Decoration Problems Of Springtime Interest!

Should it be figured or plain color? That is the question many a housewife is asking herself at this season, as she considers new draperies, wall paper on floor covering.

The choice depends first of all on what is already in the room, as there should be only one dominant pattern in a room.

For example, with designed wall paper or draperies, a plain color floor covering would be best; with plain wall surfaces and a solid color rug, the draperies may be designed; or with plain color walls and draperies, the floor covering may have pattern.

In other words, it is best not to use pattern on more than one large surface, or to give a cluttered, confused and busy feeling to a room, instead of the restful inviting one that is desired.

Not every room needs pattern because the harmonious combination of colors can make a room interesting without design as such. Shelves of books, small accessories about the room, cushions on the davenport and even the venetian blinds at the windows all give the effect of pattern.

Patterned wall paper tends to bring the walls in, and so is most successful when used in a large room. The same is true of draperies. In the case of the latter, the design will not be so conspicuous if subdued colors are used on a background that matches the wall color.

Even in a slipcover, the fabric should be chosen with the other furnishings in mind, and by the size of the piece to be covered.

Little Things Make A Big Difference!

In the spring most home owners try to make some improvements on the appearance of their home. Some of these improvements, such as painting the outside of the house, re-polishing the front steps, walks, painting the garage, etc., might be classed among the larger things, but very often smaller things are just as important though sometimes overlooked.

For the suburban or rural home with a mailbox near the garage, it is completely easy to have the box on a good post, painted white, with the owner's name in black letters an inch high on each side of the box, is but one feature that certainly stands out. This means much to strangers trying to locate a certain location, and it also means much to the appearance of the place.

If the home is located away from the highway, the front entrance from the highway to the drive up to the house becomes, literally, the front door. This front entrance, quite often neglected, should always be attractive and inviting. Here again the mail box plays an important part of the entrance picture.

Another thing, that always makes an entrance attractive are trees or shrubs planted on either side. These plants could be a dogwood tree on either side or perhaps a redbud. Other owners might prefer to plant evergreens. These simple things do much to improve the entrance and mean much to the community in which you live.

Experimental 9 Burley Tobacco: Experimental 9 has been widely tested over the state during the last two years and has had a favorable reception by tobacco growers. Because of an unfavorable report by one manufacturer of cigarettes, the University of Kentucky requested that no seed of this variety be distributed in 1959. It now appears that the aged tobacco is satisfactory and other manufacturers have found no objection to Experimental 9. This variety will, therefore, appear on the seed market in 1959 as Ky. 9. It will compete with Ky

61 and Burley 21 in disease resistance, as it has good resistance to black root rot and mosaic and fairly high resistance to wildfire. It is a good standup with a larger leaf than Burley 21, but not quite so high quality.

Tobacco Plant Bed Tips For Preparation Given

Rockcastle County farmers are now in the midst of tobacco plant bed preparation.

Tobacco producers are urged to use proved practices in bed management for best results. Have enough plant bed area to supply farm needs, with an extra "insurance" bed; select well-drained fertile soil, with a southern or southeastern exposure free from morning shade, and where flow of surface water can be controlled by ditching.

Plow the site as early as the ground will work, then treat the soil for weed-seed control, and rake lightly after treatment.

The soil may be prepared by burning, the use of steam, methyl bromide gas, or one of the chemical drenches to kill weed seed in the top 2 inches of soil. The plant bed site should be thoroughly ditched to keep all surface water from entering or overflowing the plant bed area, since the surface water often brings in weed seed, and usually introduces wildfire and, in some cases, anthracnose. Fertilize at the rate of one pound to each 3 square yards, which provides 30 pounds of fertilizer for a bed 9 by 100 feet, or 40 pounds for a bed 12 by 100 feet. Use 6-8-6, 8-8-8, or a similar analysis. Excess fertilizer applied to plant beds may prove harmful to the plants. Avoid the use of high potash content fertilizers.

Cover with a good grade of tobacco cotton, for best growing conditions, use poles or boards at the site of the bed, to keep the cloth off the ground, exclude harmful insects, and provide better moisture conditions.

When plants emerge, sprinkle with the conventional blue-stone-lime mixture, and make a second application in a week. The blue-stone-lime mixture should be used on all varieties, including the wildfire resistant varieties—Harley 21 and Ky 61. The addition of DDT to blue-stone-lime is helpful in controlling fleabeetles; other insects in the plant bed may be controlled by using a recommended spray or dust program.

of Christ as offering up "prayers and supplications" with loud cries and tears" (Heb. 5:7.)

"Not What I Will..."

There is a darker shadow than this. You would think, if you were a stranger to the Christian faith, that if ever there had been a time when Jesus felt his own will and his Father's will were not the same, the church would prefer to forget that fact. Would it not be better, more edifying, more comforting—would it not make Christ a nobler figure, if we could think of him as at every point, and in every moment desiring only what his heavenly Father desired, never anything different?

No! If the church had been inventing the story, they would probably have invented it just that way. But the church was dealing with facts, not fancies. And in this story of Gethsemane we are further mystified by hearing Jesus say, "Not what I will, but what Thou wilt." Any one who thinks he knows exactly what Jesus meant by that, is guessing. What is plain, if we honestly and humbly listen, is that there was enough difference between what Jesus desired, or would prefer, and what his Father in heaven preferred, so that he could say, "Not this—but that."

Our Lord and Ourselves Yet immediately, in the same breath, Jesus cries out "what thou wilt." Jesus was not at that moment giving a lesson in prayer. Nevertheless that is the most profound lesson in prayer which we can learn. We all know by heart the prayer which Jesus taught us, and we rattle it off easily enough. But every phrase of it is hard to say honestly, and none harder than this: "Thy will be done." That is just fine when we think God wants what we want, and is sitting up there in the sky like a heavenly Father, arranging for all our sweet dreams to come true. That is fine too even when we can see God is not going to let our dreams come true, provided we can see that God has a better plan and we know what the plan is. But what about it, if we become sure that God is against our own plans, that God is not "doing things" for us, and yet we cannot see why? What about it if our knowing what God's will is, brings us also to cries and tears, to amazement and distress? Well, then we can find light in dark Gethsemane.

Why Will Be Done
Lesson for March 8, 1959

A STRANGER to the Christian religion would be struck by two things. One is that the church cherishes much that she does not understand, and the other is that the church loves to remember what the stranger would think we should wish to forget.

The story of Gethsemane is one that every Christian knows. The first three gospels all tell it in some detail. Every communion service begins with the words, "The Lord Jesus, the same night in which he was betrayed..."

Dr. Paulusena Jones

The Gethsemane story is one of anguish of mind and soul, a story of Jesus offering an unmeasured prayer—"let this cup pass."

There is no doubt about Jesus' distress in Gethsemane. Matthew, Mark and Luke all testify to it. Mark says that Jesus "began to be greatly distressed and troubled." The word Mark uses, which is translated "greatly distressed" in Mark 14:33 is the same word he uses in 9:15 to describe the crowd's astonishment when they saw him after the Transfiguration. It is the same word also in 16:7 and 8, speaking of the amazement of the women at the tomb when they saw the white-robed angel. It is the emphatic form of a word used in Acts 9:6 (King James version) to describe Saul's emotions when he was stricken to the ground on the Damascus Road. It is a word meaning more than surprise; it is shock. The whole story of Gethsemane holds right up to this word that begins it. Jesus prays in such intensity that, even though from his forehead it like so much blood, he describes his own feelings as "beyond sorrowful, even to death." The church does not remember Jesus as a man always serene. One of the early Christian writers speaks

Development Group Told Of Latest Site-seekers

Louisville Company Sends Representatives To Mount Vernon

An encouraging new prospect in Mt. Vernon for the industry was presented at a Tuesday noon called meeting attended by 11 representatives of the Rockcastle County Development Corporation.

Representatives of the latest local site-seekers, the Arkiva Creamery Company of Louisville, conferred recently with Corporation chairman, Dr. H. Hamm about the possibility of erecting a concrete-block building with surrounding acreage for use as a milk receiving station for grade C milk.

Estimates of procurement of the land and erection of the building ran from $20,000 to $30,000. The company, which wants immediate action, will agree to lease the property for a period of ten years at an annual rental rate of eight per cent of the original investment.

Long range availability of milk is available, call for erection of a cheese factory after the ten-year period expires.

The creamery would employ five local men, the cheese operation would employ about 35.

The surrounding land would be irrigated by use of pipe-sprays and would require approximately $100,000 for pipe for every hundred-weight of milk received. Corporation members think the local water supply is sufficient to supply that amount.

Before giving the Louisville firm, a subsidiary of Armour Meat Packing Company, an offer the group agreed to contact a cheese plant in Stanford, telling officials there of the development.

Representatives of the Stanford outfit have visited Mt. Vernon three times in connection with the possible location of a branch of their cheese-making operations. They would begin a full-scale cheese operation at the outset, it is believed, but they have not yet submitted a list of demands or requirements to local people. The Corporation wants to give them an opportunity to present their proposition if they have one.

Shorter hauling distances and the increasing costs of Grade A dairy farming indicate that dairy farmers will produce a milk of C-2 quality which requires that the farmers will receive a better price for their products, indicating enormous potential for producing the required quantity of milk to support cheese-making operations.

The money, if needed, will be acceptable either from individuals who have previously pledged amounts, Corporation members said that it was also agreeable to them to let private investors handle the construction costs.

There were ten members and three visitors present. The next club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Faye Brown, March 11 at 7 p. m. Visitors are welcome to attend. Red Devils Eliminated In Meet As Countians Win

The lucky number stopped at seven this week for Coach Jack Laswell and his Red Devils of Mt. Vernon High School. That was how many successive appearances the team made in the regional tournament.

The Devils had an off-year this season and were eliminated 73-51 in their first appearance at the 46th District tournament at Memorial.

Challenging the supremacy of the favored host team, the Red Devils were unable to continue their tournament march, which had carried them to two wins in tournament play this season, giving them most of their wins in the past.

They featured the worst competitive year in recent history for the locals.

On the brighter side of the tournament picture, however, Brothead, 97-65, lost at Wayne County in its last regional play, a 65-52 victory margin over Hustonville.

A win by Brothead tonight

School Board Votes To Contact Educator From Outside Rockcastle For Merge Views

A resolution to contact a professional educator from outside Rockcastle for the purpose of evaluating and advising on the school merger issue here was passed Thursday night by Superintendent C. D. Linnville presented the board with approximately $10,000 and pending School District had to borrow the necessary amount against the next State check was passed.

The local Board, along with county and state officials to discuss the problem of merger. Board Member N. M. Smock suggested that the Independent Board and the County Board try to agree on commitments in the event of merger.

With an overflow crowd of about 40 persons attending Board chairman, Dr. Jack Henderson, appointed a committee to study the problem of the two alternative plans concerning the selection of the out-of-county educator from the March 18 meeting of the Kentucky School Superintendents in Lexington. Mr. Smock, in advising a meeting between the two boards of education, stated, "I am not opposed to any merger, which is only a contract. We need some suggestions that they do not want and they may make some that we don't like. We have plenty of time to merge for next year, so there is no reason to be rushed. A merger might be so advantageous and we should discuss it now while we still have a tax-raise alternative."

Work Begins Within A Month on Dial System

Work on lines and poles for Northeastern Telephone Corporation's new dial telephone system in Rockcastle and Pulaski counties is expected to begin within 30 days by telephone plant contractors Singleton and Leath, Centre, Ala., according to Oscar Bruner, Northeastern manager at London.

A low bid of $614,268.72 was made by the contracting firm when bids were opened Feb. 26 at London.

The bid does not include exchange cables in the two counties. The exchange buildings are bid separately. Architect drawings for the exchange buildings has been purchased.

The entire construction program in the two counties will cost about $2,341,000 and will bring the most modern dial service available to about 3,700 subscribers in Rockcastle and Pulaski as well as small overlapping areas in Lincoln and Casey counties.

The project reported following the bid opening that his firm will begin its work as soon as possible. He said considerable local contract labor will be hired in the two counties, with residents of each county getting preference for jobs.

"This type of work is hard and we expect a great deal from our workers since we have a completion date," Mr. Leath said.

An office will be set up later in each of the counties. He did not say where.

The telephone company itself does not hire workers, nor does it have control over the activities of employees of the contractor.

Mr. Bruner reported staking is about complete in the two counties. He said the company has been having some right-of-way trouble, especially in an area northwest of Orlando in Rockcastle.

"One property owner in this area has refused to allow easements for lines and poles. Unless a way is found to by-pass this property, some 20 families north and east of this area might not get telephone service," Mr. Bruner said. The manager reported no major right-of-way trouble elsewhere.

It is expected that construction work in the two counties will progress at the same time. However, Rockcastle is expected to be the first to cut-over to dial service, since there will be 75 miles of lines and three exchanges, as compared to 250 miles of lines and four ex-

Jaycees Donate To Fund For Summer Recreation

The Rockcastle Jaycees, gathered Friday night at the fire station for a cash meeting, voted to give $200 to the Mt. Vernon playground fund, with $100 earmarked for immediate delivery and the remainder to be paid before mid-way of the recreational season.

The group also voted to send a delegation to speak with John Lair on the possibility of producing "Our American Cousin" the play being given at Ford's Theatre on the night of Lincoln's assassination. The delegation met Tuesday night with Mr. Lair.

A mass meeting of all civic-minded citizens was also called for by the Jaycees. The meeting was held March 9 at 9 p. m., will follow the PTA meeting at Mt. Vernon High School.

The group meeting with Mr. Lair was informed that the proposed play has 19 speaking parts, and that the original version would feature reproductions of the original handbill issued from Ford's Theatre.

Members of the Jaycees and Meridian Woman's Club had been given a list of the undersubscribers for each part, in order not to obligate anyone for the original number, but 19 parts would not allow for a complete adherence to that plan. Members hope that the play's Special Effects will also have to be omitted.

In order to present the play, a box will have to be erected over the stage. This will represent the box in which Lincoln and his wife were seated at the time of his death. Special effects will also have to be omitted.

The project reported following the bid opening that his firm will begin its work as soon as possible. He said considerable local contract labor will be hired in the two counties, with residents of each county getting preference for jobs.

"This type of work is hard and we expect a great deal from our workers since we have a completion date," Mr. Leath said.

An office will be set up later in each of the counties. He did not say where.

The telephone company itself does not hire workers, nor does it have control over the activities of employees of the contractor.

Mr. Bruner reported staking is about complete in the two counties. He said the company has been having some right-of-way trouble, especially in an area northwest of Orlando in Rockcastle.

"One property owner in this area has refused to allow easements for lines and poles. Unless a way is found to by-pass this property, some 20 families north and east of this area might not get telephone service," Mr. Bruner said. The manager reported no major right-of-way trouble elsewhere.

It is expected that construction work in the two counties will progress at the same time. However, Rockcastle is expected to be the first to cut-over to dial service, since there will be 75 miles of lines and three exchanges, as compared to 250 miles of lines and four ex-

Recreation Committee Announces Fund Drive

The Mt. Vernon recreational committee, meeting last week, will bring the most modern dial service available to about 3,700 subscribers in Rockcastle and Pulaski as well as small overlapping areas in Lincoln and Casey counties.

The project reported following the bid opening that his firm will begin its work as soon as possible. He said considerable local contract labor will be hired in the two counties, with residents of each county getting preference for jobs.

Jaycees Donate To Fund For Summer Recreation

The Rockcastle Jaycees, gathered Friday night at the fire station for a cash meeting, voted to give $200 to the Mt. Vernon playground fund, with $100 earmarked for immediate delivery and the remainder to be paid before mid-way of the recreational season.

The group also voted to send a delegation to speak with John Lair on the possibility of producing "Our American Cousin" the play being given at Ford's Theatre on the night of Lincoln's assassination. The delegation met Tuesday night with Mr. Lair.

A mass meeting of all civic-minded citizens was also called for by the Jaycees. The meeting was held March 9 at 9 p. m., will follow the PTA meeting at Mt. Vernon High School.

The group meeting with Mr. Lair was informed that the proposed play has 19 speaking parts, and that the original version would feature reproductions of the original handbill issued from Ford's Theatre.

Members of the Jaycees and Meridian Woman's Club had been given a list of the undersubscribers for each part, in order not to obligate anyone for the original number, but 19 parts would not allow for a complete adherence to that plan. Members hope that the play's Special Effects will also have to be omitted.

In order to present the play, a box will have to be erected over the stage. This will represent the box in which Lincoln and his wife were seated at the time of his death. Special effects will also have to be omitted.

Special rates for local people were agreed that a check of libraries at universities in Lexington and at Berea College would allow townspeople to be made before ordering a copy

Because of its remarkable penetrating powers, Kolker Methyl Bromide Fumigant disperses and kills rapidly. After fumigation is completed, it dissipates quickly, permitting seeding of plant beds within 48 hours.

An important plus value is the fact that this versatile formulation stimulates emergence of seedling tobacco plants and guarantees a healthy and uniform plant bed.

Why The Catholic Church Says "INVESTIGATE!"

Probably not more than a handful of people hate the Catholic Church as it really is.

But many have heard anti-Catholic calumnies from sources they have been taught to respect, and have come to fear and suspect the Church as it has been falsely represented to them.

It is hardly reasonable to believe that 45 millions of Americans would remain in the Catholic Church if the rumors circulated against the Church are true. Nor would thousands of others become Catholics every year if they believed such things—without inquiring into the facts.

That is why the Catholic Church says again and again to people everywhere: "Investigate! Investigate!"

The Church makes this appeal not merely to settle an argument, nor primarily to win the goodwill of the non-Catholic people, although this is a hoped-for result.

Its more important aim is to invite people to inquire into Christ's truth as taught and preserved by the Catholic Church down through the centuries. For no man, seeking the salvation of his own soul, can conscientiously discount the Catholic claim to be Christ's Church on the basis of mere rumor and slander when the truth is so readily at hand.

The Catholic Church therefore invites you to inquire into its teaching and practices... to find out for yourself if what you believe about the Church is true or false.

Learn for yourself! For instance, if it is true that Catholics give divine worship to Mary, the Mother of Christ... or if this is not just another calumny. If you have been led to believe that Catholics worship idols and statues... buy and sell the divine worship of the Mass... are opposed to the religious freedom granted all religions by our Bill of Rights... then you have been deceived and misled.

If you have harbored these or any other false beliefs about the Catholic Church and its teachings... and if, above all, such misunderstanding has kept you from examining the Catholic claim to be the Church established by Christ Himself... you owe it to yourself in good conscience to seek the truth.

We shall be glad to send you free on request, a booklet dealing with the points mentioned here and many others... including the attitude of the Church toward Birth Control... secret societies... the salvation of non-Catholics... why Catholic priests are called "Father"... the Inquisition and the alleged goings-on behind convent walls. It will come in a plain wrapper... and nobody will call on you. Write today for your copy of Pamphlet No. KY-7.

March 31 Is Deadline For Gas Tax Refunds

March 31 is the deadline for farmers who want to file for gasoline tax refund from the State Department of Revenue. Under provisions of Kentucky statutes any farmer who uses 50 or more gallons of gasoline during the year in farm tractors or stationary engines can apply for a refund of 90 per cent of state gasoline taxes paid on the part of the gasoline actually used on the farm.
This Farm Bureau-sponsored provision of state law has been in effect for many years, but many farmers do not take advantage of it. The law is based on the idea that the taxes are imposed for the purpose of building and maintaining highways, and since farm-use gasoline is used in vehicles that do not primarily use the highways, the tax should be refunded. Last year, the average refund was about $100.
To be eligible for the refund, farmers must apply for a gasoline refund permit (Revenue Form 3) from the State Revenue Department in Frankfort, and buy the gasoline from a wholesale distributor. A special invoice has been furnished all distributors, and a copy of this invoice, representing each purchase of such gasoline, must be submitted by March 31 of each year to the State Revenue Department, along with an application for refund (Revenue Form 53). These refund forms may be obtained from the Department in Frankfort, most county agricultural agents' offices, or county Farm Bureau offices. Farmers who applied for a refund but who have not mailed a blank form for filing this year.

Under the rules of the Department, you may apply for a refund after each minimum purchase of 50 gallons or file once a year. State Revenue agents keep close check on the use farmers make of this gasoline through provisions of the law that require a special invoice to be added to the refund gasoline. This substance is easily identifiable in the gasoline.
In addition to the federal gasoline tax has also been secured through Farm Bureau legislative action, but refunds of this tax are handled on a July to July basis, and are administered quite differently than the state refund program.

Friendly NOTE

By: Alfred Sparks, Jr.
"THE ONLY CURE FOR GRIEF IS ACTION"

In many cases the advice contained in this saying is true. In times of extreme distress we may find it difficult to concentrate on activities which we know must be beneficial in that they tend to soften the sting of personal tragedy by channeling our thoughts away from our problems for welcome periods of time.
However, most of us are aware that recovery from the effects of personal grief is a matter largely of our own making. Buysing ourselves with ordinary workaday tasks, even engaging in new activities keep our minds healthfully engaged until we can gradually reconstitute our pattern of life to its most workable state.

SCHOOL BOARD

audience directed a personal criticism at Lavinie. Others in attendance were quick to reply unfavorably to her injection.

Board Member Logan Bryant was yielding in his opposition to merger, saying, "I have always been opposed to merger. I want to raise teachers' salaries and improve the curriculum here. Therefore, I am in favor of increased taxes."

Lavinie told the board that the school would lose its standing in the Southern Association of Secondary Schools if teachers' salaries are not raised. They are being paid 90 per cent of the amount set forth by the Minimum Funding program. County schools do not belong to the Association, he added, but this is a negligible point.

In other action, the Board voted to accept the Fire Marshall's recommendations, which include the opening of all exit doors when the building is occupied, as at a basketball game.
They also will ask a civic group to underwrite the cost of the information-seeking body. Lavinie reported on a trip he took Wednesday to Lexington where he worked with the Professional Ethics Committee of the Advisory Council on Public
