Dairy Field Day Scheduled At University of Kentucky

The University of Kentucky's annual dairy field day is scheduled for July 28. The meeting will begin at 9 a. m. (C.D.T.) at the University of Kentucky dairy center (dairy farm) which is located just off the Lexington-Nicholasville Road.

Dr. Frank J. Welch, Director of the Extension Service, will welcome the dairymen at 9:30 a. m. Others appearing on the program and the topics they will discuss are as follows: Dr. Robert H. Singer, State Veterinarian, "Threat of Contagious Diseases in Dairy Cattle"; Dr. Don R. Jacobson, Dairy Section, University of Kentucky, "Poor Hay Dries Up Cows"; Dr. Durward Olds, Dairy Section, UK, "New Findings in Dairy Cattle Fertility"; Dr. C. A. Lassiter, Head Dairy Department, Michigan State University, "Forages"; and Dr. D. M. Seth, "Trends of Dairying in Europe".

Lunch will be served at 12 noon near the dairy barn. Other activities include milk breaks, a dairy tour and greetings from Miss Ann Elaine Kelley, State Dairy Queen. The milk breaks and lunch will be furnished through the courtesy of the American Dairy Association of Kentucky.

The formal program will end at 3:15 p. m. You are cordially invited to inspect the university's herd and facilities.

Landscaping Notes:
July is the month when all kinds of ornamental plants and flowers need to be watched carefully for evidence of insect and disease damage. Lack of water, need of cultivation, and damage to the flowers, especially from winds or heavy rain.

Young trees, evergreens, and shrubs must not be permitted to suffer from lack of water. It will usually be much better for the plant if 3 or 6 gallons of water can be poured slowly around the trunk and allowed to soak slowly down into the soil, than to give the plant 1 gallon every day. Frequent applications of small amounts of water do not work as well down by the roots and tend to encourage the roots to grow toward the surface.

These young plants should be kept cultivated during the hot weather of summer. This cultivation should be to keep the soil loosened in a circle 2 to 30 inches in diameter around each plant. The soil in the circle should be worked to a depth of 3 or 4 inches. The outside edge of the circle should be built up 3 or 4 inches to form a basin to catch and hold the water from rain or from watering. Another advantage of this cultivation is that it destroys weeds and grasses that grow up around the stem of the plant.

Homeowners will often allow grass to grow up around the trunk of a young dogwood until the plant is literally choked to death. Grass and weeds remove moisture and plant food from the soil that are badly needed by the young plant. If this circle is maintained all summer, it makes an ideal area for the application of well-rotted manure or poultry droppings in December. A peck to a half-bushel of manure kept away from the stem of the plant will supply fertilizer to help the young plant. Then, next spring, this manure may be dug into the soil which is doubly good for the plant. If the manure is not available, one pound of high grade, complete commercial fertilizer may be applied in the spring.

The answer to rapid growth for shade trees is to create favorable growing conditions for them, and the above method is one of the best. In fact, this cultivated area may be maintained until the diameter of the trunk of the tree is 6 to 8 inches.

Dalapon Will Kill Cattails
Use the material Dalapon to kill cattails in ponds, says James Heron, Kentucky Experiment Station weed control specialist.

Dalapon, applied to cattails in late June or early July just as the cattails head out or slightly before, will kill the pond pests. Thorough coverage of foliage with the Dalapon is recommended. Another material useful against cattails is amino triazole, Heron says. This, too, calls for thorough coverage of the foliage.

Use both materials according to label directions. Both come in wettable powders which are mixed with water.

Neither material will harm fish in ponds when used as recommended levels, Heron says.

Youth Education
Five factors could contribute toward more Kentucky rural youths finishing high school, U. K. sociologist says in a recently issued Experiment Station bulletin.

E. Grant Youmans, the sociologist, writing on "The Educational Attainment and Future Plans of Kentucky Rural Youths," listed these factors: 1. A firmer conviction by parents and youths of value of a "formal" education; 2. Less unpaid work for rural high school youths at home; 3. More part-time paid work for such youths in the community; 4. More suitable roles in schools' extra-curricular activities for lower economic level youths; and 5. encouragement by teachers for youths to remain in school.

Youmans ran a survey in 1957 in three Kentucky counties, checking with 480 mothers and 439 youths of ages 16 to 17. More than a third of the youngsters surveyed already had dropped out of school, he found. This dropout by counties was 44 per cent in one, 32 per cent in the second, and 24 per cent in the third.

The survey was divided into two social-economic groups, a "better-off" group were more active in school affairs; did less unpaid work at home; had more favorable attitudes about formal education; did better on value of education; 2. A more part-time work at home; had higher aspirations for schooling and advancement than the poor group.

And, said Youmans, the evidence indicates that once a youth dropped out he had little motivation or incentive to return.

Thus, a vicious circle begins, Youmans says. "Large number of boys and girls from poorer families are unable to take advantage of opportunities for a high school education. Without adequate education they will have difficulty in raising their standard of living. Their children probably will be the poorer children who, in the future, will tend to drop out of school.

Evidence suggests that "vicious circle" can be checked. "Many youths from the poorer families were continuing their education, despite family backgrounds. They had found suitable extra-curricular activities and had taken advantage of part-time jobs. Another point was that their mothers strongly believed in formal education."

Youmans concluded more rural youths could be persuaded to finish high school if: 1. Rural families could be influenced to "firmer convictions" on value of education; 2. A more part-time work could be provided; and 3. If school officials would help poorer youths find acceptable roles in school activities.

at home

Our children love Sundays. First, of course, there is church. Afterwards, in good weather, we often have a "backyard picnic."

For me, this outing comes after a morning when I have completed one of the most important tasks of my week — preaching a sermon to my congregation. Yes, I'm a minister. If that surprises you, it shouldn't.

We ministers are people too — just as close as anyone else to pleasure, temptation, anxiety, and all the other things that go to make up life. But God has entrusted us with the task of conveying His message to you. It is a tremendous task. Yet always I feel blessed that it is mine.

When you see me standing alone in my pulpit on Sundays, do not feel that I am a figure apart from you. Rather, I want to share not only your hours of church attendance but also your moments both of triumph and of trial. I stand ever ready to serve you, to lend you my assistance, my understanding and, should you seek it, my counsel. It is only in this way that I can hope to be worthy of my vocation. Remember, won't you — and call upon me!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend church regularly and support the Church. These are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

2 Dead, 11 Injured In Week Of Local Traffic Accidents

MAN KILLED

A 70-year-old man died from injuries received, Wednesday morning, when he was struck by a car on U. S. 25 in front of his home.

Oscar Hood was hit by a car driven by Robert Reynolds, 21 of Wilmington, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reynolds, passengers in their son's car at the time of the accident, reported that the man came onto the road from behind an auto parked in front of his home. They said Mr. Hood tried to turn, stopped, and then came at a brisk pace toward them.

Robert said he blew the horn at the man and then veered into the center lane in an attempt to avoid him.

Mr. Hood was struck by the right front grille of the '59 model car, raised to the hood where his head hit and shattered the right windshield. He received another blow when the car stopped and he fell to the ground.

Hensley, the driver of the car, has been charged with negligent homicide with an automobile. He was released under $5,000 bond.

The Reynolds family were southbound to Florida and may be Cuba, they said.

Trooper Raymond Hall investigated the accident. He said driver C. R. Bledsoe of London was a witness to the mishap.

Cox Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements which are incomplete at present.

SNIDER WRECK

Seven persons were taken to Berea College Hospital Wednesday night after a wreck at Snider's farm, U. S. 25, 5 1/2 miles north of Mt. Vernon.

The accident occurred at 5:45, slow time, when a car forced the car driven by Mrs. Irene Nellie and 37-year-old son off the road. Her car skidded on the shoulder and the rear of the car came back onto the road.

Wallace E. Williamson, 28, of Columbus, Ohio, struck the rear of her car.

Trooper Raymond Hall reported that traffic was partially blocked for almost an hour on U. S. 25 about 10 miles north of Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Helen P. Priddy, 62, of Dayton, Ohio, was killed instantly. Death was attributed to multiple fractures and internal injuries.

Three were injured: Harry D. Priddy, 64, husband of the decedent, and her daughter, a car, was taken to Berea College Hospital, Berea, for treatment of a broken leg, cuts about the face and other injuries. His condition was listed as critical.

Robert Frank Schnitzer, 70, of Columbus, Ohio, suffered cuts on the forehead and structures to the left arm and right hand, and his wife, Mrs. Anna Marie Schnitzer, 58, received cuts about her forehead. Both were admitted to Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital where their conditions were listed as fair.

State Police Trooper Sidney Carter stated that according to skid marks made immediately prior to the collision the Schnitzer car was driven by Mrs. Priddy from the left side of the highway and failed to return to his side of the pavement in time to avoid the collision.

Adams Resigns

Jack L. Adams submitted his resignation to Mrs. Neurelle Miracle, Rockcastle County School Superintendent, Wednesday night.

Mrs. Miracle said she was very disappointed and hoped that he would reconsider. A teacher and band director of his caliber will be difficult to find, she said.

A program had been planned where Adams would direct Mt. Vernon band at Mt. Vernon at Broadhead band at Broadhead. He would not have been required to teach public school music at either school. Another instructor would have been provided for that. He has taught public school music to the grades at Mt. Vernon as well as band and glee club. Adams has not yet revealed his plans for the future.

Farm Bureau Members Tour Northern States

Henry Brown and Roy Brown of the 156 Farm Bureau leaders from Kentucky who toured Ohio, Michigan and Illinois, July 13 to 17.

Henry is district organization director for 27 counties in Southeastern Kentucky and represents the staff of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation of Louisville.

Four buses were required to transport the Farm Bureau personnel. The purpose of the tour, Henry said, was to observe ways in which service could be improved to Kentucky Farm Bureau members.

The state office sponsored the trip so leaders could study meetings in other states and receive organization structure, financial program expenses and membership qualifications.

Henry said one of the most interesting points of the tour was the Chicago Trade Exchange where seed and grain of crops, now growing in the fields, are bought and sold for future use.

Farmers Given 8 Point Soil Bank Compliance

Chairman, Shellie Mullins, of the Rockcastle County Cultural Stabilization and Conservation office issued today an eight-point reminder on the responsibility of farmers who have entered into Soil Bank Conservation Reserve contracts. He summarized the farmer's responsibility under his contract as follows:

1. No crop of any kind may be harvested from your conservation reserve land.
2. No grazing is permitted on any conservation reserve land.
3. Vegetative cover must be established and or maintained on your conservation reserve land.
4. If a conservation practice has been authorized for your conservation reserve land and the practice has not been established by the designated date, notify the county office, at once.
5. If all of your eligible land is in the conservation reserve, do not grow any soil bank base crops.
6. If only part of your eligible land is in the conservation reserve, do not exceed your permitted acreage of soil bank base crops.
7. Comply with any acreage allotment in effect on your farm. However, if you have a wheat allotment of less than 15 acres, you may raise as much as 15 acres of wheat (or 30 acres under the feed wheat program) without penalty provided you do not exceed your permitted acreage of soil bank base crops.
8. Control noxious weeds on your conservation reserve land. Clipping should be done when and where necessary but in the process of clipping be careful to prevent avoidable destruction of wildlife.

Annexation Case Denied Here Last Friday

Judge R. C. Tartar denied the City of Mt. Vernon authority to annex the area surrounding the city in a lengthy trial, Friday morning. "It is unfortunate," he said, "that there can be no appeal for two years."

Judge Tartar enumerated the reasons for his decision. Among them were: the city council should be more honest and not so very ambitious; the city prefers not to locate in cities; can't build on hills and in ravines, clear cut reasons for the annexation were not shown to the court.

Annexation Case Denied Here Last Friday

Judge Tartar intimated that if such a large area had not been proposed to be annexed he would have been in favor. The Judge declared that some farm land was included in the area to be annexed and he saw no reason for this to be annexed. He said the area did not appear so well built up as the map which was presented as evidence to the court.

He was agreed to a pre-trial conference by Atty. John P. Allen and Fritz Krueger and Judge Tartar that 75 per cent of the annexation area must protest the annexation suit before it could be denied. A list of 204 names of residents was first presented to the court and the judge threw it out because it was not notarized. He later received a list of 149 residents which had been notarized by Estil Bullock and Herbert Bullock and declared it a valid signature of the persons listed.

A total number of 260 adults live in the annexation area. For 75 per cent to be annexed to be listed, 175 signatures would have been required.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

We all wonder what contributes to the "speed mania" of the person behind the wheel on the open road. Yet it's not so surprising.

The vacation and holiday traveler wants to get to his destination in time for a last minute swim in the lake, or the baseball game, or just a few casts of the old fishing rod before dark. This same traveler got a late afternoon start, he stopped en route to visit friends or relatives and he feels he must "make up that time", by crowding it a little. . . . Just a little, you understand, he thinks he's not going to take any chances.

What our "hurry driving" motorist friend fails to realize is that hundreds of thousands of other vacation and holiday travelers have added their vehicles to the normal highway traffic load.

We wonder if this friend of ours who is "making up time" on the highway knows that—Safety is everybody's job. Traffic safety is teamwork. Each individual driver must ask himself "Can You Stop In Time?" He can if he will take time to SLOW DOWN AND LIVE.

"You can criticize a man about almost anything except his driving," is a statement we all must admit to be true.

Calmly you can reason with most men that they have picked the wrong profession, they have selected the wrong section of the city in which to buy or build a home, they should save more of their wages or they should wear Bermuda Shorts in summer. But tell a man he operates an automobile carelessly—WOW—he is ready to not only argue, but to fight if necessary.

Without exception every motorist believes that an accident is something that might happen to some other fellow but "not to me".

When you ask the average motorist, "Can You Stop In Time?", he replies, "Certainly, and under any conditions." If you ask him to "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE, He'll reply, "That's for the other fellow".

The Kentucky Division of Accident Control says, "Our job is to show every motorist that Highway Traffic Safety is EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS."

"THE FROG IN THE WELL KNOWS NOTHING OF THE GREAT OCEAN." This is an old Japanese saying which perhaps becomes less meaningful as the years roll by. Time was when a great many people seldom strayed beyond the community of their birth; they had little knowledge of, and even less interest in, the world about them.

Today, however, it is a different situation. We suspect that there are still many potential "frogs" among us who would be content to live in their private wells unmindful of the rest of the world and its many problems. Unfortunately, most of the world's problems today become our problems whether we desire it or not. Speed of travel and communication has shrunk the world to the point where we are mindful of troubles developing half the world away for the simple reason that our "doorstep", as a handy roosting place for any and all of the world's ills, now reaches to the horizon.
