SUCCESS COMES FROM COMBINED EFFORT

A lot of people have combined their efforts to achieve the honor that came to Rockcastle County along with the plaque which was presented the Livestock Improvement Association for their having made more progress than any other county in Kentucky in livestock improvement.

Rockcastle is fortunate to have a veterinarian, Dr. K. R. Burdette, to minister to animals, thus directly and indirectly guarding the health of all residents of the county. Having a veterinarian is one of the points that was considered in the program of livestock improvement. It is not enough to have a veterinarian, we must carry out the programs he recommends and cooperate with him. Thus, on the whole, the County has done.

Other organizations which have labored long and well to bring about improvement in livestock are the Farm Bureau, Extension Services, Soil Conservation Services, Vocational Agriculture Teachers and Farmers Home Administration.

Many, many individuals have helped with this livestock improvement program who are not connected with organizations named. The brucellosis program especially required a large number of local leaders to help the veterinarian line up the cattle and arrange a schedule of work.

Like all worthwhile projects, this has not come about suddenly. Years of slow and often monotonous preparations were attempted.

We believe that it is natural, normal and desirable to give persons or organizations some measure of recognition when they have accomplished something. Who among us does not enjoy a pat-on-the-back? When the University of Kentucky recognizes a county as having performed a superior feat, it is time to bask in the warmth of that praise.

PENSION LAW

War and Spanish American War pensions are not affected by the new law.

Q—Does the new law change the eligibility requirements for a veteran to be added to veterans?
A—Not basically. Ninety days active wartime service and an honorable type discharge are required. The veteran must also be permanently and totally disabled. There are important changes in the income limits under the new system as well as some change in the methods employed to compute the pensioner's annual income. Under the new law the veteran's estate "worth" will become an eligibility factor.

Q—Let's go into this a bit at a time. What are the criteria for establishing permanent and total disability?
A—The degree of disability may vary according to the age of the veteran. Generally he must have a disability which at his age prevents him from getting regular, full time employment. This disability must be such that doctors do not expect him to improve materially.

Q—What are the changes in a veteran's income limits?
A—Under the old law a veteran without dependents could not draw a pension if his annual income exceeded $1,400. Under the new law he may receive some pension if his income is as high as $1,800.

Under the old law a veteran with dependents could not receive a pension if his annual income was more than $2,700. Under the new system his annual income may be as much as $3,000 and he still will be eligible for some pension.

Q—What are the changes in methods to be used in computing income under the new system?
A—Income received by a veteran or by his widow from any source, with few exceptions, will be considered as income under the new system. In cases where the veteran's spouse has a separate income the new law provides that all such income over $1,200 per year shall be counted as the veteran's income, unless he so would create a hardship.

Q—What would constitute "hardship" in this instance?
A—If the evidence shows that the entire income is needed for large and unusual family expenses—such as those incurred by serious illness, unusual expenses incurred for the education of children—counting all but $1,200 of the spouse's income as the income of the veteran might be regarded as a hardship. Each case of this nature is considered on its own merits.

Q—What income is specifically exempt by law?
A—Eight categories of income are exempt from consideration in calculating the annual income to determine pension eligibility. They are:

1. Payments of the six months death gratuity by the Service Departments.
2. Donations from public or private relief or welfare organizations.
3. Payments of compensation or pension by the VA.
4. Government life insurance payments, and payments of servicemen's indemnity.
5. Social Security lump sum death payments.
6. Payments to an individual under public or private retirement, annuity, endowment or similar plans equal to the amount he contributed thereto.
7. Proceeds of fire insurance policies.

8. In the case of widows or children of a deceased veteran there are excluded amounts equal to the amounts paid for settlement of the veteran's just debts, the expenses of his last illness, and the expenses of the veteran's burial less the amount reimbursed by the VA.

9. Payments of compensation or pension by the VA.

10. Government life insurance payments, and payments of servicemen's indemnity.

Transmission Important Factor In Health

Transmission, the act of sending from one place to another, is an inside problem for the body in maintaining good health.

The brain, being the source of creative energy which controls bodily function, has to have means of getting this energy to every cell. When illness replaces health, it is because something has obstructed the normal flow of nerve energy.

Since all energy is transmitted through the nervous system, the logical assumption is that the nervous system itself has become involved.

Every moment of our life, from the moment of being created in the brain and being sent to every part of the body, and messages again relayed back to the brain through the nervous system.

Many times pressure is exerted on nerves where they emerge from the spine and if this continues, part of the energy is blocked and the part of the body depending on this energy will be only partly functioning.

Chiropractic care was designed to correct these nerve pressures.

Winter Storage of Plant Food Assures Supplies for Spring

THE Middle West Soil Improvement Committee lists five suggestions for storing fertilizer on the farm this winter so it will be in good condition when it is needed for spring crop operations:

- 1—Keep the fertilizer bags off the ground or off concrete;
- 2—Store the fertilizer in the barn or some other dry building;
- 3—Put the bags on 2 x 4's or cribbing above the floor. Then the fertilizer won't soak up moisture and get lumpy;
- 4—Prevent caking by piling bags only seven or eight high.

Keep broken bags separate from the main pile. Loose fertilizer soaks up moisture.

"Buying and storing fertilizer on the farm now is particularly advisable," says the committee, "because of the tight situation on railroad freight cars needed to move phosphate and potash from the mines to fertilizer factories."

"If this car shortage becomes more critical at spring approaches, fertilizer manufacturers may have difficulty getting materials for the big volume of plant-food needed by farmers."

"Every ton of fertilizer moved in the weeks ahead from factories to farms will help manufacturers maintain production schedules this winter and prevent serious local shortages later on," the committee says.

Here are Six Steps to Profitable Corn Yields

Corn yields that cut costs and build profits come from good soil management, adequate stands, plant profits come from good and other improved practices.

- 1—Gear your yield goals to the production potential of your soil. Shoot for high yields only on soils capable of producing high yields.
- 2—Select a hybrid seed adapted to your locality. It is important to have quality as well as quantity. Corn that does not keep well in the crib makes poor feed.
- 3—Maintain a well-balanced fertility program. Such a program should provide sufficient nutrients to get the corn crop off to a fast, vigorous start and provide sufficient plant food when it is most needed.
- 4—Pay close attention to weed and insect control.
- 5—Use minimum tillage to save time, labor and money and conserve soil moisture.
- 6—Set your planting rate to the fertility level and productivity potential of the soil so there will be sufficient corn plants to make the best use of the available nutrients.

In a statement summarized by the National Plant Food Institute, the two soils men there is a close correlation between corn yields and the plant population, where fertility is maintained. Experience in Wisconsin indicates that a population of between 16,000 and 18,000 plants per acre gives the best results over a seven year period. Good management and fertility practices helped Wisconsin farmers participating in the 1958 Pacemakers Corn program to beat the drought last season and produce yields averaging 102 bushels per acre, Murdock and Love say.

Livingston Water Works Finished; 130 Houses Served

Dr. R. G. Webb turned the switch that officially turned on the water in the town of Livingston, Friday at 9:30 a. m. This was a quiet ceremony attended only by four or five persons.

Formal dedication services are to be held Sunday, Feb. 14 at 1:30 p. m. in the Livingston High School gymnasium. Free refreshments will be provided by Livingston City officials.

Speaker for the occasion has not been announced.

A total of 130 families are now being served by city water at Livingston. This project has been completed in six months at a cost of $104,000. The indebtedness is to be retired over a 32 year period.

Robert Waddle has been appointed Superintendent of the Livingston Water System. His duties will include keeping watch on the purity of the water, reading meters and billing customers. Waddle said he was informed by the contracting company, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, that the plant was so modern and automatic that all work could be completed in six hours, daily.

Engineers on this project were Crawford & Crawford of Mt. Vernon. Contracts were let to Nash & Stewart of Lexington and Walden & Grubbs of Lancaster.

Waddle reported that the City of Livingston also has complete sewage disposal within the city limits. This project was started in 1947. It has been built with the full cooperation of everyone, he said. Individuals paid for construction of their lines that led to the main line. The main line was constructed from funds out of the city general fund, he said.

Trees Are A Farm Crop

Now is the time for farmers to plan their 1960 farm program, according to C. Stewart, forestry guard in Rockcastle County.

Mr. Stewart suggests that farmers invest a few dollars in their future and plant some trees each year as a farm crop. They require very little attention after they are planted and necessary work can be done in slack seasons when other crops are laid by.

Trees may be planted on steep hillsides, land which is not as productive as it should be, and which has been abandoned and left to grow up in weed trees and land which may be too expensive to keep in a good state of production.

Tree seedlings may be purchased from the Kentucky Division of Forestry nurseries at $3 per thousand. Available seedlings include white pine, shortleaf pine, loblolly pine, black walnut, yellow poplar and black locust.

If you wish to plant these trees on a cost sharing basis, contact your Agricultural Stabilization Committee. They may also sign up for cost sharing on site preparation where undesirable brush needs to be removed. For further information contact your County Agent. Soil Conservation Service, ASC 150, Kentucky Division of Forestry.

Rowan Lespedeza Is Now Available

Limited supplies of foundation seed of the new variety of lespedeza, Rowan, are now available from Kentucky Seed Stocks Inc. This seed was produced in 1959 and was of extremely high quality. It is the only variety of lespedeza recommended by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for use in Kentucky and is eligible for certification by the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association.

Rowan Korean lespedeza originated as a single plant selection from common Korean lespedeza in 1948 at Beltsville, Md., and was reselected in 1947-48 at Raleigh, N. C., to eliminate off types.

Growers interested in sewing Rowan for production of registered seed in the spring of 1960, should write immediately to Mr. John Dicken, Manager Kentucky Seed Stocks, Inc., 744 Press Ave., Lexington, Ky., for seed and to B. W. Fortenberry, Kentucky Seed Improvement Association, 929 South Lime-stone Street, Lexington, Ky., for details of seed certification. No seed will be available other than for production of registered seed for 1960.

Carry-over Power of Fertilizer Aids All Rotation Crops

FERTILIZER'S "carry-over" power helps boost the yields of all crops in the rotation, when plant food is added to any one of them, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in Lexington, Ky., in a recent report by H. J. Mederski, Ohio State University agronomist.

Corn yields were increased 15 bushels per acre, oats eight bushels, wheat 10 bushels and hay 700 pounds per acre in Ohio tests, said Mederski, when 300 pounds of a nitrogen-phosphate-potash fertilizer was broadcast for corn in the rotation.

When the same amount of fertilizer was added to a new lespedeza-grass seeding after wheat, the yields of hay were increased 1,800 pounds per acre, corn 12 bushels per acre, oats seven bushels, and wheat six bushels. Applying the fertilizer to wheat, boosted yields of wheat by 19 bushels, hay by 1,300 pounds per acre, corn 12 bushels and oats six bushels per acre.

When corn is in the rotation, said Mederski, the soil's fertility level can be increased or maintained by adding the bulk of the fertilizer at a convenient place in the rotation, such as the meadow crop, and using smaller amounts of plant food in the row at corn planting time.

Gasoline Tax Refunds

The January issue of the Kentucky Farm Bureau News carried the following information. "Officials of the Kentucky Farm Gas Refund Section tell us that more than a million dollars a year goes unclaimed by Kentucky Farmers who do not bother to file for their refund of the state tax for gasoline used on farms."

Let's take a look at the requirements that must be met before a refund can be made on Kentucky tax paid on gasoline used for agricultural purposes. Before you can claim refunds, you must have a gasoline refund permit. This permit is issued by the Kentucky Department of Revenue Service.

Under a law enacted on April 2, 1956, farmers are entitled to a refund each year for the federal excise tax of gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes. The claim for refund of federal tax used on a farm may be filed only by the owner, tenant, or operator of a farm. Three cents on each gallon of gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes during the 12 month period, beginning July 1 and ending the following June 30, can be claimed. Internal revenue service form number 2240 is used for this claim. These forms are sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue. These forms are available along toward the end of the fiscal year at the county agent's office.

The claim for refund on federal gasoline should be filed after June 30 but not later than Sept. 30. You must keep sufficient records to enable the Internal Revenue Service to verify the accuracy of the amount claimed.

A USDA publication entitled "Farmers Gasoline Tax Refund" is also available at the county agent's office. This publication explains in detail who is eligible to file, when to file, where to file, records to keep, etc., on federal gas tax refunds.

WHEN A MAN HAS A BROTHER

A man's got to look after his brother. That's what Timmy said the other day, as he stood beside our baby. And I told him he was right. "You are so much stronger than this tiny, little creature," I said. "From now on, you've got a real responsibility!"

A man does have to look after his brother... especially when that brother is weak. But there are moments, too, when even the strongest man may need a brother!

In the eyes of the Church, all men are brothers, just as all men are equally beloved. As long as there is a church near you, you are not alone. You have only to open the door and walk in, and you will be at one with your fellow man... and at home with your brothers.
