State Working to Wipe Out Brucellosis

Brucellosis (commonly called "Bang's Disease") is a public health as well as an economic problem. The State of Kentucky working with the Federal Government is striving to rid the state of this disease in animals, especially cattle.

Brucellosis is an infectious disease that is caused by bacteria. It affects principally cattle, hogs, and goats. Each group of animals is usually infected by its own type of organism. Man is susceptible to all three types. Man always contracts the disease from animal never from man. Therefore, if the disease is to be eliminated from man, it must be eliminated from animals. Man may contract the disease by the handling of infected parts, the aborted placenta, or aborted calf.

In 1955 the Kentucky State Board of Agriculture cooperating with the United States Department of Agriculture started an accelerated brucellosis eradication program designed to give the farmer every assistance possible in aiding his combating this disease. The program offers a free blood test to cattle owners and helps defray the cost of less to the owner by the use of indemnity payments for reactor cattle slaughtered.

Cattle owners cannot afford brucellosis in their dairy or beef herd. The financial loss and the risk to the health of the family and customers are too great.

From a financial standpoint the loss is from calf crops and milk production. Calf crops from infected cattle are cut about 40%. Milk production is cut about 22%. The combination of the two losses has driven dairymen and beef cattle men out of business. Financial gains to the cattlemen are dependent on a healthy herd of cattle.

From a public health standpoint the disease is a serious

Wild Onion Control
Once again the time for fall treatment for eradication of wild onion and garlic is close at hand. Wild garlic (often miscalled wild onions) can be controlled fairly well in pastures, lawns and grass seed fields by the proper use of 2, 4-D sprays without causing serious permanent harm to grass crops.

The spray treatments each year, one in early November and the other in late March, are suggested if eradication is the aim.

For detail information, ask for leaflet 151, "Control of Wild Garlic With 2, 4-D" at the County Agent's Office.

Point System Planned For Highway Safety

State Police are expected to begin a point-system crackdown on dangerous drivers within 45 days. Acting Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill said this week.

The new system will keep records on all drivers convicted of traffic violations in moving vehicles. Sturgill said, "Seriousness of violations will determine the number of points registered against each driver. When the accumulation of points reaches a certain total, State Police will revoke the driver's license."

Plans based on point-systems of six other states are being studied by the Department of Public Safety, Sturgill said.

Operation of the State-wide safety program will begin as soon as Governor Chandler approves the department plan, he added.

Explaining the program Sturgill said, "Suppose we settle on a total of 12 points for suspension or revocation of license. Speeding as an example, might carry 3 points. If an accident from speeding, an additional 3 points will be placed against the driver.

"When a driver's total points reach 6 or 9, he will be notified. If his next violation is serious enough to bring his points to 12, he will lose his driver's license."

Parking violations will not be considered. Only the so-called moving-vehicle violations such as speeding, reckless driving and crossing yellow lines will add up the point-system, Sturgill said.

Jaycees Set Letter Drive For Phone Case Ruling

Everyone writes a letter to the Court of Appeals asking for a decision on the case of the Mt. Vernon Telephone Co. versus the Public Service Commission. Such is a project to be sponsored by the Rockcastle County Junior Chamber of Commerce. The project was agreed on at a special meeting of the Jaycees Monday noon at the Renfro Valley Lodge. The Jaycees do not take a stand either way in the controversy. They do not say whether they are "for" or "against" the Telephone Company or the Public Service Commission. All the organization wants is a ruling on the case by the Appeals Court. The case has been before the court for nearly a year. Several months ago, the PSC ruled in favor of the Rockcastle County Co-operative, which had asked the PSC for a permit to install and operate a new telephone system. Frank Deas, owner of the Mt. Vernon Telephone Co., appealed the PSC ruling and Special Franklin County Circuit Judge Marion Rieder reversed the PSC, calling the PSC's decision unconstitutional. The ruling said in part: "The court feels the Commission went far afield in denying to the plaintiff the right to improve its system or to construct any additional line."

Know Wage-Hour Law Coal Owners Told

Operators of coal mines, especially those in charge of small mines, were advised today to familiarize themselves with the requirements of both the Federal Wage-Hour Law and the Federal Public Contracts Act. This caution came from the Regional Office of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Divisions in charge of enforcing these two acts in the States of Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Regional Director James Eaves reminded coal operators they were subject to all of the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (Wage-Hour Law) if any of their production moved directly or indirectly in the stream of interstate commerce. He reminded they were also reminded that they were subject to the provisions of the Federal Public Contracts Act if any part of their production was used to fill coal contracts in excess of $10,000 with agencies of the Federal Government. Eaves pointed out that the Public Contracts Act means that all requirements of the Federal Mine Safety Code and State Laws must be complied with.

Grand Jury Indicts Martin For Stanley Johnson Murder

Tobacco Men Get Warning

Weights & Measures director George Johnson issued a warning to loose leaf tobacco warehouse operators that they are subject to fines of from $200-$500 if found guilty of rebating trucks and farmers for delivering tobacco to their warehouses. The inspectors for the Weights & Measures Division have been instructed to be on the alert for such practices and where violations are found, the maximum penalty will be sought. Johnson stated that he had received reports of instances where the warehouse operators had rebated or "tipped" truck drivers "kickbacking" the grower's $200-$500 in the form of tobacco to a particular warehouse. The amounts of these "tips" are said to range from 25c to 75c per hundred pounds. Other instances have been reported where the warehousemen have offered to refund to the grower part of the selling commission if he would consign his crop to the specified warehouse.

Olen Martin 33, of Three Links, was indicted on charges of "wilful murder" and "malicious shooting" and wounding by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury Tuesday at Mt. Vernon. Martin was indicted for the wilful murder of Stanley Johnson, 41, of Three Links, and the malicious shooting and wounding of Roger Radiff, 25, of Dayton, Ohio, following what was termed at the time a "drinking and slugging" party at Johnson's farm Aug. 18. Judge R. C. Tartar set the trial date Dec. 18 and released Martin on bonds. Calvin Johnson, the only person to testify at the examining trial told the court he; his father, his brother, John, 14; his cousin, Nels Johnson; Mitchell Abrams; Joe Jones and Radiff had been at the Johnson farm around the pond. He stated his father had a jug of whisky out and then killed his father, Stanley Johnson. He said there was no reason for the shooting. Martin told police at the time, he resisted being thrown in the pond and started to leave in the pond. Martin said Radiff followed. Martin said he shot under Radiff's feet. Radiff kept coming toward him and he shot him with a .32 pistol. Martin said Johnson then came over and threatened him and made a "grab for me". He said he shot Johnson. Johnson died a short time later. Martin also told police Johnson had threatened him several times before. In other Circuit Court action, Doyle Dean of Magesburg was instructed to pay $30 for the support of a child. The jury hearing the case, ruled if Dean fails to pay he be sent to the penitentiary for a five year term. Robert Settles of Livingston, charged with detaining a female, had his case dismissed when the prosecuting witnesses failed to prosecute. A liquor in possession charge against Joe Milburn was dismissed. Norman Baker, charged with liquor in possession in a joint indictment with Milburn, received a $50 fine and costs on a guilty verdict. Morris Middleton of Livingston, who appealed a "drunk in a public place" case from court, was fined $50 and given 30 days in jail.

Illegal Taxicabs To Be Abolished

Persons operating unauthorized taxis in Kentucky communities where the Department of Motor Transportation authorizes a taxicab permit can expect trouble. Commissioner C. M. Blackburn said, "This agency will make a special drive to force any unauthorized operations to be discontinued in areas where we have recently issued a permit."

The commissioner called attention to Crab Orchard where a new permit has been granted Maurice G. Howard for operation of the Lincoln Cab Co.

The Commissioner said law enforcement representatives from the department would investigate the Crab Orchard area for taxis operating without permits. If such taxis are found, whatever corrective steps are necessary to discontinue them will be carried out, he said.

DRUNK DRIVERS UNDER NEW LAW

"No drunken driving charges were amended to lesser charges in the first week following the announcement of a public policy whereby data on such changes will be released to the press," Acting Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill said.

Personnel in the Division of Operator Responsibility said this is the first week in their memory some drunk driving convictions were not amended to lesser charges.

Commissioner Sturgill announced, Oct. 11, the Department in the future would publish the amended drunken driving convictions. "In the past," Sturgill said, some courts convicted drunken drivers then permitted them to recover their driver's licenses by amending the charge.

"With the new plan, names of the judge amending the charge and the defendant receiving the amendment will be released to the wire services and the news media in the defendant's home town."

Spring Fertilizing Ups Forage Yields, Saves on Feed Bills

Longer grazing season means greater savings on feed bills. Fertilizing your pastures this spring can give your dairy and beef cattle a longer grazing season, increase forage yields, cut feeding costs and boost net returns per acre and per cow, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Fertilized pastures get going earlier and stay productive longer, the committee points out. They give higher yields of better quality, low-cost forage that is high in protein content.

The longer the grazing season, the greater will be your savings on feed bills, says the committee.

Agronomists advise waiting until the pasture stand is four to six inches high and the ground is firm before turning out cattle.

As spring advances and there is more forage than the cattle can eat, this surplus can be harvested and stored as silage or hay as a "feed bank" when needed.

When the charge is reduced office stated that the permittee the driver may retain his license until a court to reduce the charge driver's license. A recent opinion from the Attorney General's been returned.

Two Sons

Lesson for November 25, 1956

WHAT does the word "prodigal" mean? Ask some Sunday school class that, and you may be surprised at how many boys answer you "bear." Actually, the name simply means "wasteful." Jesus never named his parables; and sometimes the are done in the name of the church has given them fit, and sometimes not. The parable of the "prodigal son" might be better named "The Two Sons" or "The Forging of Faith of Wasting."

There are two ways of being prodigal or wasteful. One is to use up and destroy what might have been saved. If you let good farm machinery sit around in the rain till it rusts, you are wasting equipment. If you use expensive butter for a job a little bacon grease will do just as well, you are wasting the butter. If you are a general and order a million dollars worth of which thousands of men needlessly lose their lives, you are wasting human life. All these wasteful acts, great and small, are done in the same way, essentially by throwing away or spoiling what might have been saved and used. Another way of wasting is just not even doing it. There is, something which if you do not use now you will never have the chance to use again. An example of this is water power.

The river flows on its way, developing so many horsepower with machinery, and tomorrow the horsepower today's horsepower will be gone. You waste water power not by destroying it, but by failing to use it.

The Younger Son
Now in Jesus famous parable, the two sons were both wasteful. The younger one, Give me -- he said and off he went. A young fortune was in his hands; but he threw it away through the "period," in "no time" there was something else he wasted, his father's love and confidence. He virtually treated his father as if he were already dead. This younger son is, of course, the type of the reckless sinner who wastes his health, strength, character, perhaps money too, the soul of man who is called a "wastrel" or waster. The time, life, strength that such a man wastes cannot be brought back again. You could go down to Skid Row or to the nearest hospital for drug addicts and convert them every day, but you could never give them back the "years the locusts have eaten." God forgives such men, as the father in the parable did, but the younger prodigal, but just as the father in that story could not recall from the four winds the wasted fortune and the way to his son, so not even God ever turns the clock or the calendar back.

The Older Son
But that older boy--he too was a waster. Only he wasted in the other way, not by destroying but by not using. There seems to be something deeply sad in the father's simple saying, "Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours." This was true--and yet the son had made it untrue. "You are always with me"--so near, and yet so far away. None of the father's spirit had penetrated the boy's mind; he was physically at home yet spiritually a stranger. He too, in a different way, had lived like an orphan. Every day that he stayed in the father's heart, a father's sympathy, a father's wealth; but he never took it. If for the younger boy there was wasteful destruction, for the older there was waste-by-neglect. Did the father forgive this son too? The story does not say. The impression most people get is perhaps what Jesus intended to suggest: The father was ready to forgive each son; but the younger son was forgiven, because he had confessed his wrong. The older son was not (so far as the story takes us) forgiven, because he did not seem to be conscious of having done anything wrong. Of course he was the type of the Pharisee; but the Pharisee are not dead. In the church and out there are correct, respectable citizens who know nothing of God's love for his brothers and so do have never known the God they officially call "Father." God will forgive to sinners, but perhaps he seldom does, for such a man seldom thinks he needs it.

The Signal Says...

Who Said, 10 Years?

Writing in the Sunday Courier-Journal's "Passing Show," Allen Trout tells us the wheels will begin to click into place by April 15, and that work will begin shortly thereafter on six-lane construction on U. S. 25 at Covington, and an extension on Kentucky Turnpike at Elizabethtown. And we thought it was going to be 10 years before U. S. 25 would be a four or six lane interstate limited-access highway. Now, apparently U. S. 25 is first on the list.

Of course, no one has been told yet the direction the highway will follow except that the new road will "roughly parallel" the old. When they'll be working in this area is not certain either. But, we'll know what's going to happen before very long since work on U. S. 150 to make it four-lane will begin this spring between Stanford and Danville.

Trout quotes State Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser as saying, "It will be our policy to build the first interstate sections alongside the worst sections of the old road, with temporary tie-ins as needed." This seems assurance that most towns along the route won't fare too badly, especially Mt. Vernon. It is almost certain that somewhere in this area U. S. 25 will intersect U. S. 150. At that point there will be one of the largest interchanges along the whole route and will make Mt. Vernon one of the most important spots, if not the most important, along the route.

New Towns Coming

As Trout says: "Every interchange in the 641 miles will become the potential site of new villages and towns. Yes, towns. For there is a trend already discernible for heavy industry to locate away out in the country on the interstate system. The interstate system certainly will change the surface of all Kentucky it touches, and bids fair to create a new way of life."

No, the new U. S. 25 and U. S. 150 are not 10 years away. They're not even five years away. They are only months away. Final plans of the route the roads will follow certainly can't be more than weeks away. And if anyone thinks these super highways won't be in operation before 1960, he's due a rude awakening.

Again as Trout says: "The long-range reputation of the Chandler Administration rests squarely on how well the department comes through with the money and responsibility suddenly thrust upon it. And upon the reputation of his record will rest Governor Chandler's fortune as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President in 1960."

Need Representative

As Kentucky's puzzling road picture begins to clear, it also becomes clear that someone from Mt. Vernon should be at all meetings of the U. S. 150 Committee recently formed to promote the reconstruction of that highway. It is also clear, someone should pick up the ball and be ready to do everything to make sure the U. S. 25 - U. S. 150 interchange is in Rockcastle and very near Mt. Vernon.

With the interchange located in this immediate area—a crossroads of two big federal highways—the potential for industrial and business expansion is incalculable. Its location elsewhere would be disastrous for the whole area.

And further: "Clearly, such a restriction is beyond the jurisdiction of the Commission and does not fall within the purpose or intent of the Rural Telephone Act."

"Such a restriction would compel plaintiff to sit idly by and watch its telephone plant depreciate to the point where it would be valueless and completely unable to render service for which it is constructed. This results in confiscation of the plaintiff's property, as well as gradual though ultimately complete, deterioration of service to plaintiff's subscribers," the ruling stated.

Instead of taking the case back to the PSC for a new ruling, both the Co-op and the PSC asked the Court of Appeals to reverse Judge Rider's decision. To date the court has not acted.

In order to get a ruling, the Jaycees are asking all residents to write the Court and ask that a ruling one-way be handed down. The group believes nothing can be done at all by Mr. Dees or the Co-op until the court rules. As stated, the Jaycees do not ask residents to comment on telephone service in any way, only to ask the court to rule on the case of The Mt. Vernon Telephone Co.

Leight, Assistant Professor of Medicine at the University of Louisville Medical School, will be guest consultants at the clinic.

Any medically indigent person is eligible for an examination if referred by a physician in any of the eight counties, Mrs. Crittendon said.

One of the important purposes of the clinic is to acquaint the physician in private practice with the latest heart disease care and treatment methods. Mrs. Crittendon added, and it is hoped many of the referring physicians will be able to accompany their patients to the clinic. The clinic provides a diagnostic service for the patients along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case, Mrs. Crittendon stated.

LET'S KEEP HOME TOWN MONEY AT HOME THIS CHRISTMAS!

Christmas is the season for giving, but let's not "give away" our own home community through short-sighted shopping. Remember, the dollars we spend in our community stay here to support it — to pay taxes, build schools, pave and light streets, and in a hundred ways make our home town a better place to live. Let's give our home town a break this Christmas! Let's do our shopping in our own home town!
