WHY DO WE SING IN CHURCH?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is designed to be an earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a center of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four essential reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of the children; (2) For the sake of the community and nation; (3) For the sake of the individual; (4) For the sake of the soul and eternal support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Most of us take hymns for granted—until the eager mind of a child asks, "Why do we sing in Church?" And then we have to grope for the right answer . . .

It isn't that God prefers singing to other kinds of worship. We know He is concerned with sincerity, not melody. And we don't sing simply because we are happy. In trouble and sorrow we have turned to a favorite hymn for strength.

Nor do we sing in Church merely because we like to sing. That would seem a self-centered sort of worship.

We sing because sacred music has beauty, feeling, reverence. It is a fitting expression of our faith in God. And we sing because the message of a hymn reaches the soul of the singer and the heart of his neighbor—as well as the throne of God.

MAKE A RESOLUTION

Have you made or broken any New Year's Resolutions, this year? We have not made any that we are going to admit. Some people we know are making admirable resolutions. The only thing wrong is that when their friends discover their honest, firm, resolve they think it hilariously funny to put temptation before them. So our advice is, if you want to make a resolution, a good one to start with is: I resolve to keep my resolutions private, personal and secret.

A few excellent resolutions which we have overheard are: I will not say anything about anyone unless I can say something good; I am going to devote more time to my studies; I will not utter profanity; I will always look my best; I will strive to be cheerful even though I may feel various other emotions; I am going to appreciate my blessings.

Rev. Les Hopkins, pastor of Mt. Vernon Baptist Church said in a recent sermon that people should not dislike themselves for their imperfections. We agree. Maybe a resolution for each of us to fit our individual needs would make us like ourselves better.

Corn Yields Up 32 Bu. Per Acre on Fertilized Fields

INCREASES of as much as 32.8 bushels of corn per acre from the use of fertilizer were recorded by Minnesota farmers in 1955, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in summarizing results of the Extra Corn Yield Contest, compiled by Dr. Harold E. Jones, University of Minnesota extension specialist.

Altogether, 166 farmers took part in this "see-for-yourself" demonstration to try to get information on how to grow corn more efficiently on their own farms.

The 32.8 bushel per acre increase came on the farm of Ambrose Lewandowski, of Winstead in McLeod county. Minnesota averaged 123.7 bushels per acre on fertilized soil, compared to only 49.9 bushels on unfertilized land.

Donald and Emil Eickhoff, of Fountain in Polk county, had a 62-bushel increase. They grew 112.1 bushels of corn per acre on their fertilized plot, as against 50.1 bushels on the unfertilized check plot.

Highest corn yield per acre was grown by Walter S. Nelson, of Atwater in Kandiyohi county, who harvested 179 bushels per acre on a fertilized field, or an increase of 52 bushels compared to the unfertilized.

Farmers in the contest more than doubled the average corn yield in Minnesota. In spite of the experimental nature of the tests they were running, about 60 per cent of the farmers made a profit on the use of fertilizer.

"These results," says the committee, "suggest that farmers using good management methods can make most profit by growing the same amount or a little more corn on fewer acres. By cutting the cost of production per bushel, they could make money in the face of lower prices for corn."

Mrs. Cecil Sargent Has Signal Published In 1889

Mrs. Cecil Sargent of Brodhead, Route 1, has a Signal which was published in 1889, the second year of its publication.

The Old Signal belongs to Mrs. Sargent's grandfather, Alfred Leese of Copper Creek.

The name of the "Signal" at that time was The Mountain Signal. It was five columns wide and tabloid size.

A list of stock market quotations is included from New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Indianapolis and Louisville. In this issue cattle were $1.50 at 2:25; hogs were 3:25 at 3:75. Other items listed include, hay, tobacco, flour, butter, and apples.

One item of this paper gives directions for washing the mud off horse's feet. Different weather required different care.

LEAD MINE

One item reads "Wm. Newcomb has purchased a tract of land in the eastern part of the county which he is confident there is a lead mine. He has been trying to secure the place for many years, but until a recent date the owner refused to sell. Old residents can remember when the neighborhood was supplied with lead from this land; all the lead they needed, but like Swift's mine, leaves and broken limbs covered the entrance to the mine, and it is now numbered among the lost mines."

Some advertisements were: Mt. Vernon Furniture Factory, owned by Jas. Maret, J. E. Vowels of Mt. Vernon and J. B. Fish of Pineville. Bingham Book at Pineville, J. S. Fish, Prop., rates $1 per day. 50¢ per meal, Elmer Northcott, M. D., physician, surgeon and accoucheur, at Wildie. Call answered promptly. Dr. A. G. Lovell, physician and surgeon. Mt. Vernon, Brodhead Broom Factory, W. S. Cummins, Prop. Remedies were also extolled for consumption, pimples and nervous prostration. A whole page was devoted to a love story and poems, which were written especially for the Signal. At the time of this publication, Signals were published on Friday. Editor of the paper was R. C. Cress. J. R. Vowels was associate editor.

Mr. R. C. Shepherd
Mrs. R. C. Shepherd of R. R. 1, Mt. Vernon writes that she has an old Signal which was published Oct. 27, 1889.

Save Time, Make Money by Adding Fertilizer in Fall

Fall-added plant food can mean profitable crop yield increases next year.
Any way you figure it, there's a strong case for putting fertilizer on your soil now. Here are some of the main advantages, as listed by the Midwest division of the National Plant Food Institute, based on statements by agronomists at Midwestern agricultural colleges:
1—You save time, make money and cut down on the work load by adding in the fall the fertilizer containing phosphate and potash and most of the nitrogen you would ordinarily broadcast and plow down in the spring.
2—In the fall, the ground is usually firm. Machinery pulls easier and does less damage to soil structure.
3—The plant food is there in the soil to feed young plants as soon as the frost goes out

A trophy will also be presented to the Red Socks who won the Pony League championship at their assembly at Mt. Vernon School, Friday. Douglas Hysinger coached this team.

The schools are reminded that these trophies are revolving trophies that is, they are to be kept by the winning team for a year. The next year they are presented to the new winner.

The first pledge to the 1960 recreational fund was received from the Mt. Vernon Christian Church. It was for $200.

The 1959 Recreation Board members are acting as organizers for the 1960 season until new officers can be elected. They are: Rev. Lee Hopkins, chairman, Earl Hammons, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Jack Henderson, secretary-treasurer.

These officers stress that this is an affair for the whole county to support with their leadership and finances. The recreation program is for the whole county, they say, and everyone is requested to do their share to see that we have the same successful year in 1960 as we had in 1959.

The organization is to be financed by pledges before the program starts so their will be a budget from which to work.

Crops Eat Up Plant Food Faster Than Farmers Replace It

CROPS are eating up plant nutrients four times faster than farmers are putting them back in the soil, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in summarizing a statement by University of Minnesota soils scientists.

"In Minnesota alone, soils scientists estimate that crops remove nearly 500,000 tons of nitrogen, phosphate and potash from the soil each year," says the committee.

In terms of complete mixed fertilizer, this represents more than 1 1/2 million tons.

Replacements by Minnesota farmers amount to little more than 150,000 tons of plant nutrients annually, or the equivalent of 370,000 tons of complete

Starter Fertilizer in Band Gives Push to Corn Crop

CORN crops will get an important push this spring if farmers use the band fertilization method at planting time, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in estimating a recent statement by A. J. Obhroge, Purdue University agronomist.

Obhroge says that broadcast and plow-down applications of plant food are essential in building up the soil's fertility level.

"But it takes starter fertilizer in the band to speed the corn plant's growth from germination to the knee-high stage," he points out.

"This seedling stage is probably the most important in the corn plant's life cycle. During this period there is a partial development of all the leaves, the root system, auxiliary buds, nodes, internodes and primordial tassels the corn plant will ever have."

Band fertilization, according to Obhroge, involves putting the plant food in a continuous single band approximately 2 inches to the side of the seed and at seed level or about one to two inches below the seed.

Effective band fertilization, he says, feeds the root system so it can develop the maximum number of additional shoots and branches in the band of plant food.

While nitrogen and phosphate are essential nutrients in the starter fertilizer, potash may be needed on many soils to feed the young corn plants, he says. This can be added by broadcast and plow-down applications of potash mixed into the plow layer, or by including potash in the root fertilizer.

Best results in nutrient "uptake" are made by the corn plants when nitrogen and phosphate are put together in a single band, Obhroge reports.

High Efficiency Key to Survival in Farming Today

The key to survival in the farming business today lies in higher efficiency that cuts costs and increases net returns per acre, reports the Midwest division of the National Plant Food Institute.

The Institute quotes U. S. Department of Agriculture economists to the effect that "efficient farming can make the difference between a profit and a loss."

Farmers who intend to stay in business need a greater net income. In view of changing prices and expenses, says the Institute. The only way open to them to cut down on their production and attain greater returns per acre.

One important way to increase net profits is through the use of fertilizer, according to the Institute. Research at Midwestern agricultural colleges indicating that many farmers could double or triple their present income per acre by using the right kinds and amounts of plant food.

"By increasing his crop producing efficiency through better management and the use of recommended amounts of fertilizer," says the Institute, "the farmer can cut down on the acreage he devotes to cash crops and still boost his net profits. In other words, he can produce less, and still make more money."

The Institute points out that fertilizer remains one of the farmer's best buys. "Plant food prices," it says, "have remained at about present levels, while the cost of many other items involved in crop production has been rising steadily."

'Dimes' Opens First Birth Defects Center

A birth defects study center, the first of its kind designed to combine clinical treatment with research and teaching, has just been officially opened at Columbus, Ohio. It is supported by funds from the New March of Dimes, which is now engaged in its January campaign for contributions to fight three major crippling diseases including besides birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Medical experts say that birth defects are the biggest unmet childhood medical problem in the United States today. There are more than 800 different kinds of birth defects, or "congenital malformations," as they are called by doctors. They range all the way from harelip and clubfoot to mental retardation.

Some 250,000 American babies are born each year with one or more significant birth defects; and about half of this number are doomed to a lifetime of serious illness or crippling. About 34,000 infants each year are stillborn because of these afflictions, or die within the first month of life. Medical science as yet has few clues to the causes of these disorders that occur before birth, and there are few known methods of prevention.

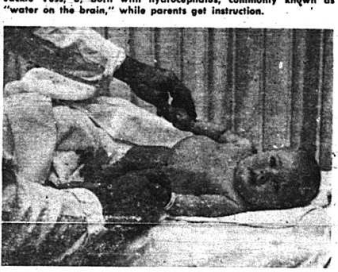

Shrouded in Superstition
The study center in Columbus famed Children's Hospital thus represents the beginning of the New March of Dimes attempt to solve a medical problem that has heretofore been largely neglected by research. It is a problem that has for centuries been shrouded in fear, superstition and shame.

By tackling this issue with a three-pronged program of research, patient aid and training of skilled medical professionals, the March of Dimes organization seeks to bring hope to the hundreds of thousands of parents whose lives have been blighted by bewildering grief and heartbreak following the birth of a malformed child.

This hope is bolstered by the past record of the March of Dimes organization in fighting baffling diseases. It was March of Dimes funds that encouraged Dr. Jonas Salk to develop a virologist and that produced his world-celebrated vaccine against crippling polio. Certain major birth defects, such as "water on the brain" (hydrocephalus) and "open spine" (spina bifida), can now sometimes be corrected by new techniques of surgery, medical experts at the March of Dimes organization report.

Parents are taught to give home care to children with birth defects at the Columbus Children's Hospital Birth Defects Study Center, supported by New March of Dimes funds. Here doctors examine Jackie Vess, 3, born with hydrocephalus, commonly known as "water on the brain," while parents get instruction.

Born with an open spine, two-month-old Madonna Galich is examined by a physician at the Birth Defects Study Center, just officially opened in the Columbus, Ohio, Children's Hospital. New March of Dimes funds will be used to help this baby toward a normal and useful life.

Through the combination of treatment, teaching and study at the Columbus Birth Defects Study Center and others the March of Dimes hopes to establish and support, it is believed that new knowledge will be obtained and spread so that the devastating effects of these disorders may eventually, for the most part, be prevented or controlled.

During 1960 is expected to be as strong as in 1959 because of the continued higher level of business activity, the higher level of employment, and higher income for workers.

BEEF CATTLE: The price level for beef cattle is expected to be down slightly. The price of cows and feeders showing a greater decline than fed cattle.

HOGS: Hog slaughter has increased sharply this year and as a result, prices received by farmers will average about 5 dollars per 100 pounds below last year.

LIVESTOCK: Production of red meat, beef, veal, pork (lamb) during 1960 is estimated to be slightly above the 28-billion pounds produced in 1956, the previous high record. Consumer demands for red meat numbers increased about 1.3 millions head during 1958 and a further small increase of 3-4 million head is estimated during 1959. Prices of sheep and lambs are influenced over time by the level of cattle prices. With slowly declining cattle prices, next year, lamb prices are not expected to show much change from those of 1959.

DAIRY: Production per cow production has been increased as milk cow numbers have declined. Milk prices are likely to improve in 1960 primarily to the downward adjustments of milk production during the past two years. Expected dairy products in 1960 will average higher than in 1959, even though volume of dairy products sold will be at record levels.

POULTRY: The 1960 aggregate output of eggs and poultry meat will seemingly be little if any above the 1959 output. Therefore, one of the 1959 pressures toward low prices will be relieved. In 1960 egg production is likely to be a little below 1959. Broiler production will be up slightly. Turkey production will be just about the same as the 1959 record. We may expect an average of 2 or 3 cents per dozen on eggs above the 1959 average of 32c per dozen. Broiler prices may be slightly higher than the average of 15c per pound in 1959.

FRUITS AND GEOETABLES: Consumer income in 1960 is expected to remain relatively high. Therefore, the demand for fruits and vegetables is expected to be strong. Due to earlier heavy rains in Florida which delayed planting schedules, the supply of fresh vegetables in the near future is expected to be slightly down from last year. Prices of table-stock potatoes during the next several months are expected to be higher than a year earlier. Citrus fruits are expected to move at lower prices than was true in 1958. The supply of apples, somewhat smaller than 1958 and will probably be some higher in price.

KENTUCKY DAIRY STATUS TO BE Aired AT FARM-HOME. Kentucky's dairy industry, ranking 13 in the nation in total milk production, will be reviewed at a dairy cattle session of the 48th annual Farm and Home Week conference at the University of Kentucky Jan. 26-29, 1960.

The dairy meeting is at 1 p.m. (C.D.T.) Wednesday, Jan. 27 at the Dairy Center building, with E. C. Scheidhelm, UK Agricultural Extension Service dairy specialist, presiding.

The Farm-Home Week Conference proper opens on Tuesday, Jan. 26 with a one-day session on rural leadership development and training. Scheidhelm pointed out that Kentucky as 550,000 dairy cows, fifth with an average yearly production of 4,500 pounds of milk, for a rank of 39 in the nation production wise. And, he said, only 3.52 percent of Kentucky's milk are on testing programs designed to increase herd quality and production levels.

The session opens with a movie on efficiency in dairy production. First talk will be by Robert Walton, UK dairy development specialist. "Who's Dairyman Should Be Interested in Solid-Not-Fat?" A panel on dairy production problems will follow: participants are Robert Carter, Falls City Cooperative Milk Producers Association fieldman, Louisville, C. W. Shipman, Shelbyville dairyman, Albert Davis, Department of Welfare Dairy Supervisor, Frankfurt, Dr. J. T. Bryans, UK Experiment Station pathology department virologist; and Dr. Durward Olds, UK dairying professor. Moderator is Dr. D. M. Seath, UK dairy department head.

The session concludes with talks on production testing trends by E. C. Trouman, UK Extension Service dairy specialist, and whether production records actually pay, by Jack Nisbet, Columbus, Ohio, industry specialist.
