AP)—A Santa Barbara physician says "Cases of serious illness and even death resulting from the consumption of water fluoridated in a distribution concentration are now being reported."

"Allergic individuals, as might be expected, seem particularly susceptible," Dr. Granville F. Knight added in a statement read yesterday before the 20th annual convention of the American Academy of Nutrition.

"Certain interests are strongly advocating the addition of sodium fluoride in a distribution one part per million, to domestic water supplies," he said. "This campaign is based on the questionable premise that the result will be less tooth decay in children without harm to consumers."

In my opinion, such fluoridation is not only illogical but is an invasion of personal rights and is fraught with grave danger to the health of the whole population. Let me enumerate some objections:

Mass Medication
It is mass medication without precedent.

"Sodium fluoride is a very toxic chemical acting as an enzyme poison, direct tissue and calcium inactivator. It reacts with tooth enamel and with bones to produce irreversible damage. It may injure the nervous system, kidneys and other tissues of susceptible individuals."

"The therapeutic dose is equivalent to the toxic dose." "Uniform dosage of any drug dissolved in the water supply is obviously impossible. Some individuals may drink 10 times as much as others. Thrust has many variables."

"How much more logical it would be for those wishing to use fluoride to add a known daily dose of sodium fluoride to milk or water by means of a tablet or drop—on the prescription of a physician or dentist—and how much cheaper."

"Statistics cited to prove a marked reduction in cavities in those children consuming artificial fluoridated water are both contradictory and unconvincing."

From a subscriber of your paper, Robert L. Creech, 1923 S. 13th St., Richmond, Ind.

Fluorine Or Not?
Come, let us reason together. Today doctors recommend to many people a salt restricted diet. Why? Salt is a combination of sodium and chlorine. They claim the sodium weakens the circulatory system, inflating the heart also effects the kidneys causing swelling. If we add sodium chloride is added to the chlorine that is already being brought in our water supply, what do we have? Which is better, sound teeth and a weak heart and kidneys from the ground, gave pretty good cold protection.

A 36-inch width, with the peak of the hood set in, inches from the ground, gave better protection but has less room for growth.

Flannels under a narrow hood with a much higher peak—two feet—were not saved from frost.

Plastic row covers were tried because many home and commercial gardeners were losing their plantings to late frosts.

Emmert's row cover system simply insures that heat stored in the ground during the day will not be lost at night, when frosts occur. In actual practice, temperature under the plastic hood stays from six to eight degrees higher than outside. On sunny days it will be from 20 to 30 degrees more.

One trick in heat-saving is to make sure soil around the plants is compact. If it is, stored heat will rise to the surface at night. If the soil is loose, surface air spaces from between soil particles. The heat then will not rise.

To get compaction, Emmert put a furrow down the row and an water down it. This compacted the soil. He says he likes this method best, but that a good rain will do the same thing. A rotary irrigation sprinkler can be used, too.

However, in the latter two methods, the water cannot be covered until the soil is compacted. In the furrow system, Emmert covered the rows as soon as plants are set.

A double covering of the plastic also is recommended. The bottom one should be loose, the upper one tight. This forms an insulating double space to retain heat.

Cost of the polyethylene is reasonably enough to make it an attractive. Emmert says he uses a plastic that costs about one cent a square foot. The cost varies depending on thickness, and amount bought. This is lowered to 6c in large wholesale amounts.

But the savings and returns from row covers, Emmert thinks, are sufficiently high to make it practicable for most operations.

Clear plastic can be used the second year, he says. Black plastic, used a row mulech to keep down weeds and keep the soil warm, will last four years.

WENDILL BELOW HOUSE FOR SALE

As I have accepted a position with the Baptist Home Mission Board in Atlanta, Ga., and will soon be moving there, I offer for sale, my home in Mt. Vernon.

The house is located in Crawford Heights Addition about one block from the Mt. Vernon High School. It is four years old and modern in every respect. It has a contemporary style of architecture with a tremendous picture window. It is sided with knotty pine and insulated with rock wool.

The many large windows are weatherstripped and have aluminum storm windows and screens.

There are three bedrooms, bath, two halls, pine-paneled livingroom, breakfast room and kitchen, with five wall closets and a pantry on the first floor. There is a large fireplace in the living room (an ash-trap permits ashes to be removed from an opening in the basement). The floors are beech in light and dark tones and the moldings and doors are of birch to harmonize with the pine walls. The kitchen has many built-in cabinets; the attached breakfast nook seats eight and is also built in. There is over 1122 square feet of living space on the first floor.

A permanent stairway leads to the floored attic. There is over 500 square feet of living space here — room for two additional rooms and bath.

The basement, divided into two sections and providing an excellent place for workshop, utilities, washing etc., opens on the ground level. There is approximately 500 square feet of space in the basement. The building has automatic propane gas heating.

The grounds are well-kept with many shrubs, trees, and flowers. We wish that we could take our house and you, our friends, with us to Atlanta, but since we cannot we offer the house for sale to you.

The price represents approximately what the house cost us. The house has been approved for F.H.A. loan. If you are interested in this property we invite you to call any day after 2 P. M.

Wendell Below — Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Golden For U.S. Senator

Private Golden eventually received that accolade. He received his law degree in 1950. Then in the summer of 1953, Mr. Golden waged a powerful campaign and was elected to the State Senate of Kentucky. He would have been right there until January of this year had he not mucked up and read another Reader's Digest article. An article I wrote about one of the most unique churches in the nation—the little Church of the Salvation Army in Washington. What I revealed about the young minister, Gordon Gosby, and the church intrigued Julian Golden. He decided to investigate for himself and found those something new to be looking for.

So in a modern version of those New Testament men who dropped their business enterprises, their jobs, or ledgers or whatever—in midair, as it were, to follow Christ, Mr. Golden gave up his appointed term in the State Senate, pulled up stakes, brought his wife and three little girls to Washington.

One night in Washington, Dorothy and Julian Golden had dinner in one home and I heard this amazing story. Since then as Mr. Golden took up his new job as an Assistant Solicitor for the United States Territories in the Department of Interior, I have come to know them well. During the last two weeks I have watched Julian Golden grow into the stature of a mature Christian. Then there came to him what amounted to a call—a call to enter politics again—this time not for himself or to fulfill any egoistic ambition, but simply to do what God told him to do in the service of his nation. I have seen Mr. Golden wrestle with this call, banish it from his mind, only to have it return with greater force, how could he conduct a campaign without personal financial resources? And God merely said, "Trust Me and take it step by step on faith." So in the end it was something he had to do.

But that still doesn't quite answer the question as to why I am here in Louisville tonight making the first political speech of my life. Let me explain it this way. Washington today on the whole, most of our foreign policy is based on fear — our scientists are agreed that there is no real defense against atom or nuclear bombs. The men who enter the Pentagon, I believe, know that it is an inadequate policy. Most of them, believe in God. But so far as most of them believing that God has any personal interest in them or that they could ask Him a direct question and get a direct answer—ah, that is something else again.

And so I come to that missing ingredient. It's the humility to know and admit that one doesn't have all the answers to the kind of human predicament that we face and it's the conviction that God does have quite specific answers. This is the kind of greatness that we need on the national scene today. Nothing else will suffice. I measured greatness in Julian Golden. I see not a weakness in him, but a man whom I believe God can use. Ladies and gentlemen I give you Julian Golden.

label states the material has been "sanitized" or "fully shrunk and guaranteed not to shrink more than a given amount," it should be shrunken at home.

The process is simple, done this way:

Leave the material in its original folds. Place the fabric in a generous amount of warm water and let stand until it is thoroughly soaked. Then without wringing or twisting it, hang the material on the clothes line to dry. If it is hung straight, it will require little or no pressing.

Crop Pests Can Cost You Money

INSECTS and fungus diseases strike suddenly and without warning. Once they get a head start, the cost of salvaging your crops is far greater than the small cost of preventive dusting. That's why it always pays in the long run to invest a few dollars in adequate protection now... and insure your crop against serious damage this summer.

Southern States dusts are made especially to combat the common insects and fungus diseases found throughout the Southern States area. The ingredients used are mixed according to the latest findings and recommendations of State Agricultural Colleges and Experimental Stations, and distributed to patrons fresh for greater strength and killing power.
