Two Kinds Of Worms Attack Tobacco Crop: Hornworms and budworms are attacking tobacco now, says Richard Thurston, Kentucky Experiment Station entomologist, and should be controlled by sprays or dusts. Both pests feed on tobacco foliage, he says, but the budworm usually feeds on the growing tobacco bud and unattended tobacco leaves rather than on the open leaves.

Hornworms: Control with TDE at the rate of one pint of actual material per acre (two quarts of the two-pound per gallon concentrate) or with Endrin at the rate of 0.2 pound per acre (one pint of the 1.6 per gallon concentrate). Spray foliage lightly using five or more gallons of spray per acre when the plants are small. A 10 percent DDE dust or 1.5 percent Endrin dust can be used in place of the sprays. Approximately 10 to 15 pounds of dust will treat an acre of small plants.

Budworms: Either TDE or Endrin can be used at the same rates as for control of hornworms. A 10 percent DDT dust at the rate of 10 to 15 pounds of dust per acre, or one pound of actual DDT per acre (two quarts of the two-pound per gallon concentrate) as a spray is also effective. Do not spray when the temperature is higher than 90 degrees F. because of the danger of burning the tobacco leaves; do not concentrate the spray or dust in the bud but treat the plant lightly. Thurston says.

State Urges Caution In Insecticide Use: Use caution in applying chemicals to agricultural crops, the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service warns. Federal regulations regulate the amount of pesticide residue permitted on raw agricultural products entering interstate shipments. The products include fruits, vegetables and any other crops intended for human consumption; forage crops are included, too, as pesticide residue from treated forage can be deposited in meat and milk of animals. Check with county agents on proper materials to use, dosages, safety limits, etc.

Mist Spray Cools Hogs: Keeps Them In Condition: A fine mist spray, using small amounts of water per pig, is a good way of keeping swine comfortable during hot weather, says Grady Sellars, UK Extension swine specialist. Hogs have difficulty breathing when outside temperatures climb; on hot days they refrain from eating except in morning or after sundown. When they are uncomfortable, they do not gain well or stay thrifty. Install a sprinkler shower where swine can drink or shower at will. A fine-point nozzle using as little as two and a half gallons of water an hour will give a fine mist, enough for a pig six to 10 hogs for one day. This sprinkler is especially effective on concrete as the spray cools these floors, but this same type can be used in pastures. A portable sprinkler, moved daily, will prevent mud-holes from developing.

USDA research last summer, using such sprays kept pigs eating regularly and in small quantities throughout the hot days. The sprinkler was turned on when outside temperatures went above 75 degrees.

Limestone Needed For Alfalfa Clover: The necessity for "adequate and proper liming" of fields to insure stands of red clover and alfalfa has been demonstrated on UK Agronomy Experiment Station agronomy test plots at Greenview and Campbellville. E. C. Doll, fertility specialist, said tests were run on a hay mixture of red clover and alfalfa, orchard grass and timothy, and Korean lespedeza. These were grown in a corn-wheat-legume rotation, the grasses being planted on wheat fields in the fall and the legumes in the spring. Stands of alfalfa and red clover were not obtained unless the land was limed in accordance with soil tests, he said. The lespedeza stands were not so adversely affected.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK: Pinapple-Mint Stuffing: 1 3-pound boned lamb breast, 1/2 t salt, 1/4 t pepper, 1 t shortening, 1 t finely chopped onion, 3 t soft bread crumbs, 1/4 t salt, Dash of pepper. 1 no. 3 can crushed pineapple, drained. 1 t chopped mint.

Put Up Variety Of Foods In UK Recommendation

Putting up snap or green beans is the order of the day with many housewives, but even though the crop is abundant, don't use all your canning or freezing space for them.

"Too frequent serving of any food is the best way to create a distaste for it, say Extension food specialists at the University of Kentucky. Instead, can or freeze several kinds of vegetables or fruits in recommended amounts, and all will be enjoyed throughout the winter.

An easy way to determine the amounts of the different vegetables to can or freeze is to multiply these recommended amounts for one person by the number of individuals in your family: green beans, 6 quarts; peas, 5 pints; greens, 6 quarts; tomatoes, 20 quarts; soup mixture, 6 quarts; corn or butter-beans, 7 pints; sauer kraut, 2 quarts; carrots or beets, 7 qts.

A total of 42 quarts of fruits are recommended per person, including berries, cherries, grapes, plums, rhubarb, peaches, and pears. In addition, 5 quarts of apples should be put up.

How To Avoid Spray Injury To Tobacco

Numerous samples of tobacco plants injured by applications of insecticides have been received by the Experiment Station during the past few years. The following four precautions will eliminate most of the causes of this injury.

1. Do not concentrate the spray in the bud.

The growing tobacco bud is much more sensitive than the older leaves and is easily burned by heavy applications of insecticides. Heavy treatment with the modern insecticides is not necessary. The spray nozzle should be passed rapidly over the plants at a distance of 15 to 18 inches from the foliage.

2. Do not use improper or worn-out nozzles.

When an emulsion concentrate spray is used, a spray nozzle especially made for this type of spray should be used. Do not spray emulsion concentrates with a wettable powder nozzle. Worn-out or defective nozzle should be replaced.

3. Do not treat when the temperature is over 90.

Insecticides, especially emulsion concentrate sprays, are much more likely to burn plant foliage when the temperature is 90 or higher. If tobacco has been sprayed during hot weather, spray during the late afternoon or evening.

4. Do not spray tobacco with equipment that has been used for 2-4 D.

Tobacco is very sensitive to 2-4 D, an spray equipment, including measuring caps, funnels and other equipment that has been used for 2-4 D is likely to cause 2-4 D injury to tobacco.

How many Hogs in a Ton of Grain?

On a straight corn ration, you can't expect to get much more than 1 1/2 hogs out of a ton of grain. Corn alone simply does not have the balanced protein, vitamins and minerals needed for fast, economical gains. But when you supplement with Southern States 40% Porkmaker, you can easily get three hogs per ton of grain... and you save about two months growing time!

Here's how the two feeding programs compare:

The Signal Says--

NOT ALL PRICES ARE GOING UP

We are heartened immensely by a notice in the daily newspapers that not all items of "everyday living" are going up, up, up in price. We are told one item is coming down.

Milady, it seems can rejoice in the fact that this fall she will be able to purchase a new mink coat for somewhat less than last year. We understand one store will sell a mink coat for ONLY $2,857 as compared to last year's $2,860. This particular price, it seems, is the tag on a cheaper variety of coat since some go up to a "mere" $5,000.

As we say, we are indeed heartened by the turn of prices. The $3 saved was something, we hardly expected. Perhaps the decrease in the price of mink coats will begin a trend that will eventually be reflected in such "unimportant" items as bacon, bread and beans.

ANOTHER ALL-DAY SING

We are glad to see that for another year Renfro Valley is to be the scene of another all-day sing on Aug. 4.

The singing, which last Saturday night and all day Sunday, brings to the county as many visitors as any other event of the year. The reason is simple. Folk still like to hear gospel singing—good or bad—and love to participate in events of this kind. To top it off, the visitors have a lot of real fun.

We welcome the visitors and hope their stay will be pleasant and relaxing.

PROCLAMATION

By The Judge
Of Rockcastle County, Kentucky

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

WHEREAS, the conservation of our soil and water resources is essential to the public health, safety and welfare of our present generation as well as generations yet unborn; and,

WHEREAS, the rich topsoil of Rockcastle County is still being permitted to wash away faster than it is being saved despite the fact that never before has the safeguarding of soil and water been so vital; and,

WHEREAS, this damage is not confined to individual farms but contributes to floods, highway damage, silting of reservoirs, forest deterioration and public health; and,

WHEREAS, this enormous loss can be stopped by the establishment of complete soil and water conservation programs recommended by soil conservation districts; and,

WHEREAS, Harry Lee Waterfield, Acting Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, on July 21 - July 28 inclusive as state-wide Soil Conservation District Week,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Walter Sowder, Judge of Rockcastle County Court, do call upon all citizens of Rockcastle County to observe the period of July 21 - July 28 inclusive as and request all persons and organizations concerned with the land to unite with the local soil conservation district supervisors in an effort during the period to stimulate among the County's population a full realization of the desperate need for conserving our soil and water resources. I especially urge our soil conservation district supervisors to increase their activities during this period to reach the greatest number of citizens in our county.

Done at Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, this 23 day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty seven.
Walter Sowder, Judge of Rockcastle County.

Veterans Advised On Government Loans

A veteran who sells his home purchased by "G. I. loan" to take a better job in another city may be entitled to new loan eligibility. Director of Veterans Affairs, Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Service Men's Board advises.

Thomas said a "better job" according to the Veterans Administration, usually means one that will increase the veteran's income or give him greater opportunity for advancement. The director added:

Restoration of eligibility formerly was made only if the job change was involuntary or beyond the veteran's control. The new ruling also applies to veterans moving to a different city following retirement.

No loan entitlement can be restored unless the V. A. is relieved of liability on the old loan. This generally is accomplished by payment of the loan in full either by the veteran or the new purchaser.

Other circumstances under which a veteran may be entitled to new loan entitlement occur when the property was taken by a governmental agency for public use, destroyed by natural hazard, or disposed of for reasons of health or reasons beyond control of the veteran. Representatives of the board will assist veterans in applying for restoration of GI loan eligibility.

Topping Tips Given For Burley Tobacco

Proper topping and suckering burley tobacco will reduce nicotine content of the crop considerably, says C. E. Bortner, Kentucky Experiment Station fertility specialist.

"Best practices for handling burley for better quality and a lower nicotine content are: Topping the crop when three-fourths of the plants are in bloom; topping two leaves higher than normal; allowing the top two suckers to grow; priming the lower four or five leaves to keep them from being left in the field; and allowing the tobacco to remain in the field until it is mature."

These practices stem from research Bortner said, showing that:

- (1) Waiting until the field is well bloomed; or before topping reduces nicotine content under what it would be if plants were topped "in bud";
- (2) If the plant is topped two leaves higher than usual and the season is favorable, the grower may get an additional two "good" leaves; if season is unfavorable and the top two leaves are not good, they can be removed at cutting time.

(with the two top suckers) sidered a pioneer in the development of a parole program. In 1856 Kentucky reorganized its parole laws, the publication said. It added: "The first probation law was passed in the State of Massachusetts in 1876 because some persons in the justice program saw that there were many people convicted of crimes who did not belong in prison. It had been noted that confinement to an institution made it difficult to offenders to adjust to society and conform to its laws."

In determining the success of both programs a pamphlet says, "80 to 85 percent of persons placed on parole are successful. Of those released by expiration of sentence, 75 percent return to prison with new sentences. Eighty-five to 90 percent of those placed on probation make proper adjustment and are released from supervision without being confined to an institution."

The pamphlet concludes: "The cost of maintaining one person on probation for a year is approximately $200 and the cost of keeping one person in a penal institution for the same period is $1,200.00."

Probation, Parole Explained By State

Probation and parole are different methods of treating law violators which are often confused. Pamphlets on both, recently compiled by the Kentucky Department of Welfare, explain each thoroughly.

According to a pamphlet, "Probation is an enlightened attempt to treat certain types of people convicted of criminal offenses. The essential of probation is the conditional release under supervision without confinement in an institution."

Parole is described as "a conditional release after a period of imprisonment under the supervision of a parole officer. Parole differs from probation in that it is the administrative act of an executive or an executive agency. Probation is the judicial act of a court."

Parole was in use as a method of returning offenders to society under supervision as early as 1840. The modern parole system is a development of the last five decades, according to the pamphlet. "Kentucky developed its first state-wide parole system in the 1930's and in 1937 was considered a pioneer in the development of a parole program. In 1856 Kentucky reorganized its parole laws, the publication said. It added:

Magnesium No Help In Tobacco Tests

Application of magnesium to burley tobacco plots at Campbellsville in Taylor county did not affect yield or quality of the tobacco, says E. C. Doll, UK Agricultural Experiment Station fertility specialist.

Doll said the experiments were run on test plots in Taylor county, after soil tests showed the ground was lower than other state areas in available magnesium.

Idols Old And New

Lesson for July 28, 1957

IF ANY of the readers of this paper had seen the pillar of Baal that the hero Gideon pulled down, they might not have noticed it at all. It may have been nothing more than an impressive but a poor pole of some kind, with or without some other image close beside it. Gideon was not so much a hero for destroying it; a hero, because there were many people in the place who thought that it was something to be reckoned with. Dr. Foreman says that the pillar was nothing short of sacrilege. For to them it was sacred, the most sacred thing in the village. When Gideon tore it down, he actually risked his life at the hands of his fanatical neighbors.

Idols Overseas
It is hardly any kind of thing, no matter how ugly, ridiculous or disgusting, that has not become an object of worship somewhere. Some time ago American Christian travelers to India are generally shocked by the "gods" of Hindu temples. Aside from the unimpressive, there are several things like Ganesh, a fat little god with an elephant's head; or little stone bulls on whose heads garlands of yellow flowers will be laid as a tribute. Elsewhere there are great fat Buddhas, plated with gold or carved out of stone, sitting out beside a mountain road, before whom offerings are placed, of money, food, or drink. There are mountains and lakes and waterfalls and trees, local sights for the tourist, which are regarded with superstitious awe. For an hour goes by on this planet ours without some sort of honor-prayer, gifts, sacrifice—being offered to things which "having eyes see not, having ears hear not"—sometimes in vain, in vain, sometimes in beastlike, sometimes very hard to classify!

Idols in America
Why do people do such silly things? Perhaps it is for the same reason that Americans worship their idols. Yes, we do have idols in our enlightened age, though they are seldom called by that name. Whatever a man hangs his heart on and depends on, as Luther said—that is his god. And if what we hang our heart on and depend on is the true God, then worshipping him and serving him is true religion. But if what we hang our heart on and depend on is not the true God, then whatever we worship is an idol, and worshipping it and serving it is not only nonsense, it is sin. Here in America the name of one idol is The Public. Politicians fall down and worship this idol; so do actors and advertisers. Keep the Public happy and careless for once, and you are in favor, you are lost. Another idol is called The Majority. If most people do a thing (or don't do it, as the case may be), then it is the Last Word. Some people would no more think of going against the majority view than they would think of going against God. Indeed for such people the Majority, to all intents and purposes, might as well be God. For they don't listen to God with half the eagerness with which they always want to know what "everybody" does or thinks, before they will decide for themselves.

Only the Brave Break Idols
It took courage, moral and physical, for Gideon to, destroy the idol of Baal. It always takes courage to tear down idols. It takes even greater courage to destroy idols oneself has made and worshipped. People who do not follow popular idols are regarded as little quaver, if not more than a little quaver. Idol-breakers, people who "buck" popular opinions and prejudices, not only have to get over their fear of what people will think, they have to get over their fear of the idol itself. Whether it is the primitive African, afraid of the volcano he worships, or the ordinary American, afraid of a worshipper of money or popularity, it takes courage to break, or to break with, an idol of any kind. But once the break is made, once a man's trust is placed in the true God alone, he can smile at the idol whose crashing always used to be so terrifying.
