IN MEMORY

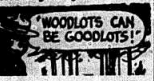

In loving memory of Husband and Son, Clarence and Billy Howard.

I lost my family eight years ago I miss them yet. I loved them so. I've never tried to love another I've lived true a wife and mother.

They live up there in that lovely land In a beautiful mansion not made with hand. A room is furnished for me, I know And some day soon I am going to go. It is sweet to know that some day soon I'll meet them there, beyond the moon. God's will, I know, I must obey. But I am waiting and longing to be on my way.

Sadly missed by wife and mother,
Lyda Howard

"I wait on 10 customers"

...and earn enough to pay for my week's electric cooking bill!"

"We have a lot of 'specials' in our store from time to time," says Mrs. Albert Hukle of Lexington, "but I've found there's no bigger bargain than electric cooking. I can earn enough to pay for a whole week of electric cooking in the time it takes to wait on 10 customers!"

"As a working mother," she adds, "I appreciate the modern convenience my electric range gives me. I can prepare a meal ahead of time... set the automatic timer... and dinner's done!"

"Cleanup time's easier too. Electric cooking just doesn't make dirt. I don't think any range could be truly modern unless it's electric."

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY

Big Recreation Center, Church And Rectory Planned By Catholics

A church, rectory, and recreation center, with a total value of about $1,000, is to be constructed at Mt. Vernon under the Covington Diocese of the Catholic Church.

The diocese has purchased four lots and buildings belonging to D. O. Craig and used by Craig Posters Advertising. The lots are in an L shape and border on Linn, Crawford and School streets, and immediately at the rear of Mt. Vernon Grade and High School.

The Mt. Vernon area will be under the supervision of Father Ralph W. Betting, pastor of St. Williams Church, Lancaster. Father Betting is also dean of 25 churches in the Diocese in Southern Kentucky, and has direct supervision in Rockcastle, Garrard, Jackson and South Madison.

Father Betting is a native of Newport. He attended Newport public schools, college at Cincinnati, and graduated with a degree in theology from Catholic Union University, Washington, D. C.

Architects were at Mt. Vernon this week making preliminary plans for the area. The church, to be known as Our Lady of Loreto Church, will be of modern design and constructed of stone, utilizing considerable glass. The rectory will also be in the same spirit of design as the church.

Youngster Killed While Playing

A 12-year-old Bryantsville, Kentucky, boy, who was playing hide and seek with three companions, was killed about 5:30 p. m. Wednesday when struck by an automobile on U. S. 27.

Garrard Coroner Julian Moss said Luther Everett Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lawson, was killed instantly. State Trooper Grover Schoeller Jr. said the car was driven by Arvel Carpenter, 29, Lexington. No charge was filed.

The coroner said the boy suffered a skull fracture.

Moss said the youngsters, his brother, Paul Kenneth Lawson, Rodney Wayne Hurless and Calvin Hallett III, were playing hide and seek near the highway.

The boy was killed when he attempted to cross the road to find one of his companions who was hiding in a culvert under the road.

STOCKHOLDERS AND GUESTS of the Bank of Mt. Vernon joined for a dinner meeting last week at Kelsey's Restaurant in Mt. Vernon. Standing are members of the Board of Directors, from left: Dr. John D. Henderson, R. B. McKensie, W. S. Stewart, Ralph Dean, Atty. James Lambert and N. M. Smock. There were about 40 present at the meeting.

The recreation center will be housed in a large concrete block building to be rented to Lancaster and used by various clubs and schools for dances, dancing, and other social functions, on a non-profit, non-discriminatory basis.

The recreation center will have rest rooms and a kitchen added, probably in the spring.

For the remainder of the winter, the church will use the building to store part of its fleet of boats. The boats are used in summer at Cliff View Lodge a summer camp for underprivileged children at Lake Herrington.

According to Father Betting, any underprivileged child is welcome at the summer camp.

"This gives many underprivileged children the opportunity to enjoy the facilities of camping and boating."

Changes Owners

The Sterling Hardware Company, of Hazard, has acquired all assets of the London Grocery Co., according to F. M. Medaris, president of the company.

According to Mr. Medaris, Sterling will liquidate the London Grocery Company and operate a wholesale branch at the London Grocery Company headquarters.

Bank Holds Annual Stockholder's Dinner Meeting

Seven members of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Mt. Vernon were chosen by stockholders at the bank's annual dinner meeting last week at Kelsey's Restaurant.

The Board of Directors includes: J. H. Wolfe, of Mt. Vernon, chairman; N. M. Smock, president of the bank; Atty. James W. Lambert, of Wildie; R. B. McKensie, cashier; of Mt. Vernon; Dr. John D. Henderson, Mt. Vernon; and Ralph Dean, Berea.

Some 40 persons attended the meeting that included a mer fish country ban.

Mr. Smock gave a short talk in which he explained the various phases of business at the bank during the past year. Attorney Lambert read resolutions pertaining to the death of E. Bullock, director of the bank. The

Support Price Remains Same

R. O. Wilson, Chairman of the Kentucky State ASC Committee, today announced the following national average support rates for 1952 Crop Feed Grains.

Corn, $1.20 per bushel; Soybeans, $3.00; and Grain Sorghum, $1.01 per hundredweight.

These support rates are the same as for the 1951 crop year.

Price support will be maintained by purchase of the 1952 Feed Grain Program.

ASCSC County Offices will begin accepting 1952 Corn and Grain Sorghum Feed Grain Applications February 1, 1951, continuing through March 31, 1952.

Award Contract For Shelters

A fallout shelter program, which will eventually see the construction of public "shelters" throughout the county, will soon get underway in several Eastern Kentucky counties, including Rockcastle.

Details of the program are unavailable at this time, but Senators Thurston Morton and John Sherman Cooper have announced that a contract for phase one of the fallout shelter survey and marking program was awarded to Leggett and Irvan, of Lexington, January 15.

Apparently, such shelters as caves, quarries, and other naturally protected areas will be marked and set aside for public use in case of nuclear attack.

Counties included in the contract are Clay, Edlin, Madison, Meade, Mingo, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle, Lee, McCreary, Madison, Owsley and Whitley.

2 County Fires

An empty house in the Pine Hill section of the county was destroyed by fire late Monday night. It was not learned to whom the house belonged.

A transfer-truck loaded with seed caught fire in downtown Brodhead early Tuesday morning. The fire was extinguished by the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department. The truck was not owned locally.

Derrier Bowling Dies At Conway

Lester Bowling, 59, of Conway, died Jan. 12 at his home at Conway.

Mr. Bowling was a native of Clay County, but had lived in Rockcastle for the past 23 years. He was a member of the Holy Church and was employed at the Blue Grass Ordnance Depot, Richmond, until he became ill.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Ann Bennett, of Laurel County; two sons: Cloyd Bowling, of Conway; and Walter Bowling, of Hamilton, Ohio; three daughters: Misses Clara Ann, Darlene and Thejina Bowling, all at home; and one step-daughter, Mrs. Helen Hess, Springfield, Ohio.

Three brothers survive: Roy, Ernest and Sam Bowling, all of Laurel County; and two sisters, Mrs. Art McClure, Hamilton, Ohio, and Mrs. Doris Bowling, of Laurel County.

Funeral services were conducted Jan. 14 at White Oak Grove Holiness Church, with Bro. Henderson as officiant. Burial will be at the Eastern Cemetery, Berea.

Cummins Bill Pends In House

A proposal before the Kentucky House of Representatives (HB54) would lower the minimum age limit for eligibility for public assistance payment to persons totally and permanently disabled.

The new minimum age limit would be 12 instead of 15 as now.

The bill is sponsored by Reps. Money Ed Cummins, of Vernon; Will K. Peace, of Williamsburg; Albert Dempsey, Inc.; Paul Corbett, Mechanics; and Leonard E. Wilson, of Jamestown, all Republicans.

Representative Cummins was named this week to the House Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

Baker Named

Robert Lee Baker, of Mt. Vernon, has been commissioned a Kentucky Colonel by Gov. Bert Combs.

Mr. Baker, a veteran of World War II, is in business for many years at Pine Hill. He is a 32 degree Master Mason, and member of Dave Jackson Lodge 731, Landon.

He is also a member of the American Federation of Musicians and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Recently he has been active in the Rockcastle Area Game Club.

Champion Elected

W. R. Champion, of London, retired merchant and former superintendent of Mt. Vernon Grade and High School, was elected president of the London Country Club at the club's annual meeting recently. Mr. Champion, and the late Mrs. Champion, moved to London several years ago.

Funeral services were conducted Jan. 15 at Middle-town. He was buried at Middle-town, Ohio.

Tree Planting Time in Full Swing In Rockcastle County

Tree planting time in Rockcastle County is now here and forest tree seedlings are being lifted now from the seed beds at the State Forestry Nurseries, Gene L. Butler, director of the Kentucky Division of Forestry, has announced.

Bundles, ready for quick delivery, are packed in units of 500 and 1,000 of white, loblolly and shortleaf pines. Orders received for Rockcastle Compins during January and February will receive prompt attention, Butler said.

"Orders should be placed early," Butler stated. Seedlings planted in March have the advantage of spring rains for a good start. Seedlings too, the planting can be done before heavy farm work starts.

Nursery Operations Chief John P. Rhody has carried out the Division of Forestry's plan for the production of 18 million seedlings in 1951, enough to cover 18,000 acres of hills and eroded land throughout Kentucky. Butcher estimated that a million acres of land in Kentucky are in need of reforestation.

The seedlings are produced at the three State-operated nurseries - Kentucky Dam Nursery near Gilbert, West Virginia; Pennyrive Nursery near Dawson Springs and the Morgan County Nursery near Woodbine.

A bundle of 1,000 seedlings cost $8. Selections can be made from a list of white, loblolly and shortleaf pines, and black locust and yellow poplar. All of Kentucky's private foresters are ready to assist in the proper selection of species and planting information.

Rockcastle County residents should call, write or visit the State Forestry office at McKee. Order blanks are also available at that office of the Rockcastle County agricultural agent.

Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office or the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASCC) office.

"Behind each of the bundles of pine or hardwood seedlings distributed are hours of technical supervisory work from selection of seed to the lifting of the seedling.

After removal of chaff the

to insure a hearty plant," Butler said.

Seeds are collected immediately after ripening in the fall. Pine cones are exposed to sunlight or treated with artificial heat to force the cone scales open to release the seed.

After removal of chaff the seed is put in cold storage to be held over until the next spring sowing period. Seed beds are treated with fertilizer and chemicals to control disease and insects. During the summer, beds receive periodic weeding and are watered by an overhead sprinkling system.

Unplanned Expansion Stifles Interchanges

Highway Traffic Engineering and Construction, a division of commercial business and industrial plants too close to the highway system is already threatening to stifle the effectiveness of these modern superhighways, a U. S. Bureau of Public Roads official declared in a paper published in November by the Highway Research Board of the National Academy of Science-National Research Council.

David R. Levin, chief of the bureau's Highway and Land Administration Division, said that although the pavement is dry on some interchange ramps, huge industrial plants, regional shopping centers, motels, restaurants, and other large traffic generators are built "literally" at the end of the ramps.

Such establishments, if given access too close to the highway, may interfere with the free flow of traffic and break down functionally. Mr. Levin's remarks were published in the HIRE paper, published in November, and also in the Journal of Land Use and Development and Highway Interchanges.

He made the point that lack of regulation or planning for proper location of industrial, residential and commercial development in relation to the new Interstate roads can seriously reduce the traffic loads on these highways.

"This is merely to point out that private enterprise itself has an important role in establishing itself along highways in modern design and in such a manner that it can establish itself in several developments long before the physical plant wears out, only because of the functional obsolescence of the highway," Mr. Levin said. "It is to the advantage of private venture capital, as well as of the public, that interchange areas be so designed, and built in the vicinity appropriate to their relation to both the highway and to the public good."

The services will be continuous evenings except Saturday and Monday. The services are provided at the private club, Mr. McCullish and William Dammery are the evangelists. The service are provided at the private club.

Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds of 1962

Blonde, blue-eyed Mrs. Emily Terrall, of St. Helens, Oregon, is the new "Mrs. United States Savings Bonds of 1962." As a Treasury volunteer Goodwill Ambassador, she will tour the nation during the coming year in the promotion of Savings Bonds. The 37-year-old housewife won the title from among 51 state contestants for the "Mrs. America" title in competition just closed at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she appeared as "Mrs. Oregon." The Terrall family is no stranger to Savings Bonds. Husband of the new "Mrs. Savings Bonds" is an industrial engineer, and buys bonds regularly on the Payroll Savings Plan. Mrs. Terrall, an alumna of the University of Washington, has been active in the RTA-sponsored school stamp program. And needless to say, their three sons—aged 7, 9 and 12—are all avid stamp buyers. Mrs. Terrall is the fifth winner of the "Mrs. Savings Bonds" title. She succeeds Mrs. Vivian Ackerman, of Tucson, Arizona.

How Savings Bonds help make bigger graduating classes

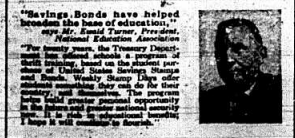

Typical of today's mushrooming classes, 700 students take final exams at a testing Midwestern university.

American education and the U.S. Savings Bond Program have worked hand in hand toward accomplishing each other's goals for 20 years. One of the most important results of this partnership has been the growing number of graduates—from colleges, professional and trade schools—financed by U.S. Savings Bonds.

and its priceless benefits, to the forefront of their parents who signed up for Savings Bonds on Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-month plan. Here's how it might work for you: Start soon and stick to it! Begin putting $18.75 a month into Savings Bonds when your youngster is born. When he's 18, you'll have saved $4,000, but you'll own Bonds worth $8,600. You'll be able to get your money with interest whenever you need it. And every dollar you invest will help build a stronger America.

No wonder so many parents plan for their children's future this way. Why not you?

Area Re-Development A Big Job

At a meeting Tuesday night at Mt. Vernon, plans were formulated to get Rockcastle County moving toward active participation in the federal government's Area Re-Development Program.

This program was conceived by the Kennedy Administration as an aid to "depressed" areas, or areas of chronic unemployment. In a nutshell, the program works like this: Each county designated "depressed" sets up a citizens' council representing all phases of business and civic life. From this group is chosen committees to delve into various phases of industrial, agricultural and cultural endeavor. If the council so desires, it can call on the government for technical advice. The committee's information is compiled, and from it the council chooses a program in some field which will best benefit the county, and thereby relieve chronic unemployment and other undesirable elements in community life.

The program chosen, be it agricultural or industrial improvement, is then presented to the government for review. If the government accepts the program, it will advise the county how to make a loan, at a low interest rate, to finance the improvement.

We have every hope that this program will meet its objectives, and we are confident there will be cooperation between officials of the county and the federal government. But from the practical side (so to speak), the row will be hard to hoe.

In the first place, there is no direct financial incentive. That is, no money. There will be no buildings torn down, or other work projects. The quick panacea for chronic unemployment will remain a "future attainable."

Secondly, the county has had many agricultural and industrial surveys over the years, including one recently under direction of County Agent H. Lee Durham. Therefore, most of the committee's work will be a duplication of work already done in the county.

Thirdly, the committee could decide on a project, work for one-two-or three years on it, present it to the government, and get it turned down, or sent back for revision, with a loss of time and effort that is incalculable.

There is a possibility, however remote, that the county could benefit directly to relieve unemployment to some extent. A bill is to be introduced in the House of Representatives in Washington this week to appropriate funds to aid these depressed areas in the form of libraries, recreation centers, craft centers and public buildings. We could use this type of help as a part of the over-all development program. Whether this bill passes the House, of course, remains to be seen.

We do not want to condemn the present Area Re-Development set-up as a total waste of time. The county should seek advantage of every possible opening for improvement. But we repeat, the row will be hard to hoe, and when the crop is harvested, it might not bring a good price on the market. Most residents feel it's worth a try. On that basis we'll go along with them.

CATHOLICS

(Continued from page 1) ing, who otherwise would not be able to enjoy these facilities. Our camp is non-denominational, and the majority of the children who attend are non-Catholic," he declared.

Work on the church and rectory is expected to begin late in 1963 or early 1964. A priest will later be in residence at Mt. Vernon.

"We hope to become a part of, and help, the community in every way we can, Father Betting said."

INTERCHANGE

In brief, the interchange is the most strategic feature of a modern highway. It is highly susceptible to overloading and this problem is complicated if new streams of traffic are introduced too close to vital ramps. An interchange costing up to $2 million can thus be made functionally obsolete, the Federal official pointed out.

Women Scientists Vitally Needed, March of Dimes Grantee Warns

Increasing numbers of young women must be encouraged to become medical research scientists. They are needed to make up the loss of men researchers who move and more are turning to electronics and other technical fields unrelated to the nation's health.

This is the view of Dr. Virginia Tenneyson, a medical scientist herself, who sees the day near when there will be an acute and dangerous shortage of science laboratory talent unless hundreds of girls—now in high school or entering college—can be won over to science as a career.

Dr. Tenneyson is an anatomist and electrocardiologist at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. Under a National Foundation-March of Dimes award she is working today to determine what causes excess fluid in the brain of infants, one of the major birth defects (hydrocephalus) with which thousands of babies are born every year in the United States.

Dr. Virginia Tenneyson beside electron microscope at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, where she is seeking cause of excess fluid in the brain, a condition known as hydrocephalus, under National Foundation-March of Dimes research grant.

She is taking steps to interest young persons in entering the allied health professions. Under this program, the health or occupational therapy students receive $2,000 scholarships (each worth $2,000) maintained for the full period of four years in the fields of medicine, nursing, physical and occupational therapy, and medical social work.

Young women on the threshold of a science career, Dr. Tenneyson advises, should realize that in some laboratories exceptional demands are made of them in ability and natural scientific talent. Inevitably, they represent competition with their male colleagues. She puts it this way: "If a young woman enters a science career with a 'feminist' chip on her shoulder—with the attitude of demanding her rights—she will doubtless arouse hostility, and so will meet with hostility. But I have found that most professional people will accord you more than your 'gender' is worth if you do have it, it will be recognized. Appreciate it, if you do have it, it will be recognized. Appreciate it, if you do have it, it will be recognized. Appreciate it, if you do have it, it will be recognized."

Cubans, Florida Growers in Sugar Boom . . .

Florida's expanding sugar industry has its 1961-62 harvest season under way. A cane loader grabs up a quarter-ton of cane and tosses it into waiting cane wagons as a big, new John Deere "Sugar Babe" tractor with the capacity to pull four loaded cane wagons weighing a total of approximately 65,000 pounds waits to roll to a sugar mill.

A sweet new boom is under way in Florida, this time in sugarcane. The quiet drudgery of snake-infernal swampland is being broken by the noisy teamwork of drip-line irrigation canals, tractors crashing through dense undergrowth, engines and pumps pumping night and day to drain clear and turn vast acres of muckland into rich, new sugarcane.

Pastureland and other croplands are also being pushed into sugarcane production.

Seven new sugarcane plantations are being developed in the Florida panhandle, some of them around the southern perimeter of Lake Okechobee. Approximately 100,000 acres are being invested to grow up to 500,000 tons of sugar annually. Longtime South Florida sugarcane companies and growers combined with Cuban exiles who were sugar industry leaders in Cuba prior to Castro's consolidation of the sugar mills, are behind the expansion of Florida's sugar boom.

Most of the new cane will be for the growing crop of next year. A year ago only 10,000 acres were in cane. Florida expects to produce 2.1 million tons of cane this year compared to 1.6 million tons of cane in 1960. Next year, output could climb to seven million tons.

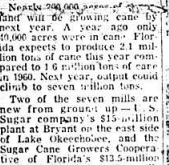

Two of the seven mills are new from ground up—L. S. Sugar company's $15-million plant at Bryant on the east side of Lake Okechobee, and the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida's $15-million mill at Belle Glade. Other mills are being dismantled in Louisiana and Puerto Rico, shipped to Florida and reconstructed in the Everglades to be ready for grinding 1962's cane crop.

There's also a boom for new farm and construction equipment—tractors, pumps, electrical and sugar mill machinery, fertilizer, chemical and irrigation products, plus a large scale of other tools necessary to expand an area, in many ways more than twice its size within a year.

For instance, a John Deere wheel loader tractor led the "Sugar Babe" has been particularly developed by John Deere, at the request of sugarcane growers to speed both cane cultivation work and tractor pullers.

Tallman Sugar Company pushes into the Everglades to drain, clear and cultivate 6,000 acres of swampland to turn it into rich, new sugarcane by 1962.

Tractors are ripping into the dense, snake-infested Everglades to open up new sugarcane as Florida's sugar industry promises to expand into five times its size next year.

Arts and Crafts
Can Help Industry
The art-and-craft industry offers more hope for the economy of the Appalachian area than you might be aware of, said Gov. Bert Combs in a speech here, Saturday, to the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen.

Combs, addressing the annual meeting held at the Art in Louisville Club, pledged his administration "will do all possible to encourage the arts-and-craft industry in the State."

Combs said he planned to ask the Legislature to appropriate $250,000 to "protect the art-and-craft industry rather than merely set up a loan fund as he requested earlier in his budget message."
