

Friendly NOTE

By: Alfred Sparks, Jr.

"HE WHO HAS NOT EXPERIENCED CANNOT BE A TRUE BELIEVER." Author-Unknown.

If your heart is weak don't lay down to sleep in Mt. Vernon, without the chance of being disturbed by "Peeping Tom." The last weeks paper carried an article about Old Caleb being a myth in Mt. Vernon and they willingly will tell you that "Tom" is no myth. Have you ever been awakened in the still of the night by a rough and sometimes gentle knock, knock, knock at your back door, and occasionally the front door? It's true enough that imagination can run away, and it could be old rover the dog, but listen a little longer and you and I both know that the dog has not been trained to rattle the door knob and whisper in a low tone of voice. After you have experienced this, your knees knock and you cannot sleep until dawn. When you arise tired and hags under your eyes, then the neighbors give you the old "Raspberry," because he hasn't had any visits. When the flashlight, or gentle knock comes to his habit, he will then be a "True Believer."

THE WEEK IN LIVINGSTON

ROBERT WADDLE, REPORTER

Bro. G. W. Murphy of Mt. Vernon was invited to the Holiness Church at Livingston for what he thought was a youth meeting. But on his arrival there he found 115 of his friends, both old and young, had prepared a surprise birthday party in his honor, which, we hear, was a genuine surprise to Mr. Murphy and an inspiration to all present.

PTA MEETING
The first meeting this year of our local PTA chapter was held Monday night in the school library.

An entirely new program was adopted for the coming year. We cannot put enough stress on the need for parent cooperation in our modern educational program. Any teacher can do a better job if they know more about the background of their pupils. The only way they can know this is by and through parents. The future of our country lies in the children of today and if we as parents fail to take advantage of our opportunities, we are not only failing our children, we are breaking a sacred trust left us by our founding fathers. Let's arouse ourselves to the needs of tomorrow and begin our work in the support of our Parent-Teacher organization.

TV STAR

Television star Jerry Lewis was a breakfast guest of Trolley Inn Cafe last Sunday morning. Mrs. Dees reports Lewis as being a "regular feller."

SICK

Mr. Clell Pike is reported a patient at Stanford Hospital. The nature of his illness has not been reported as of today.

EYEGLASSES

The local Lions Club reports an unusually large number of requests for eyeglasses for needy school children this year. The Lions sponsor a sight-saving program each year, which is financed through club activities. Sometime in the near future a Lion will call on you for a small donation of cast off clothing or furniture which will be sold to help this worthy cause.

SHOWER

A reception and shower was held at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Cummins for her brother, Donny Mink, and his new bride, the former Miss Joyce Wallin of Brodhead. Donny and Joyce were married Friday at 4:30 p. m. in Brodhead. Their future plans are incomplete.

ROAD REPAIRS

Blacktopping of Gauley Mountain has been started but no plans have been made yet for getting school buses off the hill when the road becomes icy. Any solution to this problem will be gratefully accepted by the driver.

LETTERS

It is gratifying to receive cards and letters from readers of this column, especially those who have been away from home for some time. We didn't realize the Signal had such wide coverage. Space will not permit acknowledgement of all our mail, but we can use items that would be of interest to the community. Our deadline is Tuesday noon each week.

TELEPHONE

Engineers were here this week checking line for new telephone poles, but in the meantime our existing facilities are allowed to deteriorate to such a degree that they are practically useless except for an occasional local call.

WINTER

Custom weather prophets predicts a long mild winter here. This is based on the length and color of "wooly worms." The worms this year are extra long and solid color. They have no dark center-band as is usual.

WATERWORKS

We are advised that engineers are not yet finished with their planning, so we place engineers in the same column as "gestation." Neither can be hurried.

BRODHEAD Personal

LADIES AID MEET

Ladies Aid Missionary Society of the Christian Church met Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Eliza-

OUR NEEDS

Endless hours of dialogue have been made on the needs of our community by street corner lawyers. What we need most is a modern-day Moses who will deliver us from the bonds of indifference and lead us into the Land of Activity. Our belief is that the man who talks the loudest usually does the least.

OLDEST

J. H. Dickerson who, we believe, is our oldest citizen, still makes a daily trip to town.

POLICE

A 1-hour speed check was made last week between 11 a. m. and noon. 138 north bound vehicles were checked and 53 of them were violating state speed laws. No arrests were made.

SAFETY

Again we would like to remind you that child safety teaching should begin in the home. A short daily lecture on the dangers of auto traffic may save your child's life.

OUR THOUGHT: Man can only exist by one of two methods. They are LABOR and THEFT.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was given Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Bill Cash in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cash. Many gifts were received.

Hats are off to several residences of Brodhead for beautifying their property, such as cutting weeds, cleaning ditches, etc. If others would follow suit our town would be much more attractive.

Workers have also begun to clear an area on West Main Street in Mt. Vernon for the exchange building which is to be erected there in the "near future."
The property where the new exchange will be located, formerly owned by Mrs. Kit Renner, is near the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

Women Experienced At Sewing Asked To Apply On Sept. 25-26
A "help wanted" call went out to Rockcastle Counties this week as an announcement was made that the Dept. of Economic Security Employment Division will conduct a labor survey here on Sept. 25 and 26.
The purpose of the survey is to determine if 100 persons—mostly women—can be found to work in a clothing factory which may begin operation in Mt. Vernon in the near future.
R. H. Hamm, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Rockcastle Development Corp., said the industry, which manufactures women's clothing, is the "hottest prospect we have had."
The industrialist asked that an immediate survey be conducted and information be furnished him on the availability of labor—both experienced and inexperienced—to help in the manufacture of the clothing.
A representative of the firm has already visited Mt. Vernon and according to Hamm, was "very interested" in locating here.
One of the most important factors in the industry's final decision is the labor supply—whether enough help can be found to do the job.
Hamm said that all women who are interested in sewing work should come to the county courthouse on Thursday or Friday, Sept. 25 and 26, between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., either day.
For those whose work interests for their coming during the day, Hamm said persons would be on hand to accept applications on the two nights from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.
No age limits on applicants were specified, but women with sewing experience were especially urged to apply for work.
Hamm said the company representative indicated he wanted to begin operation of the factory by the first of the year if at all possible.
The firm owns similar factories in other sections of the nation.
A building has already been located in this area which may serve for the factory. This would remove the necessity for erecting a new building.
Under present plans, the local development group would buy and remodel the building and let the factory owners pay off the cost in rent-like payments.

Early-Late-Weaned Pigs Do Not Vary in Feed Test

Weights, daily gains, backfat thickness and feed consumed were about the same for two groups of pigs one weaned at three weeks of age and the second at eight weeks of age, in a Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station feeding test.

C. E. Barnhart, swine specialist, took 10 pigs—weaned at three weeks of age—and fed them a pig-starter until they were eight weeks old. Another group of 10 pigs was fed the same starter until they were weaned at eight weeks of age.

Both groups, at eight weeks of age, then were fed out to 200 pounds of weight.

Barnhart found final weights, did not vary significantly, regardless of the group to which the pigs belonged.

The early-weaned group averaged 199 pounds final weight, the late-weaned, 208.5 pounds; average daily gain was 1.54 pounds for the early-weaned, 1.85 pounds for the late-weaned. Average daily feed consumed was 5.63 pounds for the early-weaned, 6.04 for the late-weaned. Average feed consumed per 100 pounds of gain was 365 pounds for each group. And backfat thickness (from live probes) was 1.56 inches for the early-weaned and 1.65 for the late-weaned.

Barnhart noted both groups were fed on concrete feeding floors equipped with self-feeders and automatic waterers.

Grading Of Beef Cuts An Aid To Housewives

Housewives who like quality meats will do well to get in the habit of looking for the U. S. Grade stamp, says Miss Elizabeth Helton, UK Extension food specialist. Grade markings are reliable guides on the quality of beef. However, grading is a voluntary process on the part of packers, and is not compulsory.

Beef graded by the U. S. Department of Agriculture is easily identified, as it has a purple shield in which the grade is shown. The purple marking is harmless as it is made from a vegetable dye.

The principal USDA beef grades are Prime, Good, Standard and Commercial.

U. S. Prime beef is the best quality that can be produced, and only a small percentage of carcasses is given this grading, and that is usually following the fat stock shows in the winter.

U. S. Choice beef is an excellent quality of meat. It has many of the same characteristics as U. S. Prime, but is not quite so well finished. Both Prime and Choice grades provide steaks which are best for broiling. The steaks are usually well marbled with fat, which means the lean is well interspersed with streaks of fat. A well-marbled steak will usually be tender and juicy when broiled, that is, if it came from a young animal.

Tender cuts of beef that are good for broiling are porterhouse, T-bone, sirloin and club steaks. A rib steak compares favorably with these cuts in tenderness and flavor, and is usually less in price per pound.

U. S. Good is a good grade of meat, but is not so well finished nor of such good quality as Choice. Approximately 20 per cent of the steer carcasses are graded Good. This grade appeals to housewives who want and demand tender meat.

U. S. Standard is average in tenderness and quality.

U. S. Commercial cuts are less tender because they are from older animals; they are cheaper in price than other cuts.

Another U. S. stamp is required on all beef that is shipped in interstate commerce. It reads, "U. S. Inspected and Passed," and that means the meat has been inspected for wholesomeness.

Homemakers Point Out Home Freezer Advantages

Homemakers owning home freezers were quick to point out the advantages of this equipment when they were personally interviewed. Of the 208 families in the survey, 172 owned home freezers, and 36 rented freezer lockers. Thirty-four of the families who owned freezers, also rented locker space, reported Miss Catherine Knaar, UK Extension specialist in home equipment.

All of the housewives mentioned at least one advantage, and the majority said they had no problems or complaints. The most frequently mentioned advantages were convenience of having a variety of food on hand, money saved, and a saving of time, particularly in shopping.

The mention of saving money is an interest, as authorities have differed on the question.

Other advantages in using home freezers or rented locker space were: permits better, fresher and more varied foods throughout the year; storage for foods provided for long periods of time; freezing is less work and less time-consuming than canning, and finally prepared dishes can be cooked and frozen, then served in about order.

Minor mechanical difficulties and defrosting were mentioned as being problems.

A few homemakers who thought they didn't save money on food in this way hastened to say that the home freezer is so convenient they couldn't get along without it. It saves time, particularly in driving to and from the locker, Miss Knaar points out.

The survey, which was made by the Mississippi Experiment Station, shows that many families are now buying foods in quantity for their freezers, and consider a variety of foods as a necessity.

Bluegrass Seeding A September "Must"

"Cheap bluegrass seed is always the most expensive in the long run; the only kind to buy is the best that is possible to get."

The statement comes from Prof. N. R. Elliott, Extension specialist in Horticulture at the University of Kentucky, who adds that regardless of how good the sod may be after a summer with lots of rain, some bluegrass seed should be sowed.

If the sod is reasonably good, one-fourth pound of seed should be sowed for every 1,000 square feet of lawn, but if the sod is thin, the amount of seed should be increased to one-half pound for that amount of lawn area.

It is important the seed be sowed as early in September as possible, as results are not as satisfactory if seeding is delayed to October or November.

Weeds that are still growing in the lawn just as they did in early spring and summer, may be controlled by the careful use of chemicals. However, Mr. Elliott warns against using the chemicals 10 days before or after seeding, as it may injure the stand of bluegrass from seed.

Fertilizer should not be applied to the lawn until late October or early November, when frosts have killed the crabgrass. If it is applied now, the crabgrass will benefit from it, says Mr. Elliott.

Poultry And Eggs Are Favorite Foods

The latest food survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that the average American eats an egg almost every day, and a little more than a half pound of poultry each week.

The popularity of poultry and eggs is nationwide, and is not greatly affected by income. City people eat more poultry than farm people, but the latter use more eggs, many of which they produced.

The average family of 3.3 persons spent about nine per cent of its 1955 food budget on poultry and eggs, slightly more for poultry than for eggs. Each week, the housewife spent $1.23 on poultry, or 15 per cent of the total ($7.99) spent for meat, fish and poultry.

APPLICATIONS NEEDED

The time may have come at last when those of us in the rank and file can really do something about helping to get industry here in Rockcastle County.

R. H. Hamm, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Rockcastle Development Corporation, said in a conversation this week that whether the clothing factory will actually locate here depends to a large extent upon whether enough suitable labor can be found.

The factory's representative seems to be genuinely concerned—and justly so—about this particular aspect of the local situation. Naturally, without workers, the factory could not even get off the planning board.

A concerted effort is being made by various means to bring the date and time of the move to the attention of everyone in the county. There will be little excuse for anyone's not knowing about it.

The courthouse will be open during the day and at night on both days, Sept. 25 and 26.

If you can see, if you want to learn, or if you know someone who does, make it a point to be in Mt. Vernon on one of the two days mentioned above.

The economic future of your county may depend to a large measure on your doing so.

Letter To The Editor

I want to congratulate you for the editorial you wrote concerning gambling, and also congratulate our county judge for enforcing the law at the Brodhead Fair, and am sorry that our county sheriffs can't see their way clear to do these things without the aid of the county judge.

Nevertheless, our judge deserves credit for seeing that the laws are enforced.

This brings up another law that is of far more interest to the people as a whole in our county than the gambling law because the Brodhead Fair just lasts three or four days a year. What I am complaining about is the dog law. This law is violated throughout the year and is, as you say, on our statute books the same as gambling. I know and you know that the judge has, as he says, personal knowledge of it being violated. If the dog law was enforced, we farmers would certainly be interested in buying and keeping sheep on our farms. As it is we are afraid to do this. Will you give this the same publicity that you did the gambling law and remind the judge that this is his duty, too? I am interested in sheep and am sure many other farmers are, too.

Fertile Soil, High Stalk Stand Key to Profitable Corn Growing

Corn growing costs go down and profits go up when farmers harvest extra bushels per acre.

HIGH soil fertility and a high plant population must go hand in hand if you want to get top corn yields per acre, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The committee cites 1937 results at the Morrow Plots at the University of Illinois, oldest soil experiment field in the United States.

Yields were 19 bushels higher per acre when the corn stalk population was large enough to make full use of the plant food in the soil, the research results showed.

In the test, a corn-cult rotation plot receiving a manure, lime and phosphate treatment was divided by the Illinois agronomists. One part of the plot had a planting rate that gave 12,000 corn plants in the acre. The other had 16,000 plants per acre. Soil treatments were the same.

The high population, part of the plot, made 134 bushels per acre; the lower population area made 114 bushels per acre.

"The advantage of coring high fertility with a high plant population," says the committee, "is that the extra bushels cut down the cost of growing corn and give the farmer a bigger return per bushel and per acre."

"Wisconsin tests indicate that the cost of growing corn can be as low as 35 to 38 cents per bushel when farmers harvest 100 bushels plus yield."

"Such yields are made possible by a management program that adds enough fertilizer based on soil tests, to feed the corn crop all the nutrients it needs all season long. The management program should also include good seedbed preparation and cultivation methods that give top results at low cost. It should also include control of insects, diseases and weeds."

South Magazine reports: "S&H GREEN STAMPS are helping Dixie grow"

"During the past few years a major addition to business in the South has been the fast-growing trading stamp industry.

"Proof of the growing importance stamps play in bolstering the area's economy is found in the Southern operations of The Sperry and Hutchinson Company, distributors of the widely-known S&H Green Stamps.

"In 1937 alone, S&H purchased more than $12 million worth of merchandise from Southern manufacturers, providing many of the area's industries with increased outlets for their products and boosting Southern payrolls.

"Added to those figures is the $2,250,000 annual payroll written by S&H for its present and growing 866-person Southern personnel. The Company has invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in real estate to locate its modern redemption centers, indicating that the industry has become a permanent part of the area's business life."

Back rubbers are excellent, he says, under certain conditions, principally range and feed lot conditions or in pastures where there are few trees or bushes.

The devices are available commercially, or can be made at home by a stout chain wrapped with burlap and saturated with the recommended insecticide is hung loosely between two uprights; several strands of barbed wire also can be wrapped in sacks and used as a rubber.
