How Do You Sell Your Timber? Stumpage or Logs?
Many farmer lose money on their trees. They lose money on their trees because they sell them on the stump.

Those who cut their own trees make more money because they get paid for their trees and their labor.

Those who cut their own trees also keep control of their woods. This does away with waste. Doing away with waste means more money in the future.

Before cutting your logs, you should do the following things:

1. Look over your trees. Mark the trees you want to cut. Find out their size and kind. Find out how good they are.
2. Go to the buyer and find what he needs.

Know what you have and what the buyer needs. Then cut your trees. Sawmill men will help you get the most out of your trees.

Knowing Your Log: But each case is different. So, how do you know a good log is it?

1. One way to know your log is by diameter. Diameter is thickness. In most cases, thick logs give more number one lumber.

2. Also, butt logs give more good lumber than upper logs. Butt logs are from the lower part of the tree. They give better lumber because they are thicker.

3. Log length is also important. A good rule is to cut logs as long as you can.

4. But you must cut out rotten parts. Always cut out crooked places. Always cut out cracked places.

5. Some bad places for logs have to be cut out. These are knots, wormholes and bird-pecks.

Kind's of Hardwood Logs:

There are three kinds of hardwood logs. These are: factory logs, tie logs and local-use logs.

1. A factory log is cut into boards. This log must look good. The best looking wood is near the outside.
2. A tie log needs to be large and strong. A tie log does not have to look as good as a factory log.
3. A local-use log has had places. But the local-use log can be used where looks and strength are not important.

Some Other Hints: The hints below may also help you make more money from your trees:

1. Get your logs to market before insects and disease have a chance to work on them.
2. Study up on defects and grading. (Writer: U. S. Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wisconsin. Ask for: Hardwood Log Grades for Standard Lumber and How To Apply Them. This booklet is free. Also send 25c to: Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. Ask for: Log Defects in Southern Woods.)
3. Study each tree by itself. Get the best you can out of it.

District 4-H Camp Approximately 120 4-H members, leaders and agents from Jackson, Rockcastle, Laurel and McCreary Counties spent the week from August 4-8 at camp in Levi Jackson State Park near London.

Those receiving recognition on Friday morning at the awards program include the following: From Rockcastle County: Boyce Medel, Camper award was presented to Norma Ramsey of Wildie 4-H Club; Outstanding Junior Camper award was given to Darrell New of Livingston 4-H Club; Recreation awards were presented to Lewis Coffey and Carol Mosley of the Brodhead 4-H Club.

Practical Data is Gained In Tests To Get Legumes In Old

Grass Sods
Want to get successful establishment of legumes in grass sods on your farm?

Then here are some tips you might follow, developed in experiments by the Kentucky Experiment Station on a Christian county farm:

Graze or clip the old sod closely before renovation; apply needed lime, phosphorus and potash (as shown by soil test) but no nitrogen; disk the pasture sod sufficiently to disturb 40 to 60 per cent of the existing vegetation.

Apply legumes at the proper time (or near) recommended rates for pure stand seedings; keep the grass short by grazing or clipping during the early establishment of the legume seedlings; manage the grass-legume mixture thereafter so as to encourage the legume in the mixture; and control harmful grass-legume insects with proper insecticides.

Three researchers, T. H. Taylor, W. C. Templeton and Nelson McMakin ran the test. In one instance they started on a seven-year-old fescue sod that was almost all grass; they fertilized (except nitrogen) according to tests, disked some of the test plots plowed others and left others undisturbed. Then alfalfa, red clover and ladino and lespedeza were sown so as to be tested.

The tests started in 1955 and it was noted that year that the legume plots produced two to three times as much forage as the non-legume plots. Good rainfall that year later brought on much volunteer clover in the old, non-legume sod which narrowed the yield range between the non-seeded and the seeded plots.

When the researchers checked the yields for the three-year period, they found that those plots that were spring-renovated performed as follows: No tillage, 5,228 pounds of dry matter per acre average annually (50 per cent) legume content; disked plots, 5,995 pounds per acre (62 per cent legume content); and no tillage plots, 5,063 pounds per acre (44 per cent legume content).

Results for the plots renovated in late summer or late fall: No tillage plots, 4,470 pounds per acre (31 per cent legume); disked plots, 6,088 pounds per acre (53 per cent legume).

For both spring and fall renovation times, the disked areas equalled or were superior to the plowed blocks' yields. Asters Anglin, and family and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anglin at Berea.

Fall Fabrics Have Luxury Look
Many fabrics for the fall and winter season will be light in weight and luxurious to look at and to feel. Wool, silk and cotton have an important place in the fall and winter season. Increasing number of man-made fibers.

Wool fabrics are given texture through twisting, curls, and brushed surfaces, or basket.

Blends of wool and silk mohair, rayon or fur give sheen to many of them.

Prints, plaids and stripes, as well as solid colors will be seen in women's wear.

Fabric blends of wool with Orlon or Dacron are light in weight and easy to care for.

Man-made fibers include Zefran and Darvan, either of which will be used in 50-50 combinations with wool. Zefran and wool will be seen for the first time this fall in velour coatings. The blend of wool and Darvan has a cashmere-like hand.

Worsted-like fabrics without wool are seen in both prints and solids, and are made of rayon, rayon-acetate and Acryl-rayon.

Never before has it been so necessary for the consumer to ask for and to read the label that is attached to a bolt of material or to the ready-made garment. There are many hidden qualities in fabrics that cannot be seen or felt and only by reading the labels can the consumer learn what performance can be expected of the fabric, and how it can be cared for.

A FRIENDLY NOTE

"EVERY SWEET HAS ITS SOUR; EVERY EVIL ITS GOOD."

If we were to think of the "sweet" referred to by Emerson a success, power, riches, or any of a thousand sought-after prizes, we can see how every sweet might conceivably have its sour. If in the pursuit of the use of these normally worthy prizes we were to lose all sensible perspective or sacrifice personal integrity, these selfsame sweets would then be very souring indeed.

On the other hand, evils have their good in the sense that they bring to light the need for corrections and reforms. In fact, evil is more often than not devalued by forces of strength and good which strangely enough, are born of an urgent need to defend against the baseness and corruption spawned by evil itself.

Soil Conservation News
Pasture Seeding
Rockcastle County farmers are looking for additional sources of income. More money could be added to farm income on many farms by renovating old unproductive pastures than any other farm enterprise. Of course these pastures must be marketed through livestock.

Pasture renovation means first clearing the land of any growth such as saplings, bushes and briars. All gullies should be leveled and rocked out, craps or boulders removed, a good seedbed prepared, two to three tons of lime per acre applied, five to six hundred pounds of 4-12-8 or 5-20-20 fertilizer added to each acre and a good grass-legume mixture seeded.

1-Month-Old Cunaigin Child Dies Tuesday
Roger Lyndon Cunaigin, infant son of Wiley and Elva Lena Payne Cunaigin of Livingston, died Tuesday at the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital.

Other survivors include his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Payne and Mrs. Della Cunaigin; great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sowder, Pine Hill, and other relatives.

Funeral services were conducted Aug. 14 at the Morning View Chapel. Burial was in the Morning View Cemetery. Cox Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Administratrix Sale

To Settle The Estate Of the Late Mrs. Bess Poynter Holmes In Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

Friday, August 15, 1958
At 10:00 A. M. Central Standard Time

We have been authorized by Mrs. Mattie B. Robertson, administratrix of this estate, to sell at absolute public auction without reserve or by-bid, on the above date and hour, the following property:

PARCEL NO. 1: The two-story brick business building, located in the center of Main Street, between the Mt. Vernon Hotel and Mt. Vernon Hardware. The first floor is now occupied by Perciful's 5 & 10 cent store. This store has been located here for several years. The second floor is composed of 5 rooms, with complete bath, and occupied as the office of Dr. J. F. Pennington, a leading physician.

The building is approximately 20 feet by 70 feet. The lot extends from Main Street to old Main Street, U. S. 25, and has 20 feet on old Main Street. This property rented to excellent tenants who possibly would like to continue to rent the property.

After the sale of business property, we will sell PARCEL NO. 2 about 10:30 a. m. the same day.

PARCEL NO. 2: Is a splendid, well-located 6-room brick residence, located on West Main Street, on the corner of Main Street and Owens Street one square west of the First Baptist Church.

This splendid residence is built of brick and tile, not a veneer—the first floor has large living room with fire place, dining room, bed room, complete modern kitchen and full 3-piece bath. The second floor has two large bed rooms with closets, full and half-bath, in addition to large storage space. This house has a full basement and hot-air furnace.

The lot is about 100 x 150 feet. There is a two-car garage, and plenty of shrubs and plants. The streets are paved on front and side.

After the sale of this fine home, we will sell a nice living room suite, refrigerator, electric stove, dining room suite and buffet, two fine rugs, breakfast set, porch chairs, lawn chairs, and a lot of hand tools. Also computing scales, luggage, and a Buick Automobile.

Terms of sale will be announced day of sale. For further information, call or see Lewis M. Miller, Realtor, Mt. Vernon, or S. D. Eades, Realtor and Auctioneer, Richmond.

Public Playground Opens At Mt. Vernon City School

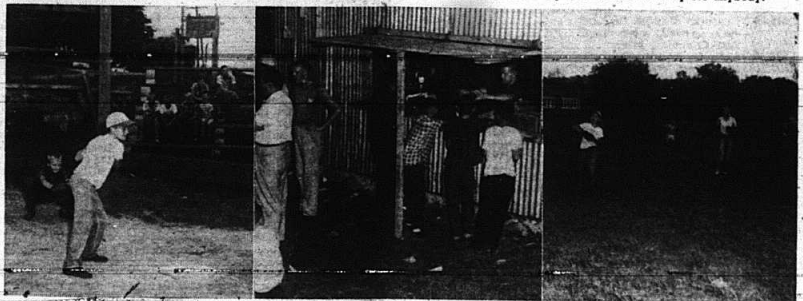

An idea that was conceived two or three years ago, and has since been growing in the minds of many public-spirited citizens of Mt. Vernon, became a reality with the bright flash of powerful electric lights a few nights ago. At first, some persons thought it was a large fire over toward the north side of town, but it soon became obvious that it was the Mt. Vernon Public Playground—open for business!

With these powerful lights on at night, it is possible for the people of the county to gather on the field and play any of various sports which have been provided for. So far, softball or baseball, volleyball, croquet and horseshoes have been or are being planned.

The playground is open to the public and any team that wishes to play may schedule a game by calling or writing Harold Jones in Mt. Vernon.

The lights will be burned on four nights a week—Monday for church groups, Tuesday and Friday for games to be scheduled by Jones, and Thursday for anybody.

It is expected to cost about $60 a month for power to keep the lights burning.

HAND AT THE BUSINESS OF PLAYING—Above are some scenes which were recently shot at the new Mt. Vernon Playground concession stand which is being operated by Billy Gregory of the Jaycees for the purpose of raising funds to buy and maintain equipment for the playground. The Jaycees rotate at the concession stand. On either side of the picture are some youngsters of the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church softball team while they were practicing the other afternoon. The 20 floodlights which have been installed provide adequate lighting so that night games may be played during the summer months. In addition to softball, croquet, volleyball and horseshoes are being planned for recreation for the public.

The Mt. Vernon City Council, at a meeting last Thursday night, agreed that the city will contribute $15 a month toward paying the bill. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has assumed responsibility for raising the rest of the money.

The Jaycees also operate a concession at the park. Profits from this will be used to defray expenses including power, equipment, new bulbs, etc.

Present plans are to operate the playground during the summer months each year.

Equipment for the games has come through public donations and from purchases by the Jaycees. Any future donations may be made to the Jaycees. Each week while the playground is open, the Signal will publish a schedule of the games for the coming week. Tuesday night has been designated as "police" night at the field. No games will begin until mowing and clean-up operations are completed.

GAMBLING OR GAMBLING?

County Judge Money E. Cummins took an outspoken stand this week that is worthy of the highest commendation from all citizens of this county who respect law and order.

In reality, such action should not appear to be out of the ordinary.

In the light of precedence, however, Judge Cummins' action is worthy of more than passing comment.

It seems, according to the judge, that in the past persons have been allowed to set up and operate gambling games with little or no interference from law-enforcement officers.

An editorial in last week's Signal pointed out the seeming inconsistencies in the enforcement in Northern Kentucky of the statute which prohibits gambling.

A closer look, however, makes us wonder at the justice of the thing. It is justice to arrest individuals who play poker or shoot dice and then allow other groups or individuals to flaunt their gambling before us?

If the law is to be enforced at all—and we certainly think it should be—then it should be enforced with consistency—straight down the line.

This includes small violators or big-time operators. If the law is not a god, then let it be repealed and wiped off the law books.

So long as it is illegal to gamble, however, there is no legitimate excuse for allowing it to go on.

A letter to the editor of the Signal this week expresses sentiments to the effect that the citizens of this county are in favor of law-enforcement. It is signed by several prominent ministers and pastors of county churches.

The county judge has the authority to issue warrants anytime he has reason to believe the law is being violated. He also has the power to request state police aid if he deems it necessary to serve the warrants.

If these gentlemen make good their statements, perhaps the laws of the land will become matters due a lot more respect—which they certainly deserve. It will not be long until we know, anyway.

Letters To Editor

Reader Raps GOP

To The Editor: It has come to my attention via the Mount Vernon Signal that efforts have been made to obtain a factory or some kind of local industry in the county.

I would like to see the old homestead on an upward trend and it takes progress to do it.

County Ministers Level Attack Against Gambling

To The Editor: Some few days ago there was an editorial in the Mt. Vernon Signal headed "WHAT HAPPENED TO THE LAW."

The editors of this letter ask the question, not "What happened to the law," but "What has happened to the law-abiding citizens AND the law."

We are made to believe that the heavy hand of the law is almost helpless without the support of the law-abiding citizens of our fair land.

There is a modern, mild and revised version of gambling in our land today which is very popular, even among the young.

Livingston

According to Kentucky criminal procedure, any magistrate may issue warrants for arrest upon personal knowledge, if he has reasonable grounds to believe the charge is true.

Judge Cummins' statement that he has "personal knowledge" that the defendants "are" sufficiently enough for him to issue warrants for arrest for anyone who might be found gambling.

There have been two articles in Livingston this week. The first is about the weather and snowballs. We are having our usual August weather and most people are equipped for it with a blanket and a fan for days.

Our editor seemed much concerned last week about gambling in Northern Kentucky. Such concern on the part of the public is commendable, but as I read this article my right eye began to burn and I discovered the cause in my eye.

Engineers finished a contour survey on our water system last week. As we understand it, a cost estimate will be made and bonds will be sold to cover this cost.

FISH STORY: Seems we always hear about the fish that "got away." This concerns fish which do not want to get away.

G. L. Wise of East Livingston has a pond that is well-stocked with bass and bluegill, and at present he is fishing.

Our face-lifting program is going strong. Bingham Cafe is getting a new walk, the school is getting a new and badly needed roof and the C. H. Rice home is getting a new roof and renovations.

Aunt Kate Hellard suffered a light stroke Friday night and was taken to Rockcastle County hospital. We hear that she is much better.

Mrs. Carrie Loudermilk was admitted to Berea College Hospital last Friday. She has a heart condition. Mrs. Loudermilk and Aunt Kate are at home now.

We hear that Mrs. Effie Thomas has entered Somerset City Hospital for treatment. No details yet.

Mrs. Charlie Carpenter of the Gauley section was taken to Stanford Hospital early Monday morning with a minor back injury.

I have on my desk an old fashioned pomegranate. You may remember them as "plum grannies." By either name, the odor brings back a lot of pleasant memories and, for a limited time only, readers may have these seeds from this little melon for a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Marriage vows of Finley Wootton of Harlan to Betty Jones of Livingston, are to be solemnized at the Christian Church at 4 p. m., Sunday, August 17. Reception is to follow the wedding.

We have not had an offer on carrier pigeons yet, but we have had a suggestion that we start using tom-toms and smoke signals. One man who deals in livestock has offered to furnish hoes for a pony express. One year ago last July we heard the vice president of a telephone company state publicly that we should do away with the then-existing telephone company that there would be emergency telephone booths in Mt. Vernon, Brodhead, Livingston, Wildie and Conway with a direct wire to London. We are still waiting but our patience is getting thin in places.

Mr. Parsons reports that school will start here on Tuesday, Sept. 2. This news is probably brought a solemn "amen" from the lips of many a parent and an agonized groan from several little boys who know.

Our parents of this age have within our power the opportunity to maintain our country as the most advanced and most enlightened nation in the world.

Whether our future is to be bright or dark, depends entirely upon the support and cooperation we give our educational system. Its your school and your child to visit with the staff and the board. The progress of your child. You will find that the teachers are always willing to cooperate.

Polio Warning
Is Issued By Health Dept.

The peak season for polio is now upon us, Dr. J. C. McGuire, Director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Medical Services, announced this week.

"August and September have consistently been the months when the greatest number of polio cases occur in Kentucky," he stated, "and we're going into these months with only about fifty per cent of our most susceptible groups—pregnant women and children under 20—protected against polio with three injections of the vaccine."

One or two injections of the vaccine gives some immunity against polio, but the full series of three shots is necessary for the most complete protection. "Immunity to polio begins to build up approximately two weeks after the first dose of the vaccine, so it is not too late for those who have not been vaccinated at all to get some degree of protection during our polio season," added Dr. McGuire.

Although only 12 cases of polio have occurred in Kentucky this year, as compared with 29 cases at the same time last year, the possibility of an epidemic cannot yet be ruled out.

Dr. McGuire said that the State and County health departments are urging the susceptible groups to see their private physicians for polio vaccinations in order to be protected during September.
