Our next President must be at his best when the going gets toughest!

Richard Nixon stood in for a stricken President Eisenhower, and an uneasy nation was reassured.

Richard Nixon brilliantly rebutted a belligerent Khrushchev, and free men everywhere rejoiced.

Richard Nixon fearlessly faced Communist mobs in Caracas, and the world applauded his courage.

Richard Nixon skillfully settled a paralyzing steel strike, and both sides admired his fairness.

When a man is faced with a crisis, there's no substitute for experience. No other Vice President in our history has been entrusted with so many responsibilities as Richard Nixon. And during the past seven and one-half years he has shown his courage and leadership in any number of crises. His ability has won him the admiration of people everywhere. Richard Nixon has had firsthand experience in making the right decisions for America and the Free World. When the going gets toughest, when peace may depend on the right decision, there can be no denying that his experience will count.

CAN YOU BELIEVE THIS? IT'S TRUE!

Making money with dairy cows takes more than just cows. It requires good production. It takes about 18 cows, producing 13 thousand pounds of milk per year, to make a labor income of 3 thousand dollars a year. Some few Kentucky herds produce this much milk per cow, per year. It takes about 333 cows producing 5 thousand pounds of milk each per year to make the same amount of labor income of 3 thousand dollars per year. The average Kentucky dairy cow produces less than 5 thousand pounds of milk per year. For a labor income of 3 thousand dollars a year, would you rather feed and care for and milk twice each day, 18 cows or 333 cows? The truth is that if we milk the average cow in Kentucky we can't hope to make very much above expenses.

High milk production is not an accident. A dairyman has to earn it through rigid culling, intelligent feeding and a planned breeding program.

Isn't it time we began keeping some kind of accurate records on each cow so we can find out if she is really working for us or we are working for her?

HENS' WATER AND MONEY

Hens don't mind going as much as 10 feet to get a drink of water but if she must go more than 10 feet, you pay her traveling expenses. It costs you money in lower production—fewer eggs. Some Kentucky hens must go 30 to 40 feet to get water and perhaps the bossman doesn't know it is costing him money. Moral: You can fool the bossman but you can't fool the hens. Hens are smart.

BRACING POULTRY HOUSES AGAINST WIND AND SNOW

Another winter is coming. It may not bring snow and wind, but it did last year when a good many Kentucky poultry houses went down. It would be a good idea to put some additional bracing in these houses especially the larger ones.

Let's get at it before winter closes in.

FALL COLOR IN TREES

If you have only elms and soft or water maples around your home, you don't get much of the beautiful leaf coloring in fall. You can improve the fall beauty of your home in a few weyears by replacing some of these trees with others that do color beautifully.

For example, sugar and red maples will have colors that range from yellow to scarlet through the reds. The oak leaves for the most part turn various shades of red. The sweet and sour gum or black gum leaves range from yellow to scarlet with some deep reds. Dogwoods have orange to red leaves with attractive scarlet seeds. The tulip or tulip poplar has brilliant yellow leaves.

A good time to plant these beautiful fall trees is now.

The nearly four million projects completed by 2,300,000 4-H club boys and girls in a single year is further proof that the "learn by doing" system is keeping young minds and hands busy. As a matter of fact, youth specialists say that a hundred or so categories of 4-H projects are the very backbone of the organization which has grown steadily for more than a half century.

During the past three decades the number of girls enrolled in 4-H has topped the boys in just about the same proportion, according to figures supplied by the USDA. There are presently some 300,000 more girls than boys in club work.

Originally planned to help farm youngsters, the voluntary educational program now claims nearly half its membership in city and non-rural rural health. Apparently, credit of accomplishment is a key factor in the success of this particular youth organization.

Right from the very beginning of 4-H, interested parties have donated awards in recognition of farmstead citizenship, leadership and project achievement. This fall more than a thousand farmstead trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago are given to state, sectional and national 4-H award winners. In addition about 200 teenagers will receive college scholarships, and one out of 15 members will win medals in local competitions.

Six persons now engaged in Extension work who are former 4-H'ers will have $18,000 in educational grants to use in graduate studies.

Business firms that sponsor programs awards include: Ford Motors; achievement; Dilm high-noon chemical; annual recognition; E. I. du Pont de Nemours, beef; Standard Brands, brand demonstration; Oliver, dairy; Carnation, dairy foods demonstration; Simplicity, pattern; dress review; Hercules Powder, entomology; Arcadian Products Dept. of Allied Chemicals; Dept. of War; Dept. of General Mills, food preparation.

Also, American Forest Products Industries; forestry; Whiteflood, frozen foods; Eli Lilly, health; John Deere, recreation; Johnson & Johnson, Singer Sewing Machine, clothing leaders; training; Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company relations; Hinton Purina, dog care and training; Pure Oil, public speaking; Chicago Board of Trade, grain marketing.

College scholarships and fellowships in the amount from $200 to $500 each are provided by: California Spray-Chemical, Hometek Division of Tesco, Ingersoll and Freehinson, Massachusetts and the National 4-H Service Com-

Deer Season Now Open

From the era of the old "long-Tom" rifle to today's sleek shotgun rifle, Kentucky has retained supreme as a mecca for small-game hunters. But into this nirrama's paradise has stepped a new monarch to challenge the supremacy of the small game -- the graceful white tail deer.

Kentucky for the first time in 43 years held an open season on deer in 1959, with 27 counties open to the hunters. Each year new counties have been added until the state now boasts 37 counties which will be open this year.

The counties holding open seasons this year are: Crittendon, Livingston, Lyon, Caldwell, Hopkins, Christian, Trigg, Meade, Breckinridge, Hardin, Bullitt, Nelson, Hart, Edmonson, Warren, Metcalfe, Cumberland, Pulaski, McCracken, Laurel, Jackson, Clay, Leslie, Perry, Breathitt, Knott, Fleming, Lewis, Rowan, Letcher, Rockcastle, Estill, Lee, Powell, Greenup, Harlan and Floyd.

The impact of this long-awaited deer season on Kentucky hunters has been terrific. And for good reason. With the deer herd ranging over the 50,000 mark, both the amateur and the veteran hunters are assured of a good chance at the trophy buck this fall.

Last year's kill numbered over 2,000, and with the increase in the deer-herd plus more counties being opened to hunting, this year's kill should be even greater.

Bow season will open Oct. 19 and run through Nov. 17; the rifle and shotgun season Nov. 30 through Dec. 3. Both buck and doe will be fair game.

No rifle with a calibre smaller than .243 will be legal and only slugs may be used in shotguns.

This winter we may enjoy Kentucky's newest hunting thrill and share in the excitement of stalking the state's only "big-game" -- the white tail deer.

Mullins Urges Farmers Take Advantage Of ASC Program

Shelley Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today that plans have been made for the 1961 Agricultural Conservation Program. As soon as it has been approved by the state committee, all farmers in the county will receive a letter notifying him of the sign-up date, deadlines. He will also receive a list of practices on which cost-sharing is available.

Mullins stated that several farmers called out practices under the government cost-sharing plan last year that had never participated before. These farmers certainly helped increase the number of people active in the A.C. program. Still, there are only about 20 percent of the farmers in Rockcastle county taking advantage of the A.C. program. Mullins says this is due to one or maybe all three of the following reasons:

1. The farmer does not recognize that he has a conservation problem on his land.

2. The farmer sees the conservation problem but does not know how to solve it.

3. The farmer is financially unable to solve the problem.

A trip over the county will convince any one that many farms still can use the aid available under the program. Mullins discussed with us the several means of obtaining aid that is available to farmers.

There are several agencies that work with the ASC to help farmers. Some of the agencies mentioned are: the two loan agencies (1) Farmers Home Administration, administered by Robert Wynn and (2) Production Credit Association of which, Roy G. Brown is a representative.

Other agencies are: The county, Lee Durham. He has much information available for farmers conservation needs and is trained to advise them.

He has information on recommendations for lime and fertilizer to be used after a soil test has been made.

The Conservation Service Technician, Gary Colson, who is trained to advise farmers in the technical phases of soil storage problems as well as their arming problems in general. Colson supervises work done to control erosion and livestock control as well as the Forestry Service supervises all setting of trees, survey purposes, whether it is a new or replanting of forest trees. The service forester for this area is Ronald Singer, of London. He is trained to advise farmers on their forestry needs. Forest tree planting is one of the practices available under the new program for cost share.

Mullins urges all farmers who may be interested in planting trees under the 1961 program to request assistance early and by all means before the first of the year. A lot of time is needed to process the application and complete the paper work involved.

We must also allow time for forestry service to make their farm visit. Mullins added that the forest tree problem is very suitable for Rockcastle County. More farmers each year are becoming interested in setting trees and pasture work for from one acre through thirty acres.

Any one or maybe all of these agencies are willing to help with the farmer's problems. The ASC has community committeemen who will help explain the farm home program to farmers. There are also banks and other private sources of income that are willing to help them.

Mullins remarked that the ASC office will advance a part of their payment to farmers when they have been approved for a practice. This aid is available for lime, fertilizer, trees, tile and tie laying machine work and bulldozer work for earth moving where necessary.

Mullins advises all farmers to start now making plans for their own farming needs. Lots of farmers intend someday to enlarge farm woodlots or improve them. Why not start now? If you are not growing while you intend to do something else, it might also be well to begin to think about the farm home program for permanent pasture (Continued on Page 4) can save Kentucky $20,200,000 on its new Interstate Highways in 20 years!

A study of Highway Department records for the heaviest traveled roads built in Kentucky since 1936 proves concrete costs 75% less for upkeep than asphalt.

The same rate of savings can be applied to our state's new Interstate Highways. In 20 years concrete can save $31,800 per four-lane mile, or a grand total of $20,200,000 on the System's entire 640 miles.

Remember, too, while the Federal Government pays 90% of the original construction cost, it does not pay one single penny for upkeep. You pay it - along with all the other Kentucky drivers. The money comes from the state road fund that is financed by the tax on every gallon of gasoline you buy.

That's why concrete's true economy and quality are so important - why every mile of Kentucky's Interstate System should be paved with modern concrete.

Post Office Construction Increased

Nearly 5,000 post office buildings have been constructed since the launching of the Department's modern improvement program by Postmaster General Arthur B. Summerfield shortly after his appointment by President Eisenhower in 1953.

From Jan. 1953 through Aug. 1960, 106 new postal facilities were constructed in Indiana. These include new post offices, branches and stations; also garages and parcel post annexes. The number for Ohio for the same period was 199, and for Kentucky, 76. These three states comprise the Cincinnati Region of the Post Office Department, with almost 49,000 employees.

In an announcement on this subject by Postmaster James O. Smith, it was pointed out that while these facilities have been equipped and furnished by the Department, the buildings themselves are either leased or rented in line with the completely new policy which has been closely followed during the past seven years.

On the basis of this experience, it is estimated that at least 1,600 new buildings will be added to this total during the current fiscal year.

It was explained that this program not only reduces the government's original expenditure substantially but also means substantial additions to the tax rolls in the communities where the new structures are located since they are not tax-exempt.

"This type of operation has resulted in more and more new mail handling each year since it was first inaugurated," Postmaster Smith said, "and it is my understanding that the annual report which is now being prepared will reveal a new all-time high for the fiscal year 1960 ending June 30 when agreements were signed for 1,602 new buildings costing a little over 100,000,000. We have been told that this is part of a program to completely modernize between 12,000 and 15,000 postal facilities during the next few years.

With reference to the facility improvement program, Postmaster Smith also pointed out that in addition to the new buildings being made available under the commercial leasing program, the Department completed plans during fiscal 1960 for modernizing post offices located in 106 federal buildings throughout the United States and that plans are already underway for 31 similar projects.

With the implementation of more than 80 Metropolitan Areas serving some 163 million people, they are now getting next day delivery of first class mail anywhere within their respective areas. One of the principal results has been the virtual elimination of complaints about delayed mail simply because nearly all the letters which the public expects to be delivered the day after mailing are being delivered the day after mailing. This represents a radical change when compared with 1953.

Still another change is that while slightly more than 1,400 rural delivery routes have been consolidated with annual savings in excess of $4,000,000, this type of mail service has actually been extended to benefit an additional 1,500,000 families.

More than 5,700 post offices which were found to be unnecessary have been discontinued at a saving of nearly $9,000,000 a year while at the same time we have established 629 additional classified stations and branches and 980 contact stations and branches in order to provide better service to the public.

Postmaster Smith said that comparison between 1953 and 1960 would show the cumulative effects of all the day-by-day improvements under the guidance of Postmaster General Summerfield.

"His constant goal," Postmaster Smith said, "has been to improve service while holding the line on costs through greater efficiency. The results speak for themselves."

Officials in Kentucky receive more than 13 million dollars each month from the Social Security program. This amounts to over $186 million for the State annually, compared to $24.7 million in December 1951.

7.1 Per Cent Population Receive Assistance Payments

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) said today that new Social Security payments have greatly increased in recent years, Senator Cooper pointed out. For example, only eight years ago 173 persons in Rockcastle County were receiving Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance benefits.

A total of 873 persons in Rockcastle County now receive a total of $38, 984 each month, Cooper said. This means more than $456,768 a year is received in Rockcastle County from the Federal Insurance trust funds.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

127 Miles Of County Approved For Federal Aid

Rockcastle County has 127 miles of highways approved by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads for possible Federal aid and eligible for participation in bond funds to be voted on Nov. 8, Kentucky Highway Commissioner Henry Ward reports.

"As needs and priorities are determined, and as Federal funds are made available, all roads indicated on the map (above) could qualify for improvement," Commissioner Ward said.

The county's mileage of Federal aid highways include 30 miles of primary or main roads and 88 miles of secondary farm-to-market roads. There are 19,091 miles of Federal aid roads in Kentucky.

The familiar shield and number on many major highways designate them only as interlocking travel routes and have no direct relation to eligibility for Federal aid," Ward said. "Many miles of roads qualify for Federal aid although they are not marked as U.S. highways in addition to the roads mentioned, 641 miles of interstate and defense multi-lane highways will be built as Kentucky's part of the national program. These routes qualify for $90 of Federal funds to $1 of state funds. All other Federal aid roads are on a 50-50 matching basis.

In 1956, voters approved a $100 million bond issue which has resulted in 1,440 miles of building program in the three years. The state will need $45.7 million to match Federal grants which $82 million was from the 1956 bond fund and the balance was paid by the Federal government.

Late in July, the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads announced allocations of Federal funds to Kentucky amounting to $160 million during 1961, 1962 and 1963. To take advantage of these funds, Kentucky must pledge, both by the act of the legislature and in the ballot, to be used only for participation in Federal aid projects. Federal road and $10 million park bond issue, the Department of Highways can proceed with plans to complete a $218 million building program in the three years. The state will need $45.7 million to match Federal grants on the interstate system totaling $114 million.

No part of the bond money can be used for turnpikes. The road bond funds are regally pledged, both by the act of the legislature and in the ballot, to be used only for participation in Federal aid projects. Federal road and $10 million park bond issue, the Department of

What Is Your Guess?

Pollsters are working feverishly across the nation to determine whether Nixon or Kennedy are ahead. So far, they have produced no conclusive results, unless it would be that this presidential race will, indeed, be a very close one.

There is a wide variety of polling methods. Some pollsters take what they say are scientific samplings and project them to reach their conclusions. Others use man-in-the-street interview techniques. Still others count ballots snipped from sponsoring newspapers and mailed in.

In its most recent report on Oct. 12, the Gallup Poll credited Kennedy with 49 percent, Nixon 46 percent and 5 percent undecided.

This week, Dr. Gallup refused to predict the winner. In a Chicago speech, he said sentiment is so evenly divided in every section of the country that a small popular vote shift either way could cause an election to be decided.

The popcorn poll - Brain-child of a promoter in Nashville purports to reflect the presidential preferences of people buying books labeled "Nixon or "Kennedy" in movie theaters and supermarkets around the nation. Last week, Kennedy was credited with 54.5 percent of the returns and was said to be leading in all Southern states.

The ice cream poll - conducted by a retailer in the normally Democratic St. Louis area - was won by Kennedy - 740,276 cones to 69,136 for Nixon. Persons voting for Kennedy bought chocolate, those for Nixon bought vanilla.

It seems to us that if all this proves anything, it is that each candidate will need every vote that can be cast in his favor before he can win. Moral - Come out and vote!

ALWAYS CRITICISM

It has always been a mystery why every editorial seems to be a study in criticism. I don't mean to imply this is limited only to newspapers, it is also prevalent in magazines, radio and television. This seems to be the universal practice in our way of life; the rule, rather than the exception. We tend to inflate and play up all the bad things and forget the good things that are done; or as Shakespeare so aptly put it, "The evil that men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones."

Not only do we fail to give credit to others for their good works, but we seem to make a special effort to criticize. Frequently not criticism, but actually praise is due. This practice has become so commonplace in our modern civilization that that our conduct is taken for granted. This fact is reflected in our conversation and even in our own appearance. We present a dark and cloudy countenance, a "rainy day" expression regardless of the weather.

It takes less effort to smile than to frown, it is easier to laugh than to cry and more pleasant to make a friend than an enemy. I can see more good than evil in people, more honesty than dishonesty, more angels than devils and more love than hate.

As I become more and more convinced with each passing day that people see in life just what they want to see. The solenn and brooding gloom of the cares and woes, the usefulness and futurity of life; the light hearted and gay see the fun and joy of living with good time with no thought of tomorrow, the evil minded and scandal mongers see just what they want to see; the evil and evil do that is ever present if you look hard enough to find it.

It takes less effort to smile than to frown, it is easier to laugh than to cry and more pleasant to make a friend than an enemy. I can see more good than evil in people, more honesty than dishonesty, more angels than devils and more love than hate.

The spiritual sees the plan and purpose of the universe, his duties and responsibilities both to himself and his fellow man.

It has always been my contention we each have a duty and responsibility not only to ourselves but to others. So, at the risk of being called a square, I would like to repeat the old but ever true, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." This does not necessarily mean the giving of material things. "All these shall pass away," but gifts of the spirit remain forever.

So live that when your summons comes, you can leave with clean hands and a clear conscience and with the comforting thought that you have done your utmost to make this world a better place for those you have left behind. J. A. Harmon.

No Sign-Up This Fall In Soil Bank Program

There will be no sign-up this fall of additional land or contracts under the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve, Shellie Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today in response to inquiries from farmers regarding the status of the program.

Mullins also said that program contracts which expire in 1960 or later are no longer eligible to be extended for an additional period of years. Under the Soil Bank Act enacted in May, 1956, Mr. Mullins explained, the Secretary of Agriculture was authorized to enter into Conservation Reserve contracts with producers during the five-year period 1956-1960. The sign-up period under the 1960 program was held last fall in May, 1959.

Mr. Mullins explained, the authorization to enter into new contracts has not been extended beyond 1960, there will be no sign-up period this fall. Farmers are advised, however, that the existing contracts will be accepted into the Conservation Reserve. Since the authorization to enter into new contracts has not been extended beyond 1960, there will be no sign-up period this fall.

Fall Fed Pastures Produce More Money-Making Forage

Top-dressing pastures in the fall speeds growth in the spring, improves quality, boosts production per acre and cuts feeding costs.

Hard-working hay and pasture fields will take a new lease on life and produce more money-making yields if you feed them a square meal of nutrients this fall, reports the Extension Plant Food Institute.

Phosphate-potash fertilizer pays three ways: 1-It boosts hay tonnage per acre; 2-It improves hay quality; it helps condition the soil for better yields of corn, grain and other crops that follow in the fall.

Marshall Christy, University of Missouri extension soils specialist, emphasizes the need for replacing nutrients taken off in the form of pasture or hay.

Legume-grass mixtures are to continue producing well, they must be top-dressed in the fall or early spring, he says. Soil tests will tell what nutrients are needed and how much per acre, the college specialist says.

Permanent pastures will give earlier grazing, more spring pasture later in the fall, more protein per pound of grass and more grass per acre, if you top-dress them with a high nitrogen complete fertilizer such as 15-10-10, or 16-8-8, says Prof. C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin soil expert.

P.T.A.'s Seek New Members In The U.S. - And Overseas

When in Rome - or Oslo or Athens, Fontainebleau or Karlsruhe, Abasco or Reykjavik - American parents and teachers do just about as they do at home: they form a P.T.A.

More than 42,000 P.T.A. members in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers, this fall will join in the annual October Membership Month of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Like their nearly 13 million counterparts on this side of the P.T.A., members who live overseas - from Iceland to the Middle East, most of them are lean military bases - will encourage others to "serve where you are; join the P.T.A."

Serving the welfare of American children, wherever they are growing up, is the primary object of the National Congress. It has brought the P.T.A. into many areas of activity during its 63-year history. Since formation of the European branch in 1959, these activities have taken on new flavor:

A European program of scholarships, similar to those provided by many state congresses in the U.S., against this year awarded $500 in tuition to American colleges for seven students; they were graduates of American overseas schools in Nousseur, Morocco; Stuttgart, Berlin; Bonn, Heidelberg, Germany; and Vienna, Italy.

Concerned, like other P.T.A.'s, with the interests of mentally and physically handicapped children, the European Congress has initiated a program of special class instruction for these youngsters, providing the funds for additional teacher assistants, books, and materials to be used in some 20 schools.

Foreign language education, a natural interest for children whose parents are assigned overseas, has been a major interest of P.T.A.'s in the European Congress. In Air Force schools extending from the Azores to Saudi Arabia, children in grades 2 through 5 are being taught in foreign language this year.

Adult education programs of the P.T.A., which in the U.S.

The midst of Europe's Bavarian Alps - it's a P.T.A. meeting. Mrs. James O. Parker, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, confers with Fred L. Miller, coordinator for P.T.A.'s in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers, during conference in Berchtesgaden, Germany.

Some 100 parent-teacher associations in Europe, Northern Africa, and the Middle East will join this fall in programs to enroll more than 12,000,000 parents, teachers, and friends of children as P.T.A. members.

usually take the form of study-discussion groups, may become adult self-education in overseas areas, where American military, government or civilian members of the P.T.A.'s take advantage of opportunities for learning the language of the country and for studying its cultural assets.

As these P.T.A. members, both teachers and parents, return from overseas, they bring broader understanding of other countries to their state-wide colleagues.

"This is one great contribution our European members can make," says Mrs. James C. Parker, of Grand Rapids, Mich., president of the National Congress, who acted as a consultant to the European Congress when she attended their convention last year.

"Overseas P.T.A.'s" she points out, "bring to American schools and living in other parts of the world some of the home and school experiences which would be enjoyed if they lived in the United States."

"The richest result is the relationship between parents and teachers; there is a closer relationship in a foreign environment, because they have so many unusual experiences in common."

"The National Congress has always been a passport to the great differences exist among the states and communities" - and still greater ones in overseas communities. But the National Congress program allows many hundreds of ways to choose" of projects for local P.T.A.'s, serving "as a bank or library of ideas from which the local unit draws to suit its needs."

In its membership programs this October, the P.T.A. card will become the passport to the best society on earth," says Mrs. Parker. "An organization working in hundreds of ways to create a better world, working for the welfare of all people, for the handicapped, the gifted, the migrant, the delinquent, the aged, and the neighborhood that cares about the homes children live in, the schools they are taught in, and the neighborhoods they grow up in."

THE "WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL LAKE"

Glaucif-Red Maligae Lake in Jasper National Park, Canadian Rockies, hailed by artists and photographers as "The Most Beautiful Lake in the World," is the current feature of the giant colorama display in New York's Grand Central Terminal.

ATTENTION All Voters Tuesday night, Nov. 1, at 7-p.m. sharp, in the courtroom at Mt. Vernon there will be a Republican organization, or a get-out-the-vote meeting. We urge all voters and especially Republican voters to be at this meeting and help us with ideas and suggestions about getting voters to the polls. This election has settled down to two main issues which are religion and peace. If you believe in these issues, stand up and be counted as one willing and ready to help keep the peace and our free religious views. There are no other issues in this campaign. If there are we challenge anyone to tell us what they are. Every debate, every word that has been uttered so far in this election has been along those lines. We have had eight years of peace under a Republican Administration and 184 years of religious freedom. Let's keep it that way. We want the Courthouse filled next Tuesday. There will be no speakers - just local people and you won't be asked for any donation other than your time. Be there, we are begging for your help before it is too late.
