Chandler To Address Kentucky Food Conference

Governor A. B. Chandler will be one of the principal speakers for the First Kentucky Food Conference, scheduled for Louisville, June 17, according to Dale Scott, chairman of the Planning Committee for the conference.

A follow-up to the National Food Conference, which was held last February in Washington, D. C., the Kentucky conference is designed to arouse public opinion on the serious need for improved diets in the state.

The conference idea was initiated by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, but is sponsored cooperatively by some 20 agencies and groups directly or indirectly connected with the food industry in Kentucky.

Other prominent speakers for the one-day conference will include Lt. Colonel Jules J. McNerney, chief of medical service, Ft. Knox, who will speak on the subject, "Dietary Habits And Their Effect On National Security." David H. Crookes, Cincinnati, director of public relations for the Kroger Company will address the conference on "Eating Habits And How They Are Changing," and Martin D. Garber, director of the Food Distribution Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will speak on the subject "The Family Meal." The conference is scheduled for 9 a. m., (CST) in the Kentucky Hotel.

County "Food Comes First Committees" are being organized throughout Kentucky to plan a state-wide Better Breakfast Day, which has been set for Saturday, July 19. This will be the No. 2 project in the improved diet campaign for this year.

Control For Wasps and Ants

Wasps and ants are two of the most pestiferous insects with which homeowners—farm or city—must contend in summer.

But they can be controlled, and here's how: WASPS: Use Chlordane or DDT insecticides, either as sprays or dusts. Hit the nests at night, when wasps are much quieter and less apt to seek out a human intruder. Two or three quick shots of the above materials will generally get rid of wasps and their cousins—hornets, yellow-jackets, etc.

If you have a wasp inside the house, use a fly-swatter. Better still, use one of the household "insect bombs." Most of these commercial sprays contain a substance that has "quick knockdown" properties. ANTS: Locate the nest if you possibly can, to wipe out the entire colony. Chlordane is recommended as an effective insecticide, applied as a spray, dust or in granular form.

If you cannot locate the nest, find their principal entry route and apply the insecticides there. It also is helpful to apply the materials where ants might be, or on routes they might use; these include cracks in walls, flooring, water pipes, posts, supports, pillars, etc.

In any event—fighting wasps or ants—remember several things: One is that wasps in farm fields are not pests, because they are killers of many other insect pests; wasps active are only a nuisance when they get around homes; second is to always follow label directions of the insecticide you buy; and a third, you must keep after these pests to really get rid of them.

Treatment Time Here For Lawn Crabgrass

Crabgrass plants in Kentucky lawns now are young and tender—and at the best stage of growth for quick-killing, says the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service.

Here's how to do it: Buy crabgrass killers (commercial preparations) which contain either potassium cyanate or disodium methyl arsenate. Follow label directions carefully, both for safety's sake and for best results.

James Herron, botanist, says these two materials will injure tops of bluegrass but will not kill the grass.

When mowing grass this summer, set mower cutter to give a cut at least 1 1/2 inches high. A two to three-inch cut actually is preferred, Herron says. Crabgrass won't live in shaded areas and higher lawn grasses will kill it out by shading.

A good fertilization program—fall and spring—plus seeding of lawns in September helps control crabgrass.

Extension Leaflet 172, "Care of the Lawn," is available at your county agent's office.

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY

THREE ARE HONORED—Principal Charles B. Parsons presented the honors to three Livingston High School seniors at the school's commencement exercises May 23. Linville Will Not Resign; Board Silent About Merger

City School Supt. Clyde Linville has announced that he will not resign his position as he previously had intended.

Linville made the statement that he would resign at the recent mass meeting to discuss a possible merger of the city and county school systems.

At a meeting of the city school board last Thursday, Linville did not resign and said he did not intend to before next year. His present contract is in effect for two more years.

The board took no action on the controversial city-county school merger. It was not discussed at the meeting.

No action was taken, either on a petition of several residents on Highway 150 to be removed from the city school district and placed in the Broadhead district. The petition asked that the residents, who live some two miles out of town, be furnished transportation to Mt. Vernon School or be removed from the district.

Districts Set For Testing Of Brucellosis

The local brucellosis committee this week divided the county into 50 districts for the purpose of setting up a testing program for the cattle disease.

Key men were chosen to represent each of these districts and are being asked to attend a meeting at 7:30 p. m., Thursday, June 12, at the Mt. Vernon High School Agricultural Building to discuss ways of carrying out the program.

H. Lee Durham, Rockcastle County agent, said several veterinarians are cooperating in the program, which is designed to bring about the certification of the county as being brucellosis-free.

MRS. LUCY NICELEY DIES SATURDAY

Mrs. Lucy Mae Niceley, 80, widow of Thomas J. Niceley, died at her home in Mt. Vernon, Saturday, after an illness of two years. She was a native of Rockcastle County and lived here all her life.

Mrs. Niceley was the wife of the late T. J. Niceley. During the terms Mr. Niceley was County Court Clerk, Mrs. Niceley took an active part in his political affairs.

She was also active in Church work and was one of the founders of the Hillview Holiness Church at Mt. Vernon, where she was a member at the time of her death.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Cox, London; Mrs. Dessie Donovan, Mt. Sterling; and Mrs. Nell Wanda Travis, Mt. Vernon; three sons, Russell and Lewis Niceley, Mt. Funeral services were conducted Monday, at the Sparks Chapel by Bro. Tinsley Rector. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery. Sparks Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

ATOMIC EXHIBIT
Some 400 persons were estimated to have gone through the Atomic Energy Commission's trailer-exhibit that was parked near the Mt. Vernon postoffice Wednesday.

The exhibit was sponsored locally by the University of Kentucky and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Beef supplies likely will be higher in the next several months, poultry meat supplies probably will be up 10 to 20 percent, and consumer demand for pork probably will be about the same as for 1957.

Next fall's hog prices may not drop much below those of 1957 if USDA estimates on spring farrowing are fairly accurate, the economists say; the spring farrowing survey of March 1, 1958 indicated only one per cent more than for 1957. This figure may be low, the economists say, due to the substantial period of favorable hog prices recently experienced, and farmers may have taken extra care in saving pigs this spring.

Winter and spring hog prices in 1958 are quite likely to be lower than in 1958, and chances are that feed costs will be higher. Fall farrowings of 1958 are likely to be 10 per cent higher, and the corn-hog ration—at present favorable—may contribute to higher farrowing figures in the fall.

Larger supplies of beef are seen for winter and spring of 1959. Feeding and marketing in 1958 has been unusually deep, and a more normal pattern is likely in 1959, the letter says. Grain production also is likely to be down in 1958 from the record 1947 production, and after-harvest prices of grain—especially corn—could be higher later this year.

Fiscal Court Approves New Order To Meet Three Times Each Month

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court Tuesday approved a motion to meet three times a month beginning July 1, instead of once as is now the practice.

The move appeared to be an attempt to counteract the effect of the possible nullification by the Court of Appeals of the law providing salaries for magistrates.

Two Surveys Of County Expected Soon

An official survey of Rockcastle County as a prospective site for new industrial organizations is expected to get underway soon, according to an announcement this week by R. H. Hamm, president of the local development corporation.

Hamm and Jack Henderson, vice president of the development group, were recently in Lexington where they talked to representatives of Kentucky Utilities about such a survey.

The State Department of Economic Development at Frankfort also expected to start work on a survey soon. Both the department and KU will prepare brochures to show to representatives of the county as a location for future development.

The brochures will be sent to those interested in locating here and will contain information concerning water supply, population, labor supply, and similar aspects of the area.

Father Of Seven Commits Suicide

Armpie Lakes, about 65, who lived on Mt. Vernon Route 1 in Jackson County, shot and killed himself last Thursday morning, according to Jackson County Coroner Jess A. Baker.

Lakes, who lived near the Red Hill section of the county, was married and the father of seven children. He was reported to have been in ill health for some time. He used a shotgun in the suicide.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Pine Grove Church by the Rev. Bill Rose, Berea. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Officers Installed At Joint Club Meet

New officers for the Mt. Vernon Women's Club and the Meridian Woman's Club were installed at a joint meeting at the First Christian Church, May 27.

Mrs. Pleaz Mobley, ninth district governor of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, installed the new officers, and spoke on the work of the Federation.

Mt. Vernon Woman's Club officers installed were, Mrs. Sam Jones, president; Mrs. John L. Fain, first vice president; Mrs. Henry Cox, second vice president; Mrs. William Landrum, recording secretary; Mrs. Betty Hiatt, corresponding secretary.

Strawberry Harvesting On; Local Production Declines

Rockcastle County strawberry harvesters are in the midst of harvesting their crops, but little of no outside money is being drawn into the area from the county agent H. Lee Durham said this week, so far as he could determine, very few growers were marketing their berries outside of the county.

There is a market at Somerset and a market and processing plant in London.

He said farmers last year who sold their berries at these markets were so "disappointed" in the price they received that they only are fewer berries finding their way to these markets, but fewer are being grown here.

The total number of acres of strawberry planted in the county dropped from some 65 acres two years ago to about weeks.

The graduating class of 38 members heard the Rev. Curtis Morelock of Loyall, discuss three desires which he said were common to all mankind. They are: (1) The desire to be somebody, (2) the desire to be loved, and (3) the desire for security.

A Morelock discussed the desire to be somebody, he referred to the high school band leader, Jack L. Adams, saying, "He is somebody if anyone is."

PUBLIC SAFETY FORM 250R

NEW LICENSING METHOD—Kentucky drivers will complete this application form to obtain new licenses this year under the recently adopted driver's license issuance plan. Motorists whose last name begins with the letters A through R are required to obtain two-year licenses this year between June 15 and July 31. License application is made at the Circuit Clerk's office of the county in which you reside. Autocrats are then given temporary licenses by the clerk and their permanent license is mailed to them from the Department of Public Safety in Frankfort.

New Drivers' Licenses To Be Issued Next Week

Under a new system of issuing drivers licenses beginning June 15, the State hopes to reduce traffic accidents and deaths.

During June 15-July 31, drivers with last-name initials of "A" through "R" are required to renew their licenses.

Under the new system, adopted by the 1958 legislature, a driver's eligibility to operate a motor vehicle is determined by the Department of Public Safety before it issues him a permanent license.

The old system does not provide an infallible check of eligibility. Licenses are issued by circuit clerks upon satisfactory completion of driver's tests or presentation of old licenses and the $2 fee. Duplicate licenses may be obtained from the clerks if old licenses are lost.

Here's the new procedure of central issuance, according to Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill says. He adds that the license will be photographed on a special paper and a different code number assigned to each driver.

The application on file at Frankfort and the photograph-licensing now fit in with the state's point system, under which licenses are suspended or revoked upon accumulation of points given for violations, driver applies falsely for the license, the suspension period will be doubled. The correct name and address of each driver will be on file at Frankfort and increase highway safety also on a license, since he can receive a license only through To prevent counterfeiting, mail.

Laws Needed For Water Safety

Over a period of two days four persons were drowned in Fayette County. In other sections of Kentucky the story is along the same lines. More persons are using the waters for pleasure than before and it is axiomatic that more drownings will occur. These drownings again point up the vital need for regulations and laws covering the boating public.

Like Topsy, boating grew up almost over night. Time was when laws and rules and regulations would have been superfluous, the same as a 60-mile an hour speed limit would have been ridiculous in the Gay Nineties. But boating has grown up and laws governing the action of man and boat on the waters of Kentucky have become a must.

Boating organizations and our lawmakers are interested in these laws. Proposals have been made and laws offered for this purpose. But it will take time for such laws to be enacted and implemented. And so, until such a time as they are enacted, the boater, himself, must make his own law, the best of which is common sense on the waters.

Perhaps, after the laws are enacted, drownings will occur. We will have the chronic law violator, the fellow who will say that boating regulations were made for the other man, not for him.

It is deplorable that so many persons drown in Kentucky each year. These are really no cause for it. It often has been said that there is no such thing as an accident occurring—that an individual makes them occur. So, for a happy day on the water, act sanely, use common sense and respect the rights of others. Until laws are passed, this warning will have to do.

One-Shot Fruit Spray Useful To Orchards

A "one-shot" fruit tree spray is recommended for homeowners who want to protect their yard fruit trees at this time of year.

There are several commercial preparations available which will protect against a number of fruit-tree insects and diseases, says W. W. Magill, Kentucky Extension Service horticulturist.

The mixture, called general purpose sprays, or "package" sprays, are combinations of fungicides and insecticides which can be used on most fruits. Many homeowners, for instance, will have in their backyards cherry, peach, apple or plum trees, grape vines, etc.

The package type will control, for instance, apple and peach scab; the codling moth; peach and plum curculio insect; certain peach rots; black rot in grapes, and others. These pests and diseases are considered more important now than the insects, etc., against which dormant or winter sprays are used. It is probably too late now, incidentally, to use dormant or winter sprays, Magill says.

Package-sprays will vary somewhat between manufacturers, Magill says, as far as mixing directions are concerned and dilution rates. For that reason, follow label directions carefully.

The "one-shot" preparations may be slightly more expensive, he says, but their utility makes the nominal extra cost worthwhile.

Balanced Fertilization

Balanced fertilization is needed to produce satisfactory yields on a three-year-corn-wheat-red clover rotation, the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station agronomy department says.

E. C. Doll, fertility specialist, recently completed tests on such a rotation at Campbellville. Here's what he found:

Plots that were limed only produced 11 bushels of corn, seven-tenths bushel of wheat (per acre); and four tenths of a ton of hay per acre.

Plots that got phosphorus only yielded 52 bushels of corn, 18 bushels of wheat; and six tenths of a ton of hay.

Plots that got lime and phosphorus combined produced 20 bushels of wheat; and one ton of hay. (Corn yield dropped off for some not readily apparent reason.)

Plots that got lime, nitrogen, phosphorus and potash produced 46 bushels of corn, 25 bushels of wheat; and 1.7 tons of hay per acre.

One cutting only was made of the red clover due to excessive rain, Doll said; and no fertilizers or lime were applied at all to the plots when red clover was growing.

Doll added 60 pounds per acre of nitrogen for the corn; 30 pounds for the wheat; 90 pounds of phosphorus and 90 pounds of potash on the grain crops.

AS WE BEGIN

For many years newspaper editors have been referring to themselves as "we" in their editorials. It is only through necessity, or what appears to me to be so, that this departure from the editorial "we" is made; Since the matters at hand are of such a personal nature, the use of "I" will perhaps be forgiven.

This week is my first as editor of the Signal. It is also my first job since finishing school this spring.

In beginning my stay here in Mt. Vernon, I have one major purpose in mind: to put out a good newspaper.

My idea of what a good newspaper is, is simple: a paper should, first of all, print the news—fairly, honestly and objectively.

But to fulfill its purpose, a newspaper should do more than just print the news. It should be an active force in its community—striving for the common goals of its readers, giving any help it can to those it serves, speaking for those who, for one or another reason, cannot speak for themselves.

The newspaper that does all these things is a good one. I honestly hope I can help the Mt. Vernon Signal earn the title "a good newspaper" in every one of its issues.

As I begin my task, I am acutely aware of the many things I do not know about this town, its people and its history. As is true in every society, there are issues and disagreements here. At present, I am only vaguely conscious of a few of these problems.

For me to place the Signal in the position of approving or disapproving of either side of any of these controversial issues at this time—when I know little or nothing about them—would be unwise if not utterly foolish.

Until such time as I feel qualified to comment fairly and intelligently upon the common problems of the community, I shall keep my mouth closed on such topics.

Little more need be said about me and my ideas. In the coming weeks, I shall make it my business to meet as many people as possible and, if the ones I have already met are an indication, I am sure that part of my job will be pleasant.

—The Editor

Letter To Editor

Editor, The Signal:
 I want to tell you how much I enjoy the Signal. It is better than a letter from home. It tells all the news. My home was in the Red Hill section. We have two sons down there now.

We were there for the Memorial Day service last Sunday. My folks and I would like to thank Earl Phillips for the way he has taken care of the Red Hill Cemetery. It was the best cared-for that I have even seen it.

Keep the Signal coming my way. Good luck.

McKenzie-Chance Wedding Solemnized Last Sunday

The marriage of Miss Billie Bryant McKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryan McKenzie of Mt. Vernon, and Mr. Charles Allen Chance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cue Chance of London, was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon.
