

Kentucky Team Ranks 4th In National 4-H Dairy Meet

Three boys and a girl from Warren county — Kentucky's champion 4-H dairy cattle judging team — represented the state at the national 4-H Dairy Cattle Congress there. The Warren county team placed fourth among teams trained by county Extension agents.

Warren county's team, winners in competition at the Kentucky State Fair last month, includes El Donaldson, a son, Jenks and Jack Britt, and Margaret Davenport. They were trained by John Swack, assistant county agent there.

Farm-Bureau Meet At Lexington, Nov. 12.

Charlie Wallace, Farm Bureau's voluble director of home discussion groups, passes on an interesting comment from a discussion on a recent topic called "Our Farm and Boys and Girls."

"We give our children cars instead of entertaining them at home," reported one group. One couple recently invited a group of teenagers in to discuss the idea of whether teenagers want recreation at home. The young people indicated that they miss this part of social life.

County delegates to the Kentucky Farm Bureau convention in Lexington November 12-15 have a big job in front of them. But the representatives from the counties which have home discussion groups should have followed the problems, ideas and suggestions that have come from these groups. The discussions should help the delegates to more representatively cast their vote for or against state resolutions on subjects not voted on at the annual county Farm Bureau meeting.

While meeting with a home discussion group, a Farm Bureau member has a wonderful opportunity to serve himself and his community. It gives him a voice—an extra voice—in Farm-Bureau activities. Every member should be a real voice in helping to establish policy at the county level. He should speak up at county meetings and at home discussion meetings if he has opportunity to participate at the community level.

Of course, at the state and national Farm Bureau meetings, he has to delegate that responsibility to his representative. If he clearly expresses himself, his wishes are more likely to become the policy of Farm Bureau.

But for Farm Bureau to be an effective organization, each member must be ready and willing to see that the policies are carried out by his representative to Congress and the General Assembly. Viewed in that light, the policy adopted at Lexington is only a beginning.

Safety Rules For Hunting Season

With November ushering in the major hunting season, sportsmen in great numbers will be stalking the fields and woodlands of Kentucky during the coming weeks. Minor E. Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, urges all Kentucky hunters to remember the inherent danger of all firearms and to guard against shooting mishaps.

"During the 1960-61 game seasons 20 sportsmen were killed in Kentucky and 14 more were injured," Clark said, "and in the great majority of those accidents carelessness was a major contributing factor."

He quoted the 10 commandments of gun safety:

(1) Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. (2) Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in their cases to the shooting area.

(3) Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.

(4) Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

(5) Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.

(6) Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.

(7) Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.

(8) Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. Never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle. (9) Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or at the surface of water; when at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate. (10) Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

Interstate Route 64 in Jefferson County

34 more miles of concrete ready for traffic on Kentucky's Interstate System

INTERSTATE KENTUCKY 64

New-type concrete is used all the way on this section of I-64 in Jefferson, Shelby and Franklin Counties. It's another look at a whole new world of safer, more pleasant driving.

The next chance you get, drive Kentucky's new Interstate 64 and see how safe and smooth-riding a highway can be!

On new Interstate System highways like this there's not a single stop light or crossroad. No dangerous grades or blind curves. Lanes are wide... and so are dividing strips.

This concrete is laid flat—to stay flat for an expected 50 years and more. For safe stops, concrete has a built-in grainy surface. The light color of concrete lets you see better at night.

Concrete's first cost is moderate, and upkeep expense is as much as 75% less than for asphalt. Put all these advantages together and it's easy to see why concrete is the preferred pavement for the great new Interstate System in Kentucky.

No pavement could be stronger even if carved from solid rock!

FOR HIGHWAYS WITH A SOLID FUTURE
NEW-TYPE Concrete

The Portland Cement Association congratulates those persons working on the project through all stages of construction: the Bureau of Public Roads, public officials, and highway engineers.

This four-lane concrete superhighway, connecting the Louisville metropolitan area with the capital at Frankfort, will give central Kentucky visitors a view of the greatest peacetime construction venture of modern man... America's 41,000-mile Interstate System.

We are proud to have assisted with this vital paving project here in Kentucky by rendering technical assistance on concrete construction to give this great state and the nation a truly safe, economical and dependable highway.

Why warm-water fishing is generally good throughout the streams and lakes in Kentucky; trout-fishing opportunities are quite limited. In a joint effort to enhance outdoor recreation as an important phase of multiple use management of the Cumberland National Forest, the three cooperating agencies are conducting experimental work on Rock Creek, McCreary County, to develop a trout stream. During the past two years over two thousand trout have been released in this stream. To date indications are favorable that these trout will thrive in this mountain stream to further improve the trout habitat, experimental stream improvement structures are being placed by the Forest Service. It is expected that nearly five thousand additional trout will be stocked in this stream during next year. This will add a new and unusual species of fish to Kentucky streams in the Cumberland National Forest. Smokey Says: 'WOODLOTS CAN BE GOODLOTS!' A recent summary of fish and game management activities on the seven national forests of the Eastern Region, U. S. Forest Service, shows that nearly one million trout were stocked in lakes and streams during 1961. Robert F. It was the third straight meeting that the council has discussed the sewer system with Jack Crawford, engineer, for the project.

It was also the third meeting that no one appeared to oppose the sewer system. If there is opposition, it has failed to materialize to date.

A sewer system estimated to cost $419,465 is proposed for the city with $380,000 of the amount to be paid for income from revenue bonds over a period of 20 years.

Cummins Wins Representative Race

CITY COUNCIL RACES OVER

The present Mt. Vernon City Council won a smashing reelection victory in Tuesday's election.

For most persons who follow pre-election trends, the victory was a great surprise. The only surprise was the majority piled up by the Community Progressive Party ticket.

Immediately before the election, there were some indications that two opposing candidates, Dennis Halcomb and G. M. Isaacs, might cut into the majority of the present council on the basis of divergent opposition to the city's proposed sewer system.

If there is opposition to the sewer system, it did not lie up behind the two candidates.

In the mayor's race, Carl Brown was unopposed. He received 257 votes. In the police judge race, incumbent Larnoy Durham received the largest vote in the city races. He defeated Jesse Baker 292 to 115.

The council is as follows: Mayor, D. R. G. Webb and the Board of Trustees at Livingston. Dr. R. G. Webb and the Board of Trustees at Livingston. (Continued On Page 4)

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at Mt. Vernon for Lyman Theodore Ponder, 43, of Covington, and son of Livingston, who was killed early Monday in a truck-crash near Georgetown.

Mr. Ponder, son of W. H. Ponder, Livingston, was killed instantly when his Danco Freight Lines tractor-trailer collided with an auto driven by Wolby Clayton Jones, 23, a soldier from Columbia, a 1.4 mile north of Georgetown. Jones was killed instantly.

Police reported Jones' auto skidded on a wet pavement and veered onto the path of the truck. The tractor overturned and pinned Mr. Ponder in the cab. Rescuers worked for more than an hour before his body was recovered.

Traffic was blocked for several hours by the wreckage.

Mr. Ponder was preceded in death by a brother, Keith, in August.

WOMAN ARRESTED AFTER WRECK A Marethburg woman is being held in the county jail on four charges after the auto she was driving damaged a car and house owned by Jones O. Hamm, of Marethburg, Monday night.

Mrs. Elsie Eltridge Coffey, 42, is charged with public drunkenness, driving while drunk, no operator's license and grand larceny.

According to State Trooper Willis Martin, the auto Mrs. Coffey was driving turned into Mrs. Hamm's driveway, continued up the drive and struck an auto parked in a car port. The impact knocked the parked auto into the house, damaging it extensively.

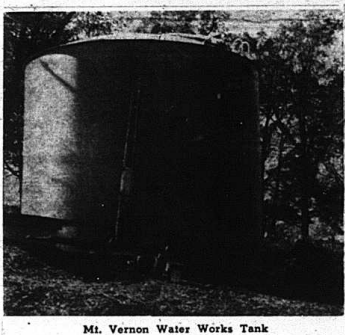

Trooper Martin said Mrs. Coffey left the auto and ran. Hamm pursued her and held her until police arrived.

The auto she was driving was owned by Homer Livesey, of Marethburg. Mr. Livesey reported he parked his car at a store in the area to get some cigarettes, when he returned the car was gone.

With the first appreciable rain in many days during the week end, Trooper Martin reported five wrecks in an hour in the area. In most of the wrecks there were minor injuries or no injuries at all.

A State Police cruiser, driven by Johnnie Sims, was damaged when an auto skidded on a wet pavement and struck the cruiser while it was parked at another accident. Trooper Sims was directing traffic when the accident occurred. The car involved in this accident was not local.

Generally fair weather will prevail over most of the county through the week end with moderating temperatures.

Water Tank Gets Face Lift

The first complete cleaning and paint job for the Mt. Vernon Water Works tank on Town Hill is nearing completion, according to Henry Cox, superintendent.

The 75,000 gallon, 24 by 24 feet tank of welded steel will have had about $1,300 worth of work when it is completed.

Not that the tank has never been cleaned, it has. But it is getting a complete overhaul with the current rehabilitation program. The tank is actually cleaned and washed every two years.

An electric protective device to preserve the tank has been used since 1943, but this method is not effective above the water line.

It has taken about 14 days to clean the tank. Painting the tank is an eight-day job.

The tank will have three coats of new paint inside and outside. Phenolic red lead paint is used inside, and aluminum paint on the outside.

Cleaning has been completed and pitted places have been welded back to the original thickness or above.

All materials used are recommended by the Water Works Association.

Since work has been underway pumping has been maintained 18 hours a day which means about 500,000 gallons of water has been pumped. The pumping had been done to insure maximum fire protection and insure water service during the cleaning and painting program.

The new orange coat of paint on the tank makes the tank stand out against the landscape on Town Hill, and prompted one person who noticed it to declare: "Hey, we've got a new tank on the hill."

DON'T WORRY, HE'S DEAD; but this bobcat appears to be alive and resting comfortably in the arms of Brohead Policeman Grant Peiray and Lester Fugeit, also of Brookhead. Mr. Peiray shot the 40 pound-48 inch bobcat in the shoulder with a 22 gauge pistol last weekend at his home on the D. A. Robbins farm at Chestnut Grove. Four coons hounds tread the big cat.

Bad Credit Risk

To all business people in this part of the country, we have prepared an alphabetical list of bad credit risks. I believe I have 90% of them in 30 miles of here. I have been 12 months working on it. Everyone owes and have had every chance to pay.

They will be ready about November 12. It is a large list and expensive to compile and print.

For my expenses I believe $4.65 will be very reasonable, and save many of you - in the next few years - many thousand dollars, and lot of trouble.

Anyone wanting a copy, send me $4.65 with a letter saying you will use for no purpose other than your business, and will show no one except your own employees.

COUNTY ELECTION

home in this unusual election, whereas normally, their votes would have gone to Cummins. By the same token, the Democrats' chances either didn't go to the polls or cast ballots for Cummins.

In North Mt. Vernon, Houston won the precinct for the Democrats for the first time in memory by defeating Cummins 20-1.

Wildie gave Houston an 80-45 victory. Pongo went to Houston 50-49. West Brodhead, in the Houston precinct 188-136. Saylor went for Houston 50-10. In Brown, where Houston was expected to pile up a heavy vote, the Democrat vote failed to materialize.

In the magistrate and constable races, all have been virtually decided. In some cases, one precinct remains to be counted, but there are no enough votes remaining to change the present leads.

In the First District, G. Hub Griffin was unopposed in his race for magistrate. Elmer Decker was unopposed for constable.

In the Second District, Henry Cromer has won the race for magistrate. Junior Happer is the constable. In the Third District, Sherman Sargent is the new magistrate. Matthew "Buddy" Helton remains the constable.

In the Fourth District, J. S. Swinford has won re-election as magistrate, despite a 10-9 vote for Preston Anderkin. James V. Merritt is the constable.

In the Fifth District, Wally Phillips won re-election as magistrate. Constable of the district is Dave VanWinkle. In the unopposed county offices, the following votes have been cast: County Judge Charles C. Carter, 1969; County Attorney James Lambert, 1941; County Court Clerk Clarence Carter, 1990; Jailer Sam Hoskins, 1971; "Coroner" Fred Murrell, 1901; Tax Commissioner James H. Shanks, 1941; County Surveyor Joe VanWinkle, 1814.

An estimated 4200 voters were polled in the county Tuesday. There is a total registered vote of 7388. Republicans registered number 3125. Democrats registered, 1862. There are 13 unregistered independent voters.

Mt. Vernon's cheerleaders are: Dorcas Woodall, Shirley Sowder, Carla Baker, Joy Gentry, Claudette Hansel and Edna Jo Winstead.

In a roundup of Mt. Vernon's expected fortunes this season, Coach Laswell reports the Mt. Vernon team will be inexperienced with only one letterman returning—Lee Childress. Coach Laswell lost six from last year's squad through graduation.

Since the start of practice 10 days ago, Coach Laswell has been stressing fundamentals for the young team, and with the opening game comb, 52; Ellis Marshall, 50, and H. L. Holland, 45.

With two Brodhead precincts complete, voters appear to be choosing four new Board of Trustee members and keeping one from the old board. Billy Bussell is drawing the biggest vote, with Bobby Proctor next in line. Three other leading candidates are Ed Brown, Millard Robbins and Billy Riddle.

In the police judge race, S. C. Davis has won election over incumbent Everett Watson.

Women Scientists Vitrally Needed, March of Dimes Grantee Warns

Increasing numbers of young women must be encouraged to become medical research scientists. They are needed to make up the loss of men researchers who more and more are turning to electronics and other technical fields unrelated to the brain infirmities. This is the view of Dr. Virginia Tenneyson, a medical scientist herself, who stresses the danger near when there will be an acute and dangerous shortage of science laboratory talent unless hundreds of girls—now in high school or entering college—can be won over to science as a career.

Dr. Tenneyson is an anatomist and electromicroscopist at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. Under a National Foundation-March of Dimes grant, she is working today to determine what causes excess fluid in the brain infirmities, one of the major birth defects (hydrocephalus) with which thousands of babies are born every year in the United States.

Dr. Tenneyson has suggested that an equal number of girls be recruited to work in the laboratory. She said she is in such fields as electronics and other technical fields unrelated to the brain infirmities. This is the view of Dr. Virginia Tenneyson, a medical scientist herself, who stresses the danger near when there will be an acute and dangerous shortage of science laboratory talent unless hundreds of girls—now in high school or entering college—can be won over to science as a career.

today post-doctoral fellowships to promising young individuals preparing for careers in science. In addition to offering aid to prospective research scientists, The National Foundation-March of Dimes research grant.

Dr. Tenneyson is dedicated to the serious task of determining the "why" of hydrocephalus. A person might conceive of her as a graduate-level, full-time, laboratory scientist, but she is also a mother, a wife, and a professional model dancer. Her chief interests and training all relate to medical science, but when the occasion arises she can whip up the most epicurean crepes a la russe one

STA-RITE
Submersible Pump
gives you MORE WATER GREATER PRESSURE

Because it "floats" down deep in your well under water, at the end of a single pipe, Sta-Rite Submersible requires no priming and recirculating. All water pumped goes right into tank. Virtually all power is used for pumping. Result: A 1/2 H.P. Sta-Rite Submersible pumps more water hourly under greater pressure than a 1/2 H.P. jet or reciprocating pump!

If your deep well is 4' or more in diameter, relatively sand-free and yielding adequately, get the facts now on a Sta-Rite Submersible Pump!

forms to get $2,100 from the Housing and Home Finance Agency to pay for the preliminary sewer survey completed recently.

It also voted to ask the State Health Department for a $53,000 grant to help construct the system. This grant will not have to be repaid to the state if the system is approved.

At the September meeting, Mr. Crawford told the council he had applied for $39,000 grant from the Health Department. But a check of records showed the council had not voted to request the money. The Health Department allows 20 percent on the total cost of the disposal plant and connecting lines.

The council made money from the oversight. The first estimate of the disposal plant was made before the preliminary survey was completed and was at a lower cost than after the survey was completed.

The council also instructed Engineer Crawford to enter talks with the federal government in an effort to get a $30,000 loan from the government. Should the council and Mr. Crawford be successful, the interest rate on the bonds would be 3 and five-eighths percent. If a bonding company handles the bonds, the interest rate would be about four percent or more.

Mr. Crawford stated there is a good chance of the city getting the government loan. He said it all depended on community qualifications.

Accompanying Mr. Crawford at the meeting to help answer questions was Clyde P. Mason, consulting engineer, Lexington.

In other action, the council voted to ask for bids on an "International Scout" to be used by the Water Works. A "Scout" is a type of small truck.
