If you think it looks new... wait till you drive it!

...For there's where Ford's newness really pays off
 ...in melting mountains... in smoothing the bumps
 ...in straightening the curves

You can see that Ford's longer, lower Sculptured Look makes other cars look downright old-fashioned. But the part you can't see—the new "Inner Ford"—is what shows its stuff when you drive a Ford. It's revolutionary from the wheels up! And it feels it.

Ford's wider frame lets you sit sweet and low. And Ford's new front suspension, rear springs and new easy-handling are part of the scheme to make you think every road is cloud-smooth.

The magic touch of the new Ford power plants makes mountains disappear. What looks like uphill feels like downhill. You get this surging power in a wide choice of Silver Anniversary V-8 engines. Or choose Ford's Mileage Maker Six, the most powerful Six in the low-price field.

There's magic in Ford's price tag, too! You won't believe this big new Ford is still priced Ford-low. But it is. Come in and test its magic. It's a real "Wizard of Ah-h-h-h!"

Linville New Democratic County Boss

Howard Linville, Rockcastle County farmer, replaced Clell Pike of Livingston as Rockcastle County Democratic Chairman at a committee election Saturday at Thomas Restaurant at Mt. Vernon.

Linville for many years has been associated with Democratic politics in Rockcastle and is a supporter of Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Linville won the chairmanship after a ballot battle with Ellis Marshall of Livingston. Marshall received 39 votes, Linville 27. Marshall, also a Chandler supporter, had the support of Pike in his bid for the chairmanship.

In other voting, H. Hamm, Sinclair gasoline distributor, was elected secretary of the committee. Mrs. V. Scott, who also ran for secretary, did not receive a vote.

The choice of a new chairman came during an orderly meeting. The handwriting was on the wall apparently the preceding week when Linville rallied enough support in the precinct committeemen races to practically assure victory Saturday.

Pike's resignation as Democratic chairman, ends a 16-year career as Democratic boss in the county. During his 16 years he served as a member of the county State Highway Department head.

Killed in the accident was Eland Gillespie of Knoxville, Tenn.

Renfro Folk, Jaycees Wrapping Gifts For Annual Santa Party

Billy Farmer Gets Award

Billy Farmer, Lexington jeweler, and former resident of Mt. Vernon, has been chosen "outstanding watchmaker in Kentucky" by the Kentucky Watchmakers Association.

Mr. Farmer, who is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mullins, graduated from Mt. Vernon High School as an honor student and attended watchmakers school at Louisville before going into business at Lexington six years ago.

In making the award, the Association recognized Mr. Farmer for "service to the community through church and civic work; service to his profession; group and a demonstration of consistently good professional ethics."

Mr. Farmer's work in his community has mostly been through the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a state director for the Lexington club.

TOWER SITE AT RENFRO VALLEY MAY BE MOVED

Renfro Valley's prospective radio station, WRVK, hit a technical snag this week that may delay operations for an indefinite period, according to Tim Hargis, general manager.

Radio officials want the site moved, through advice from engineers, from near the barn to a field across Renfro Creek.

In order to move the tower located at Renfro and work will begin as soon as permission has been received.

Work went ahead this week on offices for the new station, which will operate during daylight hours. The offices are located in the Museum Building along with the station studios.

Mr. Hargis would not speculate on when the station would go on the air.

Renfro Valley entertainers, employees and volunteers this week began sorting and wrapping gifts for the annual Renfro Valley Underprivileged Children's Christmas Party.

The party is sponsored by Renfro Valley Enterprises Inc., with the help of the Rockcastle County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Gifts are flowing in to Renfro Valley in a steady stream and John Lair reports around 600 have been sent. He expects the number to reach 800 by the time for the party following the 7:30 a. m. broadcast Dec. 23.

As usual, the Jaycees will help to handle the crowd and furnish transportation to and from the party. In 1954 the Jaycees brought over 450 children to the party. In 1955 they brought over 550 to the party, and this year they plan to bring over 600.

The Jaycees will have the use of five Rockcastle County school buses and about 50 cars to bring the children to the party. As in the past, the Rockcastle County Board of Education, by the cooperation of Mrs. Neureul Miracle, superintendent, and John L. Saylor, assistant officer, will donate the use of two buses. Charlie Russell will provide one bus and driver, and Wayne VanHook will provide one bus and driver.

The drivers for the county buses will be Virgil Mullins and Delbert Fordyce. The drivers for "service to the community through church and civic work; service to his profession; group and a demonstration of consistently good professional ethics."

At the regular meeting of the Jaycees held Monday night, Jaycee President Dr. Jack Henderson appointed Floyd Owens, chairman of the Christmas Project. Owens in turn appointed the same bus captains this year to work the same runs. They are John P. Allen, who will take care of the Brindle Ridge-Brodhead section; Charles M. Baker, the Level-Green section; Gordon Graham and Lonnie Durham will pick up those in the Livingston area. Shannon Franklin will have the Climax-Orlando section, and Dr. Henderson the Wildie-Scarf Joe section.

Owens also appointed the following committees: Earl Watkins and Warren Ferguson identification committee; they will arrange for small ribbons to be pinned on each child, different colors to signify the section of county the children are from; Joe Henderson, chairman, wrapping committee; Shannon Franklin and Ed Hunt selection committee; Jack and Dave Henderson, Cledis Baker, program committee; Charles Baker and Rudolph Burdette, invitation committee; John Cox, Wayne Stewart, clothing and shoes committee; R. H. Hamm will play Santa Claus again this year.

by Alfred Sparks Jr.

"THE KISS OF THE SUN FOR PARDON, THE SONG OF THE BIRDS FOR MIRTH... ONE NEARER GOD'S HEART IN A GARDEN THAN ANYWHERE ELSE ON EARTH..."

This gracious thought points out the quiet magnificence of growing things reaching out to the sun and bursting into maturity.

There is little in the world that can surpass the peaceful contentment which a garden inspires. A garden is a show case for the gentle magic of nature's bountiful resources; it is a place for purposeful creative efforts; a haven for quiet reverie.

A garden, in a deep sense, is usually more than a splash of man-made color, designed for the strict utility of decoration. We like to think of it as man's recognition of the clean wholesome goodness which springs so abundantly from a great mysterious power which is always nearer to us than we imagine.

NOTE: We were all amazed

Tuesday night at the performance our basketball team gave to the Somerset Briar Jumpers by defeating them five points. Coach Laswell tells me the boys are raring and ready to show their stuff against Brodhead this Friday night there. Let's all go out and cheer good and loud for our team. It helps.

Homemakers' December Meeting

The Homemakers' meeting for December is free from work and study. It is at this meeting the homemakers enjoy a lovely Christmas program and an exchange of gifts along with the usual exchange of fellowship. The Christmas program is compiled by one of our own homemakers, Mrs. S. T. A. P. L. E. y Powell of the United Neighbors Homemakers Club. Mrs. Powell has compiled the Christmas program for twelve years. It is thought by many that Mrs. Powell enjoys working on the program as much as the homemakers enjoy having it each year.

The program and story that goes along with it is written so they may be used in the home at Christmas with children taking part. Each homemaker gets a copy of the program and story.

Copper Jewelry Exhibit
An exhibit of enameled copper jewelry, made by homemakers, was exhibited in the window at McAfee Pharmacy from Thursday, Nov. 29 to Monday, Dec. 3.

Enameling copper was the handicraft studied by the homemakers in July. Many homemakers are continuing to make enameled copper jewelry for gifts, for sale and for personal use.

Mrs. John Carroll, County Publicity Chairman, planned and arranged the exhibit.

Advertise in the Signal. It pays big dividends.

The Signal Says...

BASKETBALL IN A BACK SEAT

Various people have asked us why we have been so sparing on space this year as far as basketball is concerned. . . that the county teams deserve, whether they win or lose, space in the columns of the county newspaper.

We are totally in agreement, and we readily admit that write-ups this year have been few and far between as compared to last year.

There's a reason for lack of news on basketball this year. Last year we had Lyle Underwood, who on his own time, went to the various schools while someone else attended the Mt. Vernon games. Mr. Underwood is no longer with us; therefore, we found it difficult to arrange for one person to be at three schools in the same evening.

We felt that unless we could cover all the games for the three schools, we'd rather not cover one school and ignore the others. So we decided to use only the scores.

We notified the schools early in the year that we would be unable to attend ball games, and if they had someone who could write-up the games, we'd be glad to use the information, but we wanted to talk with the person before he began, and we wanted to be sure that he would report all the games, and as soon as the games were played.

We got no response, so we took for granted the school's were unable to find a reporter.

So until help is more plentiful, we'll just have to plug along with the scores. We're sorry and we'll try to do better next year.

that "something" necessary in telling a good story. Visitors came in droves and soon depleted Joe's food supply, until one day one of the visitors stayed to eat and Joe served rabbit. During the meal, the visitor remarked on the tastiness of the rabbit and Joe readily gave up his special rabbit recipe.

The visitor made a hurried exit and dinner guests were noticeably fewer from that day on.

But actually, folks liked the Bohemian atmosphere and casualness surrounding Joe—the cheerful "guten morgen!" stopping to milk Henrietta a long the road; the saddle he made for Henrietta. The children especially loved him. They rode Henrietta and Joe happily helped them aboard. Parsons remembers vaguely his ride on the very contented cow.

No one passed Joe's shack that Joe didn't share his roof and food. If it were stonework Joe was a ready helper. Sometimes the neighbors paid him in cash; sometimes in vegetables, sometimes nothing. But the neighbors always said he was smart. Someone said they had heard from someone else that someone said he was once an officer in the German Army. There was also something said about a sword and a uniform.

As we say, Joe died 50 years ago, and Joe never did anything big like win a war or kill a man. Helpfulness, cheerfulness and kindness were his attributes, along with living the way he wanted and doing what he pleased.

His philosophy of life, old timers say, can be summed up in a "1-2 punch" to the world that was then in industrial turmoil, and in the motto in German on the wall of his shack and on the coins of his new-found home: "In God We Trust."

Way of Love

Lesson for December 16, 1956

HERE are many ways of living in this world. There is the way of the fool, who never thinks beyond today and is always surprised to discover that what he sowed came to him and he didn't plant it and he went up there. There is the way of the lazy man who can't be bothered, and who always takes the easiest way out of anything. There is the way of the bitter and suspicious, always downhill. Dr. Foreman among dead trees without leaf or fruit. There are those who are not of this "Christian way." Even those who are not Christians know that the way of Christ is the way of life.

Other Ways of Love

But what is the Christian way of love? There are more ways than one to use the word "love." There are those who call it "charity," which is not the Christian way. For instance, there is something called love, which consists really of fondness for things or people that are lovable. For example, a young woman stands at an altar and promises to take a man for better or worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health. But she does not really hear the vow she makes. And if the man turns out to be poorer or worse than she thought she looks up a divorce lawyer. The Christian love does not demand lovelessness first on the contrary. Christian love can make an unlovely and unloving person lovable. Some love is selfish for one's own benefit. "I love you" can mean no more than "I want you for my own sake." Christian love does not insist on its own way. It does not ask "What can I do for you?"

Blessing the Universe

Another way of love, sometimes mistaken for the Christian way, is no better than sheer slyness sentimentality. Sometimes it consists in a vague feeling that everything is very nice in a very happy world. A minister once preached on the text, "Ye that love the Lord, hate evil." After the sermon a lady told him she didn't like that sermon at all. She had been brought up to believe that love was always right and hate always wrong. Love is always right, yes; but that doesn't mean we can feel free to love what is evil. If we love the good, we shall not love what destroys good. So when I love a "substitute" for Christian love, I take the form of a general feeling of good will toward the world in general. A well-known American wrote shortly before his death, "I bless the universe." Now it is certainly better to bless the universe than to curse it. But blessing the universe seems to require some sort of thing to do. Are you really blessing all of it, all the children and police, stars and atoms and typhoons and germs, criminal and judge, saints and sinners, miracles and murderers? We have to be careful that we don't love the universe in such a way that whatever happens seems exactly right!

The Christian Way

The Christian way of love is not totally different from these other ways; but it is vitally different. It is inspired by God in the first place, and it mirrors his love. It goes beyond the lovable, it is more than an exchange of love. It even goes out to a man's enemies. American history gives us two striking illustrations of the actual power of love, in two men on opposite sides of the American civil war. The two enemies, as they were, are now honored more perhaps than any other two in that bitter conflict: Lincoln and Lee. Each was a man who could do nothing else but stand by his convictions and fight even to give up his life. They were ready to die for their love. Their love was not the child of indifference, selfishness or cowardice. But it was Lincoln who coined the phrase, "charity toward all and malice toward none," and he meant every word of it. It was Lee who later as president of a college refused to let any one in his presence speak evil of his former enemies. It is not the men who are the best haters, but those who show what Christian love is, who have greatest power over the hearts of mankind.

Everybody moved quickly to do all they could. But all of man's power was not any good.

God, the great maker, had called him home. Here on this earth never more will he roam.

By his daily walk and his wonderful light. Made clear to us, his soul was bright.

Today he is with his Lord and King. And the heavenly angels as they sweetly sing.

Many times we've heard him say, "I get so homesick for heaven and that great day."

When I can go on to my home above. Where all is peace, joy, and love. I would like to go landing behind this stand.

Serving my dear Lord the best I can. That great desire to him God did give. Let's stop and think of the life we live.

Where do you want to do, when your dear Saviour comes? Listen to the life story of Bro. Clouse-ing.

As softly to yourself this song you sing. Many years I've traveled. On this weary road.

Watched the fleeting changes. Tried to spare some load. But the work is finished. There are mighty souls.

I've been waiting, Lord to go. Feel a little weary. Many years I've traveled. On this weary road.

Crab Orchard Legion Meets In New Home

Members of the Claude Smith Post 281 of the Crab Orchard American Legion like their new quarters at Crab Orchard, or at least they expressed their pleasure at the first meeting of the Post last week.

Speakers for the occasion were R. B. Thomas, director of the Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board, Elizabethtown; N. J. Anderson, field representative for the Legion and Paul Seyfrid, of Lexington.

It was also reported at the meeting that a Field Director for the Legion will visit the Post Dec. 27 to advise veterans.

REASONS CITED FOR STATE BOOM OF NEW INDUSTRY

Reasonable taxes—an adequate labor supply—a favorable community attitude. These advantages were cited as reasons Kentucky has acquired another million dollar manufacturing plant—to be built at Winchester by the Tubing Bundy Co. of Detroit.

In citing the Commonwealth's attraction for industry, Winchester Chamber of Commerce spokesmen also said Bundy's president had praised the cooperation the company had received from Gov. A. B. Chandler and the Department of Economic Development.

Commissioner George W. Hubble, of the Department of Economic Development, said Bundy's manufacturing establishments have announced plans to locate in the booming Blue Grass region alone. These, he estimated, will employ nearly 5,500 persons and have a total plant investment of 41 million dollars.

Bundy, which produces metal tubular products for automobiles, will build a 100,000-square-foot plant that eventually will employ about 500 persons. This would increase employment in Winchester by about 50 percent, a Chamber official said.

Hubble said a favorable market position has been a primary factor for the upsurge of industrial activity in the Blue Grass. Bundy officials said one reason they chose Kentucky was the State's proximity to the firm's principal markets in Detroit and Louisville.

Hubble pointed out that manufacture of fabricated metals is one of the Commonwealth's fastest growing industries. He said the U. S. Census of Manufactures ranks Kentucky second largest of 11 southeastern states in this field, with a total employment of nearly 12,000.
