WHO WITH A LITTLE CANNOT BE CONTENT, ENDURES AN EVERLASTING PUNISHMENT. "Herrick This warning from author Herrick might serve to give pause to the overly-ambitious who scramble hopelessly and blindly in search of ever greater riches and pleasures. This isn't to penalize honest effort and ambition and a well-directed search for betterment. However, when one lacks the capacity for contentment with what is reasonably within his power to obtain, then that person is inviting, and must endure, the punishment of frustration and the bitter emptiness of failure.

Contentment is a frame of mind which can be cultivated to yield a bountiful harvest, rich

Phasants Released In Rockcastle Area

The Rockcastle Fish and Game Club recently released 500 ring-neck pheasants in the county, according to Club President Estill E. McBee.

The birds were received from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources at Frankfort.

McBee emphasized that there is no open season on ring-neck pheasants and that it is a violation of state law to kill them.

Red Devils Lose Third Game, 52-0

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils took their third crushing defeat in as many games here Friday night as the Eminence football team kept racking them up for a 52-0 final score.

Eminence proved too much on the offense and were quick to take advantage of five intercepted passes in rolling up their total.

Mt. Vernon, however, kept right on digging but never were able to penetrate the heavy defense of Eminence.

Coach Larry Travis, undaunted at the three losses, said, "There are more games to come—and we will not be counted out until the end of any game. Especially when players such as Oscar Fain, Benny Chaney, Darrell Stepp and J. B. Stunselley keep proving on the offense."

"On the defense we have Jim Cox, Darrell Stepp and Mason Gregory."

The coach seemed determined to keep fighting until the Red Devils make a showing. The next game here is tomorrow night as Mt. Vernon meets Burgin at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Elmo Anderken, who has spent several days in Berea College Hospital, returned home Friday.

THE WEEK IN LIVINGSTON

ROBERT WADDLE, REPORTER

BETTER-THAN-AVERAGE

One phase of our face-lifting program here has undergone a drastic change. Lawn mowers have been changed to rakes and the odor of burning leaves has become commonplace. We have had admirable cooperation in keeping our town physically clean this summer but we hear rumors that our moral side could stand some cleaning. To put it bluntly we have been accused publicly of being a lawless, vice ridden and sin-tick community. This public condemnation of our city can only be answered by statistics and we shall quote a few for the record. 1. A recent survey shows that more than eighty per cent of our citizens are church members. 2. There are over 140 members of the local Masonic Order. 3. There are more than 120 members of the Daughters of America Lodge. 4. Over 200 parents are members of the local P. T. A. 5. The local Eastern Star Chapter has over 75 members. 6. There has not been a major crime committed here for over ten years. 7. Four small robberies reported in five years (3 then solved). 8. Over 98 per cent of the cases in our police court are committed by out-of-town people and practically all of them result in conviction. Compare these figures percentage-wise with any other sixth class town in Kentucky and you will find that we rate with the top five. Our local police cannot make arrests on rumors—they must have facts, and if we as citizens withhold information of law violations, we become accessories to crime. Dame Rumor has caused the downfall of many a good citizen and seldom will it stand close inspection. Let's be law-abiding citizens and check our information for accuracy then take it to the police where it rightfully belongs. Our population is less than 800 and I will agree that we are not all saints, but the above figures lead me to believe that we have a better-than-average community.

CORNFIELD BEADS

A reader has requested that we try to locate "Cornfield Beads" for her. These beads grow on a grassy-like plant and have a milk center which can be removed to allow stringing. She informs us that as a girl she dyed these beads and wore them as an ornament. If you have some of these growing on your farm we would appreciate a few seed.

BIG FISH

Paul Wagner of this City caught a ten lb. Walleye Pike this week on live minnow and proved again that Rockcastle River has'em if you can catch'em.

WANT-A?!

How many of our readers can drop 40 years from their lives and go with me on a Saturday morning "Chestnut Hunt" in order to qualify you must have spent the last five days in a hot, noisy and crowded 1-room school with the usual 1-cup water bucket, and ruled by a nervous, high-tempered, over-worked and underpaid school teacher. The chestnut hunt is a feet must be tough enough to crack a green chestnut burr or to stick a pin in the skin of your big toe and use it to spear other boys, punishment for "speaking" tended to toughen us so that we were able to slice along the rough bark of the chestnut limbs without injury. We start by sticking a cloth, meal "poke" in our pocket and heading for the hills. There's no need for me to take you further you are probably already gathering chestnuts, eating persimmons or climbing for grapes, but I must remind you to get home early enough to get stovewood, slop the hogs, water the mule and eat your log and hominy before dark.

because we must save our coal oil for company.

THE BIG QUESTION

The big question here this week is: Will Rockcastle County get a factory? My answer is "Yes". If we don't get this one we will get another. The only thing that can stop a united, determined and unselfish group of people is complacency and indifference. If we all keep pulling for progress and drop our habit of "Letting George do it" our economic growth will have no limit.

HULA HOOPS

It seems that the "Hula Hoop" craze has no age limit. One local lady who is several years past her "Teens" was seen giving a demonstration in C. P. Mullins' store Monday.

BEER CANS AGAIN

Our article last week on beer cans brought us the information that many other side roads in the county are afflicted with the same blight. We are also informed that information as to who started this blight can be gotten from the people who are forced to live near them, if, and when, local officials find time to visit and ask questions.

KATYDIDS RIGHT

Reports of light frost in the highlands Sunday morning has not shattered our faith in the infallibility of Katydid's. Our Valley Katydid's predicted the first frost for Oct. 24. We had no report from those that live on the hills.

PREDICTION

NEWS ITEM: Jan. 1, 1965. The Local Volunteer Fire Dept. added another new fire truck to its already well equipped system today in celebration of its Fifth Anniversary. Other advancements of note in the city's civic improvements program of the last five years is the construction of over 100 new homes and apartments. Paving of all streets and alleys, installation of an adequate water system and an industrial payroll of more than $50,000.00 per month. . . . Does this sound fantastic? Well, all of it is possible, if we will wake up and use our natural resources for industry instead of scenery. Clip this item and keep it. This is our goal for 1965.

STREETS TO OPEN

City council have finished plans to open all subdivision streets sometime in October. An engineer will be here this week to run location on them any help you can give them on property lines will be appreciated.

WATER SYSTEM

Council has a meeting scheduled for Oct. 1 with engineers and attorneys that will bring our water system a step nearer. It is hoped that final plans can be adopted on this date.

NO PROBLEM

It is possible that Livingston will have an integration problem in the near future. One property owner has advised me that they have a Negro bidder for their real estate. This would possibly bring a little flurry of excitement for some people, but I believe that most of the people align themselves with our constitution and christianity and follow the Golden Rule.

"SCRIPTURE CAKE"

We have a recipe for "Scripture Cake". You may have a copy for a stamped, addressed envelope. We will also put you on our mailing list for Dipper Guard seed which will be ready about Nov. 1. There will be no cost to you.

4-H DAY

The Livingston School was host to more than 300 4-H Club members Tuesday. The occasion was followed by a session of folk games and dances which was directed by Mrs. Durham, the music teacher.

Fall Fertilizing Pays in Top Corn Yields Per Acre

Fall-applied fertilizer gave 114-bushel corn yield (left) in Iowa test; yield was 83 bushels (right) from spring-disked in fertilizer.

Reasons given by farmers who use fertilizer in the fall include: (1) that means faster planting in the spring; (2) easier application of fertilizer through use of broadcast spreaders and bulk spreading with trucks; (3) greater choice of fertilizer grades; and (4) prompt delivery.

These farmers say, too, that fertilizing plowed down in the fall is in moist soil next spring and summer, while fertilizer disked down in the fall is in dry soil with the first dry spell.

Research tests show that phosphate and potash in fertilizers is just as efficient applied in the fall as in the spring on nearly all Corn Belt soils. However, whether the nitrogen put in the fall will be there in the spring depends on several factors.

There is little chance of loss of nitrogen under the following conditions: 1—Where subsoils are dry and there is not enough winter rain to leach down fertilizer from the root zone before the crop begins growing in the spring. 2—On soils where drainage is a problem and water is likely to pond for short spells. 3—On medium to heavy soils where large amounts of crop stalks or straw are plowed down with the fertilizers.

Even where there may be some water running through the soil, the ammonia form of nitrogen in fertilizer will be held if the plant food is put on after soils have cooled down to 55 degrees.

But where water leaches quickly through the soil, as on very sandy soils, serious losses of nitrogen can occur.

Walter Durham Named FHA Committeeman

Walter Durham, Mt. Vernon, Route 1 has been appointed a member of the Rockcastle County Farmers Home Administration FHA committee, Robert C. Winn, the agency's county supervisor, announced this week.

The other two members serving with Durham are Raleigh Burdette and William J. Randolph. Durham succeeds Ruel O. Thomas whose 3-year term expired this year.

Each agricultural county in Kentucky has a 3-member committee to work with the county supervisor to make the best possible local use of the agency's farm credit service program.

The committee determines the eligibility of applicants for all types of Farmers Home Administration loans, and determines the suitability and fair and reasonable values of farms to be taken as security for real estate loans.

It also reviews borrowers' progress as they pay off their FHA loans by means of improved farming and turn to banks and other lenders for the credit they need.

The committee elected Burdette its chairman at its first meeting, held in August. He is a farmer and lives about five Durham lives at Mareburg and operates a small general farm and specializes in poultry. Randolph lives in the Freedom section and is the operator of a family-type farm.

The FHA is an agency in the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture that supplies long-term credit to farmers to buy or improve their farms, establish suitable soil and water conservation measures, or build or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings. It has intermediate- or short-term credit for farm operations or to meet emergency needs.

Th agency does not compete with other lenders in the farm credit field. As a part of its credit service, it supplies farm and home management aids and advice.

Maple Grove 4-H Club Wins Contest As 300 Gather At Livingston School

More than 300 persons from Rockcastle County's 18 4-H Clubs attended the organization's annual Achievement Day at the Livingston School Tuesday.

The 27-member group from Maple Grove took home top honors at the event, with Mt. Vernon placing second and Wildie coming in third.

Trophies were presented to the three winning clubs by Bradley Saylor, president of the county 4-H Council, through the courtesy of the Bank of Mt. Vernon.

The annual event was held in Broadhead last year when Chestnut Ridge won first place. The awards are presented to the club which has maintained the best record during the previous year.

The winners are chosen on a point-system by the 4-H Council acting as a board of judges. The Council is made up of adult 4-H leaders.

Rockcastle County has a total of about 475 members in clubs in the following sections: Chestnut Ridge, Quail, Pine Hill, Wildie, Maple Grove, Livingston, Fairview, Walnut Grove, Hammond, Negro Creek, Buffalo, Mt. Vernon, Orlando, and five groups at Broadhead. New county officers for 1958-59 are Marvin Crawford, Broadhead, president; Darrell New, head, vice president; Virginia Brown, Quail, secretary; Norma Ramsey, Wildie, and Judy Jordan, Maple Grove, Song Leaders; and Lester Sandusky, Mt. Wyatt Reaffirms Intention To Run On Visit Here

Wilson W. Wyatt, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said on a campaign visit to Rockcastle County Tuesday afternoon "there is no question but that I'll be on the ballot for governor."

Wyatt was referring to the ballot in the primary in May, and he made the statement in reply to the question: Will you and Bert Combs ever compromise?

"Combs wants to discuss running for lieutenant governor or attorney general with me, then I'll be glad to talk to him

ASC Head Tells Farmers: Consider Loan

Roy C. Gray, chairman of the ASC State Committee, today advised farmers throughout the state to consider securing a farm-stored or warehouse-stored loan or purchase agreement on their corn, soybeans, wheat and other grains before they sell their grain on the open market at the extremely low prices that are now being offered in many areas of the state.

Gray said farmers will profit in some cases as much as 40 cents a bushel by securing a loan or purchase agreement. He went on to say that farmers who are interested in a loan or purchase agreement should contact their local ASC county office for detailed information.

Price support and purchase agreement programs were established by Congress so farmers would have the benefit of support prices for their grain during the harvest season at which time grain prices normally drop far below the average price which is paid for grain during the year.

When the farmer secures a loan or purchase grant, this keeps the grain out on the farm and away from the market when the heavy movement of grain from the farm is taking place during the harvest season.

Survivors include three sons, Roscoe Griffin, Cincinnati; George Griffin, Dayton, Ohio; and Walter Griffin, Vancouver, Wash.

Wool Program Is Lengthened

The national wool incentive program has been extended for another three years, it was reported this week by Shelle Mullins, chairman of the Rockcastle county ASC committee.

The program was scheduled to expire next March 31, at the close of the current wool marketing year, but the new farm law enacted by congress in August provides for the program to run through March 31, 1962.

The purpose of the wool program is to increase the national production of wool. To accomplish this objective, payments are made to wool growers to supplement their income from marketing their wool.

For the present marketing year, the incentive payment rate is 42 cents a pound and payments will be made on a percentage basis to encourage producers to do the best possible job of marketing their wool.

In the wool marketing year which ended on March 31, 1958, a total of 22 producers in Rockcastle county participated in the wool incentive program. Their incentive payments totaled $463.78.

He said he had met 108,000 persons up to Tuesday night, and the number would reach 120,000 by the end of this week.

Labor Turnout Much Higher Than Estimated

The number of persons who showed up to get their names in the labor survey here last Thursday and Friday climbed ahead of the first estimate of 1,000 or 1,100 and finally reached a total of 1,745 when the survey was closed.

The majority of those signing up were women, with men accounting for only 699 of the total.

R. H. Hamm, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Rockcastle County Development Corp., expressed pleasure at the number of persons who responded to the labor survey.

The two firms for which the survey was made—a clothing manufacturer and a stainless-steel sink manufacturer—have been notified of the results of the inquiry, Hamm said.

Previously, these two firms had indicated that they would locate here in the immediate future 'if adequate personnel could be found to supply their needs.'

The clothing firm would hire about 100 women and the sink manufacturer some 30 men if and when they begin operations here, according to previous announcements.

"All we can do is wait for more news," Hamm said after the survey was completed.

Meanwhile, reports from Frankfort this week by the Department of Economic Development show that Kentucky has gained 22 new and 10 expanded industries during the first eight months of this year.

This represents a total capital investment of just less than 40 million dollars, said Commissioner George W. Hubley in a memorandum to Gov. A. B. Chandler.

The 1958 investment, Hubley said, is already twice that of all 1957.

Since Jan. 1, 1956, Hubley added, industry has invested 211 million dollars in facilities in Kentucky, creating more than 18,600 new jobs, or 75 million dollars a year in additional payroll.

Hubley said during the past decade capital investment in new and expanded manufacturing buildings and equipment in Kentucky exceeds two billion dollars. "This figure represents the greatest economic change ever to take place in any decade in Kentucky's history," Hubley added.

The entire assessed value of Kentucky property, according to a 1937 Census Bureau report, was 2.2 billion dollars, Hubley said.

He said most of the two billion dollar investment came from governmental sources, with about 750 million being invested by private interests.

Toll Circuits Being Erected

Telephone construction crews are at work in Rockcastle county this week erecting new toll circuits to allow faster long distance service from local subscribers, according to an announcement by Alvin Adams, Rockcastle County manager of the Northeastern Telephone Corp.

The new circuits, connecting Mt. Vernon and the Danville toll centers, and Broadhead and Danville are expected to be in service by the end of the week, Adams said.

He also announced central office dial equipment will be ordered soon. Staking for lines is progressing rapidly, he added.

The new dial system in Rockcastle County is expected to be in operation by July of 1959.

Thompson Completes Armor Training

Thompson entered the Army last May and received basic training at the fort.

Mechanical Coal Mine In County Produces A Hundred Tons A Day

In the southeast section of Rockcastle County, near Skegg's Creek, an electrically-powered, mechanical coal-mining operation is removing 100 tons of coal a day in what some sources describe as the first significant mechanical mine in this county in 50 years.

Another mechanical mine near Livingston in the mid-1930's lasted for only a short time.

The operation was started last fall, but had to shut down after a short time due to weather conditions which made it difficult to get to and from the mine. Work resumed in May of this year and has been going strong since.

The equipment used for taking the coal out of the 30- to 38-inch seam which runs through the mountain, is relatively simple. It consists mainly of electrically-powered cutters and rubber-tired motor-cars to pull the coal out of the mine.

Electricity used for powering the machinery is provided by wet-cell batteries which are recharged when necessary by a dynamo on the site which is operated by diesel power.

Anyone who has never seen the coal mines in operation would find it interesting.

A man-driven rubber-tired motor with a trailer for carrying the coal makes continuous runs from inside the mine to the tippie and back again.

The motor and trailer are clear enough to allow plenty of wide "drift-mouth," you can hear the rumble of the motor when it makes its way to the outside with a new load of coal. Occasionally you can hear and

Top Dressing Wheat Pays in Higher Yields, Lower Costs

Bumper wheat yields mean lower production costs, higher profits.

TOP dressing wheat crop with a complete fertilizer this spring can be a profitable investment.

"It's particularly true if there is any question about the crop's need for phosphate and potash," says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"It's better to be safe than sorry," says the committee, "in the matter of supplying nutrients for the crop."

Soils specialists report that on many wheat fields it is profitable to use from 200 to 300 pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 as a spring top dressing.

Plant Food Plus Enough Stalks Key To Top Corn Yields

Good management gives extra bushels of corn per acre.

IF YOUR sights are set for top yields per acre on the acres you have in corn this year, here are some suggestions from the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee based on reports from Corn Belt agronomists:

- 1-Keep your soil's fertility level high by adding plenty of fertilizer. A soil test can be a good guide in suggesting the amount and kind of fertilizer needed to supply the corn plants with all the nitrogen, phosphate and potash they need for high yielding growth. Many farmers find it pays to plow down a complete fertilizer before planting time, then add a starter in the row and side dress later with extra nitrogen.
- 2-Plant enough stalks to match the soil's nutrient and water supply. Many farmers lose profits by not having a large enough stalk population to make full use of the plant food and water available.
- 3-Add regularly to the soil's active organic matter supply. This can be done by returning manure, plowing in crop residues and "green manure" crops and growing sod crops regularly in the rotation.
- 4-Use mechanical conservation methods such as contouring and strip cropping, where needed, to combat erosion and save more rain for your crops.
- 5-Plant proved, high yielding hybrid strains.
- 6-All these steps are important in getting top yields, but the cornerstone of the entire program is high soil fertility accompanied by a stalk population big enough to match the soil's corn growing ability.

"My tobacco is in the barn... and it's protected by FARM BUREAU"

I'm taking no chances with my tobacco crop this year while it's in the barn. I've just taken out a FARM BUREAU fire and extended coverage policy that gives me full protection at a very small cost. If you don't have this type of protection, I'd suggest you see your local Farm Bureau agent right away.

Plant Food Yields Most Profits With Good Crop Policy

FERTILIZER returns the most profits per dollar invested when farmers use good crop production practices, reports the National Fertilizer Association in a recent statement by R. H. Blosser, Ohio State University farm economist. "Corn yields were 25 bushels higher from an 800-pound fertilizer application than from a 200-pound application, when good production practices were used on both fields," says the committee. "But the increase from the higher fertilizer application was only 20 bushels, when poor methods were used."

Fertilizer boosts crop yields cuts costs of production.

These yields came in tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in citing a recent statement by R. H. Blosser are: careful land preparation, prompt planting, soil-building rotations, liming where needed; the use of well-adapted seed varieties and enough stalks to make use of all the nutrients the soil can provide.

Poor practices include soil depleting rotations, insufficient liming, poor drainage, the use of low-yielding corn varieties, late planting and not enough seed. In the Ohio tests, the 800-pound fertilizer application yielded 335 more pounds than did the 200-pound application, when good production practices were used, the profit increase was only $13.

"IF A MAN TOOTETH NOT"

It should have been almost impossible for any of our readers to get by up to now without being certain that Oct. 1 through 8 is National Newspaper Week. We have intended it that way, anyhow.

And by way of explanation, let us say, that for this week, at least, we subscribe to the motto of Mr. John Lair's Remro Valley Bugle:

"If A Man Tooteth Not His Own Horn, The Same Is Tooted Not."

That is the reason for all the not-so-subtle reminders you must have seen in the Signal during the past two issues. With a bit of do-it-yourself advertising, we have been trying to tell you that this is the week that has been set aside for newspapers to toot their own horns. So maybe you will forgive us if we swell just a little with pride—some will doubtless say it is only wind—as we observe this week and recall the names of a few of the great men and great newspapers that have helped to mold our country into the great Republic that it is.

No journalistic pageant, however brief—would be complete without the name of Peter Zenger, colonial newspaper publisher who defied (they called it "libel") the existing powers to criticize the acts of his ruthless governor. After several months of being pushed around by the governor's henchmen, Zenger was brought to trial and, fortunately for all of us today, was acquitted by a jury who thought that 'the people do, indeed, have a right to know.

[Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, recently honored Zenger by placing a plaque on the street where he published his paper and opening a museum near the site.

After Zenger, the names flash by in a brilliant display of individualism:

Benjamin Franklin and his Pennsylvania Gazette; Horace Greeley and his New York Tribune; James Gordon Bennett and his New York Herald; Charles Dana's Sun; Joseph Pulitzer's World and Post-Dispatch; William Allen White and the Emporia Gazette. And, of course, our own "Marse" Henry Watterson of the Courier-Journal.

To many people, these names will mean very little; to a few, we hope they will serve as reminders that, throughout the history of this country, there have been men who are not afraid to print the truth and serve the public interest as their vision and courage show the way.

This little essay is not intended to try to bring down glory or accolades upon our own poor heads. We deserve very little credit and ask for none. But we do know that, just as surely as there have been these journalistic giants in the past, there will also be others in the future—working, searching, above all believing that truth and knowledge offer the only salvation for man in an ever-increasing complexity we call life.

To men such as these, we offer our humble gratitude.

Shown for National Newspaper Week by Paul Conrad of the Denver Post

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:
As we can see, winter is here.

We are still with promises of a bridge. At first, it was too cold to pour the forms for a bridge.

Rockcastle County says we don't own any of the bridge; Lincoln County owns it. It has always been, and was built and maintained as, a partnership bridge.

Lincoln County is ready and has been ready, but the county we all live in is disowning us.

If Rockcastle County is the BULLY sure enough, we on Copper Creek are the TAIL. Our children get ready for school; as they leave, the door and the little fellows line back and say, "Mama, will the bridge fall today?" Such a disaster as was in Prestonsburg makes us think.

Why don't you people who know we are being refused, Our school bus stops and the children are asked to get out and walk across the planks on the bridge are too dangerous for children to walk on. It's decayed and falling through. Why don't you people who control this situation wake up to true facts and meet your neighboring county, Lincoln, who is ready to do her part?

As Citizens and taxpayers of Rockcastle County, it's time we put our concern for our children into action instead of IDLE GOSSIP.
