To The Wise

40 years of dealing with you, Mr. Farmer, have taught us that you are wise, thrifty, resourceful, a hard worker.

You have many problems.

Sunshine and rain do not always come at the right time or in the right proportion. Storms, floods, droughts, and many other things may damage or destroy your crops.

Even after a bountiful yield, you may find too much has been grown and the market is down.

But as a good farmer, you take it all in stride, feeling that everything will work out - which it usually does.

You have learned that it is false economy to farm with old, worn-out tractors and equipment. This is where we come in.

The International Harvester Co., because of increased costs of steel, labor, etc. was forced to raise their prices on f r m machines. However they are allowing us to sell at the old prices until October 30 only.

For instance we can now sell you a new Super C tractor with 2 furrow plow and disk harrow for $1995.00. Other sizes at a similar reduction. But you must act now.

While the Soil Conservation Service technician was in the Hanford neighborhood a visit was made to a pine planting site made by Harold Norton and his father, Roy Norton, in 1949. The pine trees are growing fast with most of them measuring five to six inches in diameter. They are from 20 to 30 feet high. If you don't own an oil well or a gold mine, take a look at your timber stand and do some figuring. A 12 inch pine tree grows to 14 inches in five years if properly managed. At that rate it earns 28 per cent interest per year. says Alabama Polytechnic Institute. A 20-25 year old tree, 10 inches in diameter, worth 88 cents. A 25-30 year old tree, 12 inches across is valued at $1.90. A tree 30-35 years old, 14 inches in diameter is valued at $3.12.

STOIL CONSERVATION NEWS: Pond construction has slackened off some now. Farmers who have completed ponds recently are: Ed Wilmore; W. H. Wren, Clay, Colson; Dewey Thomas and Etta Saylor. Mr. Frank Robbins has said he wants to do some open ditch work just as soon as the bulldozer operator can get to his work. The Soil Conservation Service will lay out the work so if rain meet S. C. specifications.

Curfew Ordinance Passage Expected When Council Meets Friday Evening

Floyd Livesay Hurt In Crash

Floyd "Dad" Livesay of Mt. Vernon is still in a serious condition at a Lexington Hospital, following an accident last week when his auto and a truck collided about a mile and a half west of Mt. Vernon on Route 150. Mr. Livesay was driving toward Mt. Vernon late at night and met a truck topped a hill. The two vehicles collided and both left the road and crashed into an embankment.

The Mt. Vernon City Council took a look at the juvenile problem in the city at its monthly meeting, Thursday night, and instructed City Atty. John Allen to draw up a city curfew ordinance which will be used for youngsters under 18 off the streets at 10 p. m., unless accompanied by their parents. The curfew will not become effective until the council votes its passage. Mayor Roy Cummins has called a special session of the council for 7 p. m. Friday at the Mt. Vernon City Hall to vote passage of the ordinance. Mayor Cummins has invited the council to the meeting and the council hopes to hear what the public has to say about the ordinance before the council vote. Before Mayor Cummins instructed Attorney Allen (absent from the meeting) to draw up the ordinance, the Mayor took a poll of the council members to get their reaction to drawing up the ordinance. The five council members (Mayor Winstead was absent) agreed unofficially to go along with a curfew.

How Rare X-Chemical Power Discovery Makes Sinclair Power-X
the First Gasoline to Solve the 3 Major Power Problems in Auto Engines

- Increases octane performance and power by eliminating power-robbing engine deposits
- 90% more effective than any other gasoline additive in preventing spark plug fouling
- 70% more effective in stopping power loss from pre-ignition knock

A New 1960-type Fuel • All Cars Need it - Only Sinclair has it

Now - for the first time in automotive history - a rare chemical has been developed that eliminates power-robbing engine deposits, thereby increasing power in older cars - retaining peak power in new cars.

Other gasoline additives, intended to combat spark plug fouling and pre-ignition, actually build up harmful deposits of their own. But Sinclair's new X-Chemical has none of these damaging after-effects. INSTEAD, IT CHANGES HARD, CRUSTY DEPOSITS INTO HARMLESS, POWDERY MATERIAL.

After just three tankfuls of new Super-Premium Power-X, you can feel the improvement in performance - provided you do not mix it with other gasoline. See your Sinclair Dealer and power up with Power-X.

The Signal Says...

Have We Forgotten Our Children?

By now residents of Mt. Vernon have probably heard by way of the newspapers, radio and television that last Thursday night the Mt. Vernon City Council made one of the sternest decisions a local city council has ever made.

The council instructed City Atty. John Allen to draw up a curfew ordinance making it illegal for young people under 18 to be on the streets after 10 p. m. unless accompanied by their parents.

To say the council acted in haste, is to give them no credit. The reasons for their contemplated action stem from incidents and causes over a period of a year. At the expense of possible preaching, let's look at the causes and incidents as the council looked at them.

Cause 1: Last year teenagers began "observing" Halloween a few days before the prescribed night. Autos, homes, yards and personal belongings were damaged and destroyed.

Cause 2: Within the past year, no less than 50 teenagers have been fined for drunkenness and breach of peace in city and county courts.

Incident 1: An elderly man received a prison term for molesting a teenage girl.

Incident 2: Though over 18 years old, three local youths received jail sentences for overturning gravestones in Elmwood Cemetery.

Incident 3: Two men and a teenage boy recently were arrested on the complaint of a 11-year-old girl.

Incident 4: A 13-year-old girl was found by Police Chief Irvin Saylor in Elmwood Cemetery, after midnight, sitting on a tombstone drinking a can of beer. When told by police to go home, she brazenly informed them to mind their own business, that she'd go home when she got ready.

Incident 5: A group of teenage boys and girls were heard by residents late at night on Main Street using what has been termed by Mayor Roy Cummins "language that made me blush."

Incident 6: A group of teenage boys, reportedly noisy and loud, disturbed guests at the Rockcastle Hotel last week. When the police chief tried to disperse them, he was cursed by one of the boys, dared to make an arrest, and called a name associated with Harry Truman's famous reference to Columnist Drew Pearson.

Incident 7: Last week a teenage girl at a business place near Mt. Vernon High School disobeyed and did a carnival dance for part of the student body.

The council added up the incidents and causes, decided reasoning apparently is useless, and instructed the city attorney to go ahead with an ordinance which will probably see parents of late-hour teenage roamers hauled out of bed in the middle of the night; taken to jail to identify their confined youngsters; required to post bond for a possible "contributing" charge, and fined in city court. This is messy business for parents and could prove most embarrassing.

The present problem we believe stems from two causes—lack of home discipline and lack of a type of civic awareness.

We hear these days psychologists say: Don't spank Junior, or he'll get an inferiority complex. That may be true, but there is a parental decision that has to be made: Do you want Junior to walk a chalk-line, or later, a police line?

Secondly, youngsters in Mt. Vernon have nowhere to go before 10 p. m., let alone, after 10 p. m. By 10 p. m., every business in town except motel, hotel and service station, is closed. It seems, somewhere along the way, we have forgotten our children.

We have made them shift for recreation. We have banned pool. We have banned dancing. We have condemned "riding around." We have condemned pinball machines. We have condemned comic books. To face realities, all these things are part of this modern culture and are here to stay. Under proper guidance, are they, in themselves, actually bad? Have we tried them under proper guidance? The answer is, no. We have not done very much at all.

Now the town is caught in unpleasantness and unfavorable publicity. The youngsters must pay the penalty—a penalty that we believe should be laid at the feet of a lot of parents.

The council, as a civic group dedicated to the welfare of all the people in the town, has found it necessary to correct the late hour errors. All youngsters must suffer for what a few have done. We can only ask parents to support the decision of the council, since the council says its decision was made as a last resort.

CURFEW

sort the council has.

The details of the ordinance remain to be worked out by the attorney. Usually police arrest youngsters and take them home where they are released to their parents with assurances they'll have the youngster observe the curfew.

In some cities, parents are required to post a bond on the charge of "contributing to the delinquency of a minor" and appear in city police court.

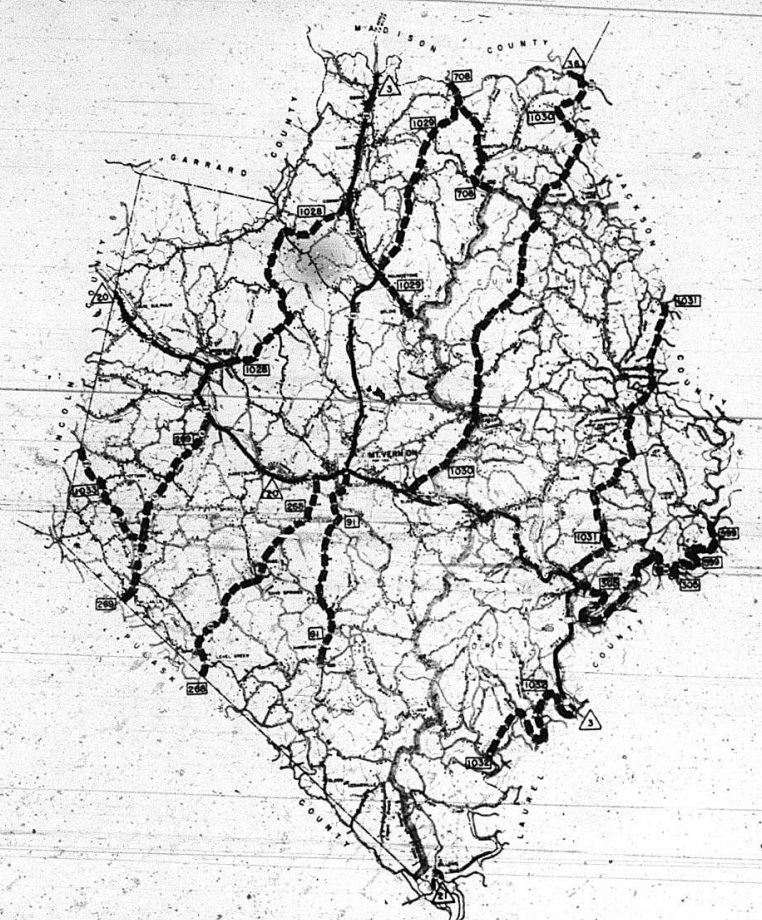

In other action, the council instructed Attorney Allen to file suit against delinquent 1955. It also voted to allow instructors from a Danville dance studio to hold weekly dance classes in the Mt. Vernon City Hall.

Tell Rockcastle Roads Eligible For Aid If Bonds Pass

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY'S mileage of roads approved by the United States Bureau of Public Roads for possible federal construction aid. Note markings are those of Federal road agency and not the road or highway numbers posted on the routes.

Rockcastle County has 124.4 miles of highways approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for possible federal aid, S T & E Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser reports.

As such, he said, these roads, or part of them, could qualify for improvement under the proposed new highway construction program, as needs and priorities are determined, funds become available, and federal approval is obtained for specific projects.

The county's mileage of federal-aid highways includes 87.6 miles of secondary and 36.8 miles of primary roads. In all, there are approximately 18,800 miles of such roads in Kentucky.

Kiser's explanation of the federal-aid mileage came after reports that some persons had the erroneous impression that only highways bearing U. S. route markings are entitled to federal aid.

Funds for federal-aid secondary and primary roads are allocated on a 50-50 basis for the next three years. The state is required to put up $1 to match each $1 obtained from the U. S. government for construction on these highways.

These roads are in addition to the 461 miles designated as Kentucky's part of the Federal Interstate Highway System. For the interstate routes, under the new highway program, the U. S. government will put up $9 for each $1 put up by the state toward the cost.

There is also the federal-aid urban system, which consists of about 225 miles of primary and approved extensions of the secondary system in Kentucky cities also financed on the 50-50 matching basis.

These systems, for which federal aid was increased by Congress last June, are in addition to roads included in Kentucky's separate rural road program. Approximately $19,000,000 in state funds is earmarked annually for the rural highway program.

The rural program would continue operation, under the law, as in the past, according to the State Highway Department, announced recently dealing with plans for highway construction if the state's proposed $100,000,000 bond issue is only approved by Kentucky voters at the Nov. 6 election.

Friendly NOTE

By Alfred Sparks Jr.

"THAT PERSONS WHO LIVES FOR SELF ALONE LIVES FOR HIMSELF MEANEST MORTAL KNOWN"

The foregoing words by Joaquin Miller are a well-directed stab at the self-centered person that thinks and acts solely for self power.

It's true, of course, that an ambition to improve one's lot is only natural. However, it is when ambition or the act of bringing personal power is fulfilled that is when a treacherous personality is born. Greed, an inability to work in the community spirit are but a few of the by products of the person who elects to live for self alone.

Why God Says No!

Lesson for October 14, 1956

A QUESTION often asked about the Ten Commandments is this: Why are they all in the negative? It all seems to be "Don't, don't." Does God hang chains on us to hamper our freedom? Is God more interested in stopping us from what we want to do than in showing us the way to do it? Why the emphasis on the negative? Isn't Christian morality, right living before God, a positive thing? Can a set of prohibitions be a solid base for the Christian life?

"Don't" is a Useful Word
Let's look at this a little. For one thing, it must be remembered that the Ten Commandments, as they are called, were not invented by Moses or first revealed to him. We know that centuries before Moses, wise men were saying it already, and it is pretty safe to suppose that most people knew it—namely, that stealing and killing and adultery were wrong. The reason Moses gave the Ten Commandments was not that either he or God had just discovered them. The reason Moses came out in their present form, (or possibly a better form, enlarged later for the benefit and guidance of a vast primitive people, just out of slavery when they and their forefathers had been for generations. Even people say, "Don't" is easier to understand than "Do." A little child can be taught from being hurt or killed just by framing the meaning of the little word "Don't." "Don't" is a useful word. It is simpler, too, to say "Don't" than "Do." Learning to do well takes time, and brains too. You don't have to learn to stop. You don't have to be a "brain" to stop doing wrong. So the Ten Commandments begin at the right end, the simple end. "Thou shalt not" or "Don't," in other words, is not the whole of what goodness means, but it is a good place to begin.

Under Control
Nowadays it is not popular to mention such words or ideas as discipline, self-control, temperance, or restraint, but there are good things in their place, and no life is good that ignores them. Doing what you want to do when you feel like it, without any other thought, is a small boy's dream, but it is no way for a grown man or woman to live. This is another reason why so many object to the Ten Commandments, begin with "Don't." Brakes say "No" to sugar, and a car without brakes is a danger to everyone. Stakes say "No" to spreading vines, but the vines are the better for being told to Pruning says "No" to the grapevines, but unpruned grapevines soon run down. Rails say "No" to train wheels, and when the wheels stop to squeak, that is where the trouble please, you have a wreck. "Doing what comes naturally" may be all right, even criminal. Impulses can be harmful and hateful. Instincts may be warped or exaggerated. The disciplined self-control life is the life of no repression, but if there is no response anywhere, if there is no response and obedience when God says "No," then life becomes a tangle like an untrimmed grapevine, a smash-up like a train that tries to cross a field without rails.

Every "Don't" has a Do!
Every "don't" has a matching "do" of some kind. That shall not steal means also, Thou shalt not waste property. Thou shalt not covet the earth's resources. Thou shalt respect property who own it, shall mean, you shall use intelligent methods to prevent or cure "illness" that may think about it, and he may not be able to prevent stealing or wasting the land on which future generations may depend. He is obeying the Eighth Commandment. But such a farmer shows that right living consists not merely in refusing to commit a certain sin, but in doing the "right" thing; right living is not only not stealing land (for example) from the rising generation, right living includes also doing all one can to pass on to those who shall come after, land that shall have become because which used more fertile and fruitful than it was before. In the same way with all other commandments, every "Don't" has a "Do." Ten shall not kill, does not only mean, do not kill, but also means, do not let your life be a burden on others. Thou shalt not have false witness, does not only mean, do not lie; it also means, do not let your life be a burden on others. Thou shalt not have false witness, does not only mean, do not lie; it also means, do not let your life be a burden on others.

a MILLION layers produce eggs ... saving about 5¢ per dozen

Are you using our cost-cutting service? Many local folks are with very satisfactory results! Here's why we believe we can help you cut the cost of producing eggs and increase profits.

Last fall a check on production of Purina-fed flocks brought out this fact. Records on more than one million layers showed they averaged only 4 1/2 lbs. of feed per dozen eggs.

U. S. Government figures show that most flocks take 6 lbs. to do the job. So... Purina customers saved 1 1/2 lbs. of feed or about 5 cents per dozen.

See or call us now. We'll bring our Poultry Profit Meter to your farm and help you shoot for lower egg production costs. Remember... service is free with the Checkerboard Bag.

MORE TO RECEIVE AID FOR AGED

Two recent steps to liberalize the State-aid program are resulting in the addition of approximately 4,500 aged persons to public-assistance rolls and average income increase of $3 a month for October. The steps as given by a spokesman of the Department of Economic Security are: 1. Repeal of the Lien Law by the 1956 General Assembly. This law, effective until July 1, gave the State a lien on the property of old-age assistance recipients. When the recipient died, the amount he received from the State was recovered from his estate. Repeal of this law has added 2,000 recipients to the public-assistance rolls through August, and another 1,000 persons are expected to be added when their applications are processed.

A executive order issued last month by Commissioner Vego Barnes changed the income scale determining the responsibility of adult children in supporting their aged parents. Approximately 1,800 will be eligible for assistance under the new income schedule. According to the old income scale, an unmarried person receiving a net income of $159 a month with no other dependents had to support his parents. The new scale raises the figure to a gross income of $250 a month, the spokesman said. Income increases were based on the cost-of-living index made by the Federal Bureau of Labor and Statistics.
