What Is The Largest "Farm Group" In Kentucky?

105,361 Farm Families Who Regularly Save Trading Stamps Are The Biggest "Farm Group" in Kentucky.

America's farm families are traditionally thrifty. The same pattern of thrift is found in Kentucky. It is only natural, therefore, that the response of Kentucky farm families to one of the oldest forms of thrift—the trading stamp—is so noticeable.

Today, about 105,361 farm families save them. You might also say that these savers constitute the largest single farm group in the state.

During 1957 alone, thousands of dollars worth of trading stamp merchandise went into farm households in the state, and every 2 seconds a farm family is redeeming trading stamps.

There is still another side—direct income for farmers. During 1957 the industry purchased $759,000 worth of primary materials that go into the manufacture of merchandise for stamp redemption. No one can contemplate these facts and fail to realize that both personally and economically the trading stamp industry is a meaningful and welcome force in the life of our state.

This message is published as public information by THE SEARS and ROEBUCK COMPANY, originator 63 years ago of S&H Green Stamps.

FOREST PLANNING:

To encourage reforestation of approximately 1,500,000 acres of eroded, idle and sub-marginal land in Kentucky, the planting of farm windbreaks and the improvement of existing woodlands, the Division of Forestry operates a nursery from which tree seedlings are supplied at low cost to farmers and other timberland owners in the state.

Trees will not be sold for ornamental, shade-tree, roadside or border planting, nor for planting within the corporate limits of any city.

Species available for planting are: Black Locust, Yellow Poplar, Tulip, White Oak, Black Walnut, Loblolly Pine, Short-leaf Pine, and White Pine.

Orders will not be accepted for less than 500 trees. Order in multiples of 500 only. Do not send money for shipping costs. If trees are to be shipped by express or parcel post, shipping charges will be collected.

Send orders (with payment) to your District Forester, Box 31, Pineville, Ky. Write to the County Agent's Office or Clay Colson, Soil Conservation Technician. Insofar as possible, orders should be submitted prior to Jan. 1.

For age, length, and price of trees desired, contact your County Agent Office.

Where possible, the Division of Forestry will truck trees from the nursery to a central point in each county where the buyers can pick them up. Advance notice will be given each buyer as to the time and place of delivery. Orders received too late for truck delivery will have to be called for at the nursery or shipped express or parcel post collect. Buyer may prefer to call at the nursery for his trees, or have the order shipped by express or parcel post collect. DO NOT COME TO THE NURSERY FOR TREES UNTIL NOTIFIED YOUR ORDER IS READY.

Brucellosis Progress Report by Dr. James A. Laughlin, Area Veterinarian

The United States Department of Agriculture is hoping to certify Rockcastle County as a modified, certified, Brucellosis-free area in the very near future.

Alaska and the Virgin Islands modified, certified, Brucellosis-free.

Tax Law Changes Favoring Farmer:

Several changes in the Federal income tax law favor the farmer this year, says Stephen Allen, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service economist. They involve changes in depreciation, farm operating losses, small corporations, estate taxes payment, condemnation-property-replacement, and earned income of retired farmers.

DEPRECIATION: Farmers now can "charge off" 20 per cent of the value of a capital asset purchased the first year, plus the regular depreciation on the remaining value (except for real estate items, such as land and buildings). Internal Revenue Bureau agents or tax specialists can illustrate the proper way of figuring this charge off.

NET FARM OPERATING LOSSES: These may now be carried back three years against past profits instead of only recent two years in getting tax refunds.

SMALL CORPORATION TAXES: For one thing, taxes are figured now only on dividends of small corporations rather than their earnings.

ESTATE TAXES: May now be paid in installments of up to 10 years with a 4 per cent interest on the unpaid balance.

CONDEMNATION REPLACEMENT: Excess from sale of condemned property now may be used to purchase property of like kind, i. e., real estate for real estate to avoid capital gains taxes. Previously it had to be sold and purchase similar in use and purpose, such as farm land for farm land, etc.

RETIREMENT: Retired farmers more than 65 years old must count as earned income 30 per cent of the rental income received from a farm in which they participate materially in the management.

Cumberland Stawberry Growers Association

According to John W. Sears, Manager, the Cumberland Stawberry Growers Association is lining their whole operation in the fields of production, marketing, bookkeeping, and the payment for produce.

In keeping with sound business practice the whole set-up will be re-organized, taking into consideration the practice and experience of the past years, and the newer business methods recommended by the best thinking in the farm field.

All records of the past years have been carefully reviewed by a team of experts. Every transaction of the past has been thoroughly scrutinized; every practice that has not proved itself practical will be discarded in favor of a more sound proven system. The Association was organized to be of service to the farmers to aid and assist in the production and marketing of special crops. It is determined to reach this goal.

Contract farming seems to be the answer to many of our farm problems. Contracts will play a big part in the business of the association in the 1959 season. Give it some thought and watch for further developments.

Mineral Feeding Needed To Supplement Rations:

Mineral feeding of cattle when rations are short of needed minerals can best be handled by putting out the well-known "mineral box," says George Penningrass, Extension Service beef specialist.

This box contains three compartments, each of which holds ground limestone, steamed bone meal and salt. The box should be put where it will be dry, and easily accessible to the cattle. It should be moved inside with animals moved into the barn during winter.

Cattle rations composed of high amounts of roughage are usually low in phosphorus; fattening rations of grain, protein supplement and roughage usually are deficient in calcium but borderline on phosphorus adequacy.

Area Shelter Questions Are Raised By Beef Men:

How much winter area and winter shelter for beef cattle need? Is the question beef producers are raising now.

Here are some guide rules from George Penningrass, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service specialist:

For beef-breeding cows, 30 to 50 square feet of shed space with provision for entering and leaving as the animals desire; for feeder cattle (yearlings and older), 50 to 70 square feet of which about half is an outside lot. For feeder calves less than 600 pounds in weight, 50 to 65 square feet of which 30 to 35 is outside lot.

For hand-feeding, mature cows need at least three feet of trough space, two-year-olds, about 2.5 feet; yearlings, two feet; and feeder and stocker calves, about 1.5 feet. For self-feeding, about two-fifths less space and each one is required.

If hand-feeding is continued throughout the feeding period, about 30 per cent more space will be required in the last half.

Electric Blanket Makes Nice Gift:

An electric blanket deserves thoughtful consideration as a choice gift on the Christmas list, says Mrs. Gladys Lickert, Extension home management specialist at the University of Kentucky.

This single covering gives warmth without weight, as only one blanket is needed instead of two or three, and it gives the same even heat, whatever the temperature is desired. The housewife will appreciate also that storage space for bedding in the summer months can be greatly reduced.

Here are some of the points the buyer should note:

Be sure the electric blanket has the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) seal of approval. This means the blanket has met the requirements necessary for the protection of the one who uses it.

Note the size of the blanket, as they come in both single and double-bed widths, and even for over-size beds. In the latter instance, two single-bed blankets are joined with a side fastener.

A double-bed blanket may have single or dual control. The latter is desirable when two people like different degrees of warmth. Each side of such a blanket has a control which operates independently of the other.

Other Gift Suggestions:

Gift suggestions for the housewife, teen-ager or career girl who likes to sew.

Even one who doesn't particularly enjoy sewing might find it pleasant if she has the right equipment.

Heading the list for a truly magnificent gift might be an electric sewing machine with its many features for accomplishing unusual results.

Less costly, but no less important, is a good sturdy sharp pair of shears or scissors, a joy to every woman who sews. Shears are especially useful in cutting out garments. They should be at least 7 inches in length and have bent or shaped handles that are comfortable to the hand. If only general sewing equipment is to be done, scissors that are less than 7 inches long and with straight handles will do nicely.

Whether the choice is shears or scissors, keep in mind that only quality steel will hold a sharp edge and the blades should be fastened with a screw rather than a rivet.

A silver thimble is a gift that will long be treasured. If the size is not in question, it may be monogrammed to make it more personal.

An inexpensive yet very useful gift might be a combination one of a skirt marker and hem gauge. The skirt marker which uses pins may be more accurate than the one with powdered chalk, but the former requires a helper in leveling the hem. A hem gauge is usually of metal with an adjustable guide to aid in making the hem—even with ironing.

The notion counter in a department store is an excellent source of "stuffers" with practical slant for the Christmas stocking. A wrist pin cushion; a box of dressmaker pins that are sharp and rust-proof; a seam ripper, tailors equipment; a good quality, a tracing wheel, and good assorted needles, are only a few.

Age Poultry Before Freezing Says USDA:

Poultry is more tender if it is aged at least 12 hours before it is frozen, according to research at the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Moreover, the studies showed that birds were more tender if they were aged before being cut up.

Researchers making the study recommended further that too high scalding temperatures be avoided as severe scalding above 125 degrees interfered with normal tenderizing, as does a mechanical picker.

Tenderizing proceeds slowly by 27 degrees F, but practically stops at zero, it was noted.

Sweet Potatoes Rate High In Food Value:

Sweet potatoes rank first in food value of the seasonal foods having a deep yellow color, such as carrots, winter squash and pumpkin, according to Mrs. Letta Jasper, UK Extension specialist in marketing and consumer information.

A serving of baked sweet potatoes supplies more than twice the amount of vitamin A recommended per day, about one third the amount of vitamin C and one tenth the amount of iron.

Mrs. Jasper suggests that housewives look for potatoes that are smooth, plump, fresh, bright, dry and clean, and that are of about the same size and color. Irregular shapes, cracks, and decay cause some waste. Potatoes that have slight scars or blemishes are best coddled in their jackets, and then may be candied or buttered for serving after peeling.
Sweet potatoes bruise easily, so should be handled carefully. Store them at a cool temperature, 55 degrees, with high humidity if possible.

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY

Livingston-Brodhead Sweep Double Header, Clash Set For Tuesday Night

Livingston High School ran once again, the small, inexperienced season record to 11 wins against one loss with three wins since last Friday while Brodhead topped its win-loss column to six wins against four losses and Mt. Vernon lost its sixth game in as many outings this season.

At a Friday night double header at Brodhead, Paul Sturgill contributed a 44 point outburst that helped Livingston overcome a 37-54 victory over Brodhead. In a reversal of opponents the next night, Sturgill contributed a 44 point outburst that helped Livingston salvage a 76-72 win over the troublesome visitors while the Tigers led by the 17 points of Brown, handed out a 59-54 defeat.

The Red Devils of Mt. Vernon suffered another close defeat Thursday night as Brodhead slipped by them with a 47-46 win to keep the locals winless.

Paul Thomason was high scorer for Coach Jack Laswell's Devils, scoring six fewer points than Buckeye's Howard, who collected 17 points. And performed Red Devils gave a crowd-pleasing performance, although losing.

The wins by the county schools set the stage for next Tuesday night's battle royal when the two teams meet in Brodhead's gym. Livingston is an 84-63 winner over Brodhead when the teams clashed at Livingston three weeks ago, but the comparative scores of Friday's and Saturday's games indicate that the Tigers may make a closer game of it this time.

Brodhead has a current winning string of four games going, while Livingston has won 10 consecutive games since its setback by Tyner in the second outing of the season.

At Mt. Vernon (46) Thomason, 15; Coffey, 11; Farris, 8; Nunneley, 6; Fain, 4; and Mink 2.

For Buckeye (47) Howard scored 17.

At Livingston (90) Sturgill, 32; Behlinger, 13; Ponder, 11; Milburn, 8; Amos Owens, 8; Owens, 4; McClure, 4; Wm. Randall Mullins, 4; Alvin Smith, 2; McGuire, 2.

Crab Orchard (49) McLemore had the high total with 18 points.

Mt. Vernon will travel to Eureka for a game on Thursday, while the Livingston-Brodhead tramas is the last action of the teams before Christmas.

Double Header At Brodhead Livingston (81) Sturgill, 38; Milburn, 12; Ballinger, 10; McGuire, 9; Wm. Smith, 6; H. Smith, 4; McClure, 2.

For Hall High (62) Adams was the leading scorer with 23

Court Action Has Lightened

As the Rockcastle Circuit Court reconvenes for the second segment of its split session, little activity was noted.

In a civil action concerning the Citizens Bank of Brodhead, versus J. F. Dees, the jury failed to reach a verdict and the case has been continued to the March term of Circuit Court.

John Darnell, tried and absentia, was fined $50 and given 10 days in jail on a charge of breach of peace.

Court is expected to dismiss today or tomorrow.

St. Clair Named Man Of Year

Burl St. Clair, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, has been named 1955 Man of the Year in service to Kentucky Agriculture by The Progressive Farmer magazine. The announcement is made in the January issue.

In its citation, the magazine calls Mr. St. Clair "a real agricultural statesman—who has helped the farmer in a most favorable and effective position."

Mr. St. Clair comes from near Falls of Branch in Crayson County. On his farm there he produces corn, beef cattle, burley tobacco, small grains, hay, pasture, and grass and clover seed.

"But with it all," continues The Progressive Farmer, "he has found time to render outstanding service to his community, his county, and his state." The citation points to Mr. St. Clair as a man who helps his fellow man and his ability to work well with people.

From president of the Grayson County Farm Bureau, he advanced for second vice president to first vice president to president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau. At last fall's convention, he was elected to his seventh consecutive term. Under his leadership, the state Farm Bureau has grown from 72,000 in 1932 to 78,000 in 1955. Since 1955, has been a member of the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

St. Clair was formerly president of Southern States Cooperative at Leitchfield, and district chairman of the Kentucky County Purebred Livestock Improvement Association. He is a former 4-H Club member and a member of the Alpha Zeta honorary agricultural fraternity.

ASC Plan Submitted For Okay

Shellie Mullins, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office has announced that the 1959 Agricultural Conservation Program has been submitted to the State Committee for final approval.

Mullins said that the program will be very much like the 1958 program in that cost-share rates will be identical and the same practices will be available with the addition of cover practice for winter cover. The program differs in that more materials will be available to the farmers through Purchase Order. As soon as the final approval is given, the announcement will be made to the farmers in the county.

The program was planned by a group of farmers at a Dec. 10 meeting in the ASC office in Mt. Vernon. The group consisted of the ASC County and Community Committee, the Conservation Service Committee and Technicians; the county agent; vocational agricultural teachers and other interested farmers.

Chairman Mullins urges every farmer to start now to make plans for his farming needs for the coming year, so that 1959 may be a more successful year for Rockcastle County farmers.

Needy Projects Take Christmas Spotlight

As the pre-Christmas hustle and bustle heads into the home stretch before Christmas, local organizations continue to direct their activities on a charitable basis, adding impetus to the adage that "it is better to give than to receive."

Floyd Owens, chairman of the Jaycees Christmas Party committee, has announced that 335 invitations have been mailed to needy children, but that 386 gifts have been prepared for the party, to be held Sunday morning.

D. A. Robbins, president of the Brodhead Lion's Club which held a pancake supper at Brodhead High School last Friday, has stated that he believed that the Lion's Club there will give out about 300 gift baskets on Christmas Eve. Complete figures of the pancake supper were not available.

Persons in Mt. Vernon who have clothing which they would like to donate may take it to Mt. Vernon High School, where Main Street Business between D. and E. streets will pick it up and distribute it to the needy.

The First Baptist Church of Mt. Vernon will hold its Annual White Christmas program at the church at 7 p. m., Friday.

Lions Receive $1,000 From Keenland Group

The Keenland Foundation of Lexington has awarded a check for $1,000 to the Mt. Vernon Lion's Club, to be used by the local group at its own discretion.

Walter Finkner, Secretary-Treasurer of the Foundation, made the award Friday at noon in the presence of a lunch-time group of ten Lions and a member of the Board of the President of the group, received the award for the Lions.

At the time of the presentation, told of the progress being made in the program of the Foundation; a non-profit charitable organization which has the excellence of the report submitted by the Lions last year.

The award of $1,000 was the second year in a row that Keenland and represented a gain of 100 per cent over last year's grant of $500.

Although the money would be used mainly for the purchase of glasses, there will be no restriction concerning its use except that it be a worthy cause.

One of the new projects on the Lions agenda for the upcoming year is cooperation with members of the youth center movement. Earl Hammons has presented the Lions' representative to the program planners.

Kentuckians Give Least Support In Corn Vote

Only 30.4 per cent of Kentuckians voting in the November 25 referendum favored a new program calling for the elimination of corn acreage allotments and a new method of setting support prices for the 1959 and succeeding crops.

While producers in the 28-state commercial corn-producing area favored the new program by 71.1 per cent, Kentucky voters were the only State representatives giving the program less than a majority.

Preliminary tabulation of the vote showed 246,702 voting the simple majority of the 346,976 votes cast that put the program in effect.

Under the new program, there will be no restrictions on acreages planted to corn in 1959 and later years. Price supports on a national average basis will be 90 per cent of the preceding year's average price received by producers for corn, but not less than 65 per cent of parity. It is estimated that the average 50 per cent price for the 1959 crop will be between $1.12 and $1.15 per bushel.

The new program dispenses

Livingston Ace First Practiced Basketball With Bottomless Bucket And Rubber Ball

Coach Preston Parrett was he found himself faced with a bunch of performers who were all that was left from the year past, when the nucleus of the varsity had graduated. Sturgill was the outstanding performer even though he is the only returnee from the 1957-58 team that posted a 27-7 record before being beaten by Mt. Vernon in the district tournament, Sturgill has started only four games, spending more time on the bench than on the floor.

And although its star player has been sitting out most of the starting line, the county school has won only one of eight contests this season.

The Devil coach is deliberating playing without the services of Sturgill, he explains, to give the boys experience before they reach the part of the season in which Sturgill cannot play. He explains their success as being a direct result of "switching" last season, or giving all players as much playing time as possible.

"Because of that practice," he beamed, "we are not rebuilding the team. We consider ourselves rebuilt."

Looking forward to tournament play, Parrett predicted that the Devils will be strong.

Woman's Club Votes To Sponsor "Heart Drive"

The Mt. Vernon Woman's Club, meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. James W. Lambert, voted to sponsor the local "Heart Fund Drive" in February.

With Mrs. Virginia Jones, club president, presiding, special features of the evening were the singing of Christmas carols, a poem, and a Christmas story. The poem, "The Night Before Christmas," was given very impressively by Joe Lambert, and the Christmas classic, "The Littlest Angel," was told by Mrs. Billy Hiatt.

Co-hostesses at the meeting were, Miss Myrtle Bryant, Mrs. Henry Cox, Mrs. Edna Fain and Mrs. Lela Turner. Refreshments were served.

THE RED LIGHT BURNS FOR TWO DAYS AFTER A FATAL ACCIDENT.

KEEP THE LIGHT GREEN!

ROCKCASTLE SAFETY COUNCIL

SAFETY SIGN—Recently installed on the courtouse lawn by the Rockcastle County Safety Council is a red, white, green and black sign, whose purpose it is to inform passersby if any fatal accidents have been had in the county. Ed Hunt, Council President, explained that a red and green light will be installed when an electrician volunteers to make the installation. The red light will burn for two days after each fatality, while the green light will burn at all other times. Hunt explained that the sign is a device calculated to make people conscious of fatal accidents, and pointed out that it is keeping with the policy of other towns in attempting to prevent fatalities on the highway.

THE WEEK IN LIVINGSTON

ROBERT WADDLE, REPORTER

Drawing on my short memory for a comparison of the Christmas celebrations of today and forty years ago leaves me almost in a state of shock. The greatest change I note is the spirit in which most of us celebrate this memorable occasion. Cheer changes to chagrin for a lot of us when we have had never known differently Christmas morning and find that the big costly present we expected is a Red Necktie, which proves, that for most of us, our early training was overshadowed by the habit of receiving instead of giving. When the men of old travelled far and dangerous to get gifts at the feet of a new born Babe they did not expect material gain for their act, nor did they give to make an impression. They gave through love and appreciation to one who was extremely poor and helpless in worldly goods, and in doing this they set precedent which all mankind followed for several hundred years. Most of our Christmas decorations are man made and were conceived to promote sales, even the greeting card has taken a comic turn and very few of them bring the message of Peace and Goodwill. There is only one true spirit and that is the joy of giving. In the joy of ourselves and our means to the really needy persons we know. It is true that we are not privileged, as the wise men were, to bring our Saviour presents in person, but it was he who said, "Even as ye have done it to the least of these, ye have done it unto me". Look around you in the days to come and get the real Christmas Spirit by giving aid to some needy child or family for truly it is more Blessed to give than to receive.

The old-fashioned winter you hear so much about has been in Livingston for the past ten days and nature has really given us the works. Three straight mornings this week we have had the lowest temperature in the state. Our lowest so far has been six above zero which caught most of us without Backbone, Ribs and Cracklin' Cornbread. These three articles of goodness will insulate any Kentuckian against any kind of weather. In olden days we were able to sit in front of a small open fireplace during sub-zero weather with our shins blistering and our backsides blue from cold and so long as we had a huge bowl of Cracklin' Cornbread soaked in fresh milk we were able to forget some of us had never known differently the hardships of nature.

PTA MEETS

An elderly country gentleman who had recently married a young and very beautiful girl was asked why he did not marry a woman nearer his age. His quick answer was, "Brother did rather smell perfume than Liniment".

AUNT MARY JOHNSON DIES

The passing of Aunt Mary Johnson last week left a void in this community that can never be filled. That she was kind, generous and a friend to all was easily proven by noting the number of people who paid their last respects at her home, even though the weather was at its worst for the season. Aunt Mary left us an example of the rewards for living a clean Christian life.

PERSONALS

A CHRISTMAS LETTER HOME

Dear Folks,
 I did so want to be with you for the Christmas holidays, but you know how even in the best-laid plans go wrong, as they say. I originally intended to leave for home as soon as I left work. Maybe I would have been a little tired, but I could rest up when I reached home.
 Do you remember my old war buddy, Mullins? I ran into him today just as I was leaving work, and do you know what? He had been working in my plant for the past three months.
 Well, you know how one thing leads to another when old friends meet. He asked me to have a drink with him and I was all for it. After all, folks, it was only beer, and I did have a tire some drive ahead of me.
 Say, did I ever tell you how Mullins used to drink? Well, he has not changed a bit since the old days. In less than an hour, we drank five beers apiece—just to see if we could drink like we did being a war, mind you. Confidentially, we hadn't lost our drinking touch.
 And I felt like that long drive home was going to be the shortest one I ever made.
 Did I tell you before that I would be using the new turnpike? I want you to know that you can really fly when you are driving on it, and I really did take advantage of it. I even told myself that I would be home in record time.
 Just to keep myself company, I tuned in some music on the radio. Not that wishy-washy kind that puts you to sleep. No sir. I got one of those all night rock-and-roll programs and played it as loud as it would go. And the time miles kept flying by.
 In order to cut this long story short, I won't bother to tell you how bad the traffic conditions are during the Christmas holidays. There is always some smart alec who thinks he is faster, better, and a more experienced driver than anyone else. You realize of course that I have always been a careful driver. But I wasn't going to let this punk kid-show me up in front of his girl friend. When I looked over my shoulder he was rapidly dropping out of the race.
 I have thought since then that if I hadn't taken my eyes off the road, I might have seen that foolish truck driver bearing down on me. Well, after all, maybe I was a foot or two over the center line, but he did have a lot of room on the shoulder of the road.
 The rest is history, folks. So I suppose I have explained it well enough for you to understand. I understand the cops said I had been drinking, but you know I only had a couple of beers.
 One thing I say for this afterworld, though, it is not in the least bit lonely. Lots of other folks have been coming in since I gave up my spirit. They are pretty nice people, at that. One poor fellow was so tired when he got here that he just dropped off to sleep, but a lot of them are just a trifle high, like I am, so we are having a pretty good time.
 By the way, I believe I will make it for Christmas after all. I just heard one of the attendants order a pine box for the train, so my body (You know, you'll hardly recognize me) will be going home before long.
 I believe he said it would arrive on December 25.
 Merry Christmas to you all.
 Your Son,

AWARD (Continued from page 1)

The Lions last year bought approximately 50 pairs of glasses for indigent children, made two achievement awards to Mt. Vernon High School students, and furnished transportation for the Rockcastle County 4-H Club to its summer camp at Levi Jackson State Park in London.

spoken, unimposing lad, agreed that his teammates should be the ones to receive the laurels at season's end.

Since being contacted by a local representative of major and minor colleges, Sturgill, in a sense, became a changed person. A member of the Livingston Tri-Hi-Y Club and vice-president of his class, the 170-pound senior has been content in the past to receive only average grades in class.
 "Now that I may have a chance to go to college," he opined, "I am studying harder to prepare myself. I realize now that I have more than they have in the past."
 Already the target of such powers of the basketball world as Kentucky, Western, Eastern, and a host of lesser schools, Sturgill started for the first time this season against Brodhead at a Wake Forest and watched the smooth-operating athlete net 30 points to climax a sterling performance.

In his starting role for the second consecutive time against Shopville a few nights later, the Livingston ace this time led all scorers with 32 points. In his third at a starting post Sturgill scored 36 points as Livingston defeated the Mt. Vernon Red Devils 70-47.
 Having appeared as a substitute in four other games this season, Sturgill, who previous to this season had scored 2,376 points in high school play is averaging 24.2 points per game, a good enough average for a regular, but even better for a player who is counting more part-time games than full-time ones.
 An all-around good athlete whom Parrett considers a cinch to fit into the fast-break pattern of play employed by race-horse Kentucky and Western, Sturgill is also regarded as a fine "clutch" player by his coaches, having spurred numerous successful comeback attempts for the county team.
 Although he seldom fouls out, Sturgill reflects sadly on one game of the past season in particular. Playing against the Red Devils of Mt. Vernon in the District Tournament, Sturgill fouled out in the first half. Mt. Vernon, twice defeated by Livingston in regular-season play, went on to defeat Living-tion and advanced to the regional where state-outlets Monticello shaded the local team by a three-point margin.

 A devotee of the roundball sport since he was knee-high to a bleacher seat, Sturgill recalls that he first practiced the sport while in the third grade, when he nailed a bottomless coal bucket to a shed behind his home and used an ordinary rubber ball for shooting practice.
 Typical examples of his devotion to the sport are supplied by Coach Parrett, who recalled when Sturgill and he were just beginning their careers at Livingston High School.

"We would have long workouts each day after school, each Sunday and every holiday," he recalls. "Whenever the rest of the boys left the gym, Paul would come up to me and ask 'Coach, can I stay and practice some more?'"
 Paul got off to a late start this season, coming out for practice about a week before the first game. A typical day of practice for him consisted of a workout with the team and finishing up with 100 laps non-stop around the gym after the others had gone.
 Asked which of the big schools he prefers for his college basketballing, Sturgill shyly hesitated before giving his answer. "I guess I would like to attend Kentucky, if possible."

LICENSES AVAILABLE
 Clarence Carter, Rockcastle County Court Clerk, has announced that automobile, hunting and fishing licenses for 1959 are now on sale at his office in the courthouse.
 Carter pointed out that although the auto licenses are on sale now, the 1958 tags will be usage until March, 1959.

Christmas Program Is Slated At Wilde
 The Wilde Christian Church will present its annual Christmas program at 7 p. m., Sunday, Dec. 21.
 As in the past, a play will be the feature of this program. This year, the program will consist of a four-act play entitled, "THE OTHER SHEPHERD." The public is invited to attend.

by Don Deaton
 Ever so often, it is interesting to stop what we are doing and look at the odd happenings in the world outside Rockcastle County. And the Christmas time is a better time to stop and observe than at any other time.
 For example, there seems to be a drastic shortage of Santas this year, although consumers are spending as much as ever. One employment agency in a Metropolitan area where normally has a large stock of Santas on call, has only one this Christmas season. Are Santas getting less courageous, or are the children losing interest in favor of watching television?
 Another big city incident concerning Saint Nick took place when the big fellow took a small tot on his knee in the department store and listened attentively while the little fellow croaked in a hoarse voice what he wanted. It was only after the little fellow had toddled out of sight that the manager felt for his wallet and discovered that the little guy, a midget, had picked his pocket.
 Another tot crawled on a Santa's knee, told quickly what he wanted, and then scampered away, yelling over his shoulder as he went, "And put it on my Daddy's charge account." Out of the mouths of babes come words of wisdom.
 Tin Pan Alley, that appropriately-named shrine of the song writers, has failed in its yearly bid to catch a good share of the Christmas spending. Although "Rudolph" is expected to sell over two million copies again, most of the old standards, such as "White Christmas," "Jingle Bells," etc., have failed to come through strongly. Even writers' feeble attempts at producing novelty tunes have been met with misfortune, since few of them are really pleasing to the ear, and others are too low in mentality for even a child to appreciate. One analyst suggested that rock-and-roll was causing the drop in business.
 Perhaps it is a little belated, but I would like to extend my thanks to Mrs. Hobart Thompson, the high school girls and others who prepared the delicious dinner for the Farm Bureau banquet recently. It was most abundant in quantity, most well-prepared, and most welcome to a hungry journalist. I would also like to applaud the local organizations which

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse, When down through the chimney all covered with soot, Came the "Spirit of Fire" an ugly galoot.

His eyes flowed like embers, his features were stern. As he looked all around for something to burn. What he saw made him grumble, his anger grew higher. For there wasn't a thing that would start a good fire.

No door had been blocked by the big Christmas tree. It stood in the corner leaving passageways free. The lights that glowed brightly for Betty and Tim. Had been hung with precaution so none touched a limb.

All wiring was new, not a break could be seen. And wet sand at its base kept the tree nice and green. The tree had been trimmed by a mother insistent, That the ornaments used be fire resistant.

And mother had known the things to avoid. Like cotton and paper and plain celluloid. Rock wool, metal icicles and trinkets of glass. Gave life to the tree; it really had class.

And would you believe it right next to the tree, Was a suitable box for holding debris. A place to throw wrappings of paper and string. From all of the gifts that Santa might bring.

The ugly galoot was so mad he could bust. As he climbed up the chimney in utter disgust. For the folks in this home had paid close attention. To all the rules of good "Fire Prevention."

are doing such a fine job of providing a Christmas of some measure for persons who are following Judge Bert Combs' good address to the courthouse crowd Tuesday afternoon, and however, that our people are not as down-an-out as those in Harlan County and other areas that have been hard-hit by curtailment of coal activities.

Although it was announced several weeks ago that this column would be a regular feature of the Signal, this week marks only the second appearance for it. The title has been changed, as you may have noticed.

What you should have been told then is that the column will only be written when space permits, so that no newsworthy items will be omitted. The name was changed because it has been discovered that the title formerly applied to a now-defunct column in a daily paper.

While on the discussion of this column, I would like to invite any interested reader to submit items of interest for inclusion. Any comments concerning the readers' opinions of the column will also be welcome.

Trend To Newspapers Grows, Agencies Say

CHICAGO—There is going to be a renaissance of newspaper advertising, according to two advertising agency executives. And this should be good news to all publishers.

Emil Mogul, who admits he has had a love affair with broadcasting for many years, said that an increasing share of his clients' budgets is going into print. Mr. Mogul is head of Mogul, Lewin, Williams & Saylor (merger to be completed Jan. 1).

Gerald T. Arthur, vice-president and media director, Fuller & Ross Inc., after completing marketing-media studies is convinced that the trend by advertisers to newspapers will become marked in 1959.

Mr. Mogul blamed the trend away from television mostly on network TV programming.

"I must agree with many of my agency colleagues who have been privately criticizing network TV programming for its mediocrity," he said. "What makes it worse is that it's the second consecutive year of mediocrity. Although some ad men are shying away from public pronouncements of their disappointment, I can't see what is gained by pretending a serious problem does not exist. I consider the current crop of new shows, big and large, in one, pure and alarmingly empty of real content or meaning for our present society."

What's more, most of the new shows commit the one unpardonable error for use on fabrics.

"Dominance is important because of the growing number of advertisers vying for attention," Mr. Arthur said. "Therefore, in the case of newspapers, the number of newspapers on a list may not be as great as formerly, but space will be larger and there will be more frequent insertions than ever."

Give mother a pair of kitchen shears as a Christmas gift to be used for general household use, such as cutting flowers, paper, string and the like. Her sewing What's more, most of the new shears, then will retain a good sharp edge for use on fabrics.
